

ALLEGHENY WILL HAVE A NEW $70,000 CHEMISTRY PLANT

Mr. Andrew Carnegie and the Board of Trustees Make Possible the New Plant and the Rebuilding of Alden Hall

A $15,000 loss and a $115,000 gain—surely a good business transaction if ever there was one. Such has been the result of the burning of Alden Hall. On Friday, January 15, fire destroyed the chemistry building with an estimated loss of $12,000 on the building and $3,000 on the equipment. Just two weeks later to the day—Friday, January 29—Allegheny's trustees in special meeting decided on the expenditure of $115,000, part of which will go for a new chemistry building and the rest for the enlargement and remodeling of Alden Hall for the use of the department of Biology.

Surely January 29 will go down in history as a great day for Allegheny, for on that day Allegheny's trustees showed that when they speak of progress they mean the progress that is spelled with a capital P. Here is a brief summary of the proceedings of the meeting: the acceptance of a $40,000 gift from Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the raising of $20,000 among the trustees themselves as a permanent endowment for the new chemistry building, the appropriation of the $10,000 fire insurance as additional funds for the new building, arrangements for a first-class equipment for the new building, the decision to enlarge and remodel Alden Hall to almost twice its former size and to turn over the building, thus restored, to the exclusive use of the Biology department.

This meeting of the trustees was called for the special purpose of deciding what should be done for the Chemistry department which was thrown out of quarters by the burning of Alden Hall. The meeting, which was well attended, was held in President Crawford's office in Bentley Hall and was presided over by President Arter of the Board of Trustees. The first thing was the announcement by President Crawford that Mr. Andrew Carnegie had agreed to give $40,000 for a new chemistry building with the understanding that the $10,000 which came from the adjustment should be added, thus making a $50,000 building. His gift was conditioned on the raising of $20,000, the income from which should be used to maintain the building. The trustees very promptly accepted Mr. Carnegie's gift and then decided to undertake the raising of this sum among themselves in the following resolution:

"Resolved, that in view of the general financial depression, affecting as it does nearly all the patrons of Allegheny College, and in view of the amount of money which must be raised for the restoration and enlargement of Alden Hall, we, the trustees of the college, agree to assume the responsibility for undertaking to raise the $20,000 for the maintenance of the Chemistry building among ourselves."

Mr. Carnegie's offer came as the result of a visit paid to him in New York by President Crawford immediately after the fire insurance had been adjusted. President Crawford explained to Mr. Carnegie the situation which had arisen here at Allegheny as the result of the destruction of the chemistry building, of which, it will be recalled, Mr. Carnegie was one of the chief donors. The outcome was the gift of $40,000 with the above-named conditions which since have been complied with.

It was decided to locate the new building on the extreme lower part of the campus, facing Newton Observatory and Ford Memorial Chapel. There has always been a large vacant spot in that part of the campus and this new building will serve to beautify and fill out that vacancy in a highly satisfactory way. With Mr. Carnegie's permission the building will be named the Carnegie Hall of Chemistry. A building committee was appointed with full power to employ an architect, let contracts, and do whatever may be necessary in the construction of the building. The committee consists of President William H. Crawford, Judge John J. Henderson, Hon. Arthur L. Bates, Mr. J. P. Colter and Captain Wesley B. Best.

The building committee held its organization meeting on Monday of this week. President Crawford was elected chairman and Mr. Colter secretary. Letters have already been written to some ten colleges asking for plans of their chemistry buildings. Already a considerable number of architects have made application for the work and several contractors have signified their intention of making bids when the plans and specifications are ready. It is impossible at this early date to state just what building materials will be used and what dimensions the building will be inasmuch as it has been impossible to take any definite steps along these lines. Sufficient it is for the present to say that Allegheny is assured of a $70,000 chemistry plant—$50,000 of which will apply directly on the building and so make possible a beautiful fire-proof edifice, and $20,000 of which will serve as a permanent endowment for the building.

Carnegie Hall of Chemistry comes as a recognition of the importance of that department to the college. Under Dr. Edwin Lee Allegheny's fame in this branch of science has been growing rapidly. Few months go by without some paper from the local chemistry department appearing in some of the greater scientific periodicals of the country. The department is being built up steadily and surely by Dr. Lee as may be surmised when it is mentioned that about 200 of Allegheny's 406 students are taking at least one chemistry course. The new up-to-date building and apparatus will mean better facilities for handling the ever-growing number of students who elect chemistry courses.

Of hardly less importance was the further action taken by the Board of Trustees relative to new quarters for the Biology department. In this connection it was decided to restore and enlarge Alden Hall, making it 120 feet long and 60 feet wide, facing George Street, with a large entrance in the center of the building. The general plan of the old building will be duplicated. The main portion of the building, that is, the front part, will be restored while the rear portion will be replaced by an extension duplicating the front of the present building. A twenty-foot entrance, similar to the one on the old building, will occupy the center of the building on the George Street side. The color scheme of the brick will be carried out in the new building as will also the terra cotta designs. The roof of the building will be of red Spanish tiling as this form of roof has been found to be the most practical for use on the college buildings. It is understood that the roof will be similar in design to that of Cochran Hall. The building committee was urged to push the work on Alden Hall as rapidly as possible and it is hoped that the roof may be on the building by Anniversary week. The best that can be hoped, however, for Carnegie Hall of Chemistry is that the work may be well enough advanced that the cornerstone may be laid during the Centennial festivities.

Alden Hall, restored and enlarged to almost twice its present size will give the Biology and Geology departments long-needed space. For some time the cramped quarters which

ALLEGHENY WINS FROM GROVE CITY—SCORE, 29-17

Down-State Team Puts Up a Hard Fight in First Half.

The first home game of the basketball season, with Grove City last Friday evening, resulted in another victory toward that all-victory season on which the team is launched. A game that was characterized by poor form during the first half with a complete recovery on the part of Allegheny in the second half and speedy playing of the old Allegheny style, gave the home team a well-earned victory over the down-state five by the score, 29-17.

The first half was of the same type as the Niagara game two weeks earlier, when Allegheny's poor form gave their opponents the advantage at the end of the half. However, in the Grove City game, although the team did not strike their true form until their splendid "come back" in the last half, unlike the Niagara game, there was never a time in the entire game when Grove City was leading the score. Once in the second half the score was tied at 13-13, but the advantage was quickly gained again by Allegheny and held throughout the rest of the game.

The second half showed real form on the part of the Gold and Blue. While the first half was not in the poorest class of playing by any means, still the team work had not gotten well started and the shooting was not as sure as later. The game was hard fought throughout, though the best playing of the Red and White was in the first period of play. When both teams appeared after the intermission, it was evident that each was determined to win, and both teams put up a good fight. But it was evident about the middle of the last half that Allegheny's lead was good for the game, and the pace they struck was a pretty exhibition of fast basketball.

A noteworthy feature of the game was the close guarding on the part of both teams. No one of the forwards scored in the entire first half, and the score when the half was called, 11-9, was the result of the shooting of Dunbar and McKay, and Cox on fouls, and Turner, center for the Red and White, and McGranahan's fouls. The best shooting of the game was Dunbar's spectacular guard shooting that seemed to take his opponents completely unaware during the first half. After that he was very effectually covered and his scoring held down to a single basket in the last half. In the last half Cox and Bianchi each scored two baskets, and Penman, the Red and White forward guarded by Dunbar, made two also. Cox's floor work was good throughout the game, but he failed to get away from a streak of hard luck in his shooting that held him down in both halves.

On the whole, while the game was an exhibition of good playing and the recovery in the last half strong and a good sign of the team's true ability, yet the Blue and Gold were not up to the standard, even of the Rochester game or the score would have been more one-sided in favor of Allegheny than 29-17. Of course, the game was immediately after a hard week at examinations, and there is no doubt that the Ohio Wesleyan game with almost a week's recess for practice and putting the team in first-class shape will show the true style of play that defeated Rochester and will add a fourth victory to the record of the season.

The line-up and summary of the game is as follows:

Allegheny—29.	Rochester—17.
Cox LF....	McGranahan
Bianchi RF.....	Penman
McKay C.....	Turner
Dunbar LG....	B'gler, Cap.
Graham, Capt....RG....	Shaw, Dale

Goals for Allegheny—Dunbar 4, McKay 3, Cox 2, Bianchi 2; for Grove City—Turner 3, Penman 2, Bigler 1.

Fouls for Allegheny—Cox 7 out of 13; for Grove City—McGranahan 5 out of 12.

Referee—Peckinpaugh.

ALUMNI HOLD MEETING

Mid-Pennsylvania Alumni Association Organized at Johnstown.

A new type of alumni organization was formed last Thursday evening at Johnstown when that city became the center of the mid-Pennsylvania alumni area. In the Johnstown High School six Allegheny graduates are engaged as teachers, including the principal, H. J. Stockton, '04, and these, with "Barron" Ford, '10, the first official cheer-leader, 1908-10, to stir the action, arranged a rally and banquet. Prospective students, ex-students, like Drs. Midkoff and Owen Morgan, and "Joe" Kunkle, and alumni were enthusiastic members of the company of twenty-five.

Printed copies of the old and new songs were passed around and the party was at once initiated into the Centennial "glee." "It's a Long Way to Allegheny." The dinner was very elaborate. Professor Stockton presided and the toast list was given with splendid wit and fine college loyalty.

President Crawford wired his executive blessing on the christening of the young association and his message was read at the table. The speech of Judge J. W. Kephart, '91, of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, abounded in Allegheny spirit. R. R. Yost, '10, made a brilliant response to the toast, "Allegheny's Four Hundred," not a company aspiring to social distinction but ambitious for intellectual aristocracy and keen to be equipped for larger social service. J. D. Ford spoke humorously on the alumni, telling how his class had helped to bury Timothy Alden, and how closely associated they were with Dr. Hammett, '39.

Dr. Smith brought a message from the faculty, telling of Centennial plans. A vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Ling for pictures of Bentley on the menu cards. Other excellent speakers were Miss Jessie Tomb, '13, J. R. McGowan, '14, F. B. Callahan, '11, and J. D. Brison, '97.

A committee to draft laws for the permanent club consisted of the Rev. J. D. Brison, '97, R. R. Yost, '10, and J. R. McGowan, '14. Others present were, Geo. W. Touet, '99, Miss Woodring, '01, W. J. Miller, '04, L. B. Angus, '11, W. E. Abbott, '11, J. S. Robinson, '11, and Miss Edna Yost, '13. Regrets were sent by Dr. J. W. Cary, '93, of Indiana; the Rev. H. P. Johnston, '92, of Blairsville; the Rev. W. L. Wilkenson, '99, of Derry; T. T. Allen, '02, and C. M. Dotterer, '14, of Vandergrift.

THE WAKEFIELD CONTEST

Oratorical Event to be Held in Ford Chapel Thursday.

Tomorrow evening Allegheny's orators will meet in forensic combat in the Chapel on the event of the annual Wakefield Oratorical Contest. This year there will be six who will compete for honors, the original number of nine being reduced by three. The winner of the contest will receive fifty dollars and in addition will be Allegheny's representative in the Civic Oratorical Contest which is also held annually. It will be remembered that last year this contest was held here at Allegheny. The other schools in this league are Colgate, Pittsburgh, Ohio Wesleyan and Wooster. The six orations which have been chosen for delivery are as follows:

"America on the Mine-Laid Social Sea."—D. G. Dunbar, '15.
 "An Appeal for Justice."—C. W. Flick, '15.
 "The American Municipality."—L. D. Kepner, '17.
 "The Call of the Foreign Mission Field."—Alexander Kemp, '15.
 "The Futility of the European War."—R. F. Kahle, '17.
 "Wheels That Bred."—W. M. Depp, '16.

Don't forget to pay your Campus subscription. After the next issue it will be $1.50.

THE KALDRON BUBBLES; INITIAL ADVANCE NOTICE

Editor Donald Dunbar, '15, Has a Timely Message.

"Kaldron!"—sounds like a voice out of the past. It has been months since the word was last uttered. No, we have been neither dead nor sleeping. We have been forced into a Democratic program, "Watchful waiting"—watchful for things which we haven't seen and waiting for the College Council to raise the gates and give the "Centennial Special" a clear track and the "right of way."

"Centennial"—how we are beginning to love that word! For four years we have been struggling along our way with that word emblazoned with glory to guide us and to urge us on. Ever nearer we approached those flaming words until now we can easily read, not "Honor" as we expected, but "Work." No, the Kaldron boards of Allegheny College have either been a cheerful bunch of cheerful optimists or an equally cheerful bunch of cheerful prevaricators, for every Kaldron is to be "bigger, better and snappier than ever before." This year's board feels that we might as well tell the truth at least once in a hundred years, so we want to be the exception that proves the rule.

Can it be done? Yes, (all statements to the contrary notwithstanding). How? By your help. Is it fair to ask a board of eight people to write a book which is to represent the whole school? If it is good, you take it for granted; if it isn't to your fancy, you are not slow to say so. Why not take a hand and help to make it good? They say that "two heads are better than one, even if one is a cabbage," so surely four hundred heads are better than eight even if they are all cabbages. In other years it has been like the old "Tweed Ring"—each one pointing to the one next him and saying, not "He did it," but "He'll do it" with the inevitable result that no one does anything.

That there is ability here we have no doubt. Some of the exam papers, so they tell us, are jokes in themselves. Why do you spend good money to get a copy of Life when you see the real thing here every day in the week, and then having had a good laugh yourself, why are you so selfish that you won't write it up so that we all can laugh at it? The Kaldron is College Life as it is, and if you refuse to help out, the Kaldron board will have to picture College Life as it ought to be and as it seems to us. That's risky business, for we are apt to get our characters mixed and then what would the folks back home say? In order to avoid any such calamitous mistakes, the proper thing to do is make the pictures yourselves and give us the facts.

Remember that the pen is mightier than the sword (and that a good picture is mightier than both) so if there is any revenge rankling in your make-up (box) here is your chance. We play no favorites—"Pay your money and take your choice," president, faculty, students, yes, and even the board itself.

In view of the success of the bowling tournament which was held last year on the Cochran Hall alleys, another tournament will be played this year. The first game will be held on Wednesday, the seventeenth. The schedule of games will be published in the next issue of The Campus.

FEBRUARY 3, 1915.

Again our college is proud of its resourceful president. Joy and delight fill the hearts of every Allegheny's student and alumnus. In other columns of this paper the announcement of large gifts for science buildings will appear. Not at all discouraged by the loss of our Chemistry building in the fire three weeks ago, Allegheny's executive head called upon friends and formed patrons of our college, and Mr. Andrew D. Carnegie and the trustees, who have always contributed liberally toward the college, came to the rescue. We owe Mr. Carnegie and the Board of Trustees a great debt of gratitude.

In the past Allegheny's friends have always responded in the time of need, as was evidenced at the time of the Million Dollar Endowment Campaign, but the present gift is far larger than most of us had hoped for at a time when there is such a general financial depression throughout the land. It is especially gratifying that the gift should come at this time, just when the Centennial Celebration is approaching. Two new buildings added to the splendid group now gracing the campus will undoubtedly give this college one of the best equipments in science to be found anywhere in this country.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY BANQUET COMMITTEES

The committees which are to have charge of the Washington's Birthday banquet were chosen last Monday. George A. Ricker, '15, is the man who was chosen as the general chairman for the banquet. He will have general oversight over all of the preparations for the banquet. The regular committees are as follows:

Finance—George A. Ricker, '15, chairman; Professor Ross, M. W. Frishkorn, '17, M. A. Dotterrer, '15, Helen H. Gates, '16, D. S. Thompson, '13.

Program—W. A. Brownell, '16, chairman; Professor Smith, Mildred Hazen, '17; R. E. Hoffman, '16, William W. Hulin, '18.

Decoration—Marie Howell, '15, chairman; Professor Akers, Martha K. Nebinger, '17, William D. Barcus, '18, Pauline C. Rhoades, '18, Althea A. Hunt, '14.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL.

During the past week the schedule for the inter-class basketball games has been posted in Bentley. This schedule shows that there will be in all six games played and that every class team will meet a team from every other class. The winner of the series has the honor of holding the class championship of the school for one year. According to the rules which Coach Hammett has posted to govern these games, no man will be permitted to take part in any game who is a member of the 'varsity' squad or has been taken on trips. Furthermore, the games must be played at the time and in the order named or a forfeit will be charged up against the team that fails to appear on the floor at the scheduled hour. This rule will be rigidly observed this year as there has been much trouble here-before by reason of failures to play the games exactly as scheduled. The rule against 'varsity' squad men will make the game a little slower than otherwise would have been the case, but at the same time will make the play more interesting.

The first inter-class game is scheduled for next Saturday at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the gymnasium. The opposing teams will be the Seniors and the Sophomores and a close and hard-fought game can be expected. The Sophomore class has some valuable material in Askey, Miller, Baker, Wilber and McKinney and should be able to acquit themselves with credit. The Centennial class will probably be represented by Ricker, Long, Fahr, Townsend and Dotterrer.

The schedule for the interclass games is here printed:

1915 vs. 1917, Sat., Feb. 6, 3:00 p. m.
1916 vs. 1918, Sat., Feb. 13, 3:00 p. m.
1915 vs. 1918, Sat., Feb. 20, 3:00 p. m.
1916 vs. 1917, Sat., Feb. 27, 3:00 p. m.
1915 vs. 1916, Sat., Mar. 6, 3:00 p. m.
1917 vs. 1918, Sat., Mar. 6, 3:00 p. m.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Mrs. William Tenney Dutton, of 240 Locust street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Bess May Dutton, to Mr. Joseph C. Utley, of Pittsburgh. The wedding is to take place May the first, at Christ Episcopal Church, this city.

KLEE-O-KLEET PLAY.

Klee-O-Kleet, the girls' dramatic organization, instead of giving a play as has been the custom heretofore, has secured Madame Harriet Labadie to interpret a play for them.

Madame Labadie is a producer of plays but instead of employing what is commonly called "actors" to represent the various characters, she creates them in her mind so that they can be clearly and distinctly seen by the mind's eye of the audience. She presents an entire play, alone and unaided by any theatrical effects so realistically that her audience receives the impression of having actually witnessed scenes in the lives of the people depicted by the author in the drama. She unites fire and fervor with masterly technique and brings out the most delicate, subtle points and gives the full dramatic value to the play which, in her hands, becomes invested with new life and learning.

In a brief introduction the basic idea of the play is given and the scene and the characters in the drama are clearly placed in the mind's eye of the audience. The play then opens without further explanation, no mention of entrances and exits is made and it runs on with perfect continuity until the end. Transitions are not observed because there are no mental or emotional breaks; no setting is missed because none is needed.

Madame Labadie comes very highly recommended. One critic writes, in part: "It was a remarkable, intellectual and ethical dramatic interpretation. She captivates her audience by her pleasing general appearance, by her beautifully modulated voice and by her dramatic ability."

Klee-O-Kleet has been very successful in securing Madame Labadie but it will be a great expense to the organization.

CAPTAIN FAHR, '15, ISSUES CALL FOR TRACK MEN

H. H. Fahr, '15, captain of the track team, has issued a call for candidates. Practices will be held in the Gymnasium on Monday and Friday of each week from four till five o'clock. Captain Fahr will give his particular attention to the hurdlers while the greater part of the work will be under the direction of Coach Hammett. All men possessing any sprinting ability are wanted, their work being limited to the practice of starting. The coach thinks that there is a great deal of room for improvement in the manner in which the various members of the team took their starts last year, and he will give his particular attention to remedying any defects in this.

Weight men will have opportunity to practice at putting the shot, and distance men will work out on the running track. Considerable time will also be devoted to the high and broad jump. The graduation of Wells, '14, leaves a vacancy in the pole vault which will be hard to fill. Men who have had any experience in this line of work are in demand. Dr. Hammett says that this is one event among track sports in which success can be achieved by practice rather than natural ability, and he is willing to give special attention to anyone who wishes to try out. He is very desirous of having any Freshman who possesses or thinks he possesses athletic ability on hand at these practice periods. This work will be in the line of preparation for the annual indoor track meet which will take place on March 25, and in which, as formerly, medals will be awarded in the various events.

GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS

Concerts Were Given in Edinboro and Franklin.

Between semesters the combined Glee and Mandolin Clubs enjoyed two short trips, the one on Monday to Franklin, and the other on Tuesday to Edinboro. At Franklin the concert of the musical organizations was given under the auspices of the Dale and Foster Sunday School classes of the Methodist Episcopal Church of that city. The program was, with a few minor changes, the same that the clubs have rendered at all of their concerts. Such was the reputation of the clubs at Franklin that the admission was raised from twenty-five to thirty-five cents and the armory was engaged, as the promoters thought the Opera House too small for the crowds which would come to the concert. The building, which has the largest seating capacity in the city, was crowded to the limit to greet Allegheny's musical clubs. After the concert a reception was held for the men under the auspices of the Queen Esther Circle of the same church. Franklin papers state that the attendance reached 1,000.

The concert given at Edinboro the following night was fully as successful. The clubs were engaged by the high school of the city, where H. H. Dennison, '13, is principal this year. The clubs returned home after the concert, arriving in Meadville the same night.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

The University of Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh Will Be the Big Game.

With the opening of college for the second term, after the recess between semesters, the schedule for Allegheny's fall season of football is announced by Manager Ling, '16, as complete. There are to be eight games, four in Meadville and four away, which will be pleasing to Allegheny rooters since last season Allegheny was seen only three times on the home field, and played four games away from home. All the teams played last year are scheduled for 1915 except Duquesne. The big feature of the season is the game with Pitt scheduled for October 30 at Pittsburgh. After the results of the Pitt-Tech game of last year and the Allegheny-Tech game, considerable comment was going the rounds as to Allegheny's likely showing against Pitt. This game will give Allegheny a new rank in football and will serve as a pretty fair criterion of the strength of the team.

Pitt's season schedule as announced includes some of the best teams of the East. Georgetown, Dickinson and Cornell do not appear on their schedule, but in place of these is a special big-feature game with Penn at Philadelphia on October 23. Their announcement reads that "Allegheny, a fast Western Pennsylvania eleven, takes the place of the Dickinson game." Westminster, the Navy, Carlisle, W. & J., Tech and Penn State make up the rest of the program. The one year residence rule, effective September 1, 1916, has been adopted formally by the university authorities.

A departure from the usual schedule of schools to be met is the St. Bonaventure game at Meadville, which gives one more game than last year, and opens the season with a home game.

The schedule as announced is as follows:
Oct. 2—St. Bonaventure, at Meadville.
Oct. 9—University of Akron, at Akron.
Oct. 16—Carnegie Tech, at Pittsburgh.
Oct. 23—University of Rochester, at Meadville.
Oct. 30—University of Pittsburgh, at Pittsburgh.
Nov. 13—Hiram, at Meadville.
Nov. 20—Geneva, at Meadville.
Nov. 24—Grove City, at Grove City.

UNIVERSITY of PITTSBURGH
THE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

The School of Medicine of the University of Pittsburgh offers two courses of instruction—one the regular four-year all medical course leading to the degree of M. D., for which the entrance requirements are two years of recognized college work, including courses in Chemistry (Inorganic and Organic), Physics, Biology, and German or French, in addition to the four-year high school course; the other the six-year combined medical and college course leading to the degrees of B. S. and M. D., for which the entrance requirements are the four-year high school course or its equivalent.

The School now occupies a thoroughly-equipped laboratory building on the University campus. The Medical School is in affiliation with two general and five special hospitals representing a combined bed capacity of over fourteen hundred beds. Clinical work is given to small sections of the class in these affiliated hospitals. The required work including residence in a Maternity Hospital with board and room furnished.

OHIO WESLEYAN NEXT

Allegheny Will Play the Hardest
Home Game Friday.

The Allegheny basketball team will play its second home game of the season on Friday of this week, with Ohio Wesleyan University as the opponent. This school, which has for years been a feared rival, is represented this year by a team fully up to the standard of those of the past. Four of the five regular men are veterans, and the fifth, Anderson, the center, has made a great name for himself in the short time he has been playing. Referee Peckinpaugh, who has officiated at several of their games, characterizes them as possessing the best team in Ohio.

Ohio Wesleyan has the distinction of being the first team to defeat Allegheny in the local gymnasium, accomplishing this feat in 1911, when the Gold and Blue lost by the close score of 18-16. The following year revenge was secured, the Ohioans being out-classed and overwhelmed by a 41-11 decision. In 1913 the Red and Black quintet came near to repeating their performance of two years previous, being in the lead at the last minute of play when Cox, '16, then a Freshman acting in a substitute role, scored two baskets, winning the game for the local five, 20-19. Last year was productive of another wonderful contest, when Captain Nicholls' team was bested on the Wesleyan floor by the score of 28-25.

The Ohio Wesleyan record in basketball this year has been as follows:

51	Wooster 19
48	St. Ignatius 3
26	Ohio State 20
59	Baldwin-Wallace 34
22	Ohio Northern 17
17	Ohio State 38
28	Western Reserve 20

The visitors have a team in which the offensive side of the game is not limited to certain players, every man being proficient at shooting. The work of Gates, Littick and Lynch, who have played here before, is well remembered.

Cox Hammett has the usual superstition against breaking up a winning combination, and so the same team which was so successful against Niagara, Rochester and Grove City will start the game. Dr. Hammett considers Wesleyan to be stronger than any team yet met but he thinks that Allegheny's team, playing in the machine-like way in which it does at present, will prove the master of the visitors.

The probable line-up follows:

Cox	R F.....	Littick
Bianchi	L F.....	Bonnel
McKay	C.....	Anderson
Graham	R G.....	Lynch
Dunbar	L G.....	Gates

Miss Valeda Clough, '17, was the week end guest at the home of Miss Carmen Kahle, '17, in Oil City.

The Misses Irene Wood, '18, Louise Deens, '18, Olive Dowdel, '18, and Myrtle Elder, '18, were dinner guests of Miss Marian Higgins, '18, on Monday evening.

Among the dinner guests at the Hall Sunday were Miss Althea Hunt, '14, the guest of Miss Georgia Roberts, '16; Miss Blanche Taylor, '16, of Miss Faye Barnes, '16; Miss Tillie Bitler, '16, of Miss Hannah Quinn, '15; Miss Margaret Smith, '16, of Miss Ethel Hudson, '16, and Phillista Kelley, of Miss Jessie Howell, '18.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting for Sunday evening, January 24th, which was held in the parlors of Hulings Hall, was in the form of a musical program with Miss Ethel Gealy, '15, as leader. A pleasing piano solo was given by Miss Ruth Brumbaugh, '18, a violin solo by Miss Ariene McKinney, '15, and a quartet by the Misses Esta Ebaugh, '15, Rose Platt, '15, Ruth Allgood, '16, and Lillian House, '17.

The war is occupying a large part of the time and interest of many American colleges. At Columbia a series of talks on the war are being given. Yale has sent an ambulance to the Red Cross equipment. Wellesley girls are knitting wristlets and mufflers and several schools are giving financial help to Red Cross work.

Waynesburg College is to receive an endowment of $500,000.

ALLEGHENY TO HAVE NEW $70,000 CHEMISTRY PLANT

These two departments have occupied the Ruter Hall have been found inadequate for the large number of students taking courses. At present fully 150 are taking some work in the two departments and their popularity under Dr. Darling and Professor Decker is growing rapidly.

What these new improvements mean to the college can best be estimated from President Crawford's own words:

"While the fire has made frightful encroachments upon my time just when I could least afford it, I am very much pleased that out of the fire we are to get two such good buildings. With these new buildings added to what we have, our building group is complete so long as our attendance is limited to 400. Of course I do not forget that the open-air theater which has been so much talked about ought to come, nor do I forget that in the near future we should enlarge our gymnasium so that a swimming pool may be installed; but if we have patience, these things will come in due time."

Dr. R. Edwin Lee, head of the department of Chemistry, expressed himself as follows concerning the probable effects of the new buildings on his department:

"I am very much delighted with the plans for the new building for chemistry. Notwithstanding the fact that the former building devoted to Chemistry possessed an equipment which was a matter of favorable comment by many visitors from other colleges and universities, the new hall of Chemistry will far surpass the former building in every respect. It is impossible to announce the details of the construction and the equipment at this time; it is entirely safe to say, however, that it will provide facilities that are seldom found outside of larger universities. Although the laboratories for courses in Chemistry for undergraduate work will occupy the larger portion of the building, much attention will be given to the equipment of smaller laboratories for individual research work.

"A large amphitheater with a seating capacity of 200 will occupy a considerable portion of the building. This room is to be equipped suitably for the illustrating of lectures. There will be larger laboratories for General Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, Analytical Chemistry, Gas Analysis, Physical Chemistry and Electro-Chemistry. In addition to these there will be a series of laboratories devoted to various special phases of the subject, for example, one of the largest laboratories will be devoted to Sanitary Chemistry. Other laboratories will be arranged for students desiring to specialize in Agricultural Chemistry and Metallurgical Analysis.

"A matter of much interest to the men who are specializing in Chemistry will be an arrangement whereby these men will have smaller laboratories equipped with special apparatus for conducting research work.

"The balance room will be equipped with stone or cement piers which will free the balances from all vibration. Dark rooms for spectrum analysis and photo-chemical work will also be provided. In a convenient place will be located the department library and reading room where the instructing staff and students may consult references without going to the general library. Stock rooms for supplies will be located with a view to securing the greatest efficiency."

What the new arrangement means to the departments of Biology and Geology is seen in the following from Professor Decker:

"The new quarters in Alden Hall will give adequate room for all phases of geological work. Whereas now the department is crowded the new arrangement will give ample space for both general and special biological work. The new building is to be so large that each separate phase of the department will have its special room. Besides there will be laboratories for research work and experimental work with the lower vertebrate animals. Another feature will be rooms especially fitted for the growth of materials and in addition it is planned to have a large botanical garden in the rear of the building. At present the recitation room is crowded to the limit; in the new building the lecture room will be three times the size of the one now used for that purpose. When the Biology department moves to the remodelled Alden the department of Geology will have all of the space now occupied by both Biology and Geology, thus giving room for large and valuable displays which formerly could not be shown by reason of lack of room."

NEWS ITEMS

The Biological Club held their regular meeting on January 19, the Tuesday preceding examinations. Dr. F. G. Henke was the speaker of the evening and chose as his subject "The Evolution of the Mind." Dr. Henke's address was particularly interesting and was enjoyed by all of the large number who were present at this open meeting. After the talk, light refreshments were served.

An article recently appeared in a local paper announcing the appointment of President William H. Crawford by Governor Brumbaugh as a member of the College and University Council of Pennsylvania. The appointment was made on Monday, February 1.

A second article in a series by Dr. Crawford appears in the January 13 Zion's Herald on "Dr. Maria Montessori and Her Work in Rome." The article is a very interesting account of the work of Dr. Montessori under her new method of education of children. This was a subject of very great interest to Dr. Crawford and he gave considerable time while in Italy to a first hand study of her methods. The woman herself is discussed, together with her recent trip to America, and the rest of the article deals with her methods and the success they have met. A good portrait of the distinguished woman and two pictures of the interiors of her schools illustrate the article.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The last meeting of the semester for the Classical Club was held Tuesday evening, January 19th, with almost an entire attendance. Miss Waive Chapin, '15, had charge of the program and entertained the club with a comparison of Greek with Roman, in every respect. Miss Valeda Clough, '17, read the first paper, which showed very vividly the different home life of the two civilizations. Mr. H. E. Drake, '16, then gave a talk on the amusements of Greece and Rome and described several of their games which typified the nationalities. Miss Waive Chapin then read the final paper, discussing many of the phases of their life which could be compared to each other.
