Men's Extemporaneous Speaking Contest Scheduled For December 6th In Chapel

The annual Men's Extemporaneous Speaking Contest sponsored by Philo Franklin Speech Union, will be held December 6 in Ford Memorial Chapel at 8:15 p.m. This is the second major speaking event of the year.

The following contestants have been selected by each of the men's social groups to represent them as spokesmen: Larry Oxley, of Phi Gamma Delta; Bob Blomquist, of Phi Kappa Psi; Tyler Hayes, of Alpha Chi Rho; Ned Vidal, of Delta Tau Delta; Robert Klein, of Theta Chi; Jeff Hopper, of Phi Delta Theta; and Harry Stewart, of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The Allegheny Commons Club has not announced its representative as yet.

In the past there has been some criticism of the method used in choosing topics. As it has been operated in the last few years, twenty topics were selected, generally from Time Magazine. The participants were given a list of these topics a week before the contest, and the specific topic was then drawn from a hat by the speaker one hour before the first speech. It was felt that the contestants spent too much time in preparation during the preceeding week. Because of this, the extemporaneous speaking ability wasn't actually tested.

In order to correct the situation, Philo Franklin has revised the rules of the contest. The topics, concerned with broad problems of national and international importance will not be restricted to Time Magazine alone. It is sincerely hoped that these changes will better test the individual's ability.

Greta Samzelius is general chairman of this year's contest, and Mr. A. R. Mulligan is faculty adviser.

Washington Semester

Four Allegheny juniors have been selected to attend the Washington Semester in February, President Louis T. Benezet announced at the Convocation on November 17.

John Barrows, Jamestown, New York; Paul Davidoff, New York City; Donn McCafferty, Butler; and Sydney Tamburine, Oil City, were chosen "because they have demonstrated the ability to do independent work of high quality," according to Dr. Benezet.

These men will spend the spring semester at the American University in Washington, D.C.

Non-Sorority Women Revise Organization To Form Tallageewes

Allegheny's non-sorority women have recently reorganized under the name of the Tallageewes. The group, whose membership is open to all non-affiliated upperclass women, has as its goal the promotion of the interests both of its members and of the college.

The Tallageewes developed directly from the fromer Independent Women's Association. The Association's policy of open membership has been retained, as have the Monday night meetings in their newly decorated fourth floor rooms. The important change in organization is the inclusion of nominal dues for social affairs of the club.

The officers of the Tallageewes are: Muriel Stein, president; Jean Hinckley, vice-president; Anne Bowes, secretary; and Ricki Hawthorne, treasurer. Pat Taton and Bobbie Morse serve as advisors. Among the group's activities have been a party for new members and an open house for faculty and upperclass women held in the rooms after the season's last football game.

Each Thursday night the group sells cookies throughout the women's dorms. These cookies are also available for tea and party refreshments. Another weekly function is the Tuesday evening trip to Bethesda Home, where the girls entertain the children with games and stories, and on special occasions plan parties for them. Sorority women are invited to join in this, and can do so by signing the list on Brooks' bulletin board.

Besides these activities, the Tallageewes are now working on plans for their Initial Dance, to be held December 1 in the Commons Club. Members as well as Tallageewes are invited to bring their dates to the dance.

All upperclass non-affiliated women are invited to join the Tallageewes in their activities.

Dr. L. J. Long Presents Treasurer's Report At Friday's Convocation

Dr. Louis J. Long, Allegheny's treasurer, denied at the convocation last Friday that an increase in tuition is being planned. However, he stated that if costs continue to rise, the tuition would be raised in preference to lowering the educational standards observed at Allegheny.

The three major sources of college money, educational and general, auxiliary enterprises, and other noneducational income, were explained by Dr. Long. He quoted comparative figures for 1949 and 1950, pointing out that term fees, endowment, gifts, and grants are all used to cover the cost of teaching, equipment, and maintenance. The 1949 term fees, amounting to $474,534, made up 85.42 per cent of the educational and general income, which that year was $555,537. In 1950 the figure for term fees was $539,773, or 85.47 per cent of the total for this category, $631.556.

Alumni gifts in 1950 were $25,064, while in 1949 they amounted to $14,969. Thus in 1950 they accounted for 3.97 per cent of the total. The endowment income made up only 9 per cent of educational income. Each year income from auxiliary enterprises (dormitories, dining halls, grill, real estate) represented approximately half the total income, which in 1949 was $1,062.355 and which jumped to $1,146,234 in 1950.

Going back to 1940, Dr. Long pointed out that at that time the average cost of educating a student for one year was $330. At present the cost is $555 per student. In that period tuition has been raised only $198; therefore the college suffers a net loss of $27 per student per year.

Dr. Long claimed these increases occurred as a result of rising salaries and wages throughout the nation, an improved ratio between students and faculty, and general inflation.

KDE Initiates Twelve

Kappa Delta Epsilon initiated twelve new members at a meeting held in Ruter on November 14.

The initiates are: Phoebe Bailey, Doris Carty, Sara Egan, Corinne Ewing, Patricia Freas, Barbara Haudenshield, Jane Marsh, Joan McCafferty, Betty McNamar, Jean Morse, Eleanor Reinehr, and Peggy Seib.

Report on the Organization, Direction Of Allegheny's Development Program

EDITOR'S NOTE—Many students have expressed curiosity over the goals of the College Development Program and how it is being conducted. As a service in answering such queries, the CAMPUS prints the following article.

The inauguration of the Allegheny College Development Program was held in conjunction with the Alumni Convocation here on campus last April. Paul W. Johnson, '14, selected by the Allegheny trustees as General Chairman for the Program, announced at this time the appointment of Grace H. Miller, '10, as Associate Chairman, and that of Theodore F. Smith, '15, the the post of Special Gifts Committee Chairman.

The organization and direction of the Development Program is being handled by the General Committee, headed by Mr. Johnston. This General Committee includes representative membership of alumni and friends from all parts of the country. Branching out from the General Committee are the smaller Area Committees, set up on a similar scheme. Area committees are organized wherever there are enough prospective members to warrant them. The overall campaign plan calls for about thirty-five of these. Chairmen for the areas are appointed by Mr. Johnson, and they in turn select associates and special gift chairmen for their own areas. The local committees enlarge themselves until an approximate ration of one member for each five prospects in the area is reached. Then when the organization of the committee is complete, all the members meet at a dinner party, and are there acquainted at first-hand with the needs of the College and the plan of immediate solicitation. Allegheny Alumni Secretary Jack McFarland mittees in their organization and has been assisting the area comp-planning.

The solicitation of larger donations is conducted by Theodore Smith's Special Gifts Committee. Mr. Smith has announced that sep-

Debate Tournament Held At Westminster Saturday

The annual pre-season debate clinic was held at Westminster College on Saturday, November 18.

There was a non-decision debate on the question of whether or not a new union of non-Communist nations would be started. Emily Engle and Joan McCafferty debated the affirmative and Pat O'Connell and Barbara Bounds took the negative.

Mr. Lester Vernon, a representative of the Atlantic Pact Union, was the main speaker for the occasion, after which movies were shown on the United Nations. Barbara Bounds also represented Allegheny on a panel discussion comprised of representatives from five other schools.

The Westminster debate clinic was also attended by Pat Riddell, Larry Oxley, Ida Smythe, Ned Curtis, Ann Harmony, Al Lifton, and Mr. Howard Martin, debate coach.

On December 2, Allegheny will hold a pre-season tournament at Meadville High School for ten teams representing schools in this area.

US Must Lead The Free Nations In The Search For Stability, Peace -- Zimmern

The United States is the leading nation of the world today! And being the greatest she must lead the free nations in a search for stability and peace. The role of the United States was thus brought out by Sir Alfred Zimmern, British International statesman, in the chapel last Thursday night. Sir Alfred holds four doctoral degrees, he has been a leading worker in the League of Nations, and in UNESCO, the first man to hold the professorship of national relations at Oxford. From this wealth of knowledge came a pollyanic view of the United States that shook and pleased a small audience of faculty members and twenty-five students.

Sir Alfred pointed to the Soviet Union as being the last of the many empires that have roamed in Europe since the Roman Empire. He felt that sooner or later Russia was bound to collapse from within, just as have the empires that have preceeded it.

In discussing the free nations of the world Sir Alfred traced the growth of what he called "true law" or common law that has arisen from the customs and needs of the people of a nation. He stated that this law was to be found in the United States, England, Switzerland, and the Scandinavian Nations, and that by looking at the governments of these nations we might easily discern a connection between the liberal nations of the world and their type of law as compared with those nations whose laws are based upon Roman law. Roman law, Sir Alfred said, is not really law, but rather orders handed down from the top.

Sir Alfred, in answering a question asked by a professor, said that there were faults to be found in the policies of the United States and pointed to our unwillingness to enter into certain discussions concerning free trade among nations. He did not point to any other faults, but rather emphasized the wonderful Christian attitude of the United

Dr. John T. Bair Attends National Convention

John T. Bair, director of the guidance center, attended a national conference of college counselling administrators at the University of Minnesota's Center for Continuation Study from November 13 to 16.

Visiting lecturers at the conference included Frank M. Fletcher, Jr., director of the Occupational Opportunities Service, and associate professor of psychology at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio; and John L. Holmes, director of the testing bureau, Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

A Penny For The Old Guy, But Which One?

For weeks the Allegheny Undergraduate Council has thrashed about trying to make a decision; should the booty from the forthcoming student fund drive go to the Allegheny Development Program or, as in the past three years, to the World Students Service Fund?

In a special meeting on Wednesday, November 15, the Council decided to split the proceeds between the two causes. In the Sunday, November 19 meeting, the Council discarded the previous decision and decided to begin again. A committee of four—two pro WSSF, two pro Development Program—was appointed to investigate the enigma and submit a possible solution to the Council at the December 3 meeting.

From the AUC Constitution we glean this, that "The object of this organization (AUC) shall be to . . . crystallize and reflect undergraduate opinion . . ."

The funds in question will be harvested mainly from the Allegheny student body. The Campus believes that the decision should come, through the AUC representatives, from the student body, that the decision should not be made exclusively in the hallowed chambers of the AUC. There are many possible methods of impressing student opinion upon the AUC. The method is not important, It is important that the AUC is impressed.

The Campus believes that the proceeds should go to the Allegheny Development Program. We base our choice on two points; need, and benefit. We are all aware of the insufficient class-room, dormitory, and gymnasium facilities at Allegheny. The fund drive proceeds would help improve these facilities. The Campus believes that the little money we can raise will do the College more good than it will WSSF. And finally, we think that student support of the Development Program would further stimulate the alumni to fill their quotas.

See your AUC representative and tell him what you think.

FILM CALENDAR

Nov. 23-29 (Academy)—King Solomon's Mines, with Deborah Kerr and Stewart Granger. Fantastic safari in search of a lost explorer among the wilds of Africa—photographed on the spot in Technicolor.

"Metro has brought into the film such a riot of ethnic illustration, natural history and anthropology that a skeptic can go with the safari just for the sights to be seen . . . . A stampede of thousands of beasts, including zebras, giraffes and gazelles . . . . is one of the most terific wildlife shows you've ever seen . . . . The elementary story . . . . is as lurid and artificial as any low-budget Tarzan tale. (But) the credit for the good things—and there are many of them—in this film should go to the cameraman,, the beaters and countless unnamed African natives and animals."

—New York Times

Nov. 29-30 (Park)—The White Tower, with Glenn Ford, Valli and Claude Rains. A technicolor adventure adapted from a recent novel about a cosmopolitan group climbing an unconquered Alp—photographed in Switzerland.

"A story as scenically splendid as it is sound in its connotations. Outstanding in a film that should prove to be one of the year's best is Rains' performance as the henpecked writer who almost reaches the 'Tower's' summit."

—Newsweek

Dec. 1-2 (Park)—No Way Out, with Richard Widmark, Linda Darnell and Sidney Poitier. A psychopathic hoodlum loses his brother in a hospital and vents wrath on the young Negro who was his doctor.

"There is no denying the skill and earnest intensity with which this film has been put together. (But) it seems to me that Hollywood is still ducking its responsibilities when it insists upon casting its problem films in sheerly melodramatic terms . . . . This aside, there is still much in No Way Out that is worth your time."

—Saturday Review of Literature

"The film is effective in displaying the gross injustice and great waste that come out of prejudice . . . . The race riot is one of the most vicious sequences I've ever seen in a movie. (But) this isn't a story of prejudice as it pertains to you and me; it is a special story of the mistreatment of Negroes by sick and small minds."

—Commonweal

Dec. 3-5 (Park)—All About Eve, with Bette Davis, Anne Baxter, Celeste Holm, George Sanders, Hugh Marlowe and Gary Merrill. The astonishing rise of a vixenish young Broadway actress who crushes those who stand in her way or help her.

"Joseph L. Mankiewicz, who wrote and directed the picture, has been so ingenious in his treatment of the subject that he has come up with a thoroughly entertaining movie. Betty Davis finally has a part that permits her to demonstrate, in her high-voltage style, a great deal of authority." —The New Yorker

"One of the most handsomely mounted productions to come out of Hollywood in some time . . . . It reeks with glamour . . . . A 'slick' story has been given a super-slick treatment; yet every now and then the illusion of reality comes through . . . . Hollywood has done itself proud . . . . George Sanders, as the drama critic . . . . is marvelous to watch."

CAMPUS CAPERS

SAL & SPEED

Hoop-dee-doo, gang! From right here on the old Amen Corner we're bringing you what's what in Gatorland. And what a party-party weekend has just passed! It was a sensational pre-vacation wind-up.

On Friday night we dropped into the Café de Frosh and absorbed some French atmosphere. The Freshmen danced round a replica of the famed Arc de Triumphe and at intermission a floor show was presented. Featured were a barber-shop quartet and the Cochran Queens, who did a lively Can-Can.

Costumes (?) were also the thing over at the Delt House where a unique Horror Party was going on. The get-ups were really scarey and we were semi-startled by one John Karas, with his chalk face, green eyes and black garb. The affair was most effective and definitely something new on the social scene.

Next we meander over to the Phi Psi abode for the Kappa Pledge Dance. Silhouettes of the honored ladies adorned the walls and each one received a personalized paddle. The highlight of the evening was the singing by the girls of the blue and blue. Cocoa and cookies were served and laughs were provided by apron-clad Joe Poole and his kitchen crew.

A "Come as You Are" Informal Party was held at the Commons Club, where dancing and bridge were the main events. The special fanfare of the evening was the Break-the-Balloon dance that won a compact for Nancy Michener. Yummy refreshments were served and laughable entertainment was provided by Joe Martucci and Joan Matthieson.

The Alpha Chi Rho Formal was held on Saturday night at the chapter house, and orchids and crested jewelry boxes were the favors. Skip Moberg and his committee did a fine job of decorating, while Greta and Rog set the pace for dancing.

The best bands in the land were on hand at the Phi Gam House for an informal party. After the platter spinning, refreshments were served and a jolly time was had by all.

Skipping down to the Phi Delt House, we found their Thanksgiving Dance in progress to the tunes played by Jimmy Edwards' Band. Not to be overlooked were Ev Engstrom's blazing tartan-plaid jacket and the appearance of our dear friend, Mrs. Knipp. (Dr. Seely take note.)

We reached the Culbertson Hills Country Club (via our puddle-jumper) just in time to hear some too much music by Neil Charles and his orchestra. The event was the Phi Psi Fall Formal and a good number were on hand for what was a wonderful evening. Super refreshments were on the menu as well as a super time for all!

This week's BIG STEP was taken by Bill Blackburn, who pinned Joan Dilley; and Stretch Hillmer and Ruthie Wilson.

Back-yard Banter: Lots of scotch tape being used by the coeds now that Formal time is upon us . . . . Our congratulations to the new Thetas and Alpha Gams . . . . Third Piefer gals have been bitten by the bridge bug . . . . The renowned Frenchman, Pierre Knights, was seen at the Café de Frosh . . . . Roller skaters Johnny Brydon and Zack Taylor becoming proficient at the Circle Waltz . . . . We have it from a reliable source that Dr. Cares will give no quizzes Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week . . . . Our highest award to Arnie Lewis for his winning performance in the annual Turkey Trot and to the Phi Psis for copping the prize, also honorable mention to Bill Oehmler and Corky Bonner . . . . If you haven't as yet seen Carol Krier's quaint cigarette lighter, do so . . . . Don Reed performed very well in handling an arm load full of cups and saucers at the KKG Dance.

Prof. of the Week: Edward Rickard of the Eco. Dept., for his liberal attitude toward a recent exam.

And lo and behold—Turkeytime is here (did someone say "at last?"). May we wish you all a pleasant recess from this great collegiate life and tender these two statements: Don't gobble too much gobbler and be right here again when these youngsters will hold session once more. Till then it's flash, bam, alacazam and . . . .

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

We know that for a long while the AUC has been discussing the controversial issue of how to allot the proceeds of the student fund drive here on campus. We are aware of the value to our college of the Allegheny Development Program. We are aware of the much greater need for aid to students of other nations. It is our conviction, therefore, that the Allegheny student body should again have the opportunity of supporting the drive for WSSF.

Dr. Zimmern stated that one great hope for peace resided within the various functional organs of the U.N., such as UNESCO, or Point-4 program of the American Government. These programs can by their work stand as a bulwark against the spread of Communism in many of the independent nations of the world.. We must show to the people of the world that our United States government is willing to practice its Christian charity abroad, and share its wealth with other nations.

Through WSSF the students of Allegheny have an opportunity to do something again in the way of maintaining peace. It might at first appear that our possible two thousand dollars will not be of substantial aid. Yet two thousand dollars will furnish students with many books, or perhaps will pay the salary of an instructor. In this light our donation will amount to a real contribution.

It has been argued that it is only once in twenty years that the students of Allegheny are presented with an opportunity of showing their loyalty to their college. It has also been argued that by showing an interest in the College, we can, by our own contributions to the College, help influence alumni in their determination of the extent to which they will back the drive.

In answer to these arguments, we might remark that luckily, our world stands at the brink of disaster only at very infrequent intervals. Prevention of disaster now is of greater import, it must be admitted, even than the very existence of our college, or any other single college. What we can do to help prevent this disaster, is greater than what we can do to help sustain Allegheny. We feel, and hope, that our alumni can be proud of a student body willing to share its advantages with foreign students.

We would like to suggest for consideration that the entire sum of proceeds from the drive itself go to WSSF. We suggest also that the proceeds from the Carnival, and from its incidentals, such as auctions and sales of faculty services, be given to the College fund drive. We think that we can show our loyalty to the College more by our work, hard work, in projects like the carnival. We can aid our college with our own labor, perhaps more so than by transferring our parents' dollars from our pockets to the College coffers.

Yours truly,
Jack Goellner

Dear Sirs:

There once was a time when the Library was one of the best places to study. That time, however, is past. Many people have noticed the same thing that I have, simply that the Library is too hot for effective study. There is absolutely no reason why it could not be made cooler. A person just can't study with heat like that. Therefore I suggest that something be done about the unreasonable heat.

Thank you,
William McCartney

Fourteen Varsity Cagers In Practice; Scrimmage Meadville and Alliance Teams

Working with a nucleus of four lettermen, Allegheny basketball coach Al Werner has been rounding the 1950-51 version of the Gator cage squad into top preseason form. Each week day for over a month the fourteen man squad has been drilling in preparation for the fifteen game card which gets underway at Edinboro on December 6 and continues through March 3rd.

Four Lettermen

Two regulars from last year's five, Bud McIndoe and Art Lowrie, are one pair of Block "A" winners, while Jack Bynane and Bill Potter earned their letters in reserve roles. Potter, Bynane and Rink Kofford are the seniors on this year's squad, while Lowrie, Don Weaver, and Bob Mowry are juniors. The bulk of the squad is sophomores those being Bud McIndoe, Bill Courtney, Lee Parker, Paul Roese, and Ed Snyder.

Three Freshmen on Varsity

Three freshmen have been working with the varsity this fall. Dave Morey, a 5 ft. 10 in. guard from Kenmore, New York. He is 17 years old and had 2 years of varsity experience in high school. Chuck Kindig is a product of Cleveland Heights High School, where he also played guard. He is 18 years old and stands 5 ft. 10 in. The eldest and tallest of the yearling trio is Jack Penny of Westview, Pa. Penny is 20 years old and is an even six feet in height. Coach Werner is planning on bringing one man up from the Junior Varsity which will give him a fifteen man squad with which to work.

On Wednesday, November 15, the varsity courtmen held a lengthy scrimmage with an Industrial League team from Meadville. McIndoe, Lowrie, Kofford, Weaver, and Courtney comprised the starting five, but every man saw action. Lowrie, Bynane, and Potter supplied the offensive spark, while Kofford, Roese, and Morey strengthened the defense. McIndoe, Potter, and Weaver covered the boards in effective style.

Scrimmage Alliance

The team travelled to Alliance College in Cambridge Springs on Saturday the 18th and scrimmaged the Hilltoppers for over two hours. While the shooting was off in this work out, the defense seemed stronger and the ball handling was markedly improved. Jack Potter scored consistently, and he, along with Bud McIndoe, was effective in handling the rebounds. Paul Roese and Don Weaver repeatedly intercepted the Alliance passes. The Hilltop cagers will come here on the 29th of November for a return scrimmage.

Coach Werner reports that he is satisfied with the progress of the team and hopes to have the boys primed for the opener at Edinboro, come December 6. Following this, tilt with the "Teachers," Allegheny will meet powerful Westminster at New Wilmington on December 9, and then play their first home game on December 15, engaging Juniata at Montgomery Gym.

Junior Varsity Cut

The 24 man Junior Varsity basketball squad will be cut to fifteen this week. The first J.V. game will be against the Westminster freshmen on December 9th proceeding the varsity encounter.

Swimmers Prep For 11-Meet Schedule; Opens On December 8

The Meadville monsoon season has quite appropriately ushered in the pre-season practice sessions of Allegheny's swimming team. The prospective team is being put through an intensive pre-season training program in order to prepare it for its first meet with Grove City here at Allegheny on Dec. 7.

Coach Bill Hanson is neither optimistic nor pessimistic about this season's prospects. He has six lettermen returning, Captain Bob Zuberbuhler and Reggie Wilson, backstrokers; Ward Schenck, John Ertle and John Muir, freestylers; and Don Case, diver. Two other upperclassmen who will make strong bids for a swimming berth are Ed McAlvey and "Shorty" Nelson. The freshman candidates have shown a lot of spirit and a willingness to work hard. However, it is too early to make any accurate observations as to how they will eventually fit into the Allegheny swimming team.

Mud, Snow, Rain Hamper Both Teams; Phi Delts Capture Cup In Overtime Fray

On 2400 square yards of mud and water, and in a blanket of snow, sleet and rain, the Blue clad football team of Phi Delta Theta captured the 1950 intramural football championship by edging the gridders of Phi Kappa Psi 7-6, in an overtime game. When the contest was officially ended, the score was tied 6-6, which necessitated a series of four plays by each team, the one gaining the most yardage, taking the contest. In their four attempts, the Phi Psis lost five yards; the Phi Delts gained five, thus winning the tilt, 7-6.

Lovett Tallies

The Phi Psis had the game in complete control throughout the first half as they repeatedly threatened the Phi Delt goal, only to be stalled each time. Finally, late in the second quarter, halfback Johnny Lovett grabbed a Graffam pass and scampered 25 yard to score.

Phi Delts Score

Galley 8—Al

It wasn't until the fourth period that the Phi Delt attack began to click. Don Baer and Jim Welton hit with passes to "Biddie" Merriman, Bud Cooley, Bill Vaughn and Sylvie Alfonso to move the ball to the Phi Psi 15. From there Welton began a run to the right, spotted Tom Mustio in the end-zone and hit him deep in the corner to knot the count at 6 all. Such as the game ended, the extra period was played and the Phi Delts gained a hard earned 7-6 victory for the intramural cup.

Every member of each team was outstanding in the mud-battle.

Phi Delts Down Sigs, Phi Gams

A week ago, the Phi Delts came from behind to down a determined Sig team 12-8 in the first round of the Championship playoffs. The day before, they also caught up to the Phi Gams and edged them in an extra period tilt, 13-12.

The final standings are as follows:

	Won	Lost
Phi Delts	7	1
Phi Psis	5	2
Sigs	5	2
Delts	4	2
Phi Gams	2	4
Theta Chis	2	4
Commons	0	5
Chi Rho	0	5

Phi Psis Capture "Turkey Trot"

By placing three men in the first ten, and thus scoring the lowest number of points, 18, Phi Kappa Psi captured the annual Turkey Trot held on the Eberhardt course last Friday, November 17th. Second place was won by Phi Delta Theta with 29 points, while the Phi Gams finished third with 36..

Arnie Lewis again won first place in the mile and a half event, breaking the tape in the time of 7 minutes 40 seconds. However, the Delts were only able to finish fifth in the final standings, since the next Delt crossed the line in 16th position. DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM arate committees have been established in three areas of large concentration, Erie, Cleveland and Pittsburgh. These committees are being directed by Sumner Nichols, '12, Theodore Thoburn, '14, and Mr. Smith respectively.

This work of the Special Gift Committee is of primary importance. An analysis of giving to colleges and universities has indicated that between seventy and eighty per cent of the total funds raised can be expected to come from donors of substantial amounts.

Allegheny alumni and friends are being given full opportunity to take an active part in the Development Program by means of the Builder Share Plan. Subscribers may purchase a share for $150. Payments may be arranged over a thirty month period, and any number of shares may be subscribed. In recognition of all who contribute a share or more, the college plans to erect a tablet listing the names of these donors. All contributors to the Program, regardless of the size of their gift, will be recorded in a suitable booklet at the close of the campaign.

Publicity aids, sent from the central office, are periodically available to the various areas, and correspond with their programs. These aids include informational and instructional booklets, and Alumni Bulletin supplements which give news of the Development Program's progress.

ZIMMERN

States in giving aid to the rest of the world.

Sir Alfred, also spoke before two classes on Friday morning. In one of these classes he pointed the lack of class consciousness in the U.S. as being ample proof for lack of a labor party in this country, and said that as long as the workingmen of the country make as good a living as college profs there will not be a labor party. He also pointed to the way that his country was quietly yet efficiently handling the problem of communists within her borders, and stated that if the United States had not established so many congressional committees, but had done as Britian has and let each field take care of its own problems, more would be accomplished in a quieter manner.

Sinfonietta Concert Set For December 14

Under the direction of Mr. Herbert Neurath, Assistant Professor of music, the Allegheny Sinfonietta will present its 1951 Fall Semester Concert on Thursday, December 14, in Ford Memorial Chapel at 8:15 p.m.

Because of its newly acquired freshman musicians the group is better this year and will be able to present a more sophisticated and difficult program than it has in the past, stated Dr. Neurath.

The points of sophistication will be Schubert's Fifth Symphony and Three Unfamiliar Songs by Stephen Foster, arranged for small orchestra and high soprano by George Frederick McKay, professor of music at the University of Washington. The Sinfonietta's will be the first performance of Mr. McKay's arrangement.

In addition to the Symphony and Songs; the Sinfonietta will play; The Overture Cosi fan Tutte, a comic-opera by Mozart; a Christmas number (not yet chosen); Bohemian Song by Weinberger; Folk Songs from Somerset, a march by Ralph Vaughan Williams; Dance of the Rose Maidens, a dance from Aram Khaturian's Gayne Ballet Suite.

Anyone wishing to contribute French articles to the display is requested to get in touch with Mary Anderson, Alice Condoyan, Pat Riddell, or John Robinson before November 28.
