ALLEGHENY WINS OVER UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER BY 7-0 SCORE

One of the Hardest Games of the Year Results in Blue and Gold Victory—Baldwin Takes Ball Through Line for Only Score

Last Saturday afternoon the wearers of the Gold and Blue triumphed over the Rochester University eleven for the third time in as many successive seasons. The game was fast and well played despite the fact that a layer of snow three inches thick covered the field. A touchdown by Baldwin and a goal from Scannell were responsible for Allegheny's seven points. Rochester's inability to advance the ball beyond Allegheny's 25-yard line accounts for the fact that they could pile up no more than a goose egg for their total of scores.

Rochester's chief mode of attack was the passing game. Especially in the fourth quarter did they resort to this game in their frantic but vain effort to tie up the score. On two occasions they succeeded in completing two forward passes that netted considerable distance but never once did they have the ball beyond Allegheny's 25-yard line. Once Hummell hurled the oval from Allegheny's 27-yard line to within about three yards of the goal line and everything looked good for Rochester making a score, but Drake intercepted the pass and made a spectacular 50-yard run carrying the ball into safe territory. This was Rochester's only real threat to score. The stars of the Rochester aggregation were Hummell, whose work in hurling the forward passes was a feature; Ogden, who was especially good in defense work and at the receiving end of forward passes; and Harris, the fleet-footed quarterback, who played the running game best. The small score shows that as a whole the Rochester eleven were opponents of no mean calibre.

For Allegheny the whole team was in the game every minute of play. They began to show the benefit of the experience of their early training this year and they played together better than on any previous occasion this season. Every man was a star in his own way, but the men whose work stood out as exceptionally good were Drake, Baldwin, Cunningham, Cook, and M. Scannell. Drake's intercepting Hummell's forward pass on Allegheny's three-yard line saved the bacon of the local eleven because undoubtedly it would have resulted in a touchdown for Rochester had one of their men corralled it. His run of 50 yards after this feat was the longest run of the game. Baldwin, who was effective in defensive as well as offensive work, scored the only touchdown of the game. Cunningham like Baldwin was a stellar performer in both the offensive and defensive departments of the game. He tackled hard and sure, and made several substantial gains for the locals. Cook, who substituted for Preston after the latter sustained a badly twisted ankle in the first quarter of the game, performed in a fashion comparable to the manner in which he handled himself in the Buffalo game. His line bucks netted gain after gain and the manner in which he repeatedly grounded Harris the much touted fleet-footed quarterback is worthy of comment. "Cap" Scannell performed in his usual all-around manner. In breaking up the interference of the opposition backfield on several occasions he enabled the local backs to throw the Rochester man for a loss. No ground was gained by the Rochester backs around his end.

Allegheny lost the toss and was compelled to kick off to Rochester. After making a first down they were held and compelled to punt. By repeated line plunges and end runs Allegheny succeeded in advancing considerably into Rochester's territory. At the beginning of the second quarter Allegheny had possession of the ball on Rochester's 30-yard line but were held for downs and Rochester punted into safe territory. Allegheny again advanced the ball by straight football down to Rochester's 20-yard line. With the ball on the 20-yard line and only three minutes to play before the end of the half Allegheny made a last bareheaded effort to score, and succeeded after several line bucks by Cook, Baldwin and Cunningham.

In the third quarter Rochester tried hard to overcome Allegheny's slight lead but the local's defense was so airtight that nothing could be accomplished. They resorted to the passing game, but aside from three long complete passes, their efforts were spoiled by the quickness of the locals in breaking their passes up. Allegheny kept the ball in their opponents' territory most of the time and the second half ended as it had begun with the score standing 7-0.

The lineup was as follows:

Allegheny—7.	Rochester—0.
M. Scannell (Capt) l. e.	Ogden
Filer l. t.	Hummel
Heckman l. g.	Stout
Harbaugh c.	Quincy
McConnell r. g.	Newton
	Morrow
Coulsan r. t.	Auchterlonie
J. Scannell e.	Witney (Capt)
	Remington
Drake q. b.	Harris
Baldwin l. h.	Brown
	McKelvie
Cunningham h.	Evans
Preston, Cook f. b.	Crouch

Touchdown—Baldwin.

Goal from touchdown—Scannell.

BIOLOGY CLUB.

The Tingley Biological Club held its regular meeting in Alden Hall on last Tuesday evening. A paper on the importance of industrial diseases was presented by D. E. Thomas, '17. A very comprehensive and excellent treatment of the subject was given by the speaker. After the reading of the paper, the subject was thrown open for general discussion and question by the members of the club. Light refreshments were then served.

During the evening, plans for an open meeting to be held in the near future, were discussed.

Musical Program Announced in Connection With Film

FINE CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN WITH PRODUCTION OF LES MISERABLES FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

As was announced in last week's Campus "Les Miserables" will be shown on the screen in Ford Memorial Chapel on the evenings of November twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth. This photoplay wonder is being brought here under the auspices of "Le Petit Salon" and the French Department at a great expense, and nothing is being spared to make the evenings most enjoyable ones for the audience.

A feature of the two evenings will be the musical programme which has been made out by Professor Ward. On the first night the French Club quartet will sing "La Marseillaise." C. Miller, '17, will sing bass; R. J. Tuttle, '17, will sing first tenor; W. E. McConnell, '17, will hold down the second tenor section; and J. S. Ogden will sing baritone. J. S. Ogden and R. J. Tuttle will also sing "La Barcarole" in French. The Mandolin Club, lead by J. E. Isherwood will render, between reels, several selections appropriate to the occasion.

At the present time indications are that there will be a full house inasmuch as the tickets are selling rapidly. The prices will be, as announced in last week's Campus, twenty-five cents a night, or forty cents for a ticket that is good both nights. This twenty-reel picture requires two nights for presentation, and those who desire to be certain of getting tickets that are good both nights can buy them at the office of Dr. Spangler in Bentley Hall.

This masterpiece of Victor Hugo is interesting not only to the reader of French literature and the student of history, but to everyone who loves a good story for the story's sake. The story of middle and lower classes of French life after the revolution is pictured in remarkable detail. Hugo depicts a series of incidents, through which the hero Jean Valjean runs, taking the reader through every phase of life from the most fervent religious houses to the most abject misery in the gauleys of Toulon. Life in a growing town of middle-class population, the sisters of "Le Petite" convent, the police system of Paris, and many other features of post-revolutionary life in France are described in the minutest detail. The picture of Jean Valjean's escape through the underground passage way with Marius half dead on his back, after the capture of the barricade by the National Guard of Paris, is one that has excited much comment among those who have seen the play. One other feature is Hugo's unexcelled description of the Battle of Waterloo, and the ghouls who preyed upon the slain bodies of the participants of the battle. Those who have seen the picture tout it as the greatest moving picture in existence today not even excelled by "The Birth of a Nation."

The most extensive trip undertaken by a far-west college ball team is planned for Leland Stanford nine next spring. The coast 'varsity will compete in various eastern cities, and will tackle Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Cornell and other big schools on the latter's home grounds.

Drastic measures have been taken by the Student Council of Dickinson College with reference to the Freshman rules. A third offense by any Freshman is considered sufficient to ostracise him completely from class and college government during the rest of his college career.

Contributions to the amount of $1,275 have been made by the students of Mercersburg Academy for the support of a medical missionary in China.

U. of Akron to Play Here This Week

FINAL GAME OF SEASON WILL SEE MEN OF CLASS OF '17 PLAY FOR LAST TIME.

On next Saturday afternoon Hammett's gridiron warriors will play the last game of their 1916 season when they meet the University of Akron team at Montgomery Field. Needless to say they expect to make the season a big success by closing it with a victory. The team which started the season as green and unexperienced is now playing in veteran style and there seems to be no doubt as to the outcome of their last game.

Thus far this season Akron has not showed the class of ball that would cause any anxiety to the local followers of the gridiron. Last Saturday they capped the climax by being humbled by the Hiram team to the tune of 34-7. This score made against them by a team like Hiram does not foreshadow any serious opposition to the onslaughts of the locals. Hiram may have had a much better team than is generally supposed, however, or may have put up a much better game than usual. So, Allegheny will take no chances inasmuch as Akron has always been a stiff proposition for the locals to handle.

In last Saturday's game Hammett's team showed the benefit of their previous encounters this season. With only McConnell, Harbaugh and Scannell left over from last season Coaches Hammett and Pruett had very gloomy prospects for a first-class team early in the season. Shift after shift became necessary before they finally had a team which worked together like veterans. They have made improvements in their manner of handling the ball, running interference, and making holes in the line in each successive encounter. If they make any improvement over last Saturday's play during the coming week of practice the local fans will have an opportunity of seeing a much different team in action than they saw in the first two or three games.

Drake will be seen in his last football encounter for the local eleven, playing his regular position at quarterback. McConnell is the only senior on the team besides Drake and will play his regular position at right guard. Cunningham whose improvement in the last three games has been very marked, will play right half-back. Baldwin, the big point-getter of the present season, will be stationed at left half-back. Preston, whose badly sprained ankle forced him to retire in the first quarter of last Saturday's game, will have an able substitute in M. Cook at full-back. Cook's work in last Saturday's game was encouraging from every standpoint. The Scannell brothers will defend the two wings, "Cap" Scannell taking care of the left end and "Jack" playing right end. Harbaugh the mainstay for the center of the line will occupy his old position. Enoch Filer and Coulsan will play the tackles, and Heckman will play left guard.

In past seasons Allegheny and Akron have been very well matched opponents, neither team having scored a very decisive victory over the other, and this fact may have much to do with making a well fought battle next Saturday. In previous years Allegheny has been compelled to hike to Akron in order to have the University team play them, but this year Manager Boyd succeeded in inducing them to play a game on Montgomery Field. The scores of the past seasons were:

1902—Allegheny, 23; Akron, 6.
1909—Allegheny, 0; Akron, 5.
1910—Allegheny, 6; Akron, 12.
1911—Allegheny, 0; Akron, 6.
1912—Allegheny, 0; Akron, 0.
1913—Allegheny, 6; Akron, 0.
1914—Allegheny, 3; Akron, 3.
1915—Allegheny, 10; Akron, 0.

Student Volunteer Band Holds Convention

LARGE NUMBER OF DELEGATES FROM OTHER INSTITUTIONS HERE TO ENJOY FINE PROGRAM.

Fifty-three delegates, representing twelve other institutions: Grove City, Westminster, University of Pittsburgh, Beaver, Geneva, Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, Western Seminary, Waynesburg, W. and J., California Normal, Slippery Rock Normal, and Edinboro Normal, were in attendance at the convention of the Student Volunteer Organization of Western Pennsylvania held here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There were also present a number of missionaries, returned from the foreign field since the beginning of the European war, as well as leaders of the movement among the students, to present the two phases of volunteer activity; first, the work at home in securing missionaries and a strong supporting constituency; second, the work upon the foreign field itself.

The first meeting of the convention was held on Friday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. At this meeting was commenced a conference on the program of missionary work as carried out at the different institutions represented. Five lines of activity were suggested as desirable on the part of each volunteer band: adequate program of meetings, missionary giving, prayer for missions, devotion of life, and missionary study. The subject of missionary prayer was then taken up by S. H. McCreary, Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. Mr. McCreary spoke of prayer as the greatest force in the world, by which laborers are sent out, and as the expression of the dominant desire.

Following the meeting in the chapel, an informal reception for the delegates was given in the college commons in Cochran Hall by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. of Allegheny. A large number of the students and members of the faculty were present and availed themselves of the opportunity to become acquainted with the delegates.

On Saturday a business meeting, for the delegates alone, was held at nine o'clock in the chapel. After the meeting, at the regular chapel period, a formal welcome to the delegates in behalf of the college was tendered by Dr. Camden Coburn. Dr. Coburn after extending the greetings of the college, addressed the body of delegates and students briefly upon the power of a proper relation with God in influencing human life and character.

At ten-thirty o'clock the conference on missionary activities was continued under the leadership of Miss White, secretary of the organization. The question of missionary giving was the problem taken up, and a report was received from each college of its plan of giving. In conclusion the Reverend Harry Rhodes, a missionary from the Korean field, spoke on economic conditions in Korea, showing how missionary giving in our own country and Korea compare.

Another meeting was held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. It was opened by A. H. Loewe, of Western Theological Seminary, an educational missionary from western Africa, who spoke upon the subject of proper valuation of self and of the value of self-expression in contrast to emulation of others. The conference on activities in charge of Miss White was then continued, dealing this time with missionary education. A report of the plan at each college was given, and suggestions and criticisms were made by Miss White. The meeting was then addressed by missionaries representing

NOVEMBER 21, 1916.

Considering the facts that the Allegheny team is composed of new men, and that in nearly every game it has been weakened by accidents which have prevented some of the older and more experienced men from playing, the present season is certainly a credit to not only Coaches Hammett and Pruett, but to the college itself. With what has been already accomplished, prospects grow brighter every day for a strong aggregation of players to represent this institution during the next two years. There is little doubt but what the University of Rochester score was somewhat of a surprise to many who were not closely watching the development of the team and for this reason all the more credit should go to the men who have fought their best for the Blue and Gold as well as to the two men who have been doing their best to develop and mould these players into the powerful machine they now compose. The results of the Rochester game were most gratifying, and in defeating this team Allegheny may well feel elated over the outcome.

This week will witness the final game of the season as far as Allegheny is concerned. Our opponents will be the representatives from University of Akron who will play the first game they have ever played on Montgomery Field. Heretofore the Ohio institution has insisted upon the game being played upon its own field but this year will be different. As Allegheny will be judged by the kind of spirit displayed at the game it behooves every student to turn out and support the team. Furthermore, the strength of Akron is not known. While Hiram defeated them a short time ago, reports are that the Hiram players are surprising everyone. With this fact in mind as well as the fact that Akron has always given us a hard game, we have every reason to suppose, that the team will need all the student support it can get.

Again, this will be the last opportunity to see the men of the class of 1917 in action for the Gold and Blue.

In a college the size of Allegheny there are always conflicting ideas and ideals. A college would be a very poor institution were this not so, and all students were of one mind. It is in this conflict of opinions that the strength really exists and the broadness of viewpoint obtains its source. Considering this, a college is judged greatly by the entertainment it gives to visiting teams, delegations, and personal friends. There is no question but what Allegheny stands high in this respect. We are noted for our square and hospitable treatment of all visitors, and the experiences of the last week substantiate this fact. The students are to be commended for the hospitality shown the delegates of the Student Volunteer Band while they were our guests last week and for the sake of the advertising we are getting in the colleges they represent, it is hoped that such hospitality will be continued to be shown to visitors in the future.

Men's Week Plans Progressing Rapidly

DR. BROWN SENDS WORD TO COMMITTEE.—FINAL PLANS TO BE ANNOUNCED NEXT WEEK.

Plans for the week of services which are to be held in the college the week following Thanksgiving are now rather clearly formulated. The same general plan as has been followed in the past will be used this year, Dr. Brown, who will be in charge of the week's services, has written. So far as the public services themselves are concerned, there will be a chapel address each day and also a meeting, not to exceed an hour at the longest, in the evening. The Reverend Mr. Brown, who is a powerful and interesting speaker, will himself address a number of the evening meetings.

The services for the men and for the women will be, as in former years, conducted distinct from each other by the separate Christian Associations. The leaders for the men, as there will be three of them, will be able, however, to help, as in the past, with the women's meetings. A union service in which the men and women will cooperate, has also been suggested by Dr. Brown, and it is probable that such a meeting will be held in the chapel during the week. The other meetings, of the men and women separately, will be held in the Association rooms in Cochran and Hulings.

The plan of holding personal interviews between the students and the leaders, which was found to be one of the most helpful features of the week of prayer in the past, will be continued this year. The leaders will be in their rooms for several hours at definite times each day to talk personally with the students about their life problems. The dates for these interviews for the latter part of the week are very numerous, and the Y. M. C. A. cabinet is already taking steps for interviews for the first part of the week in order that they may be so distributed that all those who wish may talk with the leaders personally.

Forum Activities Now in Full Swing

DEBATING BEGAN AND FRESHMEN TRYOUTS ANNOUNCED.—ATTENDANCE AT NEXT THREE MEETINGS REQUIRED.

The regular meeting of the Forum was held on Thursday afternoon in the Philo-Franklin Hall.

At the meeting the 'varsity question,' 'Resolved, that the United States should admit Japanese and Chinese immigrants on the same terms as those from European countries,' was debated. The negative side was upheld by J. G. Megirt, '19, and C. J. Smith, '19. R. E. McCreary, '18, and G. A. Stetson, '19, supported the affirmative. Each side brought out some fine points and suggestions that will be helpful to the 'varsity debaters. The decision of the Forum was in favor of the negative side. This same question will be debated every week until the 'varsity debaters are chosen. This is in accordance with the new plan of choosing the team by elimination, which was suggested by the Advisory Committee.

It was also decided that try-outs for the Freshman debating team would be held on Dec. 2 and 4. December 14th was set for the annual Soph-Freshman debate.

The advisory board of the Forum, consisting of Dr. Henke, Dr. Darling and Professor Stemple, were present and made several suggestions. They suggested a new method of saving 'varsity try-outs which they thought would make the debaters more efficient. Dr. Henke also suggested a different phrasing of the 'varsity question.

It was also announced that the University of Pittsburgh had dropped out of the Triangular League and the new league was composed of University of Ohio, Wooster and Allegheny.

College is Active in Church Institute

STUDENTS AND MEMBERS OF FACULTY TAKE ACTIVE PART IN STONE CHURCH PROGRAM.

A number of the Allegheny students availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the Institute held last week by the Stone Church, although the student attendance was not so large as it would naturally have been but for the presence of the Student Volunteer Convention at the college during the latter part of the week. There were, however, a few students enrolled in each of the study-courses, particularly in those taught by members of the faculty; the class in home missions, studying the work in the south, under the instruction of Dr. Snavely; the class taking up the problem of temperance, taught by Dr. Elliott; the class in Bible study, under the instruction of Dr. Cobern; and the class making a study of Sunday School problems, under the leadership of Dr. Henke. There were even a larger number of the students, though, who took advantage of the excellent course of lectures given each evening immediately after the class work.

A series of five very interesting and instructive lectures was presented, three of the lectures being by members of the faculty. The first lecture, on Monday evening, on the subject "Race Improvement" was given by Dr. Darling. He presented graphically and vividly, with the aid of a few slides, the influence of heredity upon the race, dealing in particular with the trait of feeble-mindedness as produced through heredity. The concern of the speaker was the reduction of the amount of feeble-mindedness through the program of negative eugenics.

The lecture on Tuesday evening was by Dr. Henke on the subject, "Save the Child." Dr. Henke took up the problem of the religious and moral education of the child. He attempted to show that the way to educate the child is not to force the notions of the adult upon the child, nor on the other hand to let the child do as he pleases. He showed that the correct way is to study the child, discover the child's needs, and meet these needs at every step. He then applied this principal of education to Sunday School work.

Dr. Cobern spoke on Wednesday evening of "The Ancient Prophet and the Modern Preacher." He made a clear and forceful statement, referring to the prophetic books of the Old Testament, of the conception which the earlier prophets had of the prophet, not as a hireling but as a representative of God. He then compared this idea, found in the prophets, with the notion which people today have of the modern preacher.

"A Live Wire on Present-Day Missions" was the subject of the lecture given on Thursday evening, by Miss Carrie J. Carnahan. Miss Carnahan was a member of the delegation to the Panama Conference of Student Federation for Women, and is very familiar with the missionary problem in South America. She gave a very instructive presentation of the religious situation in the countries of South America.

"Our Rural Church Problems," by Reverend Ora Miner, a lecture in very wide demand, was given on Friday evening. Reverend Mr. Miner had a large number of slides illustrating his claim that the rural communities are not organizing their religious work. Our rural communities, he showed, have many unused churches, those in use are poorly equipped. The solution he offered was that the rural communities should not foster sectarianism, but should organize their religious forces with a view to saving the community.

A lecture by President Crawford on the subject "Methodism's Larger Program" was scheduled for the closing night of the Institute. It was impossible for this part of the program to be carried out, however, as Dr. Crawford was obliged to be out of town Saturday.

Miss Alice Chapin, '15, who has been teaching at Brocton, N. Y., is spending a couple of weeks at her home in Meadville, having been obliged to give up her work for a while because of overstrain of her eyes.

Literary Monthly Appears Today

ONE OF THE BEST NUMBERS THIS PUBLICATION HAS EVER HAD WILL BE DISTRIBUTED.

The second issue of the Allegheny Literary Monthly will appear this week with a more than usually rich and varied table of contents. The new issue will contain eleven excellent contributions, including stories, poems, and prose articles—in addition to a two-page department devoted to "The Funny Side of College."

An article, "Something Personal," which begins the issue, is a forceful statement of the editor's views regarding the literary situation at Allegheny, and dealing with the policy and scope of the Literary Monthly. It is an article which should be read by every student of the college who wishes to fulfill his obligations as such.

In the way of prose fiction, there are three excellent stories: "A Cry in the Night," by Robert H. Howell; "The Test of a Man," by Malcolm J. Kelley, and "The Sign of the Three Balls," by G. D. Patterson. The stories show considerable ability in subject matter and treatment, equal to that of stories found in some of the good short-story magazines.

There are more than ordinary number of non-story prose articles: "A Prayer," "Realities," by Dudley Zuver; and "The Art of Versification," by R. L. Weide. The articles are all very able and clever. The last article in a humorous way essays "to wise" the students how to become famous, by showing them how to versify. Many types of verse are illustrated by short verses, some of them with a local application which ensures them student interest.

"The Funny Side of College," which as has been said occupies two pages, will compare, as the editor intimates, with similar material in the Kaldron to the discomfiture of the latter, since the monthly has an advantage in the fact that its wares are fresh.

Those girls who spent the week-end at home were Misses Meredyth Neal, '19, Helen Miller, '20, Marguerite Terpenning, '20, Lucile Phillips, '20.

Mrs. Akers held a tea Saturday afternoon for the girls from Allegheny and the delegates who had attended conventions at Eagles Mere.

After dinner Saturday evening the delegates went to the parlor where they met Dean Spalding. A short program was given in which Misses Ella Allgood, '20, Esther Emery, '18, Madeline Rischell, '19, Esther Averill, '19, and Elizabeth Sykes, '17, took part. The girls from Grove City and University of Pittsburgh also gave some college songs and yells.

Miss Florence Gibbons, '20, was the week-end guest of Miss Elizabeth Carew, '20, at her home in Erie.

Saturday evening Gamma Rho Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma initiated Miss Ethyl Kelley, '17.

Miss Janet Simcox, '18, spent the week-end at her home in Sandy Lake.

A meeting of the Student Volunteer Conference was held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, Sunday morning, to which all the girls were invited. Mrs. Stewart, who has just returned from Siam, told of her work and the wonderful opportunities in the mission field. Every girl was interested in the message which Mrs. Stewart brought. Miss White, the student secretary of the Volunteer Movement, then spoke of the Volunteer work and the misconceptions which so many people have in regard to the mission work. These talks were extremely helpful and led many of those present to see the Volunteer work from a new viewpoint.

Miss Jean Mackenzie, '11, and Miss Helen Mackenzie, '16, attended the Student Volunteer Convention last week and were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Akers.

NEW YORK ALUMNI MEET.

The fall dinner and meeting of the New York Alumni Association was held last Tuesday evening at the Aldine Club in New York. The meeting was one of the best ever held by the New York Alumni there being more than thirty present.

President Crawford was on the toast list as well as W. N. Ridge, '82, of the Board of Trustees. Both gave very fine talks as well as several others that spoke. Among the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Walker, of New York City.

During the business session that followed the banquet, Gilbert W. Mead, '11, was elected President of the Association to fill the place left by the retiring of W. P. Sturtevant, '06. L. L. Peterson was elected Secretary-Treasurer.

The Younger New York Alumni, '05 to '16, are laying extensive plans for another meeting of the same sort to be held on February 22, at the same time that the annual college banquet is going on.

Yale University has 16 graduates in the present Congress.

QUILL CLUB.

A regular meeting of the Quill Club was held on last Tuesday evening in the club room in the library. The program, in charge of Miss Ruth Pitt, '17, was presented on the subject, "Cartoons and Caricatures." The history of cartoons and caricatures, and of their development, was given by Miss Pitt. Papers on the subject were then read by various members of the club. R. P. Howell, '19, presented a paper dealing with the work of Nask, the great American cartoonist. Miss Eva English, '18, dealt in the same way with the life and work of Sir John Tenniel, one of the foremost English cartoonists. Miss Esther Emery, '18, read a paper which presented the difficulties of the work of the cartoonist. Miss Elizabeth Sykes, '17, spoke of the art of the modern cartoonist in contrast with that of the men of the earlier periods of development. The German war cartoon was taken up as a special subject by J. G. Castle, '18. After the presentation of the papers a general discussion of the subject was held. Light refreshments were then served.

different fields. The Reverend Mr. Pickin told of the work in northern India, both evangelistic and educational. Reverend R. W. Stewart showed the missionary conditions in Siam, treating in particular the educational and medical phases of the missionary work. Miss Carrie J. Carnahan, a member of the delegation to the Panama Conference of the Student Federation for Women, gave a graphic description of the needs of the South American field. Following the type of religious regime they have been under, eighty-five percent of the students of South America, she declared, have placed themselves on record as atheists.

On Saturday evening a meeting was held at seven-thirty o'clock. Short devotional exercises were conducted by George Kirk, Secretary of the student Y. M. C. A. at the University of Pittsburgh. A. H. Loewe then made a strong address on the theme of the power to keep to the vision, received. Reverend W. M. Deggar, a missionary who had spent several years in Came-tion spoke of the life and work of Livingston.

The afternoon meeting on Sunday was devoted principally to the answering of questions proposed by volunteers. The questions were written and presented to the returned missionaries, to be answered by the one most capable of answering. Their reasons for being volunteers were also given by many of the delegates.

Sunday evening, as at the last meeting of the convention, a consecration service was held in the chapel. Three speakers, Reverend Harry Rhodes, Reverend W. M. Deggar, and A. H. Loewe, told of their own decisions, made while they were students in college, and then presented fairly and without minimizing the difficulties, dangers, and disappointments of the work—the great opportunities which the mission fields present and the satisfaction which is found in a life spent in that type of work. No public pledges were asked for, but an appeal was made to the students that they meet the question of taking up missionary work fairly, and with a willingness to take it up if they feel that to be their duty.

Y. M. C. A.

The Wednesday evening Y. M. C. A. meeting last week assumed the form of an open discussion of the week of prayer to begin December 4th. After a well-rendered violin solo by T. McCafferty, '20, Vincent Askey, the leader for the evening, told who the leaders for the week of prayer were to be. He said that the leaders, the Reverend Mr. Brown, the Reverend Mr. Sherwin, and the Reverend Mr. Maxwell, had been all-around college men in their day, and he explained that all the experience of these men would be at the disposal of students in personal interviews to be arranged later. Askey said that the benefit to be gotten from the week of prayer would be proportioned to the earnestness put into it, and that the success of the campaign therefore depended upon the individual students. The meeting was closed by expressions of opinion upon this week of prayer, and testimonials of real good obtained from similar campaigns.
