Florida Men To Debate With Allegheny Women

Unusual Debate to Be Presented Here Next Monday.

Two men representatives of the University of Florida will meet two of the members of the Women's Debate Team next Monday evening. The debate will be held in the Play Shop at eight o'clock with Seldon Waldo and Phil Graham arguing for the University of Florida against Betty Elliott and Aileen Rockenbach who will represent Allegheny.

Both of the visitors are in their second year on the varsity debate team. Mr. Graham is a senior in the University while Mr. Waldo is a Junior but very active in campus activities. He is a member of the Student Executive Council and of the Debate Committee.

The visiting representatives will arrive in Meadville after debating with the University of Buffalo and will entrain Wednesday morning for Cleveland where they will meet the debaters of Western Reserve.

Pennsylvania State College will be the host of the Pennsylvania Debaters Convention on March 13 and 14. The meeting will be held to formulate a debate question on some phase of "Proposed Federal Legislation". Two representatives of Allegheny will be present to present a resolution. This convention will be the first meeting of this particular group which will include colleges from all over the state.

Rev. Joseph W. Miles, '74, Becomes Oldest Alumnus

Upon the death of Captain James W. Smith Monday evening, Rev. Joseph W. Miles became the oldest living graduate of Allegheny, according to the alumni office records.

Rev. Miles was born in Pittsburgh on March 12, 1846. He was graduated by Allegheny in 1874, fourteen years after the late Captain Smith. He will celebrate his 90th birthday tomorrow.

Following his graduation, Rev. Miles attended Drew Theological School. He was pastor of several Methodist Episcopal churches in the Pittsburgh area following his graduation from Drew and served as presiding elder of the Pittsburgh district from 1887 to 1893.

Seniors Will Hear Open Discussion Of Comprehensives

Dr. Guy E. Buckingham will address an open meeting of seniors on the subject of Comprehensives this evening in Ruter Hall at 8:30. The meeting is being sponsored by Kappa Phi Kappa. men's professional education fraternity.

The speaker will present a brief history of the comprehensive movement including its origin and spread among the schools of the United States. The interpretation of the Allegheny faculty upon the system will be presented as well as methods for preparation will be presented. A forum will follow the address.

Initiation for three men will be held by Kappa Phi Kappa at seven o'clock.

"Noah" To Be Presented Here This Week-End

Production Starts Saturday Night With Repeat on Tuesday Night.

Many new actors will appear in the Playshop production of "Noah", the French play by Andre Obey, to be given at the Allegheny Playshop on March 14 and 17, at 8:20 p. m.

Among those appearing in a major Playshop production for the first time will be John Lavely, who has the title role. Charles Barkley, Sarah Henry, Betsey Robinson, and Joan Crowe also will perform their first major part with the Players. Joseph Macedo, Joseph Philippbar, and Phyllis Freeland have been in past Playshop productions.

Andre Obey in "Noah" has turned out a delightful comedy based on the old Biblical story. The greater part of the play's success is due indisputably to the unaffected, simple manner of its writing. Yet there is more to the play than comedy or the mere story of Noah. In essence, the drama is a morality play and clearly presents its thesis. The colloquial English of the translator, Arthur Wilmurt, is well suited to the play needs. "This artless little play, put together with an infinity of contrivance, moves with perfect poise on twin planes of amusement and emotion," comments James Agate. "As a work of art the thing is flawless and unique, or perhaps it would be more proper to say that I know nothing from which it can be derived."

New York critics were copious in their praise of this drama:

"For people who like nice things, nice things that make you cry with their niceness, Obey's 'Noah' is indicated."—Robert Benchley in the New Yorker.

"The contrast between antique customs and modern slang has seldom been made more tactfully and freshly for merriment."—New York Sun.

"Please see 'Noah' if not for Heaven's sake, for the sake of your theatregoing soul. It's like nothing the Manhattan stage has seen or is likely to see again."—New York World-Telegram.

"It should tickle sophisticates with its whimsicality, should bring temporary comfort to those involved in life's complexities, should cause sheer delight to the pure in heart."—Time.

" . . . you'll have to say you've seen something different from the general run of plays. For 'Noah' is a novelty beyond a doubt."—Bide Dudley over WOR.

Reserved seat tickets are now on sale at the Playshop Box Office between the hours of two and five p. m.

Stylized settings, constructed by the Playshop crew under the direction of John W. Hulburt, aid in projecting the dominant theme.

James W. Smith, Oldest Alumnus Dies Here Monday

Captain James W. Smith, '60, local lawyer and Civil War veteran, died at his Main Street home Monday evening. He was the oldest living graduate of the college.

Confined to his home by illness for the past few weeks, Captain Smith was in a semi-conscious condition for three days preceding his death. He was 96 years old.

Always interested in Allegheny alumni activities, Captain Smith attended the alumni luncheon last June as honor guest, Allegheny's oldest living graduate. Tribute was paid by the alumni group in presentation of a watch commemorating the occasion.

Born January 5, 1840, in Tennessee, he attended the University of Tennesee and later Allegheny College, graduating in 1860. He was awarded an M.A. degree in 1863.

He was a member of the Union Army in the Civil War from the fall of 1862 until early in 1865. He served in the Pennsylvania cavalry with the rank of captain. During the war he married Miss Anne Salisbury. She died at the age of 93 several years ago.

As a member of Phi Kappa Psi, Captain Smith was honored by the local chapter last June.

Captain Smith is survived by one son, Sion B. Smith, '86, Pittsburgh attorney.

Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Thursday at 3 o'clock.

Independents Continue Plans For Organization

The Independent group has drawn up a constitution and has completed its organization. It has held three meetings to date and these three meetings have done much toward establishing their group as a fixture on the campus. Regular officers have been elected. A pin has been selected as the emblem of the group. The attendance at the meetings thus far has averaged 20 persons, but it is expected that this figure will become much larger in the future, as there are approximately 90 non-fraternity men in Allegheny.

In addition to their regular business meeting the group in the past has made it a practice of inviting one faculty member each night as a guest speaker. Among the speakers to date have been Dr. W. S. Hall, Dr. L. J. Long, and Dean J. R. Schultz. Speakers are being lined up for future meetings also.

It has been four years since there has been any semblance of an Independent organization at Allegheny, and that organization was at best an inefficient one. The present group, however, feels that they have the possibilities of making the Independents a vital factor on the campus. They are now making plans for an inexpensive organization which will help the Independents to make a place for themselves in intra-mural, social, and scholastic activities at Allegheny.

All non-fraternity men of Allegheny are members of the group. The membership has been divided into two groups: active members and associate members, depending upon the degree of interest shown in the organization.

Cagers End '36 Season With Win Over Hiram

Shawn Dancers Conclude Course Series Tomorrow

Famous Male Dancers Are Last Feature of Concert-Lecture Series.

"Gods Who Dance"—This is the expressive term used by the editors of "Program" for January, 1936, in speaking of Ted Shawn and his Men Dancers who are to appear at the Meadville High School Auditorium Thursday night, at eight o'clock.

This famous group, composed entirely of men and headed by Ted Shawn, present a dynamic interpretation of the modern dance. They are nearing the end of a very successful season from coast to coast, completing over seventy performances in an extensive tour of the country.

This program is a masterpiece of intelligent, artistic creation, and has drawn many favorable comments from critical observers of the news. The Hollywood "Citizen-News" says of a recent performance, "Shawn is as skilled a showman as he ever was, he is handsome, he is fleet and sure in his movements, and he is emotionally expressive. Shawn stresses melodic and harmonic beauty of movement. He accepts the straight forward dignity and beauty of his art."

This presentation will conclude a series of performances under the auspices of the College-Community Concert-Lecture Course. The first of these entertainments was a concert by the Boston Sinfonetta on September 27. The next numbers, on October 10, featured V. L. Granville, who rendered dramatic impersonations. Paul Althouse, world famous tenor, gave a concert on October 29. A lecture on color photography, illustrated with slides of exceptional beauty, was delivered on November 5, by Leonard Craske, noted sculptor and actor. On November 21, Dr. Will Durant, popular lecturer and author, discussed "The Crisis in American Civilization. "A concert by the trio, De Rosiers, Lamson and Webster, on January 16, was the next to the last presentation.

Education Groups Will Hold Annual Banquet This Week

Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, president of Pennsylvania College for Women, will address the annual joint banquet of Kappa Phi Kappa and Kappa Delta Epsilon, professional men's and women's educational fraternities, to be held Friday evening at the Kepler Hotel promptly at six o'clock. "Schools of Tomorrow" will be Dr. Spencer's subject.

The banquet is an annual affair commemorating the founding of Kappa Phi Kappa and Kappa Delta Epsilon.

Dr. Bruce S. Wright, pastor of Stone Church, will also speak. His topic will be "Educate! Educate!—What For".

'Gators Raise Season Total to Four Wins With Late Rally.

After floundering around during the first half, with no cooperation of play, Allegheny's basketball 'Gators came from behind in the second canto, to erase a nine point deficit, and go on to win a tightly played contest from the Hiram College Terriers, last Friday night at the Hiram, Ohio school. The win concluded the Allegheny 1936 basketball season.

Trailing 23-14, at the end of the first period, the 'Gators suddenly found themselves and blazed away to a 39-32 victory. The Alleghenians exhibited some of their best basketball of the year in the second half to gain the win. It took them just four minutes to tie up the score at 23 all, and then they went ahead to score 25 points while holding the Terriers to only two baskets, and a scant nine points.

The Hiram points came towards the end of the game, and enabled them to draw close to the 'Gators who at one time held only a three-point 33-30 margin. But another last minute outburst gave the Blue and Gold the sure win.

The 'Gators found the going extra tough all evening. With the Terriers playing an improved brand of ball, and the excessive number of fouls being called, it looked very doubtful that the Alleghenians could crash through with a win in their last game of the season. Three of Allegheny's first five were banished from the game before its end was reached, because of the fouls called. Pardee left the game early in the second half; Hart followed him a few minutes later. This ordinarily would have wrecked Allegheny's chances, but Shafer's splurge of baskets kept them well in the running. Then with but a few minutes to go, Shafer himself was evicted via the foul route. Nevins, replacing him ended the game with a two-pointer, so the Lawrencemen did not relinquish their lead.

A play-by-play recounting of the second half could almost be limited to the following of big Ray Shafer and lanky Bob McFarland. The blond Shafer, hitting his finest stride of the year, dumped in six field goals and made good on every one of his six foul-line opportunities, while McFarland counted three ties from the foul-line.

Trailing at 23-14 as the second half opened, Shafer went beneath the strings for a quick lift shot and McFarland followed with a fling from the side of the court. Shafer took his turn again and then McFarland, with a foul by Shafer tying the tally at 23-23.

Hiram used up a time-out but the 'Gators went ahead as McFarland tossed in his third goal of the half. Manke interrupted the string with a foul, but Al White took a hand in the scoring by bounding through a goal. Hiram counted again at the foul-line, a toss by Cmaylo, but the 'Gator string continued as Shafer and White scored from the field and Shafer added a foul to run the count 32-25.

Harnar and McFarland balanced foul points, with the Terriers making some-

WANTED—EFFECTIVE STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Allegheny's greatest need is not a championship football team, a chapter of Mortar Board, or open fraternity houses. While certain groups of students are vociferous in their demands for such innovations, all the students, consciously or not, unite in their desire for better student government. By "better" we mean student government that lives up to its name, that is representative of the student body, that really governs.

Both the men and the women have had their individual organizations for self-government. It goes without saying that the women have been more successful than the men. The Associated Women Students have evolved their Senior Court, their House Senates, and their Activities Board which adequately meet the needs of the women.

On the other hand, the men of the college are supposedly represented by the Interfraternity Council and the Men's Senate. There is a justification for the Council for it deals with fraternity problems which have a definite place in a college such as Allegheny. As for the Men's Senate, we find no justification whatever for its continued existence in its present state of passiveness. Among the self-assigned duties of the Senate is the organization of classes. None of the classes have yet been organized. The Senate is supposed to promote All-College Dances. The last All-College was October 19, Homecoming Day. The Men's Senate this year has continued its traditional policy of doing nothing. Consequently we condemn it and ask for a reorganization of men's student government.

Even more important than this move, however, is the need for a student government which would really represent both the men and women of Allegheny. We need an organization to represent the entire student body with our various activities and interests. The Student Relations Committee was intended to be such a board. However, we feel that four students, however prominent, cannot adequately represent the entire group of undergraduates. Added to this condemnation is the fact that the Committee has not been particularly efficient in carrying out its duties of supervising social functions, acting as an intervening body between faculty and students, and acting as advisor in matters of student interest. In fact, so non-effective has the Student Relations Committee been, that any Alleghenian will tell you today that we have no student government.

Many groups and individuals have been discussing this problem. Certainly from this discussion an intelligent plan for student government can be made. We believe that there is enough intelligence and pride among Allegheny undergraduates that we can work out our own system of self-government. Is there one forthcoming?

ARMS AND THE COLLEGE STUDENT

Hitler has again terrorized all peoples. Saturday marked his announcement to the world that German troops would occupy the Rhineland contrary to the Treaty of Versailles, and that Germany would no longer be bound by the Treaty of Locarno which reinforced the Rhineland stipulations. The threat of 650,000 Deutschland soldiers armed with the most modern and deadly of weapons is glaring at all nations.

This appears to be far away from college students in the secure halls of learning. But it has a dangerous import which we must consider. This is another and more ominous erruption of the volcanic forces of war. If this nasty business has to be fought, the college man will help to do the fighting—and yet he is seemingly impotent in avoiding the actual conflict. When he asks himself, "What can I do about it?" the answer seems to rebound with double force: "Nothing." But this is not true.

George Bernard Shaw gave every man sage advice when he wrote "Arms and the Man". He had his character Captain Bluntschili say, "There is just half a chance if you keep your head. Remember nine out of ten soldiers are fools." That safeguard is in the hands of every college man and woman. If the nine soldiers weren't fools, they probably wouldn't be soldiers.

But we are not fools. We are the small percentage of the youth of this country who have the opportune background of knowledge to think things through. If we think, we will not be easily "jingoed" into war. If we think, we will look at the reports of the newspapers as 90% propaganda, and we will interpret the 10% facts. If we think, we will realize that the patriotism that carries a gun on its shoulder is the worst enemy of a nation. If we think we will realize that war is but a weapon of decision which men take up when their milder arguments fail of achievement. If we think we will demand those milder arguments.

"What good will all this do?" asks the practical man who respects but has little faith in ideals. In the first place, we will not yield to mob hysteria and we may influence others to resist the tide. In the second place, we will support those men who are trying to act sanely in a time of crisis. Anthony Eden, Pierre Flandin and the leaders of the League of Nations are all trying to keep their heads in this time of turmoil and reaction. Our own countrymen have enacted neutrality legislation whose temporary bill is effective until May 1, 1937, and the disarmament pact of 1930. They will need support and advocates. In the third place, those sane men will need others to carry on their work in but a few years. We are those sane men-to-be. This is all that we can do, but then we have at least "half a chance". If we are to face the Mussolini's and the Hitler's, we will have to be smarter than they—and not as rash.

This is an editorial without exclamation points. When we read about and consider war, let us do so without that type of punctuation. May we forget the hysterical exclamations, and may we remember to think.

Letters to the Editor

Caflisch Hall
March 4, 1936.

To the Editor of The Campus
Dear Sir:

The first editorial of last week's Campus prompts us to give wider dissemination to a reading list which includes books we have found helpful and interesting to undergraduate friends interested in a medical career. To a list of largely contemporary publications which appeared with brief comments in The Saturday Review of Literature for February 22, 1936, pp. 24-25, we have added a few suggestive titles, grouped here under four heads:

I—HISTORY

Hans Zinsser: Rats, Lice, and History.
Libby: Introduction to the History of Science.
Haggard: Devils, Drugs, and Doctors.
Clendenning: The Human Body.
Beaumont: Experiments on the Gastric Juice.
Nordenskiold: The History of Biology.
Victor Robinson: History of Medicine.
Clendenning: What's Behind the Doctor?

II—BIOGRAPHY

Vallery-Radot: Life of Pasteur.
Harvey Cushing: Life of Osler.
R. M. Wilson: The Beloved Physician.
Paul de Kruif: Microbe Hunters.
Paul de Kruif: Men Against Death.
Lambert and Goodwin: Medical Leaders.
Victor Heiser: An American Doctor's Odyssey.
Carl Schleich: Those Were Good Days!
Ian MacLaren: A Doctor of the Old School.
Axel Munthe: The Story of San Michele
Wilfred Grenfell: The Labrador Doctor.
Morris: Fifty Years a Surgeon.

III—ESSAY

Sir Thomas Browne: Religio Medici.
Sir William Osler: Aequanimitas.
Sir William Osler: Alabama Student.
Sir William Osler: A Way of Life.
Alexis Carrel: Man, the Unknown.
Thomas Huxley: Science and Education.
Raymond Pearl: To Begin With.
Alfred Cohn: Medicine, Science, and Art.
Richard Cabot: What Men Live By.

IV—SHORT STORY AND NOVEL

Voltaire: Zadig.
Maugham: Of Human Bondage.
Lewis: Arrowsmith.
Douglas: The Magnificent Obsession.

Recently such plays as Kingley's Men in White and Howard's Yellow Jacket have vividly dramatized phases of the medical career. Our list is a suggestive, rather than an exhaustive, one.

Gospel Team Makes Tour Of Neighboring Towns

A gospel tour, sponsored by the Thoburn Club, took place Sunday, March 8, consisting of trips to Geneva, Conneaut Lake, and Shermansville.

At Geneva, Russell Stewart was in charge of the service, Henry Reiley the prayer, and Wayne Wolford the sermon. The service was conducted at Conneaut, the prayer by Mr. Stewart, and the sermon by Mr. Reiley. John Lytle preached the sermon at Shermansville, while prayer was offered by Mr. Wolford and the service by Mr. Reiley. At all three churches, Arthur Cobb played chimes.

Each year a similar tour is planned as well as other trips throughout the current year. The next one will take place March 22, at Somerset and Meyersdale under the leadership of Mr. Reiley.

Students Relations Committee Sponsors Organization Meeting

The Students Relations Committee will sponsor a student meeting for the discussion of "extra curricular activities at Allegheny College" tomorrow afternoon.

The various campus organizations are to be represented at the meeting.

Letters have been sent out to the heads of organizations asking them to attend.

RADIO

TID-BITS

Congrats to the Pan Hel committee, they really got a good band in Tal Henry . . . He is more noted as a College prom band, than a radio headliner, but he's had his share of the spotlight on the airwaves. He has been one of the favorite bands of the south for a number of years. We can recall hearing him at a New York spot not over two years ago . . . Those attending will hear some real music . . . That other Riler and Farley hit "Clap Your Hands" sounds too much like their other piece, The Music G. R. R. (maybe we should put it grrr, at least that's the sound most people emit when it's heard) . . . What they won't do to find titles for these modern tunes. Even Joan of Arc has crashed through with a modern song serenading her name, it's "Joan of Ark-ansas" a peppy fast number now circling the music world . . . For one of the oddest and yet most pleasing rhythmic theme songs on the air, we nominate Fletcher Henderson's "Christopher Columbus". And Don Redman's "Chant of the Weeds" isn't so bad either . . . The more we hear them the more we like Will Osborne's band playing from the Black Hawk in Chicago. For trombone and trumpet music wizardry, this group gets the nod . . . Bob Crosby and his orchestra have taken over the Hotel New Yorker spot, where he used to sing with the Dorsey Bros. and their band . . . These Jewish stooges are getting so they clog up the air. Practically every headline comedian now has one including Jack Benny, Phil Baker, and Walter O'Keefe. Eddie Cantor has a slight "stooginal" variation, in the Greek dialect . . . For a song that deals thoroughly with the liquor problem, hear Will Osborne's arrangement of "It Ain't Nobodies Business But My Own" . . . "I Love My Wife, But Oh You Kid", how many times a week does that phrase inkle out from "Iskibble" as rendered by Kay Kyser from the William Penn . . . The Columbia Broadcasting Company celebrated Leap Year Saturday with one of the most unique programs ever sponsored on the air. In the program, Loretta Lee sang an opera aria, Howard Barlow's Symphony Orchestra played "Tiger Rag", David Ross described a wrestling match, the March Of Time dramatized "Humpty Dumpty", and Guy Lombardo conducted an all-string orchestra playing a medley of American Hill-Billy songs . . . Can you imagine wearing one pair of shoes for 29 years. We hear that Ed Wynn has accomplished that feet (we mean feat). In the 29 years that he has worn this one pair it has cost him $2,005 to keep them in shape. He bought them for $5 in 1907 and has worn them in every radio, stage, and screen appearance since then . . . At last an official note on how long Carmen Lombardo holds that clarinet note in the "St. Louis Blues". Stop watches were used and the official time was 55.5 seconds . . . For the number of arrangers in one band, Fred Waring's group takes the cake. Out of the 35 musicians in the band, nine of them arrange songs for him, and 15 others are capable arrangers.

Intramural Cage Playoffs Settle Disputed Places

Chi Rho's Gain Win Over Phi Gams to Decide Tie-up.

Alpha Chi Rho surprised the Phi Gams last week by taking a 19-14 win in the playoff for third place in the basketball tourney.

The two teams had each won four and lost three games in the regular schedule. In a previous league encounter the Phi Gams had taken a 31-18 decision.

The Phi Gams were minus the services of Diaz and Byers and the Chi Rhos were without Hawkins and Davis.

Jumping off to an early first half lead, the Chi Rhos saw themselves fall behind in the third quarter. But a last period thrust earned them the win.

Johnson led the way for the Chi Rho win with eight points. Tate tallied five for the losers.

Following is the box score:

Shafer Leads 'Gator Flingers In Total Points

Consistent Marksmanship Enables Star Forward to Set Pace.

Ray Shafer, flashy forward, captured high scoring honors for the Allegheny 1935-36 cage season. He tallied 125 points.

Captain Chuck Nevins gained the runner-up position by tallying 87 points.

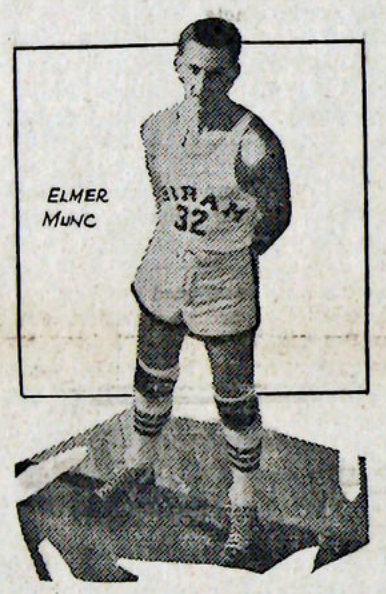

Competing in all 16 games Shafer started out as a guard. He was transferred to the forward position soon after semesters and his high scoring capabilities soon broke through. In five of the last seven games, he swished the net for over ten points.

His highest game total came in the last game of the season against Hiram College, when he garnered 18 points.

Four of the first five high men will be back next season.

'Gators Cop Only Four Wins Of '36 Schedule

Inexperienced Team Gains Momentum During Last Stages of Year.

Winning but four games of the scheduled 16, Allegheny concluded its basketball season last Friday at Hiram College, Ohio.

Although the season was not as successful as that of last year, the results are fairly gratifying in view of the material on hand at the beginning of the year. With but one letterman on hand, Coach Karl J. Lawrence was faced with the difficulty of finding a starting five that could hold its own with the experienced fives of the district..

After floundering through the early part of the season, the 'Gators finally profited by their experience of playing half a campaign together and turned in some excellent games. They gained victories over Oberlin, Fenn, Hobart, and Hiram. The wins over Hobart and Oberlin were decidedly upset victories. Last year both of these quintets triumphed over a much stronger Allegheny five, and both quintets were composed of veterans of last year's teams. In the Oberlin game, the 'Gators played an exceptional brand of ball, which was needed to triumph over the visitors. The 'Gators dropped two games each to Alfred University, Thiel and Grove City. Single games were lost to Geneva, Washington and Jefferson, Hamilton, University of Rochester, Youngstown and Slippery Rock.

The Geneva loss was one of the best played games of the year, and one of the most exciting seen on the 'Gator court in some time. Cleverly holding one of the best teams in the country to a standstill for three-fourths of the game, they bowed only to the greater experience of the Covenanters in the last two minutes.

Prospects for the 1937 season should be much better. Coach Lawrence has spent considerable time with a "rookie" outfit, composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores. This should give him considerable foundation upon which to build up a team next year. During the last part of the campaign, Coach Lawrence was using three sophomores and two freshmen. Alec Hart and Allyn White, frosh members of the team, turned in some nice performances in the last few games, and with that experience behind them should develop into prospects for the coming season.

The team will lose only one man, that being Captain Chuck Nevins, veteran forward. Ray Shafer, this year's leading scorer, Chet Pardee, outstanding defensive star, and Jack McFarland and Keith Hutchison, lanky centers, will all be back to lend a more favorable outlook to the 1937 basketball situation.

'Gator Swimmers Place Second In District Meet

Slippery Rock Aggregation Noses Out Allegheny By Three Points.

Allegheny was able to gain no better than second place in the district swimming meet last Saturday at Slippery Rock. Swimming against Grove City and Slippery Rock both of whom the 'Gators had defeated during the regular season, they found the going too tough to come out on top. The Teachers won over Allegheny by three points, 39-36, while the Grovers brought up the rear with but 16 points.

In the trials in the afternoon Allegheny and Slippery Rock placed eight men in the finals while Grove City had to be content with but two. Thus there were three events in which there were only men from Slippery Rock and Allegheny entered. Had the Grovers been able to place a couple of more men the outcome might easily have been a different story. As it was the two men that Grove City placed in the individual events decided the final outcome of the meet, both of these men took points away from Allegheny and furnished the Teachers their margin of victory. In the relays Slippery Rock came in ahead of the 'Gators, winning the freestyle event by less than a length, and took away points that had been figured as Allegheny's.

The highlights of the meet were the freestyle events, especially the 30 and 100. In both events the four men entered finished with little more than a length separating the first and fourth man. In the 220 event Graft had little trouble winning. In the individual events Allegheny accounted for two firsts, Grove City one and Slippery Rock two; Slippery Rock took both relay events.

The meet was ample proof that such an event should be made an annual occurrence and should justify the interest of the rest of the colleges in the district. It is hoped that the meet next year will see the entrance of several of the other schools. If this happens the future of the sport will be assured in this district.

The results:

160-yard freestyle relay—Won by Slippery Rock; Allegheny, second; Grove City, third. Time—1:24.

100-yard breaststroke—Won by Manke, Slippery Rock; Taylor, Slippery Rock, second; Brunner, Allegheny, third. Time—1:16.6.

100-yard backstroke—Won by Cullen, Slippery Rock; Stewart, Grove City, second; Linn, Allegheny, third. Time—1:14.

40-yard dash—Won by Hogg, Grove City; Jones, Allegheny, second; Faust, Slippery Rock, third. Time—1:21.2.

100-yard freestyle—Won by Jones, Allegheny; Manness, Allegheny, second; Davies, Slippery Rock, third. Time—1:03.8.

220-yard freestyle—Won by Graft, Allegheny; Menke, Slippery Rock, second; Clark, Allegheny, third. Time—2:46.

180-yard medley relay—Won by Slippery Rock; Allegheny, second; Grove City, third. Time—1:52.

Heckman Gains Interfrat Cage Scoring Honors

Due to the success of the recently completed intramural cage tourney and the interest shown in the sport this year, it was decided by the sports staff of The Campus to give a little recognition to those men competing in the sport.

Therefore, for the first time, a tabulated list of the first 10 high scorers in the fraternity league has been compiled.

Jim Heckman, Chi Rho center, led the way in the total scoring for the season with 51 points, goining a 4-point leeway over Archie Tate, lanky Phi Gam pivot man. Tate compiled 47 points. He tallied one more field goal than Heckman, but proficiency in foul shooting gave the latter the top spot. Following rather closely behind were Bill Cappe, Phi Delt star forward, and Orin Hawkins, Chi Rho forward, who tallied 42 and 40 points respectively. Fifth place was nabbed by Dick Horn, Phi Gam forward, who netted 37 points.

The basketball tourney this year was conducted with considerable success. This season a round robin type of competition was attempted, rather than the usual division into leagues. Each team played seven games, with the Chi Rhos and Phi Gams playing eight, due to a tie for third place points.

Over 80 men participated in the tourney this year. This is an increase in the percent of participation of previous years. A number of interesting games were played, with a tight race developing.

The individual scoring results follow:

	g.	fg.	fp.	tp.
J. Heckman, Chi Rho	8	20	11	51
A. Tate, Phi Gam	8	21	5	47

'Gators Put Up Tough Battle Before Losing To Genevans

Allegheny's basketball quintet surprised everyone with their fine showing against Geneva last Tuesday evening at Montgomery Gym when they held the Covenanters to a score of 32-20. From the outset the game was tense. It was four minutes before there was any score at all, this coming when Jones registered a foul shot for Geneva. Before the opponents could tally again, however, Ray Shafer chalked a goal for the 'Gators and Allegheny took their only lead of the game at 2-1. The half ended with the score at 14-8.

Allegheny came out fighting for the second half, holding the opponents scoreless for seven minutes. Hutzley finally scored a bucket from the corner, but Hart quickly counteracted this by sailing the ball through the net for Allegheny. By this time the score stood at 16-13.

Shafer then committed his fourth personal foul and was forced from the game, after which the Geneva five dominated the game until it finally ended 32-20.

Hurley, of Geneva, amazed the crowd with his long shots, which the 'Gators made little attempt to stop. The visitors had a flashy attack with Hurley alone manipulating the ball from the guard position to the other four men who were stationed behind the first line of Allegheny's defense.

thing of a rally as Cmaylo found the range for a field goal and Harnar and Clark added fouls to bring the score to 33-30. Shafer scored from the field, and so did Cmaylo, a long shot from the center of the court, but the Allegheny forward managed to drop in another before he was banished from the game on an excess of personal fouls. Chuck Nevins, back in the scrap, lifted in a goal as the final posture of the game.

The 'Gators made their comeback drive in the face of severe handicaps, losing no fewer than three of their number on personal fouls. Alex Hart was the first to go, shortly after the half got under way, and Chet Pardee followed him within the space of a few minutes. Shafer managed to stay in until a few seconds from the end.

Closing Date Of Meadville Contest Is Set For April 7

Attention is called to the fact that the closing date of the essay contest sponsored by the Meadville Fellowship for Peace is April 7. The contest is open to all college students, especially those interested in world affairs.

Essays must show knowledge of a basic and general knowledge of the great national and international peace movements of the present day, as the right is reserved by the judges to withhold the prizes if no essays show a thorough understanding of the subject. All essays must be typed. Footnotes and a complete bibliography must accompany the manuscript. Essays must be between two and three thousand words in length.

First prize is ten dollars and five dollars will be awarded to the second best essay.

Judges of the contest are Mrs. H. O. Davidson, president of the sponsoring organization, Dr. Bruce S. Wright, and Dean J. R. Schultz.

Women Basketeers Place Third At Pitt U. Playday

Allegheny women placed third in a field of nine at a Play-Day held at the University of Pittsburgh Saturday. Slippery Rock took first honors.

Two wins and a called game were the results of Allegheny's three basketball games. The Blue and Gold Sextette defeated Duquesne 10-3 and Mount Mercy by 12 to 5. The Slippery Rock game was called at the half with Allegheny on the short end of an 8-4 score.

Those who represented Allegheny were Beverly Sims who acted as captain, Elizabeth Blackwood, Ruth Manning, Hazel Dixon, Eliza Jane Anderson, Betty Kroegher, Blanche Allshouse, Evelyn Sleightholm and Mary Vogan. Miss Nancy Peffer accompanied the Allegheny delegation.

Participating schools included Indiana Teachers, Carnegie Tech, Mount Mercy, Duquesne, California Teachers, Slippery Rock Teachers, Grove City, University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania College of Women and Allegheny.

Cwen Dance.

An annual semi-formal dance was presented by the Cwens, honorary sophomore women's group, Saturday, March 7, in Hulings Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Seely, Mr. Henry Boettcher and Dr. E. Spann chaperoned the affair which was attended by 80 couples. The music for the occasion was furnished by Barney Knapp's Melody Weavers. Novel refreshments in the form of coolers were served.

Valerie Fullerton, president of the organization, was in charge of the dance.

Seniors Urged To Enter Personal Library Contest

Seniors are urged to take part in the senior personal library exhibit sponsored by the Reis Library. Rules of the contest will be sent to all seniors by Miss Edith Rowley, librarian.

Intention to enter the contest must be signified by April 1. Prizes consist of fifteen dollars in books for the first prize and ten dollars worth for second place.

A modern art display was the weekly exhibit at the library during the past week. Books of the lives and paintings of several modern artists, Gaugin, Manet, and Renoir, were shown. Also included were "primers" which explained the "why's" of modern art and a volume of Frank Floyd Wright's architecture.

Among the new books added to the library this week are Discovery, Richard E. Byrd; Adventure for Happiness, S. Parkes Cadman; Portrait of a Family, Eleanor Farjeon; Men and Gods in Mongolia, Henning Haslund; Wollcott Reader, Alexander Wollcott; Crucibles, Bernard Jaffe; Biomathmatics, W. M. Feldman; and Soviet Russia 1917-1935, V. M. Danzel.

German Club To Award Prizes At Tuesday Meeting

Prizes will be awarded next Tuesday night to the members delivering the best recitation at the German Club meeting. "All prizes are valuable and worthwhile," according to Dr. Elisabeth Spann, head of the German Department. First prize is a book almost entirely illustrated, containing 320 full page photographs of Germany.

Memorization of a selection of at least two or three minutes in length is required of the contestant. Three judges will be provided to decide upon the recipients of five prizes. A sixth award will be presented upon popular vote of the non-participants. Further details may be had upon application to Joe Musiek, program chairman, or Dr. Spann. Entrants must notify either of the aforementioned persons not later than Monday, March 16.

The contest described is to be the main feature of the March meeting of the German Club next Tuesday, March 17, at 7:30 p. m., in Cochran Hall. Due to the performance in the Play Shop that evening the meeting will start promptly at 7:30.

Members are reminded that dues cannot be paid after this meeting unless special arrangements are made with William Hampton, treasurer.

"Archaeology And The Bible" Discussed At Classical Club

"Archaeology and the Bible" was the subject of discussion last night at a meeting of the Classical Club. It was one of a series of discussions to be led by club members.

According to Russell Stewart, volunteer leader, "Criticism of the Bible is based upon the assumed meanings for unknown words and the statement that the Bible is historically inaccurate."

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Attention is called to the open meeting for seniors in Ruter Hall at 8:30 this evening. Discussion of Senior Comprehensives is to feature the meeting. All seniors are invited to attend.

The Independents will hold their fourth official meeting in Cochran Hall lounge on Monday evening, March 16, at 7:30. All are urged to attend.

Intramural Boxing And Wrestling Will Start On March 24

With forty-one pugilists signed up for boxing and fifty-five grapplers training for the grunt-and-groan sport, all eyes of the athletically-minded are turning with interest to the intramural boxing and wrestling matches tentatively scheduled to begin on the 24th of March and conclude on the 27th. This is the last week for entrants to begin training as they must attend nine training sessions prior to the matches.

RULES

1. Contestants must weigh within three pounds of the stipulated weight at the time designated for weighing in, both before the preliminaries and before the finals.
2. A match shall be eight minutes. In case of a draw two extra two-minute periods shall be wrestled, at the conclusion of which a decision shall be given.
3. A man's shoulders must be pinned to the mat for two seconds before a fall may be registered.
4. There must be three men in a weight division before a championship may be awarded in that class.
5. Pairings for matches will be made by blind drawings.
6. No contestant will be allowed to compete who has not been in regular wrestling class attendance for at least three weeks prior to the matches.
7. Scoring: To determine the winners two points shall be awarded to the winner of a match; one point shall be awarded the loser of the match after the first round; the champion shall receive three extra points; and the runner-up two extra points. The fraternity with the highest number of points then receives 50 points in addition to the 35 entrance points, the fraternity in second place receives 30 points in addition to the entrance points, and third place gets the entrance points plus 15 more. To get the entrance points a fraternity must have four men competing.

RULES

1. No applause or demonstration of any kind will be permitted during rounds. During the one-minute intermission spectators may give vent to pent up enthusiasm.
2. Same as rule 1 under wrestling.
3. A bout shall consist of two two-minute rounds and one three-minute round. In case of a draw, an extra two-minute round will be permitted after a two-minute rest.
4. In case a contestant is knocked down the round shall end (at the discretion of the referee) and the round shall go to the man scoring the knockdown.
5. Same as rule 4 under wrestling.
6. Same as rule 5 under wrestling.
7. Same as rule 6 under wrestling with the word wrestling changed to boxing.
8. Scoring same as in wrestling.
