

BLANCHETTE TO BE STAGED IN CHAPEL
AT EIGHT TONIGHTFrench Comedy Offered by Le Petit Salon
Contains Dramatic Situations

"Blanchette," the French play which will be presented by Le Petit Salon, will be given in Chapel tonight at eight o'clock. The cast has been rehearsing the play since the first of the year under the able direction of Dr. J. L. Russo.

Although the drama presents many tragic scenes, a vein of comedy gives humorous touches to many of the incidents. Seats may be reserved for holders of general admission tickets if presented at Bentley, Room 7, this afternoon at 1:30.

In act one of the play the scene opens in the little cabaret of Pere Rousset who also owns a small farm nearby. Blanchette, his daughter, has just finished her education at a boarding school and has returned to live with her parents until she can obtain a position as teacher in one of the schools. Her parents have sacrificed much for their daughter and are proud of her knowledge and learning.

M. Galoux is a wealthy and influential man of the neighborhood. Lucie, his daughter, was Blanchette's close friend and schoolmate. Blanchette hopes to secure a teaching position, and M. Galoux promises to use his influence to that end.

Lucie and her brother, Georges, come to see Blanchette, who fancies that she would like to marry him.

LAY CORNERSTONE FOR STONE CHURCH ANNEXTHOBURN CHAPEL TO BE LAST-
ING MEMORIAL TO BISHOP
JAMES M. THOBURN

Impressive services marked the laying of the cornerstone of Thoburn Chapel, the addition to the Stone Church of Meadville, last Sunday afternoon, May 4. The new building is named after the late Bishop J. M. Thoburn, '57, and will be used as recreation rooms by the members of the congregation.

The fine weather created an ideal situation for the outdoor services, and a large gathering of townspeople witnessed the laying of the stone. Dr. H. H. Hough opened the ceremony with a short text and a few words of introduction. There followed several songs and a selection by the double quartette of the church.

Dr. Joseph W. Miles, '74, was the speaker of the afternoon. In a well-planned and well-delivered address, he reviewed the most important events of Bishop Thoburn's life. He stressed the value of the bishop's missionary work, as well as his services to the cause of religion in America. The speaker's close personal acquaintance with the famous bishop was revealed in the short character sketch he gave of the man. He said it was very fitting that this new structure should bear a name so well known to Methodism and Christianity.

Mr. Theodore Thoburn, '14, the grandson of the great man, followed with a few words, describing the contents of the copper box that was placed within the cornerstone.

Then, the stone was laid, and the box sealed within it. After another selection by the double quartette, Dr. I. R. Beller closed the services with a short prayer.

PHILOSOPHY AND EDUCATION CLUB

Philosophy and Education Club elected officers for next year at its last meeting which was held at the Phi Alpha Kappa house, Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. The new president is J. Wilson Lee, and his associate officers are Gertrude E. Richards, vice-president; Doris Peterson, secretary; and Bessie J. Hummer, treasurer. Plans were discussed for the open house which will be held next Tuesday in Cochran Hall.

LECTURER TO SPEAK ON
JOURNALISM AND MOLIEREW. W. ELLSWORTH TO BE GUEST OF ENGLISH AND FRENCH
DEPARTMENTS

As lecturer on the Sturtevant Foundation for this year William Wadsworth Ellsworth, eminent publisher and authority on journalism, will appear at Allegheny next Tuesday and Wednesday, May 13, and 14, to give three lectures on literary subjects.

Mr. Ellsworth comes to Allegheny as the special guest of the Romance Language and English departments, since one of his lectures concerns the French writer, Moliere, and the other two deal with journalism and the art of writing.

To students of French literature and of the drama, the lecture, "Moliere and His Times," is invaluable. It opens with a brief statement of the difference between Shakespeare and Moliere, which is followed by text. One hundred exquisite stereopticon pictures, many of them in colors, reconstruct the Paris of Moliere's time, its streets, its Latin Quarter, and its theatres.

By the use of theatre models in the Dramatic Museum of Columbia University, perfectly reproduced and colored, the theatres of both Shakespeare and Moliere, and the stage settings of the Miracle plays, which preceded them, are shown. Many of Moliere's plays are illustrated by beautiful French etchings and extracts are read in good English translations.

The company is portrayed as it appeared in Paris, in the provinces, and in its performances before the court of Louis XIV, and the palace of Versailles with its gardens and fountains are described. Mr. Ellsworth has received very favorable comment from officials of the colleges which he has visited, for his entertaining and instructive presentation of the life story of the great French dramatist.

"Forty Years of Publishing" is a lecture of inspirational value to college students. It is the story of a publisher's life, and of one who had much to do with many interesting authors. In it the literature of the period about 1850 is contrasted with the literary productions of the present time.

The third lecture, "The Writing Game," will probably be delivered before the advanced classes in English, for it is a talk on what colleges do for the would-be writer.

RACQUETTER'S SCHEDULE
FOR ACTIVE INAUGURALTHREE-DAY TRIP MARKS BEGIN-NING OF SEASON—PROSPECT FOR WINS DOUBTFUL

A three-day trip the latter part of this week will inaugurate Allegheny's tennis season for 1924. Thiel is to be met on Thursday, Carnegie Tech Friday, and Westminster Saturday. The last named match was not a part of the original schedule; it was added by Manager R. W. Pratt within the last few days, together with a return engagement to be played here May 31 as the season's finale.

Prospects for a successful inaugural are not very bright. Both Thiel and Westminster are reputed to have strong teams this year, while Carnegie Tech can always be counted on to produce one of the best in this section. On the other hand, the Allegheny netters will suffer from the loss of at least two and possibly three good men who are unable to make this particular trip.

The results in the second round of play of the tournament are as follows: Mook defeated Fries, 6-2, 6-4. Bair defeated Hough, 6-4, 6-4. Evans defeated Welsh, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1. McClurg defeated Corbett, 6-0, 6-2. Wey defeated Miller, 6-1, 4-6, 9-7. Dale defeated Koehl, 6-4, 6-0. The matches together with the semi-finals must be played Tuesday so that the final match of the tournament may be played Wednesday.

Glenn Barr, '19, is teaching Spanish and English at Edinboro Normal School, after having spent several years teaching in Montevideo, Uruguay, South America.

SIX STUDENTS SPEAK IN
PHILO-FRANKLIN CONTESTREUBEN CAIN AND CHARLES HAMMETT TAKE HONORS IN ANNUAL FORENSIC

"The Age of International Cooperation," was the subject of the winning oration delivered by Reuben L. Cain in competition with five other men in the annual Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest held in the Ford Memorial Chapel, Wednesday evening, April 30. The winner's prize was twenty-five dollars. Charles E. Hammett, Jr., and Robert J. Corbett, who were awarded second and third prizes, received ten dollars and five dollars respectively.

"Is the world ready for international cooperation?" said Cain. "Yes," he replied, "for just as the tribe, the town, and the feudal state grew incomplete with the advancement of man, so has the nation reached the stage in which it is no longer sufficient to handle the affairs of the world. Consequently we must look to something more modern and larger if we are to keep up with our progress. The answer is international cooperation."

Charles E. Hammett, Jr., winner of the second prize spoke upon the subject, "A Square Deal for the Innocent Bystander." He dwelt upon the conflict between capital on one side and labor on the other with the consequent hardships and inconveniences imposed upon the third party, the consumer. As a solution to this problem Hammett advocated government control through industrial courts.

PROGRAM OF Y. M. C. A.
CONCLUDED FOR YEARR. RUSSELL DENISON AND C. F.
AVEY REPORT ON STUDENT
CONVENTION AT LOUIS-VILLE

Reporting the National Conference of Methodist Students at Louisville, Kentucky, C. F. Avey, one of Allegheny's representatives to the conference, addressed the Y. M. C. A. in the Chapel, last Wednesday evening at seven o'clock. R. Russell Denison, newly-elected president of the association was executive chairman of the conference which was handled entirely by students.

Mr. Avey told of the five hundred Methodist students in attendance who were true, sincere Christians who were thinking seriously about seeking Christian solutions for problems confronting the world today. If a deadlock occurred in a heated discussion, some one would ask, "Well, what would Jesus do about this," and the problem would be attacked from that angle.

The main topics for discussion were "The Unification of the Methodist Churches of the North and South," "Industrial Problems," "Race Problems," and the question of "War." The conference unanimously approved the plans of the committee for unification of the two Methodisms, of which Dr. W. A. Elliott was a member.

FIRE DRILL AT WEE HOURS
TESTS CALMNESS OF HUL-
INGS HALL WOMEN

Shuffling feet, loud whispers, multi-colored bathrobes, disheveled hair done up in curls, and excitement filling the air; such was the spectacle presented on the several floors of Hullings Hall on Thursday evening or rather Friday morning at 12:30 A. M. when the Hall girls were put through a fire drill. In the short time of six minutes every girl in the Hall was on the first floor.

Fire drills at the Hall occur at almost any time from 10:30 at night to 6:00 in the morning. Leonore Berlin, the fire-chief elected for this year, is aided by a corps of eight assistants on the several floors who superintend the drill. Each girl must dress in a heavy coat and shoes, and she must carry a towel. If the window is open it must be closed before leaving the room. A fine of one dollar is assessed for any infraction of these rules or for neglect to participate in the drill itself.

NEW OFFICERS FOR ORATORICAL BOARD
ELECTED TOMORROWFinal Ballots to Be Cast for Candidates at Treasurer's Office After Chapel

As a result of the primary election for student officers of the Allegheny Oratorical Association, held after chapel last Tuesday, April 29, the following have been nominated for the respective offices during the coming year:

For President, the Messrs. Ralph H. Demmler, with 46 votes, Robert W. Leeper, 46 votes, and John M. Pratt, with 34 votes; for Secretary, the Misses Frances Anderson, 34 votes, Marian Wheldon, 49 votes, and Doris Peterson, with 41 votes; for Treasurer, the Messrs. Howard P. Taylor, 41 votes, John B. Gordon, with 37 votes, and G. Alfred Palmer, with 40 votes.

Ballots for the final election may be procured and cast tomorrow, May 7, in Bentley Hall for the final election. One of the three nominees for each office will be elected.

Every student of the College is eligible to vote for the officers of the Oratorical Association.

DR. ANDERSON, EVANGELIST
EMPHASIZES VALUE OF STUDYSHOWS DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LIFE OF ANIMALS AND MAN BY POINTED ILLUSTRATIONS

Dr. George Wood Anderson, nationally famous evangelist, who is conducting the New Crusade evangelistic campaign in Meadville during this week, spoke to the students at Chapel, last Saturday morning, on the importance of study.

"If we were animals," he said, "we would not have to be here, because animals do not study. A young spider can build a perfect web, but no old spider ever teaches a young spider how to do it." The spider does not know how to make a web; it simply does what it likes, and does it perfectly. Birds likewise build perfect nests simply by mechanically following their instincts.

"The work of animals is perfect," Dr. Anderson explained, "because God has given them instincts." He illustrated his point further with the story of a beaver which escaped from a zoo, and built a dam in a narrow valley. The water was backed up over a large area, and many crops were destroyed as a result. The dam was placed in the most strategic point in a radius of ten miles from the place. The beaver had followed its instincts, or feelings, and had done its work perfectly.

"However," declared the speaker, "if we followed our feelings, we would never amount to anything. There isn't a brute in the world that will sink so low as a human being who follows his feelings."

The human being is provided with a brain which he must learn how to use. A man must study to learn how to make use of his material resources, and how to employ learning of any kind for his advantage. "There are tremendous possibilities in reach of every one, provided we study," declared Dr. Anderson, "everything is ours, if we give our minds to it."

He closed with the assertion that it is the duty of man to learn how to be good and how to wield influence.

Dr. Anderson is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and also received the degree of Ph. D. from that institution.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. I. R. Beller are the happy parents of a new baby boy.

Dr. C. F. Littell was accorded a hearty reception by the student body when he first appeared on the Chapel platform after his illness.

Prof. Arthur S. Emig preached at Hickory, Pa., last Sunday.

Coach C. E. Hammett was at Big Run last week.

Dr. H. W. Church and Professor R. W. Thomas attended the opera in Cleveland last Monday evening.

WEEK-END COMMENCEMENT

Students, alumni, and faculty look with increasing favor upon the week-end Commencement which will be held this year. The innovation will provide an opportunity for alumni in the teaching profession and many others of whom business demands their presence during the week to attend the week-end exercises. Inasmuch as Commencement begins immediately following examinations, more than the usual number of students and faculty will be able to remain for the occasion. Reports which have been received from alumni remove any doubt concerning the success of the experiment. Some Alleghenians who have found it impossible to return to the spring festivities since the year of their own graduation have welcomed this opportunity enthusiastically.

A complete program has been arranged, and the attractions in detail will be published from time to time.

EXPENSIVE PARTIES

A modern college education has attracted so many expensive side issues as to be almost prohibitive to students who must depend upon their own bank account. Even those who receive financial aid from their parents realize the constant and heavy drain upon the family income. There are few students in Allegheny who can nonchalantly declare: "What is money to me!"

The minimum expenses of a year in college are large enough. And yet, some of the extra-curricular expenses are needlessly extravagant. Most prominent of these are the Spring and Fall social functions of fraternities and sororities. Some of these parties have cost a ridiculous amount of money. To eliminate these parties would be inadvisable and unfortunate. But it certainly would be advisable and possible to cut down the extravagant expenditures which they often involve. This cannot be done until the various groups on the Hill cease to vie with one another in putting on the most elegant party.

"WISING UP"

One of the pithiest expressions in college slang is "wise up." It is a good expression for two reasons. First, by its very nature it expresses in two words what a full sentence of good English could scarcely convey; and second, it expresses a thought which most of us need to hear expressed. The average college man is the most glib person in the world. He believes almost everything that he is told, and he believes everything that he reads. If a newspaper editor were to say that Theodore Roosevelt was a Bolshevik because he believed in the initiative and referendum, our college boy would nod his head and agree. If his history book said that King George has a wooden leg and a glass eye, he would believe that, too. In other words, we are all possessed of a supinely smug mental contentment which has caused us to lose keenness of judgment.

STORIES, SKETCHES, POEMS

FILL PAGES OF APRIL LIT

MONTHLY PUBLICATION AP-PEARS AFTER SEVERAL MONTHS OF INAC-
TIVITY

Twelve contributions are included in the April issue of the Literary Monthly which appeared last week. These are sketches, short stories, poems, book reviews, and editorials.

"Why We Love France But Dislike the French," by Dr. Henry Ward Church, is a thorough-going interpretation of France and her people, and contains some sensible philosophy.

"The Last Words of Captain Scott," by Dr. John Richie Schultz, now on sabbatic leave in Europe, is a graphic lesson in "stick-to-it-iveness." Dr. Schultz's poem, "At An Old Book Shop," tells of roses which blushed unseen as found in a dusty old book shop.

"And Then We Danced," "Caught," and "Waiting" are three short stories, representative and of fairly good merit.

The poems by George L. Reid are of promise and, although their form is sometimes off-color, their content is rich. They show tendencies toward the modern in verse but are not Lindsay-like.

The book reviews quite appropriately deal with two books on college life, "Grey Towers" and "The Plastic Age."

Open Forum

Dear Editor:

Allegheny is in great need of some good college tennis courts. At present about five of the fraternities have tennis courts, not very good ones at that. The college tennis team is forced to use the best courts of the fraternities because of the lack of college courts, thereby forcing the men of those fraternities to go without tennis in order that the team may practice on their courts. Tennis is one of the most popular sports among young people. Many times it has been proved to be one of the most beneficial sports. Why then, should the college not foster and encourage such a valuable sport? The college owns two tennis courts for the use of the girls. Although at present these courts could be better used for a stone quarry, they are better than none. Almost every college in the country has, or is building, courts for the use of the students. Why should Allegheny not build some courts also?

COLGATE IS VICTORIOUS IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

ALLEGHENY IS REPRESENTED IN ORATORICAL LEAGUE OF SIX INSTITUTIONS

Colgate's representative, Guy C. Wood, won the Civic Oratorical League contest which was held at Colgate last Friday, May 2. Of the seven colleges which are members of the league, six participated. George W. Davis of Pitt being unable to speak because of illness. Hence the active participants were Wooster, Oberlin, Washington and Jefferson, Ohio Wesleyan, Allegheny, and Colgate.

The title of the winning oration was "Righteousness and Iron." It was a plea for a more rugged integrity among Americans. Iron must be coupled with righteousness to make us the greatest nation in the world. The winner of the second prize was Robert Maskey of Ohio Wesleyan. Mr. Maskey's subject was "Pioneers of Freedom" and concerned the youth movement. John W. Dodds of Wooster received honorable mention for his oration, "The Lotus Eaters."

The other speakers and the titles of their orations were as follows: Ralph H. Demmler, of Allegheny, "International Conscience—A Hope"; Herman Kirchofer, of Oberlin, "Our Atlas of Industry"; Edgar C. Irwin, Washington and Jefferson, "True and False Americans."

Cash prizes of thirty and twenty dollars were awarded to the winners of first and second places, respectively.

The presiding officer was President George Barton Cullen of Colgate. The five judges were Dr. H. A. Easton of Syracuse University, H. W. Langworthy, Superintendent of Schools, Oneida, N. Y., Jacob M. Bueschler, Syracuse, Rev. Ivan Rose, Rome, N. Y., and Frank R. Wassung, Superintendent of Schools, Norwich, N. Y.

New Books on Our Shelf

"Essays of Today," an anthology, edited by P. H. Pritchard, is a volume containing some very readable essays by such writers as Joseph Conrad, E. V. Lucas, Hilaire Belloc, George Santayana, and others. The essays are representative and cover a wide range of subjects, although they are divided into six groups: Youth and Age, According to Taste, Of Time and Seasons, In Those Days, The Spirit of Place, and of Life and Letters.

"Esseys of Today" may be secured direct from the publishers, Little, Brown, and Company, of Boston, for two dollars.

Announcement was made that Herb McCracken, former star of University of Pittsburgh, would coach the football team beginning the coming fall.

Delta Kappa, a local journalistic fraternity, was organized and took its place among the honorary fraternities on the Hill.

A large and enthusiastic audience witnessed the presentation of "L'Ete de la Saint Martin," the annual French play given under the auspices of Le Petit Salon.

The Hon. John E. Reynolds, and the Rev. T. W. Fessenden were speakers at the Founder's Day services.

Allegheny's track team took third place in their section in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia.

Ohio Wesleyan won a double victory over Allegheny's debating teams, taking the contest in Ford Chapel as well as at Delaware. Government ownership of Mines was the question debated.

The Second Century Endowment campaign was launched among the students and faculty of the College. The usual 100% slogan was adopted.

1917.

The intercollegiate track schedule was abandoned on account of military training which had been installed as a result of the declaration of war. Drill was carried on daily and the outlook promised a well trained battalion by the end of the College year. The College was already beginning to feel the disintegration of the war. Many students had gone to work on farms or to the recruiting offices.

chette tries to convince her mother to make some high class improvements in the cabaret. While they are talking, a messenger arrives with some books which Blanchette has ordered. Pere Rousset comes in from his wheat field and angrily declares that the chemical fertilizer, a new fangled idea which Blanchette advised him to try, has destroyed his wheat.

At the opening of act three Blanchette's parents have received no word from her for over a year; they do not even know where she is. Then one day while Pere Rousset is out, she returns, forlorn, weary, and ill-clad. Her mother hides her upstairs. When Rousset enters and finds evidence that his daughter has returned in spite of his wife's emphatic denial, Blanchette appears. She tells a pitiful story of suffering since leaving home and begs forgiveness, but the father remains untouched. At this point Bonenfant comes in. Blanchette serves him voluntarily while Rousset looks on in surprise, and his anger cools.

M. Morillon and his son enter. Rousset goes out with him to discuss business. Bonenfant and Mme. Rousset also leave, Auguste remaining alone with Blanchette. Auguste shows that he loves Blanchette as much as ever and asks her to marry him. She consents. The others approve, and Bonenfant is invited to the wedding.

HISTORY-POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

Political speeches and election of officers were the features of the History and Political Science Club meeting last Tuesday night in the Quill Club room of the Library. Glenn C. Jones was elected president for the coming year. The other new officers are as follows: E. Alexander Hill, vice-president; Grace Hilderbrand, secretary; and Edgar C. Dehne, treasurer.

Arden D. Mook, in his speech put forward the name of Calvin Coolidge as the Republican nomination for the presidency. Claiming as great an array of presidential prerequisites and fine qualities for his man, Edgar C. Dehne proposed the name of William G. McAdoo for the Democratic nomination. When a vote was called, the decision of the club was rendered in favor of the Republican candidate.

One more meeting of the club will be held this year, on May 20, at which time a person prominent in political circles in Crawford County will give the address. Everything is ready for the trip to Pittsburgh on May 29, 30, and 31.

PHI SIGMA IOTA

Phi Sigma Iota, the local honorary fraternity in the Romance Language Department, held its regular monthly meeting at the Phi Delta Theta house last Thursday evening. Theodore Lorz read a paper on "Paul Hervieu and His Drama." The program also included a paper by John M. Pratt on "Gabriele D'Annunzio." It is planned to have the annual banquet this year on June 13. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

OBADIAH, PET OF CAMPUS SEEKS NEW ENVIRONMENT

COMPANIONS MOURN LOSS OF FUN-LOVING GROUNDHOG

Obadiah, the mascot of Alden Hall, is lost! Obadiah, the pet groundhog of the biology department, has disappeared! This furry creature who has caused so much joy and sorrow has been sought for high and low, but all has been in vain. The guinea pigs and white mice wait for the return of their fellow, Obadiah, but with heavy hearts they turn away from the door of his pen—Obadiah has not returned.

Obie used to be such a cut up, too. When let out of his pen, he would march through the building, hunting mischief. He used to get a kick out of going into the classes and nipping the students on their shins. Many times the professors fondly picked Obie up in their arms as a parent does his child, and carried him back to his pen. The kindness shown Obadiah by professors and students alike allays all fear of any of them having wreaked vengeance on the animal.

Several times he has burrowed beneath the building and was captured while sunning himself on the outside steps. The most plausible explanation of his disappearance may best be explained by the oft-quoted lines, "In the spring a young man's fancy—" and Obadiah has returned to his natural haunts in the woods.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA

Kappa Phi Kappa held a short business meeting last Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. F. G. Henke. Final arrangements were made for the trip of Dr. Henke, Mr. H. D. Hummer, and Mr. E. H. Hartzell to the national convention of Kappa Phi Kappa, which is being held in New York, this week-end.

OPEN HOUSE TO BE SUBSTITUTED FOR BANQUET IN BIBLE CLASS CONTEST

Plans for an open house in honor of Reed's team which won the attendance contest were discussed Sunday morning at the meeting of the College Men's Bible Class in Stone Church.

A banquet was to have been the prize for the winning team, but after some discussion it seemed advisable to substitute the open house. Music and plenty of food will make up the entertainment. Announcement as to when and where the get-together is to be held will be made soon either in chapel or through the Campus.

During the devotional period Dr. C. F. Littell spoke on the topic "Analyzing the Fundamentals of the Christian Religion." This subject dealt with the fundamentalistic and modernist conception of the Christian faith. As a basis for his discussion Dr. Littell used Jesus' "Sermon on the Mount."

Kappa Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta held its annual spring party in the form of a dinner dance at Saegertown Inn on Saturday afternoon and evening, May 3. The decorations were especially appropriate for a May Day party, consisting of orchid and pink, with a Maypole as the center of attraction. A Maypole dance, following dinner, was one of the main features of the occasion. Music was furnished by the Red and Black Orchestra, of Erie. The chaperones were Miss Edith Rowley and Prof. and Mrs. Lee D. McLean.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Van Scoten, all of Bellevue, visited Mary Louise Murphy and Elinore Van Scoten on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Haines visited Katherine Haines on Sunday.

Glenn Barr, '19, L. L. Campbell, '20, Wilson Flint, '22, C. H. Cochran, '23, and R. L. Murphy, '23, were visitors at the Phi Gamma Delta house over the week-end.

Alice Humphrey of Union City was the guest of her sister, Harriet, on Friday evening.

Herbert Baum has returned to school after an absence of a week due to illness.

Prof. Lee Hess Barnes was the dinner guest of Beta Upsilon on Sunday.

John H. Bozic, '23, and Arthur R. Burns, ex-'24, were week-end visitors at the Phi Delta Theta house.

V. L. Wise, '23, M. E. Kofford, '23, and E. R. Davis, ex-'24, were week-end guests at the Delta Tau Delta house.

Miss Foulke's election is an exceptional honor for she has been at Cornell for just one year, and membership under those circumstances is rare. After leaving Allegheny Miss Foulke was for a short time a student in the University of Buffalo. Miss Foulke is a daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe L. Foulke, 91 Northampton Street, Buffalo, New York. Rev. Mr. Foulke was for several years the pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Meadville.

LIBRARY RANKED SECOND AMONG COLLEGES IN 1922

SYDNEY W. DUTTON, AUSTRALIAN SCHOLAR, PAYS VISIT TO ALLEGHENY

Mr. Sydney W. Dutton, who holds a commission from the Mitchell Library, Sydney, Australia, and from the Library of Congress at Washington, to collect material relative to the South Sea Islands and the territories of the Western Pacific Ocean, visited the College Library on Tuesday, April 29, where he spent the day in research work. Mr. Dutton, who is a citizen of Australia, is a member of the Pan-Pacific Union, Honolulu, the Fijian Society; he is a former secretary of the Royal Geographical Society of South Australia, and librarian of the Yorkgate Library in Adelaide, South Australia. He is a contributor to the Mid-Pacific Magazine, Honolulu, and is a recognized authority on the geographical literature of the Western Pacific.

On the occasion of his recent visit to the College, he presented to the Library a copy of the "Family Visitor" of June 29, 1822, a magazine published over 100 hundred years ago in Richmond, Virginia. The old paper had been in his hands for some time, and it contained the following reference to Allegheny College:

"The Library of Allegheny College Meadville, Penn., by the munificence of Bentley, Thomas, Winthrop, and others is now supposed to be but the second in point of value, belonging to any of the forty-nine collegiate institutions in the United States. Many donations of various kinds have been made to this College by individuals, and seven thousand dollars have been appropriated by the Legislature of Pennsylvania. The Masonic Lodges of Pennsylvania are raising a subscription to endow a Professorship of Mathematics in the College."

GIRLS AT HULINGS EAGERLY AWAIT MAILS AS CHECKS
COME FOR CHICKERING

Nearly every mail, hopefully awaited, brings its quota, perhaps only one or maybe more, of letters bearing gifts to help purchase the Chickering piano for Hulings Hall living-room. Always with hopeful expectancy and enthusiastic anticipation these letters are opened and read, not the least interesting item being the name of the sender. Even from far off New Mexico has a letter been received from one who still has an interest in her former home.

A few of those who have thus far replied to the circulars mailed from the Hall are: Sabra W. Vought, Mary McLaughlin Lick, Florence Miller, Mrs. Root, Helen R. Millhoff, Laura Temple, Jessie M. Hogate, Virginia Grenelle, and Dorothy Morgan.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET TO BE HELD MAY 10

Annual High School Contest Will Be Feature on Montgomery Saturday

Allegheny's Ninth Annual Interscholastic Track and Field Meet, which is to be held on Montgomery Field on Saturday, May 10, is to be one of the most successful which the college has ever sponsored, if present indications are fulfilled. In spite of the fact that a new ruling has been made which prohibits overnight entertainment for the visiting athletes, a greater number of schools have signified their intention of entering than ever before.

In the past years the meet has usually been a struggle between the three Erie high schools, Academy, East, and Central, and the Rayen and South high schools of Youngstown. However, the situation will be much different this year. Much interest in track and field has been shown this season by the high schools in this section and for the first time in years the runners of these schools will outnumber those who always attend the meet. Among the high schools who have already signified their intention of sending representatives—and more acceptances are expected before the lists are closed on Saturday, are: Ashabula Harbor, O., Warren, O., Jamestown, N. Y., Meadville, Pa., Franklin, Pa., Brookville, Pa., Oil City, Pa., Corry, Pa., Greenville, Pa., Bradford, Pa., and Beaver Falls, Pa., as well as the five above mentioned. Although little is known of the new entrants, a recent triangular meet between Oil City, Franklin, and Corry resulted in a victory for the last named and also unearthed a high jumper who cleared 5 feet, 4 inches. In the high jump and who made the hundred in 10-25 on a slow track. This man, Eckert, of Franklin, together with Haskins of Corry, who is an exceptionally fine distance runner, should make the going pretty rough for those who are in the race for the cup which goes to the individual high point winner in the meet.

The events are to begin promptly at one-thirty and are to be run off on a definite schedule, so that the entire program will be completed by four o'clock. Besides the silver mounted plaque which will be awarded.

PHILO-FRANKLIN CONTEST

which would give the most good to the greatest number of people.

"The Heritage," was the subject chosen by Robert J. Corbett, adjudged as third best contestant. After painting a vivid picture of the next war, he declared that forces of love and hate were contending for a place in men's hearts, and that only when hate was overcome would there be no next war and peace would reign. He stated that we should leave to the next generation an heritage of peace and love instead of the shackles of war.

Although not a prize winning speech, John W. Moultrie is to be heartily commended for his efforts. John M. Pratt chose as his subject, "The Crossroads—Isolation or Cooperation," while "Ritual and Regalia," an attack on the Ku Klux Klan was the theme of A. Hughes Bartlett's oration.

ALLEGHENY LOSES MEET WITH TECH CINDERMEN

PITTSBURGHERS WIN IN LOCALS
FIRST MEET BL 64-12 TO 61-12 SCORE

The Allegheny College track team was defeated but not dishonored in its first meet of the season which was dropped to Carnegie Tech by a 64½ to 61½ score at Pittsburgh, Saturday. Coach Hammett's men gave the Tartans wonderful opposition, and it was not until the last event of the meet that the Tech team was certain of victory.

The result of the meet hinged on the concluding event, the high jump. Parnell took third place but Luty and Judd were still fighting it out for the other positions. With the score almost tied, the man who won the high jump for his college would also win the meet for it. Judd had been participating in many events before the jump and was in poor condition after two hours of activity in the cold and rainy weather. Luty was fresh for this event, however. Both men missed the first two tries at the height of five feet, six inches. Luty sailed over the bar in his final attempt while Judd missed and was forced to take second place. The Tech man's success was the big factor in the narrow margined victory of the Plaid.

Williams, a freshman, showed up well in his first appearance in intercollegiate competition. He won the 100 yard dash and took second in the 220. Slocum, another plebe, did good work in the two hurdle races and won his letter in his debut in Allegheny athletics. The winners were strong in the middle and long distance runs but in every occasion were given good competition by their visitors. Dykeman, the Tech Olympic prospect, was best in the mile and two mile, while Kremer starred in the 440 and 880 yard runs.

Allegheny made a clean sweep of all of the places in the shot put. Parnell won this event and took the discus also. Mefort of Tech won over Piper in the javelin with a throw of 167 feet, 7 inches. Judd was the best pole vaulter of the day and cleared the bar at a height of 10 feet, 3 inches. Allegheny's poorest showing was in the broad jump where the best place that could be snatched off was third.

Judd was Allegheny's high individual point winner, having taken a first, two seconds, and three thirds, for a total of 14 counters. Incidentally, Judd was the best individual on either side, as Dykeman, Tech's highest point maker, could rake in only 13 tallies.

Summary:
100 yard dash, 1, Williams (A); 2, Bohn (T); 3, Christoff (T). Time 10.6 seconds.

Mile run, 1, Dykeman (T); 2, Mackintosh (A); 3, Reyner (A). Time, 4 min. 51 secs.

220 yard dash, 1, Humbert (T); 2, Williams (A); 3, Bohn (T). Time, 24 seconds.

120 yard high hurdles, 1, Slocum (A); 2, Sullivan (T); 3, Wright (A). Time 19 seconds.

Two mile run, 1, Dykeman (T); 2, Bright (T); 3, Bliss (A). Time 10 min. 55 seconds.

120 yard low hurdles, 1, Ellsworth (A); 2, Slocum (A); 3, Sullivan (T). Time, 15 seconds.

Half mile run, 1, Kremer (T); 2, Rea (A); 3, Mackintosh (A). Time, 2 min. 10.5 seconds.

440 yard dash, 1, Kremer (T); 2, Dykeman (T); 3, Sample (A). Time, 52.8 seconds.

Discus, 1, Parnell (A); 2, Yoter (T); 3, Judd (A). Distance, 126 feet, 6 inches.

Pole vault, 1, Judd (A); 2, Smith (T); 3, Tornatore (A) and Goodwin (T) tied. Height, 10 feet, 3 inches.

Broad jump, 1, Bastian (T); 2, Bohn (T); 3, Judd (A). Distance, 20 feet, 6½ inches.

Shot put, 1, Parnell (A); 2, Judd (A); 3, Kinnunen (A). Distance, 38 feet, 9 inches.

High jump, 1, Luty (T); Judd (A), Parnell (A), tied for second.

Final score: Carnegie Tech, 64½; Allegheny, 61½.
