Dear Sir:

I just read your article "A Home of your own" (Part 3 of "Our United States") in my August copy of the Pictorial Review and am requesting that magazine to forward this letter to you.

Your article is an excellent one and greatly aroused my interest, as I belong to the "$2600 and less class" though longing for my own home.

I take the liberty in asking you for the name & adress of the "great department store" that had the exhibit of the "Moto-home" that I could write to them for details about it, literature, prices, etc. — Perhaps you will be so kind also to mention the name & adress of the "Steel Corp. which will finance in buying one of its own houses," A small, low cost house would be just the thing for us, as we have no children and my salary is a small one.

Your description of the rolling steel plates in the making is most fascinating and I am looking forward with great interest to its continuation of your article.

Thanking you in advance for your information,

I am,
Respectfully
