Dear Mr. Filler:

I regret that I have been so long in taking up your letter of June 8th. If you will look over your letter you will see that you asked me to do what would be equivalent to a good-sized volume, that is if I answered you fully. And when I was done you would have only my notions, which might or might not help you in framing your own which is all that really matters in the task you have on hand. I am afraid that I am unable to give intelligent answers to these questions of yours. I never have attempted to work out the answers for myself, although I have long had it in mind to do so. What I have in mind is for my own work.

come So you see I cannot write the ~~come~~ your letter requires, but if you would care to come in and talk with me some day I shall be glad to see you. Perhaps I may get something for my own article.

I am going away for a couple of weeks but if on my return you would like to see me and will telephone Algonquin 4-6674 we can make an appointment.

Regretting that I have not the answers to the questions you ask, believe me

Very sincerely yours
