Dear Miss Tarbell:

I think you must know how complimented I am by your good letter. I still think you should be serialized and if it will not interfere with Macmillan's plans, I should like to see what I can do and I would either do it or not within ten days. I have spoken to Mr. Putnam about this and I hope you and he will be agreeable to letting me have a try. Personally I should think it would mean a good boost for the book and incidentally bring some additional compensation to you.

My very best wishes and may the New Year bless you with good health and all the other good things in life.

Sincerely,

William C. Lengel
