My dear Miss Braine:

I regret the long delay in replying to your letter of September 23rd. It came to my desk when I was in the West and was held for my return.

Now as to your Sartain Marchant engraving of Lincoln. I can do no more than to promise that if I come across a collector who desires the picture to give him your name. In the meantime you might write to Mr. L. E. Dicke, 808 Washington Street, Evanston, Illinois, who I am told is probably the greatest authority on the value of Lincoln pictures.

I am sorry not to be able to make you an offer for the picture myself.

Very sincerely yours

Miss Isabel Braine
