December 21, 1920

Mr. T. A. Burke,
The Coit-Alber Lyceum Bureau,
Chicago, Ill.

My dear Mr. Burke:

This business of writing circulars is too much for me. I sent you some stuff the other day which possibly will help you. The last four paragraphs of the circular, a copy of which has just come to me from Cleveland, certainly needs changir but I think with what you have you can change it to suit you.

I think I told you that I should talk this winter on industrial relations, calling my talk "The Roots of Present Industrial Discontent."

I should only be too glad to talk on the present status of the League of Nations. It has made a long stride, in my judgmen but I think it is a little too early for that. We must wait until the country has gotten over the election. I believe in another six or eight months, people will begin to ask, What has the League of Nations done?

I am afraid this is very unsatisfactory, but it is th best I can do for you.

Very truly yours,

Digital Images, 2010. The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College Pelletier Library.