Mrs. Albert D. Mead,
Woman's Committee of
Council of National Defense,
Rhode Island Division,
77 Washington Street,
Providence, R. I.

My dear Mrs. Mead:

I returned yesterday from Washington and was very sorry that I could not go to Providence, but it was imperative that I be at Headquarters. I hope the conference was all that you expected it to be.

If anything particularly new came up, I wish you would let us have it for the News Letter. I am just now making for the earliest number, that I can get it into, a note on your coordinating committee. It is a capital idea.

Do you remember, when we were planning for a food conservation hour at the May conference, that I asked you to give a little account of the work that you told me you were doing in one of your counties, to reach poor and ignorant women. I am as much interested in what you said, and I was so sorry that the mix-up in the end, prevented the point coming out, as it had so many others. Could you not write that up for the News Letter? I should be so glad to have it, and of course anything else that you can send on.

With all good wishes.

Faithfully yours,
