Dear Miss Tarbell:

It affords me much pleasure to write you this personal letter and convey my high admiration for your works, which are important to posterity and literature.

I would be very happy and grateful if you will mail me me your picture autographed from you to me to frame upon my desk.

May your future days be filled with greater health, happiness and success for your kindness to me.

Please tell me what you think of GONE WITH THE WIND; the the works of H. L. Mencken and Marie Curie? Do you think people should have hobbies today?

With best wishes always, believe me, I wait for your personal and early reply, and remain

Cordially yours
