

Dear Elisabeth:

Since sending up that article of mine with a suggestion of a revision, I have read an article sent me by a woman in Salt Lake City - Alva Lee - no idea who she is - but it is a corking paper. She is submitting it somewhere - I don't know where - and sent me this to read simply because she thought I would sympathize with her point of view.

Now, if there is the least sense of what tariff means as a fundamental issue in the Democratic program, and the Lord knows they need to get at something fundamental, this would be a wonderful campaign document. If that is out of the question and she does not get a publisher by directly submitting, would you care to act as an agent for her?

Affectionately
