Drucker To Head ASG; Large Voter Turnout

Hank Drucker was elected President of Allegheny's Student Government in Monday's elections which saw 65 per cent of the student body voting, one of the largest to vote in an ASG election in recent years, according to ASG President Curt Fee.

Other ASG officers include Sandy De Marino, Vice President of Communications; Jim Meadowcroft, Vice-President of Student Affairs; Steve Ross, Vice-President of Educational Affairs; and Sue Werner, Secretary.

Drucker expressed his thanks in a statement to the "Campus," after his election: "I would like to thank publicly those who through their warm encouragement and support, have made it possible for me to become President of ASG. To them, and to the entire student body, I earnestly request your continuing interest and support of ASG.

"You have elected three first-rate vice-presidents; with their help, we can make this a very fruitful, exciting year. Your large turnout at the polls indicates your interest; we will attempt to translate this very gratifying support into a practical, workable program. Towards this end, I want to point out that all AUC meetings are open to everyone."

In the first balloting on Monday, class voting percentages were as follows: Juniors, 66.7%; Sophomores, 62.9%; Freshmen, 76.5%. Of the entire student body, 65% voted on the first balloting and 53.6% on the second balloting.

College Mourns Death Of Dr. Stanley Swartley

A life including 53 years of service to Allegheny College came to an end last Tuesday evening (Feb. 26, 1963) with the death of Dr. Stanley Simpson Swartley, 78, professor emeritus of English.

Dr. Swartley died at City Hospital of a heart failure, following a heart attack 40 minutes earlier at his home at 656 William St. He had been in good health up to then, and had spent the morning as usual at Reis Library, where he was curator of the Ida M. Tarbell Lincoln collection.

His death brought outpourings of sympathy from wide areas of the college community. Special tribute was paid him on the morning after his death by President Pelletier, speaking at the beginning of an all-college convocation on the state of the college.

In his remarks, Dr. Pelletier said, "Countless alumni of this College and his colleagues on the faculty loved and respected him. Modest, friendly, and learned, we shall miss his wit and discernment, his devotion to the College and to the students and graduates, his daily presence in Reis Library, but the contribution which he made as a scholar and man to this College can never be taken from us."

More than $100 in contributions from a number of individuals has already been received by Reis Library in memory of Dr. Swartley. This money and future contributions will be used for the Anne Miller Swartley Collection of Modern Poetry, which Dr. Swartley founded in memory of his wife who died in 1940.

Dr. Swartley was a 1905 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, received an A.M. from Boston University in 1909, and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1917. He also studied at the Curry School of Expressionism (1905-07), Columbia University (1912 and 1913), and Oxford University (1927).

Dr. Swartley came to Allegheny in 1910 as instructor in English, rising to Professor of English language in 1921 and Professor of

He was the author of a small textbook on English usage entitled "Aids to Good English." It was his English in 1933. Following his retirement in 1949 he returned to the active staff briefly from 1950-51 to teach two classes.

At his retirement, Dr. Swartley estimated that he had scrutinized 12 million words written by his students. He was immediately succeeded in his teaching of courses in creative writing by one of his former students, Mr. Alfred Kern.

After retirement, Dr. Swartley took on part-time work in the library as curator of the Ida M. Tarbell papers, which had just arrived and included 10,000 of Miss Tar-

Scholarship Fund May Be Established To Aid African Students in Bulgaria

A $1500 boost may be given to a special student effort sponsored by The Campus to give financial aid to African students stranded in Bulgaria, it was announced today by Editor Lew Fisher.

Some $1500 may come from the Religious Activities Committee and be used for a full-tuition scholarship to enable one of the African students to study at Allegheny. Dr. Charles B. Ketcham, faculty chairman of the committee, was enthusiastic about the possibility for one of the Africans to come here, but noted that the grant would need the approval of the entire Committee and also depends on replies to one or two inquiries the Committee has already made to other students.

Several student members of the Committee have expressed much interest in supporting one of the African students from Bulgaria.

Each year the Religious Activities Committee subsidizes a major portion of the college expenses of a foreign student studying here. For the past two years they have awarded funds to Herschel Li, who will receive his M.S. in Chemistry in June. The committee's treasury is built up by offerings at Chapel services.

Funds are currently being collected at colleges across the country to assist several hundred African students wishing to leave Bulgaria after maltreatment by Communists there, who will not give funds to the Africans. The "African Freedom Fund" is being administered by the National Student Association, which is in touch with the African students through the Coordinating Secretariat of National Unions of Students in the Netherlands.

Contributions to the local fund will continue to be received at designated places in Brooks, South, and the grill until the end of the term, when money collected will be sent to NSA. All students are urged to contribute.

Rochester Alums Plan Undergraduate Dinner

Allegheny undergraduates from the Rochester, N. Y., area are being invited to a special Allegheny dinner at the University Club in Rochester on the evening of Thursday, March 21.

Representing the College at the dinner will be President Pelletier, Dean McKean, and Alumni Secretary Richard Ruhlman.

Undergraduates will mingle with alumni and with high school seniors accepted at Allegheny but undecided whether to come.

The dinner and program are being tried "as an experiment," Mr. Ruhlman has said, and similar efforts will be made in other cities if this proves successful.

North Releases Itinerary For Spring Tour of Choir

Two events are highlighting the month's activities for the Chapel Choir.

Tomorrow night at 8 the choir will participate in the first Intercollegiate Choral Festival at the Carnegie Hall of Music in Pittsburgh.

Contrast has been built into this concert, in that no mixed choirs have been invited to participate; consequently, at one end of the spectrum will be the deep men's

Also participating in the festival are choirs from Bethany, Chatham, Mount Mercy, St. Vincent, and Washington and Jefferson Colleges, and the University of Pittsburgh.

Who Walks 50 Miles?

Attention President Kennedy: if you expect America to march to the New Frontier — on FOOT — and come to the college campus for hikers, look to the men students. But don't count on the administration!

A survey conducted by the feature staff of The Campus on Monday and Tuesday, with the use of the only two pedometers which could be scoured up in Meadville (loaned by the Meadville Sporting Goods Co. and Mr. Tom Gunn of the Post Office) showed the following results among four members of the college community:

Male student—5½ miles
Female student—4¼ miles
Faculty member—3½ miles
Administrator—2¾ miles

Leading the four was Joe Matson, who called it "just a regular day," but added that he could walk much more "without any trouble." He attributed some of the mileage to walking to and from his fraternity house.

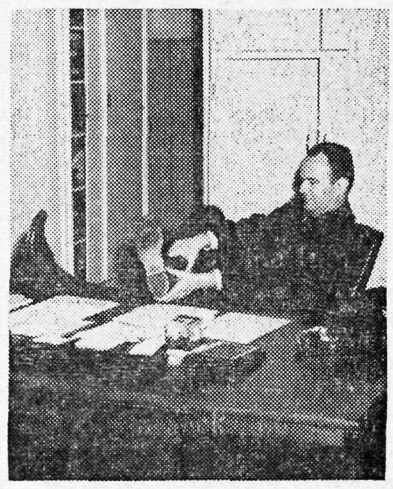

In second place for mileage was Winnie Lyons, whose day included working three meals in Brooks Dining Hall. (A pedometer also showed that Brooks dining hall head Gloria Gill walked ½ mile at one served meal.)

"Representing" the faculty was Dr. Jay Luvaas, who walks to and from his new home on Highland Ave.

At the low point on the pedometers was Dean John McKean, who said he had "an off day" on Monday.

The Campus does not necessarily endorse the accuracy of generalizations drawn from these statistics, noting that these totals indicate no exceptional effort on the part of those involved, all of whom agree that they are capable of walking more.

All, that is, except the feature editor, who chalked up two and a half miles just in tracking down this story!

"Leave those hikes to Pierre Salinger!" Dean McKean thinks as he rests feet after a long day.

Administration Questioned At All-College Convocation

Questions concerning mid-term breaks, tuition, drinking, apartment policies and similar subjects were answered by a panel of administration members during the first "State of the College" convocation held last Wednesday morning in the Field House.

ASG President Fee conducted the proceeding, and in his initial comments stressed the importance of the convocation "serving as a liaison between students, faculty and administration."

President Pelletier's opening statements centered on the need for "supporting the goals of the college" and "preserving the image" of a liberal arts and residential college.

Following his address, President Pelletier presented a concise financial report through a series of charts, showing the relation of Allegheny to other colleges of similar rank.

In answer to questions regarding scholarship awards, Dr. Edwards stated that Allegheny's basis of giving for need rather than ability is the general trend now enforced in the majority of colleges.

Dean McKean discussed the college drinking policy. He pointed out that Allegheny is a Methodist school, located in a state which forbids drinking by those under the age of 21, and also that it is located in Meadville which has its own laws covering drinking by those under 21.

Academic queries concerning the possibility of reducing graduation requirements and the prospects of instituting a research course into the curriculum were answered by Dean Ross.

In a discussion of college housing, Dean McKean stated that it is the desire of the administration that all students should live on campus sometime in the future.

This is the last issue of "The Campus" this term. Publication will resume for the third term on April 4.

AWS To Elect Officers Friday

Allegheny women will vote tomorrow for AWS officers for the coming year. Candidates announced Tuesday evening at a mass meeting are:

Executive president: Ann Harvey and Lana Hough;

Judicial president: Karen Darlington, Sandy DeMarino, and Sherry Westerland;

First vice-president: Jody Blanning, Ethelyn Foley, and Connie Keefer;

Second vice-president: Geri Buchheit; Joanne McAlister, and Mary Thoburn;

Treasurer: Carol Dain, Sherri Detrick, and Lana Shield;

Secretary: Sharon Engstrom, Nancy Neuendorfer, and Alice Rhinesmith.

AUC Defines Role In Administration

In the final AUC meeting of the term, ASG President Curt Fee expressed the importance of keeping Allegheny's student government as a legislative body closely correlated with the college administration rather than an arm of the administration as has been charged by various student factions.

The suggestion of combining the May Day Coronation and the May Day Dance was referred to

Dr. Stanley S. Swartley

The Allegheny community has lost a devoted friend with the passing of Dr. Stanley Simpson Swartley.

Dr. Swartley was one of Allegheny's most dedicated professors, possessing those qualities of knowledge of his subject and interest in his students which mark the fine teacher.

But to us, the most remarkable aspects of Dr. Swartley's life were the service he gave the college after his retirement from atcive teaching and the way he continually kept in touch with college affairs.

Dr. Swartley spent his 13 years of retirement doing work of permanent value to the college and to researchers of the muckraker era of Ida Tarbell.

But he did not restrict his later life to research. In addition to his activities in the Meadville community, he attended many college events and took great pleasure in getting to know new students and faculty members.

It was our privilege to know Dr. Swartley during the last year of his life. As other students who knew him, we were impressed with his keenness of mind, interest in current affairs, and friendly attitude toward all those around him.

Dr. Swartley epitomized the ideal full, well-rounded life of a college professor. — L.F.

Students Hear Program On Fifth Ward's Needs

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Jackson from Associated Charities and the minister from Bethany Church in 5th Ward spoke to students concerning needs of the 5th Ward. The group decided that a tutoring program would be the best way to become acquainted directly with the people and their needs. Individuals or pairs of students will plan their own time for working with a child or children in a family of their choice. Instructional sessions will be held before the students go into the homes.

Other less formal projects are being planned which will be announced, according to Nancy McElroy. Interested persons are encouraged to attend a meeting Sunday at 2:00 p.m. on the first floor of the C.U. If you can't come but would like to sign up for tutoring next term, call Nancy McElroy at 6-9936.

Independent Elections

The Independent elections will be held at the regular Independent meeting on Monday, April 8. If you would like to run for any of these positions, turn your name in to the election committee, Barbara Kulak, chairman, Diane Divis, June Fair or Hank Winkler, by Wednesday, April 3.

'The Liars' Set Tomorrow on WARC

From the World Theatre Series of the British Broadcasting Co. and WARC brings The Liars tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. The Liars was first acted at the Criterion Theatre in London on Oct. 6, 1897.

It is a play about a lie: Lady Jessica has had a harmless sort of love affair with an attractive man; her friends try to appease her husband with an "implausible story," and this lie, for that is what it is, leads all the characters in the play into situations that are at once hilariously funny and dangerously near to tragedy; for the husband fails to see the funny side and the wife enjoys living dangerously.

WARC hopes that this will commence a series of features and drama from both the BBC and CBC.

Administration Releases Academic Calendar for 63-64

An extra week for Christmas vacation has not been included in the academic calendar for 1963-64, despite a November student referendum tending to favor adding the week, according to the calendar released by the Dean of Instruction's office.

In deciding to keep Christmas vacation at the length that it was this year, the faculty noted the apparent inclusiveness of the poll and that finals would have had to start the day after Thanksgiving, Dean of Instruction Julian Ross said.

An ASG poll of social groups at the end of October and early November of last year on whether classes should start a week earlier in September to have an extra week vacation in December, showed 348 in favor and 213 opposed.

The academic calendar for 1963-64 is:

Sept. 21, Saturday — Orientation Week Begins;
23-24, Monday, Tuesday, Freshman Registration;
25-26, Wednesday, Thursday, Upperclass Registration;
27, Friday, Classes Begin.

28, Thursday, Thanksgiving.
Dec. 5, Thursday, Classes end;

Pelletier, Benjamin Attend Meetings

"We at Allegheny are proceeding in the right direction in supporting the research and teaching efforts of faculty members," Librarian Philip Benjamin has concluded after attending a Librarian's Seminar with President L. L. Pelletier at Bowdoin College, Maine.

Mr. Benjamin and President Pelletier were among 150 invited guests from a select group of 16 universities and 22 colleges throughout the United States at the Seminar, which lasted from Feb. 21 to 24.

Mr. Benjamin also noted that Reis Library "has been able to obtain desired material for faculty research and thus strengthen its own resources. We still need to acquaint ourselves, however, with materials available in the library in order to provide a solid start in any honors program or independent study."

bell's letters, in addition to other notes and papers. "He made an indispensable contribution to the library in his meticulous sorting out of materials," Librarian Philip Benjamin has said. "Such work is of tremendous value to scholars and researchers."

At the time of his death he was tracking down missing manuscripts of the Tarbell papers.

He also spent one year in work on the college archives.

Dr. Swartley regularly attended college lectures and Chapel services, and maintained old friendships while forming new ones. "Certainly this friendship with newer members of the faculty and student body was an enviable association," Mr. Benjamin said.

He was a member of Phi Delta Theta; was the first faculty advisor of the Allegheny chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism society, from 1922-33; the Modern Language Assn.; and the Literary Union.

In the community, he served on the board of directors of the Meadville Library, Art, and Historical Assn., and was president in 1961; was a director of the Senior Citizens Assn., a member of the Citizens Committee on Child Welfare; the Iroquois Club; Meadville Round Table; and of the Crawford County Historical Society. He was a member of Stone Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon by Dr. Charles B. Ketcham, college chaplain.

Surviving are a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David S. Swartley of Miami, Fla., and one grandchild. Two sisters and a brother preceded him in death.

the student affairs committee.

Fee reported on the results of a meeting of the Housing Committee which had submitted a report to the administration suggesting a number of changes in dormitory facilities. At the meeting it was revealed that provisions are being made for installing study booths in the basement of Caflisch and that minor repairs will be made in dorms.

However, since $1.8 million has been spent in improving dorm facilities in the past few years, the trustees cannot be expected to approve major changes in housing this year.

Council members discussed positive and negative feelings about the State of the College convocation. Comments will be referred to the Executive Committee for further action.

The final meeting of the present Undergraduate Council will be the next one, to be held April 9. At that time present officers will submit their final reports and the incoming Council will be seated.

Quigley Hall will not be open Saturday nights for student studying, Academic Committee Chairman Betsy Donelson has announced.

Quigley had been open on a trial basis for the past month, but student use did not warrant its remaining open, Miss Donelson said.

CU Positions Open For Vote In April

Elections for next year's officers of the College Union will be held at the beginning of third term. Next year the Vice President of Student Affairs of ASG will be the President of the Union. The following offices are open to the student body:

Vice President — This is to be a woman student.

Manager and Assistant Manager — These offices are open to men.

The following chairmanships are open to all interested students:

Social Chairman
Publicity Chairman
Public Relations
Cultural Events

If you would like to apply for one of these positions, see Mr. Cares in his office in the C.U. The necessary qualifications for these jobs are strong interest and good ideas. Final decisions on applications will be made by Nominating Committee.

Senior Graduation Announcements will be sold only during the first week of the third term.

Aquamen Capture Third Spot Seven PAC Records Broken

The Allegheny College Swimming Team concluded a successful season last Saturday by placing third in the PAC Championship Meet, behind Wayne State and Case. Coach Bill Hanson, who guided the team to one of its best finishes in recent years, stated that the PAC Championship was an excellent meet, with seven records being broken in the competition.

Craig Toedtman led the Gators with a victory in the 200-yard breast stroke, and Skip Shaffer took second place in the same event. The relay teams came through well, with Pete Holt, Jim Beatman, Skip Shaffer and Dave Ludwick taking a second in the 400-yard medley relay and Bob Wilson, Bob Sook, Ludwick and Beatman splashing to another second in the 400-yard free-style relay. Rick Harris, who holds the Allegheny records for the 200-yard and 500-yard free-style events, placed third and fourth respectively in these contests. To round out the scoring, Holt took a fifth in the 200-yard individual medley, Ludwick scored a fourth in the 100-yard free-style and Sook garnered the sixth spot in both the 50- and 100-yard free-style events.

With a record of nine wins against only three losses, two of them coming by a combined total of three points, this year's Aquamen are considered by Coach Hanson to be one of the better dual meet squads that he has guided during the past 17 years. In addition, with four freshmen lettering this year; Harris, Sook, Lou Schultz and Toedtman, only two seniors departing; captain Eric Reimann and Ray Lewis, and having lost only to Wayne State in conference competition this year, next year's squad looks as though it will be a real power in the PAC.

Campus Clashes

Rick Mullen won the inter-fraternity ping pong tournament last week, and in doing so enabled the Independents to capture first place team points. Mullen reached the finals by defeating Randy Smith, Dick Ream, Mike Lipitz, and John Alvin in the semifinals. Tim Gill, the other finalist, faced Mullen after having beaten Jim Irwin, Pete Glaubach, Don Cowley, and Phil Stevens. Mullen, in a best two-out-of-three series, turned back Gill to gain the championship.

The handball tournament saw three Phi Gams and one Phi Psi enter the semi-final round. Fijis Ernie Gaiser, Mike Finnerty and Gary oehler collected their third victories by defeating Mike Saren, Bill Seedyke and Andy Shapiro over the past weekend. The lone Phi Psi, Bill Dolde had previously beaten Dick McElroy.

Bowling featured a sudden surge by the Delts. A 570 series by Jim Baxter led the Delts past the Phi Psis 3-1. Jeff Meredith, with a 530 series was high man in the 3-1 conquest of the Phi Gams.

Kachelriess High; Gators Lose Two

Allegheny's high scoring forward, Hank Kachelriess, finished out his last season on the hardwood for the Gator Hoopsters as he poured 27 and 29 points through the nets in two losing causes.

The Western Reserve Redcats played very poorly in their role as hosts and beat the Gators 91-73. Reserve only had two more field goals than Allegheny, but they had 22 points from the line as compared to the Gators seven.

Reserve led from the start, and the half time score was 42-33 their way.

To go along wtih Kachelriess's 27 points, Dave Spencer had 13, Larry Katz 11, John Willet 10, Howie Sterling 8, and Jim Marquis 4.

Bill Love, Bob Taylor and Joe Bozas led the Redcats' attack, accounting for 58 points, 15 of which came on foul shots.

Again Hank Kachelriess's 29 points was not enough to overcome Grove City as the Wolverines downed Allegheny by a score of 84-70 last Thursday. This was the last game of the year for the Gators as they compiled a 4-13 overall record. It was also the last game of his college career for Hank Kachelriess.

Willett with 13 points, Marquis with 11, Spencer with 8, Bill Wertzer with 4, Chris Tarr with 3 and Jim Sample with 2 all contributed to the cause, but it was not enough.

Bernhard Cops 4th Title; Tomcats Win Tournament

John Bernhard dramatically closed out his Allegheny College wrestling career by becoming the second man in PAC history to win four individual titles as he captured his third 157-lb. crown in the final round of the annual PAC Wrestling Tournament held at the David Mead Field House on Saturday evening. Thiel College won the tournament edging by the defending champions from W&J 70-68. Allegheny placed fourth.

Bernhard defeated two opponents before meeting W&J's Frank Mika in the exciting final match. The Gator grappler came through with two escapes and a take-down which was sufficient for a 4-2 win.

Allegheny's future prospects were given a hearty lift when freshman Denny Andrews held on his final match to gain the 137 lb. title. Andrews had to hold on with all his strength as his scrappy opponent, Rick Rieve from Wayne State struggled desperately for a reversal. Andrews won 3-1.

Three other Gator Grapplers who placed in the tournament were Bob Parker, 123, Harry Elkin, 130, and Gil Gray, 191.

The remaining title holders are as follows: 123, Chuck Gunthrie (Wayne State); 130, Mel Nosanchuk (Wayne State); 147, Ron Snee (W&J); 167, John Stevens (Thiel); 177, Chuck Evanoff (Thiel); 191, John Yauch (W&J); Heavyweight, Joel Ginsberg (Western Reserve).

Gunthrie and Ginsberg both upset the defending champions from last year to earn their titles.
