

FOOTBALL TEAM BEING PRIMED
FOR OPENING GAME SATURDAYAllegheny Will Be Represented by Versatile Eleven on Gridiron This Fall

As the hour for Allegheny's first football game of the season approaches, it appears that the Blue and Gold will be represented on the gridiron this fall by a fairly strong and versatile eleven. The team, however, has several handicaps to contend with at the present time and not too much can be expected from them. In the first place, not more than five or six men from last year will be found in the starting lineup. This means that Coach Crum has quite a few positions that he must fill with inexperienced material. Another handicap to the players at the present time is the fact that they have had to learn a system of play different from the Dartmouth system used last year. This impediment to perfect team-work will vanish within a few weeks, as the players become used to Coach Crum's system.

The Blue and Gold squad has been hard at work preparing for the opener since Labor Day. A squad of over 40 men reported at the beginning of the practice sessions, but this number has been reduced somewhat at the present time. Coach Crum, in his first year at Allegheny, took hold immediately and has completely won the favor of the boys working under him. He is again being capably assisted by Coach Hammett. Coach Crum is introducing a system of play into Allegheny which he learned during his two years as a halfback on Bill Roper's team at Princeton. It is generally reported that Allegheny's style of play this year will be exceptionally versatile and the team can be counted upon to be strong on the attack.

The backfield is being looked upon at the present time as the strongest part of the Allegheny team, although the line also shows considerable promise. Three of the four regular backs from last year will again be seen in action this fall. Bob Garbark will be a fullback, with Nick Varano and Walter Berger at the halves. A new corner, Bill Slaughter, has shown up exceptionally well at quarterback and will be in there calling the signals when the team takes the field against Geneva. Slaughter will attempt to fill the shoes of Ronnie McKay, whose untimely death in an auto accident this summer was a severe blow to Allegheny College. Backfield reserves of prominence are Art Balsar at full, Dennison and Gamble at halves, and Harry Smith at quarter.

The line this year also appears to be fairly strong. At ends two reserves from last year, Martin and Storrie, will get the call. They are excellent men, both on defense and attack. A warm battle is being waged for the tackle position, with Gibson and Pichlino of last year's team fighting it out with Showers and Scholl, newcomers. These four give Allegheny a good quartet of tackles. Another battle is being staged for the guard positions, with McManus and Knapp holding the inside positions over Waite and Price. Morse is scheduled to do the snapping-back. He is another reserve from last year's team who made a nice reputation in the games he played. Ray and Walter Jones are his understudies, the latter being out at the present time with a chipped elbow.

When all is considered, it is fairly safe to say that Allegheny will have a team on the gridiron this fall that should make a rather good showing against the stiff opposition listed on the schedule. The team has plenty of spirit and pep and when they get their new system of play to working smoothly, they are likely to go a long way.

ANNUAL HOME-COMING IS SET FOR OCTOBER FIFTHFORMAL DEDICATION OF NEW BUILDINGS TO FEATURE
DAY'S PROGRAM

Opening of the two newest buildings on the campus will make this year's Home-Coming Program unique in the history of Allegheny reunions. An invitation to attend the several features of this program has been sent to all of the alumni by President Beebe, and it is hoped that all who are able will participate in the "house-warming."

Friday evening at seven-thirty the program will be started by the opening of Arter Hall. President Frank E. Baker, L. H. D., of Milwaukee State Teacher's College, will give an address on "College Teaching," and Arthur W. Thompson, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will preside. The address will be followed by a one-act play produced by the students of Play Production. This play will be given in the Little Playhouse and will be the first production to be staged there. After the play there will be a reception and an inspection of Arter Hall.

The program will be continued in the college chapel Saturday morning at ten o'clock, when the Reverend Robert E. Brown, D. D., of Albion, Michigan, will speak on "The Importance of Freshman Dormitories." The inspection of Cafisch Hall will follow the address.

The usual luncheon will be served in Cochran Hall at noon. It is to be cafeteria style. There will be plenty to eat, but the alumni office is asking all alumni who intend to come to the luncheon to notify the office by filling out the blank which is printed in this issue of the Campus.

Allegheny's gridiron team will tackle the Westminster team on Montgomery Field at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. This will be the second game of the season and the team may not be at its highest pitch, but hearty cheers from those in the bleachers will be of great value. The final event of the Home-Coming program will be, as usual, the fraternity dinners at six o'clock.

Allegheny Adds Five
New Instructors To Its Teaching Staff

Five new professors have been added to the Allegheny College faculty this year to take the places of those who resigned or were transferred last year.

G. E. Buckingham, Ph. D., succeeds Professor Varenne Collins as assistant professor of Philosophy and Education. Mr. Buckingham received his A. B. degree from Washington and Jefferson College in 1921, his A. M. in 1926, and his Ph. D. from Northwestern University in 1929. He has had seven years of teaching experience, mostly in secondary schools.

Hurst R. Anderson, A. B., takes the place of Professor John J. Henrietta as instructor in English Language. He will also help with the debating work. Mr. Anderson received his A. B. from Ohio Wesleyan in 1926 and was assistant secretary during 1927. He went to the University of Michigan during 1927 and 1928, taking graduate work in law.

Philip M. Benjamin, A. M., becomes an instructor in English Literature, succeeding Professor Bertrand W. Chapman. Mr. Benjamin received his A. B. from Dartmouth in 1926 and attended Princeton Graduate School from 1926 to 1929.

G. B. Roessing, A. M., fills the position of instructor in Romance Languages left vacant by Professor Erika Meyer, who was transferred to the department of German. Mr. Roessing received his A. B. from Washington and Jefferson College in 1926 and his A. M. from Harvard in 1927. He has taught a year at Penn State and a year at Louisiana State University.

M. K. Howes, A. B., has been appointed instructor in Chemistry. He received his A. B. from Amherst in 1928. During 1927 and 1928 he was a graduate assistant in Chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

HAMMETT HOUSE, NEW GIRLS' ANNEX, OPENED

Because there are more women enrolled this year than can be accommodated in Hulings Hall, the College has taken possession of the house formerly occupied by Coach Hammett and made it over into an annex to take care of the overflow of women from Hulings Hall. "Hammett House," as it is called, is conveniently located on Park Avenue and will accommodate fourteen women. The house is in charge of Miss Couch. It contains ten commodious rooms, five rooms and a bath downstairs, and five rooms and two baths upstairs. Complete remodeling has been done under the direction of Mr. E. R. Porter, Architect and Supervisor, and everything has been arranged to provide a maximum of comfort for the women who are living there.

ALLEGHENY MOURNS THE LOSS OF RONNIE M'KAYPOPULAR FOOTBALL PLAYER IS KILLED DURING SUMMER
IN ACCIDENT

On Monday, June 17, 1929, "Ronnie" McKay, Allegheny's popular football captain elect, succumbed to injuries resulting from an automobile accident that occurred on Saturday evening, June 15. The dread news stunned the entire populace of Meadville and everyone who has followed the career of this young man who so well typified the spirit of Allegheny.

"Ronnie" was accompanying a few other local students in a car driven by Arthur Ellis. Near the McGuffintown bridge, four miles north of Meadville, the car caught fire and crashed into the narrow structure. "Ronnie" was pinned in the back seat and was removed with difficulty from the burning mass. He was burned severely around the legs and suffered many serious cuts. The others in the car escaped with slight injuries. The injured boy was rushed immediately to the Spencer Hospital where he lingered until the following Monday. For awhile he seemed to improve but a relapse set in on Monday morning and death resulted soon after. When a blood transfusion was contemplated fifteen people gladly volunteered to give some of their blood to save the life of the one who has meant so much to Allegheny College. The body was taken to the McKay home in Charlestown where funeral services were held on the evening of June 18. Prominent people from all over the tri-state district attended. Among them were several representatives of Delta Tau Delta fraternity of which the dead had been an active member while in college. He was buried in DuBois the following day.

Ronald McKay was born in Charlestown in November, 1908. He grew to manhood in the same town and was noted there, as in college, by his remarkable grit and sportsmanship. He attended high school there and earned varsity (Continued on page 2)

College Friends of
Paul Siple Hearing
From Him Regularly

Communication with Paul Siple, Allegheny boy, and other members of the Byrd expedition is being carried on by radio, lessening the isolation of the explorers and the anxiety of their families and friends. Every Saturday messages sent to Siple are broadcast over stations WGY and KDKA.

In November, the beginning of the Antarctic summer, the expedition will become more active. Siple expects either to accompany Byrd on his air plane flight over the South Pole, or else to do some biological exploring. In the latter case he will travel several hundred miles by dog-team over the frozen continent. The expedition will return home when the winter again sets in and prevents them from continuing their work. This occurs in February, so it is likely that Siple's friends will see him before the end of this school year.

The following radiogram received by H. E. Frayer, Erie County Boy Scout Executive, is typical of the messages Siple sends to his friends: "Would like to radio greetings from Antarctic to all my friends. Please explain to those who have been looking for a message that gasoline required for airplane of exploration comes before that allotted to radio. Everything is fine with us here at Little America. Best wishes."

PAUL SIPLE.

The reference to the gasoline was meant to explain that enough fuel must be retained to carry on exploration flights over the polar regions, necessarily curtailing the amount used for operating the gasoline engine that runs the generator for the radio station. Another message received by the Alpha Chi Rho House about the same time expresses sympathy for the family of Ronny McKay.

McMANUS ELECTED NEW

Election of officers for the Sophomore class was held Friday, September 22, following the chapel session. Wendell Gornall, president of the Student Senate, took charge of the meeting. Bernard McManus was elected president, James Springer vice president, and Margaret Coughlin secretary-treasurer.

Following the election of officers a discussion was held on the subject of Freshman razzing. Gornall announced that President Beebe had suggested holding a Freshman-Sophomore Field Meet on the morning of September 27, the day of the Geneva game. Dr. Beebe promised that classes would be excused in case it was decided to hold the meet. The matter was postponed until this week, when the class will have another meeting to decide the matter.

ALLEGHENY IS HONORED BY
VISIT FROM JAMES J. DAVISSecretary of Labor Touches on Many Points During Address in Chapel Monday

At the chapel exercises Monday, September 23, Allegheny College was highly honored in having as its guest the Honorable J. J. Davis, Secretary of Labor in the last three presidential cabinets.

In Mr. Davis' speech were condensed many facts concerning his life, the duties of the Secretary of Labor, and personal opinions on questions of special interest to all citizens of this country. In the course of his speech Mr. Davis disclosed that he had at the age of seven been brought to this country by his parents, who settled at Sharon, Pa. At an early age he worked in a rolling mill and later became a puddler in an iron mill. Realizing he was handicapped by having only a meager education, he enrolled in a night school, and in time he became a leader of men. Since his appointment to Harding's cabinet, Mr. Davis has elevated his department to a plane of high efficiency. That Mr. Davis is a busy man is shown by the fact that during the last nine years his department has been the adjudicator of ten thousand labor controversies of major and minor importance.

Within his department are several bureaus which investigated various industrial maladjustments, of which an example is the employment of children in factories. The Women's Employment Bureau and still another bureau which sees to the rehabilitation of those crippled in industry are under his supervision.

In discussing immigration Mr. Davis deprecated what he termed as the "shutting of the front door and permitting those equally undesirable to come in the back way." In the neighborhood of thirteen or fourteen thousand were deported last year who had no license to be within our borders.

Swinging back to the topic of labor, Mr. Davis said that it had been his observation that industry as a whole is drifting toward consolidation, and he deplored the fact that modern machinery and the division of labor had forced many men out of work, particularly those of the older generation.

He offered as a basis of our national prosperity two factors: education and wages. The essence of Mr. Davis' formula for success is found in his words "Do the task assigned to you, be independent, and make a place for yourself."

In conclusion Mr. Davis touched on various facts concerning disarmament and the coming conference between President Herbert Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald, "two men with fine moral and religious backgrounds." He warned against being too quick to believe in the malversation of men in public office.

Stating his own preference for temperance, and that the saloon had been a curse to labor, with these forceful words he concluded, "I hate liquor and I will always do everything in my power to uphold the Eighteenth Amendment."

Methodist Conference
Appoints Allegheny
Men To Pastorates

At the recent meeting of the Erie Conference which was held in the Stone Church from September 10 to 15, several Alleghenians were given appointments, transferred, or left without charges so they might continue their schooling. Professor Horace T. Lavelly was appointed to membership in the conference, coming from the Kaingai Conference, China. Arthur Colley and Charles Lunn, who have been filling the pastorships at Guys Mills and Deer Creek, respectively, were reappointed. Rev. Ralph E. Tidmarsh, until recently assistant pastor at Stone Church and in charge of the college department of the church, was transferred to Stoneboro and was admitted to membership from the California Conference. Two graduates, Harold Mackintosh and Bruce Midgough, were left without charges in order to take further training in ministerial work.

An annual conference consists, besides annual reports and appointments, of several annual meetings of various organizations in the conference territory and of daily devotional services. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is always taken by the members of the conference, usually in connection with the Memorial Service which is held in memory of the ministers who have died during the year. The Itinerant's Club and the Laymen's Association each hold meetings during the conference week.

The reports of the district superintendents were begun on Wednesday, and committees were appointed for the coming year. District reports were continued on Thursday, and the transfers and retirements were taken care of by the conference. Rev. W. E. Bartlett, pastor of the First M. E. Church of DuBois, Pa., on behalf of his official board, invited the Erie Conference to meet next year in the DuBois Church. The offer was unanimously accepted.

On Friday Dr. Wm. P. Murray gave a report of the work of the Meadville District, mentioning the progress of Allegheny College, the two new buildings on the campus, and praising the work of Dr. Beebe as college president.

There will be a meeting of all convocations for the Kaldron staff on Thursday afternoon, September 26, in the Quill Club room of the Library. The meeting will be at 4:30 P. M.

Paul Hill Selected
As Chemist For The Viscose Corporation

Paul E. Hill, M. S., an Allegheny graduate who for the past two years has held the position of Assistant Professor in the Department of Chemistry of the college, resigned early this summer to accept the position as chemist for the Viscose Company, manufacturer of Rayon Silks.

The Viscose Company at the present time is building a large plant in Meadville and expects to commence operations within a few months, probably by the first of the year. They selected Professor Hill as their chemist and have sent him to England to study the process by which the company will manufacture their artificial silks. Mr. Hill will remain in England until the first of the year.

Paul Hill was graduated from Allegheny College in 1917, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science. The following year he received his Master's degree from the college. He became an instructor in the Department of Chemistry in 1919 and has been with the college since that time except for some time spent at Harvard, doing graduate work. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, Alpha Chi Sigma, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The congratulations of the college and best wishes for success in his new position are extended to Professor Hill.

DR. J. L. ROSS WEDS
DURING PAST SUMMER

On July 16, 1929, Doctor Julian Ross, '23 and Carol Moody, '28, were joined in marriage in the First Congregational Church of Painesville, Ohio. The ceremony was read by The Reverend W. A. Warren. After the nuptials a luncheon was served at the Tea Kettle Inn at Painesville. Later the same day the newlyweds left for a motor trip through the East. They are now at their home at 238 Locust Street, Meadville, Pa. Doctor Ross is continuing his work in the Department of English Language of Allegheny College.

THE SUCCESSFUL FRESHMAN

One of the most difficult of all tasks faced during a collegiate career is that of being a successful freshman. There are very few students who really are successful at the task of being good first year men and women. This is evidenced by the fact that we so often hear the statement, "If I were starting to college all over again, I certainly would do things differently." The man just entering college finds himself in a new and strange environment. He finds that he will have to make many adjustments and changes of habit before he can really begin to feel at home in this new world he has just entered. Many a freshman, however, does not think it worth the trouble to spend a little time analyzing the situation which confronts him. Instead, he permits himself to drift and allows other people to do his thinking for him. He readily accepts some upper-classman's assertion that he should accept immediately a bid from the latter's fraternity. He fears that by waiting he may lose his opportunity to join a fraternity. Good fraternity material seldom, if ever, gets left, no matter how long the freshman waits to join the fraternity. There are numerous other occasions when freshmen would not act so hastily on some matter of importance if they had formed the habit of carefully weighing matters before acting. Razzing is always a problem for freshmen to face. A thoughtful freshman will realize that there is nothing to be gained by making a display of his temper when upper-classmen seek to humiliate him with their razzing. He will remember that some day he will be in a position of influence and can then attempt to suppress the worn-out custom of freshman razzing. Problems will arise all during the freshman year. A careful allotment of time to studies, activities, and athletics must be arranged. The freshman who allows himself to drift along soon finds that his schedule is woefully unbalanced. So, in welcoming the class of 1933 to Allegheny, we take this opportunity of urging all our new friends to give serious consideration to the problems that a freshman has to face. Drifting along, allowing others to make your decisions, will get you nowhere; frequent use of your mental powers will make you a successful freshman.

THE FOOTBALL GAME

Geneva on Saturday! Our team, with many new men, a new coach, and a new system of play, will need all the support we can give it. Let's show Coach Crum and his men that we are back of him to a man. Remember, the outcome of the game depends a great deal on the attitude of those in the stands. Beat Geneva!

THE SCRUBBING BRUSH

Greetings, everybody. Carl Colum-nist III is back again, like a perennial Andy Protheroe who doesn't know when he or his followers have had enough. In spite of the very thorough razzing some jealous person gave me in last year's Kaldron and in spite of the tearful pleas of the Campus staff, I'm writing again. You can keep a good man down, but you can't shut him up.

Freshmen, you don't know what this is all about. If you did, you wouldn't be Freshmen. But don't let a little thing like that bother you. I've never met anyone who did know.

Freshmen, just a little bit of advice. Allegheny College was bought and paid for long before you entered it. The two things you have right to around here are, first, a seat in chapel, and second, two square feet of space in the middle of North Main Street. And remember, in case of a tie, upper-classmen are always right, though personally I believe that few of them have been that way since they first fell out of a high-chair. Another thing, if you have no interesting and instructive signs painted on your slicker or trench coat, think up a few smart ones and buy some paint. Also it might be a good idea to buy a fifth interest in a Ford touring car, of a model no later than 1929. Sooner or later you'll have one anyway and it's a very simple method of getting rid of an obnoxious allowance. If you happen to have a sweater with your high school letter on it, wear it when and where-ever possible. It always creates that athletic atmosphere so necessary to the college. And the upper-classmen will just adore you. Oh-Yeah!

"Tasty" is about a good word as I can think of to apply to Arter Hall. After several years of either freezing or boiling in the dark cells of Ruter and ruining my eyes trying to read my neighbor's paper by the light of a single electric bulb, it is a genuine luxury to go to class in the well-lighted, well-aided rooms of the new building. My only objection is to the tricky seats. The usual procedure is to go down the wrong row, discover that all the chairs are occupied, and reverse yourself and try another aisle.

Our mutual friend, the night-watchman, has several new jobs on hand. The first is the pleasure of putting little red tags on any car stopping in the driveway more than thirty seconds. Naturally, we all love him very much for this thoughtful deed. His second new job is patrolling the new walks to Arter Hall, which, if you have noticed, are quite shady and se-

HOMECOMING DAY LUNCHEON

At Cochran Hall, 12:00 Noon

I PLAN TO BE THERE!

Successful Freshman Week Conducted for The Class of 1933

Allegheny College became active again after the summer recess with the opening of Freshman Week on Thursday, September 12. The week's program included addresses, registration, physical examinations, placement tests, and entertainment. Its purpose was to offer to the new students the opportunity to become acclimated to the entirely different atmosphere of college.

The week was opened with a banquet in Cochran and Hulings Halls, after which a most enjoyable social hour was held in Hulings Hall. Later that evening the newcomers assembled for an address by President Beebe on "The Student's Program." Doctor Elliott and Dean Ross also made addresses to the Freshmen during the course of the week. On Saturday evening Dean Bowie gave a talk to the girls at the dinner hour. The boys were addressed at the same time by Senator F. P. Miller.

Sunday was a day of rest for the Freshmen. A service was conducted in the chapel in the morning by President Beebe and a vesper service on the campus at five o'clock in the afternoon. During the week an English placement test, a mathematical placement test, a language placement test, and a psychological examination were given to the students. Registration took place on Saturday. Leaders from the Men's and Women's Senate and the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. were on hand during the week to assist the faculty members in introducing the new Alleghenians to their college.

COMMITTEE ON WOMEN'S PROBLEMS IS APPOINTED

As suggested by Dean of Women Adeline Bowie, President James A. Beebe has created a special faculty committee, the Women's Council, entrusted with general supervision of women's activities. The members are among the more experienced women members of the faculty.

The field of the Council is largely advisory and concerned with special women's problems. No specific duties of the organization have been named. The committee receiving general powers to deal with whatever circumstances may arise. The Council is intended to infringe in no way upon the activities of the Women's Senate.

cluded at night. The added importance of our guardian of the right has led a number of our most weak-minded students to organize a fund to buy him a new badge, to be as shiny as the seat of a blue serge suit. But that's no reflection on you, my dear sir.

There's a man outside with a new Ford to see you. Oh, that's all right. Tell him I got one. Practically every other fellow in Hulings has one of these baby Lincolns. Certainly the Hall should be much more popular than usual. The situation is also quite beneficial to certain men of our knowledge. All they need to do is buy the gasoline.

I have been asked to announce that in order to be admitted to football practice it is necessary to bring the following credentials: (1) Your birth certificate; (2) Your marriage license; (3) Your driver's license; (4) Your class card; (5) Your schedule for this year, next year, and last year; (6) Three character testimonials signed by Dr. Beebe, your last employer, and President Hoover; (7) And last, but not least, one pack of chewing tobacco.

And that's all for this week.

Varsity Debaters To Be Selected In New Manner This Season

An innovation in college debating will be introduced into Allegheny College this fall. Instead of waiting until the approach of the debating season to institute try-outs for the debating teams, it has been decided to introduce a new course in the college curriculum open to those students interested in debate work. This course will be known as English Language IV-A and will be under the supervision of Professor Swartley. Up to three hours credit will be given in the first semester and to two hours credit in the second semester. The course may or may not be taken for College credit. If the study is taken for credit, the usual regulations for all class work will be enforced. If it is not taken for credit, compulsory attendance will not be required.

The benefits of such a course are apparent. English Language IV-A will give such training to the students as will benefit them during the debating season. It will develop new talent which would not be brought out any other way. Thus greater interest will be manifested in debating this year than ever before in Allegheny College. The debating teams will therefore be assured of greater success than attained in previous years.

letters while on the Charlevoix High School football team. He was rather light at the time and consequently did not perform as brilliantly as in Allegheny College. He was taking a pre-medical course in Allegheny. In his Freshman year, although he barely exceeded 150 pounds, "Ronnie" earned his letter as an end. His play was marked by gritty determination and fighting spirit, although he was pitted against men many pounds heavier. In his Sophomore year, "Ronnie" again made his letter by his fine exhibition at end and center. He was much heavier in that year and began to attract attention throughout sporting circles by his brainy and sportsmanlike demonstrations. When a quarterback was needed last year, Coach Merritt showed his confidence in the Charlevoix lad by assigning him the position. It was in this year that "Ronnie" performed best. Despite the misfortune of an injured hand, he played in most of the major battles of the year. His play throughout his college career, while not exceptionally brilliant, was marked by determination and sportsmanship. For such reasons his usual fine play was rather unnoticed by many people. His fellow players and coaches, however, had the utmost confidence in the play of the Charlevoix lad and they gave him much credit for the good showing of the team last year.

Allegheny's loss is immeasurable. Ronald McKay was the type of man any college throughout the world would be proud to call her own. In his career at Allegheny "Ronnie" performed always as a gentleman. He typified the spirit of his Alma Mater and would have undoubtedly have proven a credit to his school if he had been spared to graduate with his class this year.

Clyde J. Smith, '20, of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, was fatally injured on September 15 when his automobile struck a caboose at a grade crossing with such force that the railroad car was knocked from the track. The crash occurred two miles south of Connellsville on the Uniontown-Connellsville highway. Mr. Smith was a salesman for the Jeffrey Machine Company of Columbus, Ohio.

Reception For New Students Is Held On September 17th

Allegheny's first social event of the year occurred on Tuesday evening, September 17, when the annual Y. M. Y. W. C. A. reception for incoming students was held in the college gymnasium. Upperclassmen served as hosts to the new students. Over 500 students, new and old, attended the party.

Each guest, upon entering the gym, registered for one of the four courses on the "curriculum." Harry Needham, William Bean, Wilson Kelly, and Tom Jones served as registrars, while Vera Dawson and Alice Luther impersonated the Misses Cotton. "Ice-breaking" games, a grand march led by Mr. Kaifayan, Miss French, Dr. and Mrs. Darling, George Barco, and Miss LeRoy, and classroom demonstrations were a part of the evening's program.

Refreshments in the form of an "Allegheny Special" were served, after which college songs were sung. Decorations of Blue and Gold made the room very attractive. Acting as the committee for this event of the college year were the joint cabinets of the two organizations sponsoring the social. The committee included Frances Greenawalt, Elizabeth Bunner, Marjory Cole, Violet Troutman, Arthur Colley, Howard Plate, George Johnstone, Charles Lunn, and Robert Pugbee, President and Mrs. J. A. Beebe, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Ross, and Miss Adeline Bowie were the chaperones.

MID-SUMMER BULLETIN FOR ALUMNI IS ISSUED

During the summer the Mid-Summer number of the Allegheny College Alumni Bulletin was published and sent to the alumni. Most of the space in the Bulletin was devoted to the account of the Commencement Exercises. The Baccalaureate Sermon, the Class Day Exercises, the Phi Beta Kappa address, and the Commencement Day exercises are given in full, besides lists of the graduates, honor students, and prize winners. Descriptions of the two new buildings, Arter Hall and Caffisch Hall, are given for the benefit of the alumni. The rest of the booklet contains letters from alumni, poems, the "In Memoriam" section, faculty news and alumni news. A letter from Wayne Whipple, '77, tells of his visit with the Prince of Wales.

G. Alfred Palmer, '26, is with the Joseph Horne Company of Pittsburgh.

FLINT-GILL WEDDING

In a very pretty late-summer wedding at Ford Memorial Chapel on the afternoon of September fourth, Priscilla Langstaff Gill, '28, Meadville, was united in marriage to Dr. Edwin G. Flint, '26, of Pittsburgh. The ceremonies were conducted by Dr. Joseph W. Miles, '74, and Dr. Edwin L. McIlvaine. Theodore H. Poister, Jr., '27, of Cleveland, presided at the organ. Among the ushers were Dr. Wilson R. Flint, '22, Lloyd M. Gordon, '30, and Robert B. Brown, '29. The bride was attended by Catherine Betts, '28, Hildergarde Dolson, '30, Marion Flint, '32, and Eleanor Gill, maid of honor. The bridesmaids were attired in yellow crepe chiffon and orchid crepe chiffon with hats to match, and they carried arm bouquets of fall flowers. The maid of honor wore yellow and carried yellow roses. The bride's gown was ivory duchess satin with a veil of tulle and rose point lace. Her bouquet was of white roses and sweet peas. She was accompanied by her brother, Oliver A. Gill, '26, of New York.

After the ceremony a supper was served for the bridal party at the home of the bride's mother. Dr. and Mrs. Flint sailed from New York on an extensive wedding tour September 6, and on their return, November first, they are to reside in Pittsburgh.

At a tea given by Miss Mary Louise Murphy, '26, on Saturday, September 14, at her home in Bellevue, the engagement of Miss Elinor Van Scoten, of Avalon, to Edward Irving Bates, Meadville, was announced. An early spring wedding is planned. Mrs. Robert L. Murphy, Dorothy Kerr, Lois Ann Alter, Lucille Leffingwell, and Martha McKeever were among those who assisted Miss Murphy. He was returning to his work after spending the weekend at his home at Berkeley. Mr. Siggins went to California ten years ago. He was a student at Allegheny two years, a member of Phi Delta Theta, and later attended the University of California.

Allegheny graduates of about four years ago will be interested to know that Doctor Whitney Coomb, who went from the Economics Department of the College to Washington, D. C., is now located in Canton, New York, 11 University Avenue.

Madeline Steele, Meadville, and Robert Rexford, '29, Jamestown, New York, were quietly married at the bride's home on Saturday noon, August 31. Charles E. Lunn, fraternity brother of the groom and a Junior in College, performed the ceremony.

Friends of Theodore Poister, '27, will be interested to know that they may hear him over the radio, Station WTAM, Cleveland, each evening at ten o'clock in the Variety Hour.

The Honorable and Mrs. Foster L. Rine of Moundsville, West Virginia, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Elizabeth, to The Reverend Durward B. Brown, '20.

GENEVA WILL BRING STRONG ELEVEN FOR ANNUAL BATTLE

Covenanters Will Have Heavy Line and Light Backfield To Oppose Crum's Men

Allegheny College will inaugurate its football season on Saturday afternoon of this week with Geneva, long a powerful rival of the Blue and Gold, as the opponent. Montgomery Field will be the scene of the contest, and from all indications one of the hardest battles of the entire season is in store when the two teams clash.

News from down the Geneva way is that the Covenanters are expecting a successful season on the gridiron this year and Coaches Davies and Fenniken are anxious that their proteges get off to a good start against Allegheny. Last fall, in the closing days of the season, a Blue and Gold team gave Geneva an 8-7 setback in one of the most stirring games witnessed in years, and the memory of that defeat will still be upmost in the minds of the Beaver Falls team when it takes the field on Saturday. The contest will mark the first game either team has played this season so no definite knowledge of the relative strength of the two teams is to be had, but both outfits are reputed to be stronger than they were last year.

The Covenanters will start a light line and light backfield this year. The line is expected to be especially strong, the lightest man on it weighing 180 pounds. Both of Geneva's regular tackles weigh a little better than 200 pounds, while one of the guards, Stauffer, tips the scales at 232 pounds.

From end to end the line will average a little better than 190 pounds, so Allegheny backs are likely to find plenty in their way when they attempt their plunges and off-tackle plays. The Covenanters also have some excellent linemen in reserve.

The Covenanters will start a light backfield on Saturday. The ball-toters average only 162 pounds. Timerario is scheduled to call the signals. He saw service last year at center. Ewing, Preece, and Knapik will complete the backfield for the visitors. They are fast, shifty combination that will bear lots of watching. All in all, Allegheny will have some very strong opposition to compete with on Saturday and what the outcome will be, no one can safely predict.

New Football Coach Is Rapidly Gaining Favor at Allegheny

Harry Crum, the new football coach, here from George Washington University, preceded by excellent recommendations attested by his fine record at that school, has taken charge of the '29 football squad and is developing a team that will receive much attention.

For those who missed The Campus introduction of Coach Crum last spring, a brief review of his career is herein given. After his graduation from Derry (Pa.) High School, where he played football under a former Allegheny tackle, Crum entered Grove City, where he played throughout the football season, but was compelled by serious illness to leave school. In 1918 he entered Penn State, played on the freshman team, but was again forced to leave school. After working two years, he entered Princeton, where, after being ineligible the first year because of the transfer rule, he played halfback for two years under W. W. Roper. Crum graduated in 1924. The next fall he was made football coach at George Washington, where for four years, although operating under extremely adverse conditions, he made a remarkable record. In these four years his teams won twenty-four games, lost but eleven, and tied three. In his last year, meeting an unsurmountable obstacle in the form of a one-year residence rule which cut the squad to twenty-five, the George Washington team was able to win but one game. In the spring of this year, Mr. Crum was chosen, on the strength of his record and many excellent and unreserved recommendations of his ability and his character, from a field of twenty-six applicants for the position of football coach at Allegheny College.

Here, in his new field, Coach Crum is rapidly proving himself a most competent man. He has a magnetic personality which has won him the support of the whole squad and has built up in the team an enthusiasm and a cooperative spirit which will prove one of the biggest dangers to opposing aggregations.

Westminster To Be First Opponent For Cross Country Team

Anticipating another successful season, Allegheny's cross-country squad, twenty strong, met last Wednesday afternoon for its first workout of the year.

Among the twenty runners reporting were six men from last year's squad. They were Captain Minnis, Dreihelbis, Needham, Wycoff, Bachelor, and Eastman. Jack Worrall, star two-miler, is also out for the team and will undoubtedly prove to be a very valuable man. Although the material is practically as good as that of last year, the team will be in poor shape for the first meet. With the exception of Dreihelbis, none of the men have taken summer workouts, so it will be exceedingly difficult for them to reach the peak of condition much before the second meet of the season. The first meet of the season is with Westminster on October 5th, and if the Blue and White runners are in good shape, they will stand a splendid chance of breaking Allegheny's great winning streak which has extended over a period of two years. Unfortunately, Grove City and Thiel have decided to forego cross-country this year, the matches with these schools being cancelled. This leaves but three meets on the schedule. In addition to Westminster, Pitt will be met on Oct. 19th and Geneva on November 16th. Coach Hammett faces a difficult problem in keeping his men interested and in training during the long periods between each meet.

THIS AND THAT

When Geneva comes here next Saturday to open the 1929 football season, they will be anxious to avenge their defeat of last year. The sting of last year's 8-7 reverse has not been forgotten and the Covenanters will endeavor to stop Allegheny's shifty offense while they are uncovering a powerful line of attack which they hope will help them to wipe out the stain of all previous defeats suffered at the hands of Blue and Gold teams. Although the Geneva line, with an average weight of 192 pounds, will far outweigh the Allegheny line, they will meet with the stiffest kind of opposition. Coach Crum will have the advantage of being able to start an eleven composed mainly of veterans and for replacements can call upon a number of last year's men and several freshmen who are excellent prospects and who will undoubtedly see much service during the season.
