DEDICATED

With the lasting esteem of the students of Allegheny College to

REV. LUCIUS H. BUGBEE, D.D.,

whose message of truth still is eloquent.

Our Mission

THE witchery of drifting blossoms and opening flowers has diffused a subdued magnanimity through this, our message of sweetness and light. The Kaldron will prove a self-revelation to many, a friendly indictment of the rest. In the far away years when you are dreaming in the shadows and firelight, of the glad days when in the music of springtime and hope and life, the world stretched out before your eager pulsing youth; when, fellow student, your eyes dim because of the "light of other days" that floods around, then as you turn the pages of this volume will you know its true mission—a book of memories.

A. D. ANDREWS.

An Unexpected Result.

Aspired to be a ladder orator, but only reached the first rung. Took Senior Six as second choice. Esteemed and valued attache of the Meadville Morning Star. The miniature of Louis Woodside Sherwin.

ETHEL ANDREWS.

Little Women.

As busy as Dicky, blushes like a June rose, and as sweet as an unblown apple blossom. A sample copy, of which every man should have an edition.

R. PARKER ANDREWS.

Pilgrim's Progress.

Has kept booze out of Y. M. C. A. punch for four years. Has a voice like a disappointed fog horn. Buzzes around the goddesses. The Mt. Sinai of the Theta Delta Gals.

WYNONA BAKER.

Martha Washington Cook Book.

Motherly guardian of Theta Sigma. Wears a winning smile and never gossips. One of the pillars of the Y. W. C. A.

VERA BASH.

To Have and to Hold.

Unabashed. Given to wicked ideas in ethics that fuss Dr. Crawford. Magnanimous enough to curb Dr. Smith's early hopes. Got Pratt into trouble. Heart broken since Chesty went away.

JOSETTE HILDA BEEBE.

In the Bishop's Carriage.

Has been there all year. Talks to Burt in French, using phonetic methods. Once the idol of Jerome Collette Fisher, now contemplating the charms of an idyllic cottage scene in Switzerland with Elmo driving home the goats.

MABEL A. BEATTY.

She.

A classical referendum bound in cloth. Knows ethics. Latin, Greek and Bill Elliott. Keeps the profs posted. The right sort.

ROBERT GINN.

Bob, Son of Battle.

Made good the first time he donned foot ball togs and has lead the procession since. The "old war horse." Has a charley horse on his vocabulary, but breaks even with the best.

MAY ESTHER HART.

A Lady of Quality.

Wears the demure demeanor of a turtle dove, and as gentle with the homesick lassies as a mother with a tired child. Holds the record for the high jump in marks.

OLGA RIENE HENRY.

The Lady of the Decoration.

The friend and confidant of everybody, and a rare combination of womanliness and good fellowship. Rachel of the Alpha Chis, and the Empress of Boney's fortunes. Has a way that appeals.

LILLIAN HEPFINGER.

Airy Fairy Lillian.

At whose shrine Arthur Devoe Powell Miller burns incense, and offers violets. A bright little maid, gentle as a kitten, and the sort you read about. Will keep the world sunshiny.

OTTO HENRY HOUSER.

The Incomplete Amorest.

Has a face like one of Dr. Cobern's prayers. An honest likable chap who will show the world what squareness means. Helps Lockwood run the Quill Club ration department, and has dabbled in literature.

FRANCIS IRVINE.

Reveries of a Bachelor.

A bashful six feet of solid stuff. Has a winsome silent way that counts. Another of Dutt's chums, and a product of Tidoute. Religiously avoids femininity.

MERLE WILLIAM KING.

Merle's Crusade.

Like most romantic Kings, has a charming Ward, and guards her as faithfully as he made basket ball a success. Commonly called "Allegeru."

FRANK LYLE KNAPP.

The Hoosier School-master.

Reared near the swampy suburbs of Springboro, and introduced metropolitan customs into social Allegheny. A good hearted, slow going duffer with a handsome phiz and a milk wagon stride.

MAXWELL JOHN LICK.

The Choir Invisible.

Warbles like a sleepy nightingale and has a girl in Franklin. For two years chief tuning fork of the Glee Club. Raises more rough horse than Cupid himself and is continually getting "your unknown admirer" communications.

LEROY ISAIAH LORD.

The Sky Pilot.

The rear admiral of the Thoburn Club. Speaks to President Crawford with a patronizing air. Is said to be writing a volume on the "Ethics of Co-Education."

ELMA McGRANAHAN.

Pentacostal Hymns.

A rosy maid. A face like one of Gibson's and a smile that would melt Akers. Said to be one of many who have victimized Dr. Smith.

A. D. P. MILLER.

The Second Wife.

A regular Mormon. Has a permanent lease on Hulings Hall Par-lors. Would rather fuss than work, and wears the smile that never wears off. "It is my sentiment that we should get closer together as a class."

KARL ANDREW MILLER.

The Climax.

Has been seen re-cently wandering about town with a goddess. Supposed to be in col-lege. Another of Dutt's incorrigibles. Wears his hair like Aguinaldo, and Firestone, but the goods.

HUGH MELVIN NELSON.

The Strenuous Life.

A handsome recluse who leads the local pro-cession on the gridiron and diamond. Said to be in cahoots with Boney. Has a faithful Juliet at Oberlin, and all the co-ed's furious.

ARCHIBALD PERRY.

The Man in the Case.

Drives an automobile, plays basket ball, and dallies with Cupid in the same cool heady man-ner. Frequently visits his "grandmother." Sometimes seen with Miss Rist.

JOSEPH DOVER PRATT.

Cast Up By the Sea.

Not bashfully inclined, we have heard, but cur-rent rumors conflict. A shell on the sands of time. Made himself pop-ular by furnishing the Hulings Hall outfit with fresh gossip. Wants to be a senator.

BESS VERA RIST.

The Port of Missing Men.

Has grown up with the New Allegheny. Fre-quently been cornered by the little chap with wings. Is making every-body wish she would stay longer. Sometimes seen with Mr. Perry.

RALPH C. SIGGINS.

What Can She Do?

A man of Lytle scruples in the matter of women. Has tickled the pipe organ for three years and makes Mendelssohn sound like the cows coming home back in Tidjoute. A good hearted duffer, with a dash of the pirate in his veins.

LUCY HELEN WRIGHT.

Lucy of the Stars.

Has people in the dark as to whether she is wedded or going to be. Has not patronized home talent, so one cannot say. Will henpeck the lucky man to a finish.

RICHARD CALLAHAN.

Stepping Heavenward.

Walking delegate of the gospel. A man of parts, but like a telescope keeps most of them out of sight, unfolding at rare moments. The idol of Teutonia, and the Moses of the Farrelly Club. Will be fricasseed by cannibals

JOSEPH M. BLAKE.

The Old Curiosity Shop.

An exponent of wedded bliss, so our most scathing eulogy would fall unnoticed. A steady reliable old chap with a comfortable indifference for conventionality and the world, and a passion for Mail-pouch.

MARY LOUISE BOND.

The Bondsman.

The evidence of things not seen but we are sure that the fortunate youth is hibernating until his petite damsel comes tripping along with her sheepskin. Will keep a part of the world happy.

OSCAR MINNS BROWN.

Pigs Is Pigs.

It would be the same if they were elephants. The battering ram of the football team. Butts into a stone wall and society with equal equanimity. Debating between Drew and Boston.

The Celebrity.

We don't know much about him, but he looks like a comer. Seems to mind his own business and enjoy puddling around Dr. Lee's toy kitchen. Has served twice as sergeant-at-arms of the Scientific Club.

CHARLES BURCHARD.

God's Good Man.

Has been an ardent follower of the Lord for many years, and goes up on the high hill to worship every evening. "One faith, one hope, one doctrine."

WILLIAM A. CAPPEAU.

Animals I Have Known.

Has stirred up a little dust during his four years of sin, sorrow and unpaid due bills and that is a liberal education in itself. Tall, adorably graceful and the doubly distilled incarnation of manly beauty. A gentleman and scholar withal.

THOMAS A. COLTER.

Black Beauty.

Has been disseminating higher education at Guvs Mills during the year. Also tangled up in Beulah-land and will soon be henpecked. Another poor man undone.

FRED B. COOLEY.

Not Like Other Girls.

Considering the English language indelicate, Mr. Crowe chatters in cooing French with the other girls. Has ambitions towards dressmaking and likes cats and tea and croquet. Friend and intimate associate of Wahnita.

EDWARD F. CROWE.

The Beauty Doctor.

A floweret transplanted from Ohio Wesleyan, and still talks of the old days before the war. One of the patriarchs of the Kats. Has an inherited perpetual giggle like a kitten drowning in buttermilk. Friend and intimate associate of Ed-die.

WAHNITA B. DANFORD.

The Celebrity.

We don't know much about him, but he looks like a comer. Seems to mind his own business and enjoy puddling around Dr. Lee's toy kitchen. Has served twice as sergeant-at-arms of the Scientific Club.

CHARLES BURCHARD.

God's Good Man.

Has been an ardent follower of the Lord for many years, and goes up on the high hill to worship every evening. "One faith, one hope, one doctrine."

WILLIAM A. CAPPEAU.

Animals I Have Known.

Has stirred up a little dust during his four years of sin, sorrow and unpaid due bills and that is a liberal education in itself. Tall, adorably graceful and the doubly distilled incarnation of manly beauty. A gentleman and scholar withal.

THOMAS A. COLTER.

Black Beauty.

Has been disseminating higher education at Guys Mills during the year. Also tangled up in Beulah-land and will soon be henpecked. Another poor man undone.

FRED R. COOLEY.

Not Like Other Girls.

Considering the English language indelicate, Mr. Crowe chatters in cooing French with the other girls. Has ambitions towards dressmaking and likes cats and tea and croquet. Friend and intimate associate of Wahnita.

EDWARD E. CROWE.

The Beauty Doctor.

A floweret transplanted from Ohio Wesleyan, and still talks of the old days before the war. One of the patriarchs of the Kats. Has an inherited perpetual giggle like a kitten drowning in buttermilk. Friend and intimate associate of Eddie.

WAHNITA B. DANEORD.

JANE L. DERRITT.

The Girl From the Golden West.

Sits a horse like a Virginia thoroughbred, and the kind that counts. Rides constantly, but never trots. Keeps Bill awake in Greek and the Classical Club from utter decay.

ELIZABETH K. ETTER.

Our Bessie.

A lady and a scholar. Stands in with Frank C., and writes literary themes. Said to be a somnambulist.

FRANK C. FLAUGH.

The Simple Life.

One of Dutt's little ones, and begins to resemble the dear old codger. Wears glasses and an undertaker's air. Will loaf through his manly years with an obese salary when his more brilliant contemporaries are putting down one, and carrying two.

CLIFFORD FULLERTON.

Peck's Bad Boy.

As unobtrusive as a delegate at a summer conference of the Y. M. C. A. An easy going square sort of a necessity, who bears without rebuke the grand old cognomen of gentleman.

EARLE M. GIESEY.

Little Men.

"Centerpole" is as systematic as an adding machine. lives, moves and has his being by rule. Has spent most of his course trying to make Theta Nu Epsilon, but only got as far as the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet. Runs an automobile and rides a bicycle. Has been the basket ball Napoleon for three years.

FLORENCE M. GRAUEL.

The Betrothed.

Divinely tall and fair as sunlight on apple blossoms. Is inclined to a dash of weary cynicism, when not writing heart stories. Interested in the progress of the Drill Chuck Manufacturing Co.

CHARLES T. GREER.

The Mississippi Bubble.

Aspires to be a bishop, and has rotund possibilities in that direction. Formed the habit early of eating his books. Has been roosting high at Drew. Used to play tennis.

FANNIE W. LYON.

The Lion and the Mouse.

Trapped Willie G. in the early years of her course and has successfully retained him. For this alone she deserves a key. In the language of Frank C., has a remarkable gift for creative production of little "winged stories."

RICHARD A. LYON.

Great Expectations.

Belongs to Dutt's Sunday School bunch and chews the same variety. One of the accomplished society men of the class. Keeps up the intellectual average of Theta Delta Psi.

WILLIAM L. MCKINNEY.

Ten Nights in a Bar Room.

Fast, unorthodox, likes to shock the brothers in the preachers' club. Said to have bamboozled the Philadelphia Conference into giving him a job. They may have him.

WILLIAM T. MACKEY.

Theory of Thought and Knowledge.

A veritable graft from the tree of learning. Has been frequently mistaken for Julius Caesar. Once was graded as low as 48. Edited the Lit. on the same basis, and fathered the Gold Dust Twins.

NULU N. NEALE.

Experimental Chemistry.

Wears the demure drooping look of a house sparrow, and one of Miss Spalding's promising gesticulators. Leading lady in "A Cousin of Mine."

CHARLES O. PETERS.

The Common Lot.

Another candidate for matrimony. Has worshipped faithfully for a half decade at a down town shrine, so doesn't appear frequently at Hulings. Going to be a medicine man. The Sig Pater.

HARRIETTE PHILLIPS.

An Encore.

Not a repetition of the first. Has been single since "Slat's" went out into the cold hard world. Has the family giggle. A good sort.

ALBERT A. REAVELY.

Looking Backward.

About to go on the superannuated list. Another man who is married and should have mercy whether he deserves it or not. Has been preaching out in the Canadian woods since his last regular centennial appearance.

RAYMOND R. RUSSELL.

The Descent of Man.

Intimate friend of Blick. Makes girls laugh with his clever sayings and generally described as "dreadfully cute, don't you know." Has not figured in politics since the famous "contingent" deal. May some day startle the world with a funny joke.

LOUIS W. SHERWIN.

It Is Never Too Late to Mend.

In spite of the fact that he is all around, "Loocy" is the squarest man that ever came to Allegheny. The calliope of the Y. M. C. A., only at the head of the parade. Is going to lead the ministry, not follow it.

FRANK G. SMITH.

Representative Men.

The salvation of Dutt's bunch. Minds his own business and uses the accepted brand. Will make a good citizen of some deaf and dumb community.

Miss Primrose.

For two years the only element that kept "Billy" Main from fossilizing. Took a very active part in the late rushing season.

CARRIE L. SOWASH.

The Singular Life.

Has lived a hermit sort of a life, but seems happy, if not fat. Will end up carrying chains and make a good citizen.

HARRY H. STANLEY.

The Girl Out There.

Has grown like classical statuary from his faithful plugging in Doctor Bill's leaders. A key man, and a gentleman—a rare combination.

DONALD S. THOMAS.

The Call of the Wild.

Will make people laugh out in the world and do more good thereby than Torrey and Alexander. Continually practicing stunts he expects to work on the heathen. Illustrates in his distance runs, and makes the Glee Club popular.

WILLIAM E. THOMAS.

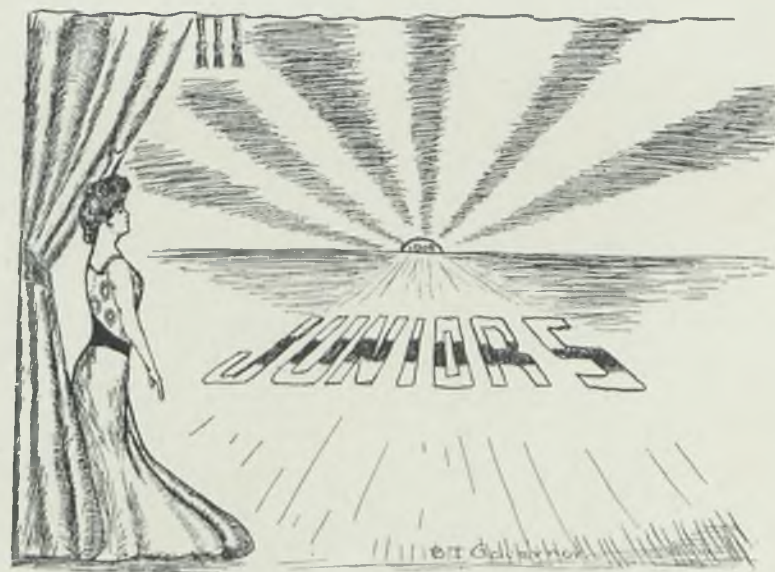

"As a Class."

THE PHILISTINE OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

A PERIODICAL OF PROTEST

And Earnest Whole-Souled Comment—Heart-to-Heart Chats of the Editor
With His Flock

SOME of you people who slipped into college when the registrar was not looking, base the greatness of your alma mater upon the fact that one guy, Morrison Walker, to gain private ends, went mad and wrote a rather interesting promulgation of his philosophy as to the respective merits of large and small colleges and universities. Get your ears out of your eyes. Let the "Master light of all your seeing," if you have any, flood your befogged sun flower intellects with the truth that our Allegheny is great because she is Allegheny, the college we and hundreds of loyal men and women love. YES LOVE, because her name is cut deep in the everlasting granite of things worth while, because she has proven her greatness in a century of achievement and usefulness. Men and institutions are great because of their pasts, their presents, their future. Then worship on your knees our Queen Mother—Fair Allegheny.

Great men in all ages have stood alone "when others have tumbled noisily else whither." A man worth while does not depend on his friends or his faction. The world admires a man who succeeds with all these, but the same world worships a man who "gets there in spite of hell" in midnight loneliness. Cliquishness is but the refined expression of provinciality. People who haven't much capital usually combine, for the purpose of making at least a cloudy day showing. All this is convenient and pleasant and even admirable sometimes, but out of place in a democratic American college. Stand alone and prove yourself, meet your fellows as men and women, and don't judge the man or the woman by the frat pin on his or her breast. Some of you have come down here from Nowhere, and been the chief Nobody in your village. Promoted to a slight social distinction you draw a narrowing shell of exclusiveness about you. Remember that Abraham Lincoln, and a thousand more of the world's God-like men wore cowhide boots. Above all keep your family tree out of sight. To-morrow see what you can do to make somebody happy.

We have conversed with our contemporary, the editor of the Kaldron. Lest there be any misunderstanding he does not tell you in his editorial, "this is your book, we have but put the finishing touches on it; you have made it what it is." On general principles the staff wrote the book, and they are sort of proud of it. Judging from the extensity and quality of your contribution, O student body, to this your book, the one necessary and indispensable commodity of life in college,—grey matter, brain, producing faculty,—you seem to have left back on the farm when you packed your tin playthings and picture books in your phosphate sacks. Doubtless you have been busy, according to your intelligent interpretation of that questionable word. But this is in passing.

The college knocker is the man, having all but the actual ear marks and the hoofs, who minds other people's business and criticises other people's honest efforts, forgetting that his only excuse for having a position in college circles is the size of his father's salary, or attendant circumstances. He brays continually, fancying that people are crediting him with the efficiency of a nightingale.

The editor of the Campus is the man who flunks his classes, edits a paper by dint of much labor and sacrifice, and is reminded by most everybody of the one or two typographical errors in the sheet. Such a man also is the editor of the Lit.

The Quill Club is a coterie of the belles lettres aristocracy, organized in cahoots with the Ladies' Society of the Methodist church. No one is admitted who does not evince striking literary ability—the ability to write about running brooks and chirping birds, and sit on the front seat in English II.

The Scientific Club is a straggling bunch of co-eds with cases on the handsome Chem. prof, and a few pickled laboratory utensils to look on.

The college council is a sub-comatose scattering of the retired beauty and chivalry of the college, organized for the purpose of giving prominence to the hopelessly insignificant.

The man who says "I dare say" is usually the man who wouldn't dare say anything of a man bigger than he, were he mixed up in the fray. The same prof. will usually let Freshmen kid him.

A poor thing is a girl who laughs when a man is hurt in a foot ball game or hit with a base ball.

The Pan Hellenic wheel is a co-operative scheme to keep the stragglers fat and happy.

A sorority reception is a sort of a college reunion that looks like politics.

PHILISTINE HERO ROLL

Being Notes on Some College Notables

AFTER much deliberation and intense agonizing heart pangs, accompanied by threatening brain storms and a full conglomeration of esoterical cogitations the Philistine Hero Committee have awarded the following yellow ribbons:

MR. PENMAN.

The first (hero?) on the list is Penman. His has been a heroic career during his entire course so far. First he went out for foot ball—then he went out for basket ball. All the time he was out for frat. He made the latter. There was some question in the committee as to whether the ribbon ought not to be awarded to the bunch that took him—it looked to the committee as if the heroic work was on their part. At least Penman has "sticktuitiveness," which some people lack—then he's good hearted and any girl would envy the teeth behind that smile.

There is a class the committee have decided to put all by themselves. These are Rossiter, Ross, Weidler and Drum. The committee has designated the color of their ribbons as lavender and their medals as tin. Why do they deserve medals? Because they were brave enough to come into a Christian college and be real bad boys. Its awful the way they have acted. It is said on good authority that every man of them has smoked no less than twenty cubebs a month, and Rossiter was once caught looking into a cigar store window on Chestnut street. Its really scandalous the way they do carry on. None of them hesitate a minute to order claret ice at the soda fountain. Wondering what made them so brave the committee carefully investigated the history of each man, thinking they surely must have been awful wild before they came to college.

MR. ROSSITER.

It was found that Rossiter used to be a real live cadet at West Point until he became so reckless that he wouldn't go to the government Sunday school with the rest of the boys—and they do say he tried, just actually tried to be bad, as he had read in Nick Carter that cadets always were—in fact the committee learned that he tried so hard to be wild that the boys at the academy got tired of him and he came to Allegheny. Then he is such a funny fellow—almost humorous in fact. He was so funny once in Chapel that he provoked a burst of laughter—real hearty laughter, from several Phi Gams. Now this medal is awarded because we know that no one will deny that Rossiter is a real bad, wild, fast boy. He swore once in a basket ball game. His satellites are Marcey, Campbell and Croasman. But these latter aren't quite bad enough to deserve medals, but we do notice that they are trying to be real wild fellows, who come in late at night and act up a lot. Like their ideal and hero from Erie—Rossiter.

MR. DRUM.

Oh, Drum —? Well, he gets on the hero roll for having nerve enough, in this enlightened age and in this conservative community, to wear such an awful lay out of "rags." We use that word advisedly, too. No use to describe him. It is said that both the red headed woodpecker and the blue jay envy him his outfit.

MR. ROSS.

In our investigation we find that Ross lives in a small country town about forty miles from big New York City. His father works in a book shop and once took Robert into the city—it was on Dewey Day, and Ross, Jr., bought a lot of badges and sandwiches. It is said he ate as many as ten ham sandwiches on that great occasion and while his father was asking directions from a policeman the young scamp bought a box of cigarettes and a bottle of red pop from an Italian. He took these back to the country town and from that time we date his reckless living. Since he has struck Allegheny, he has been an ardent imitator and admirer of Rossiter. Ross affects, among other things, a tuxedo (five years out of date) which his father once wore, and a riding suit that used to belong to a circus girl.

MR. WEIDLER.

Now Weidler, in his attempt to be bad, has followed very closely Ross's methods. He is only from Oil City and naturally has a feeling of awe for any man who was once in New York. This real live sport spends his summers at Chautauqua and it has been this that effected his downfall, for while there he got into the habit of drinking coco cola and now he simply cannot stop. He takes three glasses every week now and he was one day detected smelling Stewart's bottle of track goo, made of witch hazel and arnica.

MR. PLANNETTE.

The chief bandit of the lady's men around college. Has recorded a long and successful political career, and attained prominence through his secession act in 1906. One of the variety that Dr. Hamnett once referred to in speaking of the miracles Allegheny has wrought.

MISTER MEAD.

We don't know where he came from, but from his actions we judge that he must have dropped off a vegetable wagon in early springtime, for he's both fresh and green. We should like to designate his actions and general demeanor as rotten, but we can't quite reconcile that term with his extreme freshness.

Cross Section of Dr. Smith's Heart.

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow

*A Farce—In one Depredation.
Place—Clockrun Hall, Aldeny College.*

President Crawfish.—“Let us be opened with prayer. Dr. Muchfumble will lead us.”

THE RISE OF THE DUTCH REPUBLIC

(Muchfumble prays. All remain silent for several minutes. Crawfish grows uneasy and shuffles his feet noisily, muttering “Reprehensible.”)

(Lookgood murmurs with a sententious winged intonation) “He leads us by paths that we know not.”

(Professor Mit falls asleep, and mumbles loudly) “Oh Lord, our heavenly father.”

(Buttin) “Shutup—Ernie, old horse, he can't last much longer. Here have some of the weed.”

(Mit helps himself under the table.)

(Muchfumble stops, and breathes stertorously for several minutes.)

(Crawfish) “Lemuel Bowne! ‘—— the boy, he’s asleep again.’ ”

(Bowne sleepily) “I dreamed one of my cows, that is hens, laid a golden egg and I ah, ah, I pawned the fruit at the book store and was about to give the money to the college.”

(Mit, sleeping again) “Oh Lord, our heavenly father.”

(Crawfish) “That’s right Lemuel. You shall come into your reward some day.”

(Bowne aside, dubiously) “I don’t believe him.”

(Sloburn, sleepily,) “Amen.”

(Crawfish) “What do you mean?”

(Sloburn) “If the members of the church so desire.”

(Ding) “Ah, go on.”

(Sloburn) "Not at all, not at all. (Aside) Did you observe my strategy?"

(Crawfish) "What have we before us to-day, Lemuel."

(Bowne) "These bills, sir."

(Crawfish) "Lay them on the table."

Bowne does so, placing a number of dangerous looking documents before Crawfish. (Crawfish reddens and snorts apopleptically.)

"Put 'em out. I am talking in figures."

(Bowne, tremulously,) Ah, these figures talk too. They have been due two years. Now it is unjust, unnecessary and un—"

(Crawfish) "Lemuel!"

(Bowne, diving under the table, and destroying the bills.) "Lemme be."

(Yellot, pacifically,) "We have not expelled a student all year."

(President Crawfish) That reminds me. R. P. Andrews was not singing in chapel the other day."

(Miss Wonderland, hastily,) "O, that's all right."

(Chorus) "Expel him, fire him."
(Lookgood) "Eliminate him."
(President Crawfish) "No! ! ! !"
(Silence.)

(Yellot) "Why not?"

(P. C.) "He's a good student."

(Moss) "Here are his marks."

(Reads) 25, 28, 30, 31.

(P. C. reddens) "Yes, but he is a good Christian young man."

(Bowne, innocently,) "And his father is a millionaire, too."

(P. C., hurriedly,) "Let us proceed. Gentlemen of the censorship committee, (Yellot, Lookgood and Mt. Union look startled) how much of th Kaldron did you sacrifice in my absence?"

(Lookgood) "We protected you, sir."

(Hiskull, aside,) "I dare say."

(Yellot) "Of course, we were appointed to act, and we had to cut out something."

(P. C.) "Certainly, certainly. What else have we?"

(The Dean) "There are too many of what you Americans call 'cases' in college. It is really distressing. The young ladies have too many privileges."

(P. C.) "Doubtless, who are the worst offenders?"

(Dean) "Well, there isn't much to chose between Mr. Colter and Mr. Miller. Mr. Parrot Miller, you know, I think they call him. Then Mr. Perry and Mr. Burt come next.

They are so distressingly frequent, don't you know. Then there's Sammy--Mr. Maxwell, and Mr. Broadstork—Oh dear, what shall I do—it is dreadful."

(Hiskull) "I dare say."

(Miss Wonderland, caustically) "Do you?"

(P. C.) "Now, girls!"

(Dr. Bed) "Biological insanity; treatment, isolation, training—"

(P. C.) "We have long confronted just this difficulty. We must have a credential rule. Twelve respectable citizens must furnish certificate of character for a young man before he will be permitted to consort with our young women. Such measures are in keeping with modern ideas. If there is nothing else—"

(Prof. Lookgood) "The students in my classes have a clearly defined, finished, developed habit of refusing me attention—"

(P. C.) "Dry up, Lookgood. With Miss Wonderland you will draw up the credential rule. That's all."

(All leave except Lookgood and Miss Wonderland.)

(Lookgood, blowing absent-mindedly at electric bulb, "Out, out, brief candle.")

(CURTAIN.)

The Doggerel Kennels

A tall young lady named Fitch,
 Heard a loud snoring at which
 She took off her hat
 And found that her rat*
 Had fallen asleep at the *switch.
 *Not a vegetable.

When I'm oppressed and campused
 And my lot is sad and drear,
 Instead of sympathy and love
 My Hefty* drops no tear.
 He quickly hunts him up a girl
 And falls in love forthwith,
 Alas I fear my Hefty's heart
 Is nothing but a seive.
 —From Miss Murray's Notebook.

*Ba-a-a.

Craig used to wear a smile abroad,
 But now around the town,
 He goes so sort of mournful like,*
 For Maggie's turned him down.
 *"He sez that ain't so."

Miss Mill's a demure little maid,
 Ever so solemn and staid,
 If you want to rouse her
 Make mention of Houser,
 And her cheeks 'el Dye just a shade.

A certain gay prof. named Guy
Was aught but distressingly shy,
And all of his classes
Are filled up with lasses,
I wonder, can you tell me why?

A lanky long legged Tom
Loved a petite little Dust,
When Dust whispered low,
*Quoth Tom: "By Grab I must."

*Refer to Colter for Snowdrift Episode.

There was a young lady named Bash,
Kind hearted, resourceful and rash,
In figure quite slight,
In mind very bright,
Pratt on her worked a mash.

A popular belle named Rist,
Had many a man on her list,
She bewitchingly smiled,
And finally beguiled
Us not to rhyme her "little fist."

Skellie was a lady's lad,
Who often strolled with Miss McLean,
And swears a case he never had,
But swears and swears in vain.

Neath the shading parasol
Boyd drew his Caroline,
Forgot, alas, the game of ball,
While all around the *son did shine.

*That's him.

A girl of girls, one most rare,
Neat of figure and fair of hair,
Yea tresses as fair as the Angels of Old,
In distant ages by Gregory told,
Phi Psi, Phi Gams, Phi Delts, all would have her
You've guessed her name, it's little Miss Lauffer.

Greendale, Campus, every place,
Fuzzy Gahan and Louise Chase;
Sunday and weekday, quarry and ravine,
Chase'n Gahan they're always seen.

Her name was Bess, his was Tad,
A lonely lass, a lonely lad,
Each the other hastes to meet
Down along their evening beat.

*I've been visitin' several days
Down to Oil City, where sister Mary stays,
I've got the hives an' a new straw hat,
And I'm comin' back to college, where my beau lives at.

*Apologies to the following persons: James Whitcomb
Riley, Samuel LaVerne Maxwell, Miss Mary Gertrude Nichols.

Howard Marcey his love doth stake
At the shrine of fair Matilda Drake;
Matilda's soul is full content,
Shrined in his environment.
—With apologies to Henry Wadsworth Cupid.

A Phi Delt fusser named Harris
Was heard to exclaim "Oh Shaw,
Me it don't embarrass,"
This Harvest of the Straw."
—With apologies to "Bringing In the Sheaves."

A winsome girl, with ruffles fluffy,
Was the victim of an unscrupulous sharper,
This mermaid's name was Duffy,
The lobster's name was Harper.

We thought her sun long had set
Neath the clouds of vain regret,
Across the heavens came her lot,
In the person of handsome Cot.

Here the doggerel's tale has wagged,
Here our poet's fancy lagged.*

*THE TALE END.

Three Weeks

I.

W. Gang Fixel

We hate to include "Bill," but we feel that it must be done. The very personification of ambition, but it's too self centered. Has not realized the essential principle that to find one's life one must first lose it. We like "Bill" and we rejoice at the thought of his possibilities, but hate to see a man who was cut out for a pilot on the main directing the maneuvers of a tub in a little water puddle. Be big, "Bill." Get a vision.

II.

R. Empty Miller

Known as "Polly" for obvious reasons, once came to Meadville with Benny, his big brother, and noting the need of broad minded, able men, stayed in college, with a missionary spirit in his heart. A peevish, sickly youth, who ought to be in short pants. If highly magnified, might make one feel that he is sarcastic sometimes. Is fond of standing off and sneering at his betters, and but for this quality would make an excellent Pullman conductor. Not a bad sort if he could get a divorce from himself. Trots around with Miss Edith so much that she has at times been taken for his governess. Still takes paregoric and other manly stimulants.

III.

R. Renaissance Russel

A man of great promise. Has the genius of a Bunyan and the executive ability of a Hans Mulfinger. Famous for his courageous stand against the faculty last year. Promoted to popularity in college circles by Blick, but has saving qualities that make us ashamed to class him with Polly. Could do things if he once got started, and has won his spurs under this list because of the things he has left undone. Has a voice like a crow choked with a corn cob, and a droll humor that made him the big end of the Minstrel show. Fond of hunting and will spend his last days in a bungalow on the River Nile humming "Mona" lines and whistling Menagerie snatches at Blick.

Another Three Weeks

I.

W. Lactated Morgan

Likes to put himself on a chair and stand off in wondering admiration, repeating all the while with the most approved Thoburn Club intonation, "What hath God wrought." Had been accustomed to being chief political nabob in the Epworth League somewhere in a little town a few miles out of Pittsburgh and fancies that this fact alone should make him a leader. Sometimes is called "Bishop" and looks flattered whenever the term is applied.

II.

W. Ambulance Cappeau

"Bill" is a sort of a gift edition of "Polly" Miller. Unlike "Polly," however, he can once in a while open up for a manly, healthy smile. The last year in one or two unguarded moments he has revealed the fact that he has a spark of something that might be developed into a real brain. Has had a great tendency to self-study, and naturally became a cynic. A few ounces of common sense would cure his cynicism. Is long on engineering political deals and writing editorials concerning honor.

III.

T. Aereated Colter

Tom is a brother of the original lemon seed. Comes from one of the "best families" in town, and among the old town folk it is common talk that the line has played out in Tom. He is the supplement to Miss Hayward. In his most serious moments he is really amusing. By his mixing in the "best society" he has developed a line of talk like a sewing circle and a laugh like a bicycle pump. In short, Tom is one of those handy fellows providentially scattered about. If you ever get discouraged or sore on yourself take a little look at Tom and you will instinctively offer up a little prayer of thanks. And the sad part of the whole affair is that Tom has the "goods" in him, but has done too much "empty living."

The Devils

Run Angels run,
 Every night there's something done,
 All the board of discipline,
 Lie awake and hear the din.

Darling Alice has a clue,
 (Miss) Emma fumes and fusses too;
 Very hard to find a trace,
 Innocence on every face;
 Late at night they have their spreads,
 Seize their victims from their beds.

MINUTES OF THE LAST BUSINESS MEETING—3:30 A. M.

The imps, assembled from their resting places, were called to council by the Giant Gnome Nichols.

"Ye imps and gnomes, to your chief give ear! There has come to my ear black scandal. A sylph of the upper world, Bess Rist, has broken the chains by which we bound her and this night has joined the student volunteers."

Greene Spirit. "Pass the onions."

Giant Gnome. Order, ye imps, deadly work must be done this night."

Hatch Spirit. "An application came to me from the upper world from one, Mable Beatty, seeking admission into our mystic circle. Her scandals are good and home made."

McLean Spirit. "We could not place our colors, black and blue, on her head without incurring the wrath of the sylphs protecting her golden halo, therefore, I blackball her."

Giant Gnome. "Disperse ye imps and silently repeat aloud our motto, 'Tempus Fugit.' I am getting scared. I hear noises from the upper world. Don't stub your toe on the dead leaves and wake up the Thoburn Club. Hustle up, kids! You are adjourned."

Dear Camden:—

You have asked me to express my opinion of the length of the lessons you assign, but I find that I will have to send my opinion by freight as it is impossible for me to express it, for the rules of the express companies do not permit of the transportation of explosives or highly inflammable articles as express matter.

Good Fellowship

"The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands,
Their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."

Dream

Because her eyes were far too deep,
And holy for a laugh to leap,
Across the brink where sorrow tried
To drown within the amber tide;
Because the looks, whose ripples kissed,
The trembling lids through tender mist,
Were dazzled with a radiant gleam—
Because of this I call her "Dream."

Because the roses growing wild,
About her features when she smiled
Were ever dewed with tears that fell
With tenderness ineffable;
Because her lips might spill a kiss
That, dripping in a world like this,
Would tincture death's myrrh-bitter stream
To sweetness—so I called her "Dream."

Because I could not understand
The magic touches of a hand,
That seemed, beneath her strange control,
To smooth the plumage of the soul
And calm it, till, with folded wings,
It half forgot its flutterings,
And, nestled in her palm, did seem
To trill a song that called her "Dream."

Because I saw her, in a sleep
As dark and desolate and deep
And fleeting as the taunting night
That flings a vision of delight
To some lone martyr as he lies
In slumber ere the day he dies—
Because she vanished like a gleam
Of glory, do I call her "Dream."

—JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

College Friendship

The path by which we twain did go,
Which led by tracts that pleased us well,
Thro' four sweet years arose and fell,
From flower to flower, from snow to snow;

And we with singing cheered the way,
And crown'd with all the season lent,
From April on to April went,
And glad at heart from May to May.

—TENNYSON.

To those who passed me on the highway and gave greeting, and whom I shall never meet again; to the possible friends who came my way and whose eyes lingered as they fell on mine—may they ever be eager with youth and strong with friendship; may they never miss a welcome nor want a comrade.

—ANNA STRUNSKY.

There's a vision in the guise
Of midsummer, where the Past
Like a weary beggar lies
In the shadow Time has cast;
And as blends the bloom of trees
With the drowsy hum of bees,
Fragrant thoughts and summers blend,
Tom Van Arden, my old friend.

—RILEY.

O talk not to me of a name great in story,
The days of our youth are the days of our glory,
And the myrtle and ivy of sweet two and twenty,
Are worth all your laurels, though ever so plenty.

—LORD BYRON.

If I Were King

If I were king—ah, love, if I were king,
What tributary nations would I bring
To stoop before your sceptre and to swear
Allegiance to your lips and eyes and hair.
Beneath your feet what treasures would I fling,
The stars would be your pearls upon a string,
The world a ruby for your finger ring,
And you should have the sun and moon to wear
If I were king.

Lest these wild dreams and wilder words take wing,
Deep in the woods I hear a shepherd sing
A simple ballad to a sylvan air,
Of love that ever finds your face more fair,
I could not give you any godlier thing
If I were king. —J. H. McCARTHY.

Here's to the woman who has a smile for every joy, a

'Twixt Man and Man

I.

My Dear Mrs. Kenneth:

This goes to you to-night with a box of arbutus blossoms—the flowers you told me you loved best. As your flowers, I thought of you as I searched the woods for them. You will not refuse them a welcome. Let them tell you, if they can,—if anything can,—of my reverence for you. Their fragrance is but faintly typical of the sweetness your life has breathed upon mine. In the presence of these pure blossoms—in your presence I tremble as I allude to the last dance on the lawn.

Perhaps you will forgive me the exquisite joy of that last half hour in the moonlight, when I tell you that since yesterday, when I learned the truth my hair is almost white. You were so young, you had come all the way from Washington. I did not catch your name, and then when you were chosen maid of honor I felt sure. I am a worldly fellow, Mrs. Kenneth, but I think, as I sit writing here alone to-night, that in that other world where souls are unveiled, you will not blush to have inspired the worship of a worldly fellow's heart—the worship my heart will always give you.

Faithfully yours,

JOHN THURSTON.

March 8, 1902. Calumet Club, New York.

II.

My Dear Mr. Thurston:

Your box of arbutus came last Sunday morning. Dolly, my wife, died the night before. When I read your letter, I laid the blossoms in her hands. I, too, am a worldly man. I had grown used, I fear, to the precious things of life. I cannot put a finger on my regrets—I never knowingly hurt her, but as your letter lies before me now, it comes to me with bitter pain that I did not always worship on my knees.

In that world where souls are unveiled, Dolly sees clearly now, and it may be that she knows you loved her best. God forgive me. She was worth the homage of both our lives. Her death leaves me quite alone. When you are in Washington you can find me at the University Club.

Yours truly,

March 12, 1902.

RICHARD KENNETH,
University Club, Washington.

—GOOD FELLOWSHIP.

The Light of Other Days

Oft' in the stilly night
Ere slumber's chain has bound me,
Fond memory brings the light
Of other days around me:
The smiles, the tears
Of boyhood's years,
The words of love then spoken;
The eyes that shone,
Now dimmed and gone,
The cheerful hearts now broken!
Thus in the stilly night
Ere slumber's chain has bound me
Sad memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

When I remember all
The friends so link'd together
I've seen around me fall
Like leaves in wintry weather,
I feel like one
Who treads alone
Some banquet hall deserted,
Whose lights are fled,
Whose garlands dead,
And all but me departed!
Thus in the stilly night
Ere slumber's chain has bound me,
Sad memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

—THOMAS MOORE.

Where Shall I Buy My Piano?

If You have Decided to Perchase a Piano — Now or Later—It is Well to Bear in Mind these facts:

1. You must have confidence in the firm that you deal with. The average man or woman is not versed in the relative merits of the various makes of instruments, and relies, in a large measure, on the representations of the dealer. That dealer should merit your confidence. The House of Bates during its 28 years of business has attained a record for honesty, square dealing, liberality, low price and easy terms that cannot possibly be duplicated by any house now existing in Meadville. By means of the celebrated we have bullded a foundation of prestige about the name "Bates" that stands for all that is laudable in the conduct of a piano business.

BATES PLAN

2. Our line of instruments, including the STEINWAY, BRIGGS, MASON & HAMLIN, POOLE, VOSE, REGENT, LAFARGUE, and many others, including the rollable Hardman and Herrington Autotone (player-piano), is positively not to be dduplicated anywhere west of New York.

3. Every instrument on our floor is marked in plain figures. These figures—in every instance—represent just the amount that it will take to purchase that instrument. We do not begin by asking $500 and then drop to $350. It saves time to mark the rock bottom price where you can see it at the beginning. In addition, it assures you a square deal.

Come in and look at our line. Let us explain the BATES PLAN to you. Compare our price, our instruments, our terms with any piano store in this or any other city. That's all we ask.

"LETS TALK IT OVER."

Model '07 Self-Loading Rifle, .351 Caliber, High-Power

As its name indicates, this rifle reloads itself, the recoil of the exploded cartridge doing the work. This places the complete control of the rifle under the trigger finger, which permits rapid shooting with great ease and accuracy. The .351 Caliber High-Power cartridge, which this rifle handles, has tremendous killing power, making it heavy enough for the largest game.

The History of this Big Store in a Few Lines.

It started in 1849—as a trimming store.

It started in one room—on Market Street.

It was not very long until Dry Goods were added, and then it was only a natural step to introduce departments of Ready-made Clothing, and when that was done branches began to form and spread out in all directions, until today this store has pretty much everything that the person requires, as well as the home.

Of course it was necessary for the building to expand and a few years back the present large store was erected which contains seven acres of selling space, not enough now, by long odds, so in the near future an addition will be built which will give us selling space of twelve acres.

Every little while we publish some pretty good literature, besides our catalog which comes out twice a year. We would like to have your name and address so we can send you some of the good stuff.

We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.
