FAST GAME WITH LOTS OF GOAL SHOOTING — MANY SENSATIONAL FEATURES.

On Friday night Allegheny defeated Westminster in a game that has never been equaled on the local floor for goal shooting and sensational playing. Allegheny went into the game with a crippled team, but came off the floor with streaming colors. The Westminster team gave us a good game and kept our men on the go from start to finish. Elliott and Lampe were inclined to mix up during the latter part of the game, but no serious damage was done by either man. Haas played guard for Allegheny for the first time this year and did remarkably well. The goal throwing of Comfort was phenomenal during the whole game, but the last two goals of the game, by Lampe, were of such a sensational order that the crowd was on its feet from that time on till the close of the game. Turner did fine work and landed five goals in the net. For Westminster Elliott did remarkable work. He stands six feet five in his stockings and had little trouble in securing five baskets. His exceptional height gave Westminster a decided advantage on the center plays, and it was on these occasions that they secured most of their goals.

The official work of Charley Jones, of the Sharpsburg Y. M. C. A., was of the highest order. His decisions were above question and added greatly to the pleasure of the spectators.

The game started off with a basket by Comfort. For a few minutes the teams scored about alike, but early in the half Allegheny took the lead and held it for the rest of the game. The score at the end of the first half was 21 to 13 in Allegheny's favor. Neither team changed men for the second half. Allegheny started off with a rush and scored freely during the entire half. Towards the end of the game, Lampe secured a basket from about twenty feet back of center, and within a minute got one from half way up the field on the side line. The score for the half was 18 to 6, making the total score 39 to 19.

Both teams played straight basketball and there was little quibbling or wrangling. The Westminster men are gentlemen and play the game in a business-like manner that deserves commendation.

Line-up and summary:
Comfort F. Deevers
Turner F. Moore
Lampe C. Elliott
Jackson G. Lambie
Haas G. Stewart
Field goals—Comfort 6, Turner 5, Lampe 4, Jackson 2, Elliott 5, Deevers 2, Moore 1, Lambie 1. Foul goals—Lampe 4, Jackson 1, Lambie 1, Deevers 1, Moore 1. Umpire and referee—Jones, of Sharpsburg.

Another Story

CHAMPIONSHIP LOST — WESTMINSTER WINS IN LISTLESS GAME—BRYAN AND BOUQUETS.

On Saturday night Allegheny lost all claim to the much-coveted championship of the Inter-collegiate League of Western Pennsylvania, by sustaining defeat at the hands of the Westminster five. As to how it happened, nobody can tell. The way in which Allegheny had run over Westminster on Friday night led everybody to think that the game would result in an easy victory for the home team, but all such predictions were shattered before the second half was over. From the time that Col. Bryan tossed the ball up, at the beginning of the second half, the prospects of Allegheny's winning the game became very doubtful. Allegheny went into the game with a crippled team, but it is probable that over-confidence played a strong part in the defeat. Mellon was in the first half, but was compelled to retire on account of the injuries received in the Geneva game. Williams was also out on account of a broken tendon in the shoulder, sustained in the same contest. Lampe and Comfort were both in poor condition, but stayed with the game to the finish. On the whole Allegheny played poor basketball. The team got a good lead in the first half, but was unable to hold it, and Westminster tied the score before the end of the half. The score for the first half was 9 to 9.

During the intermission the building was thrown into excitement by the arrival of Col. William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Bryan tossed the ball up at the beginning of the half, and, from the outcome, must have been a mascot for Westminster. Before leaving, he made a short speech, complimenting the college on its work, and the quality of the men it sends out, William McKinley especially.

The game was exceptionally listless for a contest upon which so much depended. Only in the last half, when the game was very close, with Westminster in the lead, did the crowd seem to enter into the contest with any kind of spirit. Allegheny made a great effort to win during the last few minutes but had no luck in shooting and was unable to overcome Westminster's lead. Elliott and Lambie did the best work for Westminster and were instrumental to a great degree in the victory of their team, while Comfort and Jackson did the star work for Allegheny. Turner and Lampe were called out on the floor to receive bouquets sent by admirers.

Line-up and score:
Turner F. Moore

Jackson G. Lambie
Summary: Field goals—Elliott 4, Deevers 2, Aiken 1, Lambie 1, Lampe 3, Comfort 1, Mellon 1. Foul goals—Lambie 5, Lampe 5. Umpire and referee, Jones.

"SHOOT THOMPSON" HAS SHOT.

In connection with playing off the tie between Allegheny and Westminster, Thompson, of Geneva, has distinguished himself in a highly creditable manner. He was one of the officials of the tie game, and had no right to decide what the score actually was, when the scorers found themselves at variance. The matter was finally settled as a tie, this result being accepted by both teams. On Friday, before the arrival of the Westminster team, Thompson sent a telegram to its manager and another to Allegheny's manager, notifying both that he had decided that the tie game was a victory for Westminster. This action of Thompson's, following the dirty work at the Geneva game last Monday evening, has put Thompson in probably the worst odor that any college player ever stood in here, and it would not be surprising if Allegheny should cut Geneva off her list in the future in all branches of athletics. In sharp contrast is the prompt answer of Westminster's manager when asked Friday, after his receipt of Thompson's telegram, what he proposed to do concerning the playing off of the tie. "We'll play the game" he said. Westminster also has been the object of Geneva's dirty work this season. Thompson's object in sending the telegrams was doubtless to break up the arrangement for the Saturday evening game. — Morning Star.

Dr. Crawford Is Coming

WILL BE HERE THIS WEEK—RECEPTION TO BE HELD.

Our President, who has been taking a well-earned vacation in Europe, will arrive home this week. His steamer is due in New York to-day (Tuesday) but there is a possibility that the vessel will be delayed. However, when it does arrive, we will soon know about it and will act accordingly. The students will meet him at the train when he arrives in Meadville, which will probably be on Thursday. The time of his arrival will be announced later and the matter of college exercises will not conflict with the celebration. Classes will be dismissed so that there will be no reason why every student should not be at the station to give Dr. Crawford a hearty welcome.

On the evening of his arrival, there will be a reception in the library for the faculty and students only.

Indoor Athletic Meet

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION CONSTITUTION—ALLEGHENY'S CLASSIFICATION IN RELAY RACE.

On Tuesday evening, March 17, an indoor athletic meet will be held in the college gymnasium. The meet is the first indoor one ever held at Allegheny, and bids fair to be a most interesting affair. Besides the athletic events, there will be an inter-class basketball game, and, with the Mandolin Club to furnish music during the intervals, the meet should receive enthusiastic patronage.

The object of this meet is to encourage track athletics and to give Alleghenians an idea of track competition. The records made next Tuesday evening will stand as the indoor records of the college. The men in the preliminary training are showing up well, and a very interesting contest may be assured. The events are as follows: Stand and running broad jump, running high jump from floor and spring-board, shot-put 12 pounds, to be followed by an inter-class basketball game. Following are the entries:

Standing broad jump—Mitchel, Hiltz, Googe, Wright, Lockwood, Chorpennig, Strickler, McCartney, Clark.
Running broad jump—Wright, Googe, Clark, Hiltz, Mitchel, Hastings.

Running high jump (floor)—Clark, Hastings, Strickler, Wright, McCartney, Hiltz, Chorpennig, Mitchel.
Running high (springboard)—Mitchel, Hiltz, Googe, Strickler, Wright, Clark, Hastings, McCartney.

12-pound shot-put—Lampe, Williams, Jackson, Lewis, McCartney, Lockwood, Hastings, Chorpennig, Comfort.

First place will give five points, second, three, and third, one.
An admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged, proceeds going for the benefit of track athletics.

The following amendment to the athletic association constitution will be submitted for the consideration of the members:

Article IX, Section 1.—Any man who has played five regular games of football, basketball, baseball, or has won five points in track athletics in competition with other colleges, or has been a representative on a winning relay team, shall be entitled to a block "A."

Section 2.—The manager of the football, basketball, baseball or track team shall be entitled to the block "A" of the team of which he is manager.

Section 3.—Those entitled to block "A's" shall not wear them until they have been awarded them.

Section 4.—The football "A" shall be old gold; the basketball, blue; the baseball, maroon; track athletics, white, all "A's" being 8-inch.

The Athletic Board sanctioned a meet to be held in Meadville in May or June between Westminster, Geneva and Allegheny. It will probably be held on the race track at the fair grounds. The date is not certain as yet, but will be near May 30.

Allegheny's classification in the relay race, to be held at Philadelphia in the spring, has been received. It is as follows: Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Xavier College, N. Y., Muhlenburg College, Pa.; St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia; Allegheny College. Each man of the team that wins first place receives a silver cup and a banner, second place winners receiving smaller cups. There will undoubtedly be a third prize. Allegheny will be out for the big cups.

Musical Clubs

A PROBABLE TRIP DURING THE EASTER HOLIDAYS.

The Glee and Mandolin Clubs are practicing hard in order to be in first class shape for the trip that will be made, in all probability, during the spring vacation.

Manager Kearney is hard at work arranging his trip, and now proposes to take the club first through the northern part of the State, working towards Pittsburg. From there the club will either go north through Ohio, finishing at Cleveland, or south to several of the West Virginia cities. Mr. Kearney will be glad to have the help of any member of the student body, the faculty or the alumni in arranging this trip. Anyone who can aid him in securing a date along the line proposed will confer a favor on the clubs if he will consult with Mr. Kearney about it.

The club will carry about twenty-five men and will give a first-class entertainment that will do more to advertise the college than can be done in any other way.

Eugene Heitler Lehman, of Pueblo, Col., Yale, 1902, has been given the first Cecil Rhodes scholarship awarded to an American student. He won the DeForest prize for oratory a year ago.

A Letter of Protest

CALLED FORTH BY THE GENEVA-ALLEGHENY GAME.

The following letter is self-explanatory. It is indicative of the sentiment which prevails among the student body, alumni, and friends of Allegheny:

Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.,
March 6, 1903.

To the Editor of The Campus:

Dear Sir:—I read, with indignation, in The Campus of this week, of the treatment which the basketball team had received at the hands of Geneva in the recent game at Beaver Falls.

It seems to me that the time has come for Allegheny to sever all athletic relations with a college where such an utter lack of sportsmanship is shown. With a series of victories against such college teams as Pennsylvania, Oberlin, Syracuse, Western Reserve and others, why should Allegheny submit to such ruffianism from a college of which nobody outside of Western Pennsylvania ever heard?

It would be much better to have a shorter schedule with well-known colleges and universities than to play a long series of games with teams which have not the most elementary idea of sportsmanship, and which resort to "rough-house" tactics when they find they are outclassed and cannot win in any other way. I hope the Athletic Board and the student body will give this matter careful consideration.

Entered at the Postoffice, Meadville, Pa., as Second-Class Matter.

The present week will record the return of our long-absent president, and we can assure him an enthusiastic welcome. The cares of the classroom have not driven him from our thoughts and the best wishes of the entire student body have ever been with him and his family during their stay across the waters. We doubt not that the doctor comes back filled with enthusiasm for "Old Allegheny," and that his administration will see yet greater prosperity than that which has marked his efforts in the past.

The basketball season is virtually at an end and several results have been brought into prominence. One is, that Allegheny in basketball prowess, is undoubtedly the equal of any college or university in the land. Team after team, champion after champion has gone down before her, and she stands practically at the head of the list. Next year Allegheny should be one of the greatest drawing cards in the country.

Another noticeable feature is the enthusiastic support of games. The patronage this year has been larger than ever, and a good round sum will be left in the treasury. Allegheny cannot forget that a large percentage of this is due to the townspeople. Their support has been unprecedented. They have stuck to us through thick and thin, and they are just as enthusiastic as we over our winning team. Their loyalty deserves highest commendation.

Again, the fairness, the impartiality of Allegheny crowds has been a praiseworthy feature. Visiting teams declare our spectators the "squarest" they have ever appeared before. Visiting players have never failed to receive cheers galore, their good plays have been applauded as enthusiastically as our own, and they have in every way received the highest possible respect.

Especially commendable has been the thoroughly sportsmanlike game put up by the home players. No one can say that our team ever "played for time," either to win a game or to keep the score down. If defeated, it was defeated while gamely fighting. Nor can anyone accuse Allegheny of winning games by rowdiness. Nothing but clean, straight-forward, scientific basketball has been tolerated, and Allegheny stands higher in the estimation of the athletic world for it. No teams have gone away from us declaring we were to foul to play with again. On the contrary, they have departed with keenest admiration for our gentlemanly, sportsmanlike conduct.

On the other hand, Allegheny has, for the most part, met with the same kind of treatment abroad as she has accorded at home. Unfortunately there is one exception. No names need be mentioned, but it is an open question as to the degree in which Allegheny can afford to submit to such treatment. Allegheny stands for clean athletics.

WHERE THE LIAR WINS.

When the liar is called up for an inconsistency in his reports he cheerfully produces the "sick" gag, and all objections are smothered. The "other fellow" tells the truth and goes away smarting from an acrid reprimand. Quite often the liar fails to go to church; but the slip he hands in has every blank space filled. Quite often the "other fellow" fails to go to church; but when the day of reckoning comes around his manhood forbids deceit and his report is woefully correct. As a result, there is a call to the office and his punishment is the limit; and the liar, from his seat of the scornful, can look down upon his fellow unfortunate and grandiloquently condole with him. The liar is "not prepared;" but the "sick," or "out of town" story makes everything right with the professors. The "other fellow" comes with the blunt truth, spurning all subterfuge; as a result he gains the disapproval of his instructor and is branded as a shirk, though he may be a more conscientious worker than the first man. The liar takes more than his allowance in chapel cuts; his ready wit soon invents satisfactory excuse. The other tells the facts as they are, expresses his regrets, and manfully stands to receive his punishment; his action is misinterpreted as defiant, and, it may be, because he won't lie when he tells the truth he is charged with lying. His punishment is the limit: the liar goes free. The consciousness that the liar is a liar, and that he himself is truthful does not lessen the feeling of injustice in his breast. The liar prospers, and the truthful one somehow feels that virtue is a fraud.

In this pessimistic harangue we would not endeavor to exalt the liar nor would we recommend his traits for universal adoption; but we do claim for the man who dares to be true in a crisis to all the good and nobility that is in his manhood, the right to correct interpretation of motive, respect for his honesty, and belief in his sincerity, and that these should be mitigating features in his favor.

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

In our present Congress are representatives of one hundred and thirteen colleges.

A department of Chinese language, history and literature has been established at Cumberland University.

The average cost of teaching each student at Cornell is $331.30. The average income from each student is about $100.

Cornell will be represented in the state oratorical contest by Miss McCord. Miss McCord's subject is "Martin Luther."

Col. Bryan, who recently lectured at Bucknell, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., was enthusiastically received by the students there.

The most important of Columbia's recent gifts is that of the Duc de Loubet, who has provided $100,000 as an endowment for a chair of archaeology. Similar endowments have been made in the Universities of Berlin and Paris.

Fred W. Atkinson, who for three years has been superintendent of public instruction in the Philippine Islands, will join the corps of instructors at the summer session of Columbia, and will give a course upon the Philippine Islands.

Among the names signed to the petition calling for an investigation in the Philippines which was recently introduced in the Senate by Senator Hoar, are those of 51 presidents of universities and colleges and about 400 professors.

President Eliot, in his annual report, says that Harvard University has no sympathy with any efforts to lower the standard of the degree of bachelor of arts or to substitute for it an inferior degree. He also says that Harvard has definitely determined to pursue the policy of requiring a preliminary degree for admission to its professional schools.

New arrangements have been made at Bryn Mawr to the effect that the degree of B. A. will not be given to any student who cannot translate at sight both French and German. Each senior during her last year at college must translate before a committee of the faculty, with sufficient ease to show that she has a good working knowledge of the two languages.

Lost or Stolen.

VALUABLE CURIO COLLECTION
TAKEN FROM PROMINENT SENIOR'S ROOM.

Last week one of our gallant seniors suffered a severe loss. A collection of hair-pins, acquired through six long years of college life, has disappeared and the owner is in the depths of despondency. The exact value of the collection is not known, but the loss is inestimable and irreparable. It was the only collection in this vicinity, and those who are qualified to judge have declared it the most complete in the world. This display of hair adornments was gracefully arranged with college colors and gaudy hair-ribbons, upon the wall of his room, and was indeed a most cosmic representation. There were hair-pins of common wire, of bone, ivory, imitation tortoise shell, real tortoise shell, vulcanized rubber, amber, aluminum, celluloid, rubber, gotten up in all sorts of styles—twisted and straight, embossed and plain, satin and dull finished, polished and bright finished, round and square, long and short, crimped and curved, side combs, back neck combs, loop top, "can't slip," "invisible," pompadour, horse-shoe shaped, and others of various descriptions.

They can be of little value to any but the collector, for to him they were the fruits of six happy years spent in a "co-ed" college. Each one bore to his responding heart its silent message of fond memories from the past, the tokens and memories of happy Lochinvar exploits in which our chivalric knight errant has gallantly figured. Each one was suggestive of fair faces graced with auburn curls, raven tresses, golden locks, tawny ringlets, hair curled, twisted, kinky, braided, banded or tousled.

Sometime during the past week some unprincipled knave entered the room of our senior and ruthlessly despoiled the collection. One pin only remains of the entire lot. As the Senior picked up the old battered hair-pin, reverently and tenderly, he began to grow meditative, and little by little he told its history:

"I well remember when I got this one," he said. "It was my first year in college, and I had called on her several times at the hall, and finally, one night, I plucked up courage enough to walk over with her from prayer-meeting. She was wearing a rose in her hair, I remember, and it kept brushing my face in a tantalizing fashion all the way over. Finally, as we stopped at the steps, I asked her for it, and she blushing fastened it to my lapel with this pin. That's her picture over there. And see, here's the rose. I pressed it and have been treasuring it ever since. And the hair-pin," he mused,—"I'm glad they left me this one."

And so it goes. Each had its history, each its memory, and now they are all gone.

As we have said, the real value appeals to none but the sympathetic heart of the collector, and we cannot understand the motive of the theft. It is like stealing another's diploma, name, honor or glory. We have often enviously admired the collection and stood in awe of the personage who could win such a string of trophies. The loss is severe enough to prostrate any one, and, coming at this time when a senior oration is to be constructed, it seems a heartless act to remove such a precious source of inspiration.

CHESS REVIVAL IN THE COLLEGE.

Something like a chess epidemic is spreading over the college, and its contagious influence has not yet expended itself. Local chess dealers declare they are selling more chessmen and boards than they have at any one time for years. Authorities on chess, manuals, etc., are in demand, and the supply bids fair to be exhausted. Boarding houses have fostered the craze, old chess-boards in fraternity houses have been dug up, the old timers are brushing up on points of the game, while any number of youngsters are becoming acquainted with it for the first time. They find it an excellent inspiration for the "trig" theorems and Greek "roots."

If enough good chess players can be found, there is a probability that Allegheny can secure admission to the Inter-collegiate Chess League.

A Plea for the Second Team

THE NECESSITY OF GAMES IS URGED.

The second basketball team wishes to play some games of their own, and why not? Just recently those supposed to be in authority opposed as best they could the game of the second team with Conneautville. Their reason was insufficient, being only that they feared the second team would be beaten. It seems self evident that a team that plays several hours a day, week after week, against the invincible first team should be able to hold its own against second-rate high school and normal school teams. It was proven by the score in the Conneautville game.

Again, the college is advertised really more in a practical way by the second team games in the near-by regions than by the first team games at a distance. Let the second team play at Jamestown, Dunkirk and Fredonia, N. Y.; Erie, Linesville, Edinboro and other similar towns, for these are the places from which Allegheny draws a considerable portion of her students and where the people rarely see a good game. Such a game as the Conneautville one will arouse a lasting enthusiasm for our college. Games in the locality mentioned will draw more students here than the first team games at other colleges, for in the former places they are witnessed by people not yet in college, while in the latter case they are witnessed by college students in the very location of the college and will draw practically no students.

It is due the second team the privilege of going out and winning glory for themselves. Day after day they have practiced faithfully and made the first team what it is. Ask the first team men if the second team can play ball. What did five lone men do a week ago? Will not such playing establish a favorable reputation for the college in the field covered by its patronage? Let the second team have more games. It deserves them.

GENEVA DEBATORS WIN FROM WESTMINSTER.

The annual inter-collegiate debate between Westminster and Geneva was held at Geneva College last week, Geneva winning the contest.

The question was: "Resolved, That the adoption of the fifteenth amendment to the constitution has been justified."

Westminster had the affirmative, with H. C. Hildebran and H. S. Bailey, and Geneva the negative, with A. W. Leach and J. C. Taylor on the floor. The judges, who gave Geneva the decision, were Rev. J. H. Prugh and Attorneys Lee and Swearingen, all of Pittsburg.

Of course. Can a rail fence?—New York World.

To be sure. And wouldn't a railroad tie? How about a crash suit?—Baltimore American.

First rate, but isn't the weather vane?—Philadelphia Telegram.

Rather. Was it a banana peel that made the night fall?—Chicago Times-Herald.

Don't know. But did you hear the barrel hoop, and do you suppose the tomato can?

The faculty of the University of Rochester has wisely adopted a policy in regard to the use of English by its students. Under the new regulations, anyone found deficient by any member of the faculty is obliged to take additional work in English until the deficiency is made good.

A table has been set apart in the library for the display of the various college newspapers and magazines received as exchanges by the Campus and Literary Monthly. Many interesting articles are found in these specimens of college journalism. Through these sheets we see reflected all phases of college life at various institutions east and west, hereby securing a broader and deeper insight into the college world. By comparison, too, we can easily see the merit of our own publications.

The planet Eros was rediscovered on the morning of Aug. 2 by Chas. J. Ling, with the twenty-inch refractor of the Chamberlin Observatory at University Park, Colorado. It was found pretty close to the place derived from a nephemeris computed by Miss Mary Clark Taylor. This bit of astronomical news is an indication of the thorough work done at Denver University not only in the observatory, but in all the departments.

Proctor—"Harvard doesn't honor all its distinguished guests at once does it?"

The Quill Club will meet this week. One game tied, one lost, one stolen. Did Bryan hoodoo the game for us?

But then, it was the thirteenth game!

Ethics papers to-day. Got your excuse thought up?

Miss Wright, of Union City, was a recent guest of Miss Burnham.

T. M. Morrison, '90, was a visitor at the Sig house on Saturday.

Dr. Knudson divides beauty into the natural and the supernatural.

Classical Club meets to-night. The principal paper will be by Miss Peck.

E. E. Soult, '99, was a visitor at the Phi Delta Theta house over Sunday.

Miss Langworthy was visited by her father, of Warren, O., over Sunday.

We suppose Bryan's college visit will add to the "good traditions" in future years.

Rev. George Squier, of Sheakleyville, visited his nephew, J. J. Squier, one day last week.

C. M. Hatch, '01, and Miss M. Blanche Beecher, '01, attended Friday evening's game.

Mr. Bayle, superintendent of the Erie county schools, was the guest of his son, Wm. Fargo Bayle, over Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Lockwood and Dr. and Mrs. Breed were guests of Mrs. Laffer and Miss Spalding, for dinner Sunday.

Monday evening, March 16, the Y. M. C. A. will install the officers for the coming year. There will be special music.

Experience is a dear school. Hasn't Allegheny learned that yet? Why not let last Monday mark the beginning of the end of Allegheny's getting the worst of it?

Mr. Grant Norris, '96, has recently been elected superintendent of public schools in Braddock, Pa., at a salary of $2,100. He was formerly connected with the public schools of Wilmerding, Pa.

After the game on Saturday night, both teams were entertained by the local management at the Phi Delta Theta house. An enjoyable lunch was served and all hatchets were buried till next year.

Walter S. Borland, '00, was at the Sig house last week and remained in town for the game on Friday night. To-day Mr. Borland departs for Baton Rouge, Louisiana, where he will coach the baseball team for the Louisiana State University.

The frontispiece of last week's Pittsburg Christian Advocate is a very good likeness of Rev. Mr. Samuel H. Nesbit, D. D., of the class of '47. A sketch of the doctor's life is to be found on pages four and five of the same issue. Subsequent to his graduation, he was admitted to the Pittsburg Conference and we learn that later he was president of Richmond College, Ohio. From 1860 to 1872 Dr. Nesbit was editor-in-chief of the Advocate.

Saturday's Epworth Herald on its first and second pages contains an excellent article entitled "A Modern Prophet of the Lord," by Rev. W. F. Oldman, D. D. The prophet is none other than our great and good Bishop Thoburn. The article is accompanied by an excellent cut of the bishop. It will inspire every student to read this article.

Prof. Dutton—"Knapp, the sides of a triangle are 5, 6, 7. What kind of triangle is it?"

Knapp—"It's no triangle at all. The sides wouldn't meet."

Prof. Dutton—"That's just where you're mistaken, Knapp. They'd meet too much. They need a chaperon."

Reason for His Act.

He was found in a lonely garret,
 Suspended, cold and dead.
 They found a note in his pocket,
 And this is what it read:
 "At the frat-house they're house-cleaning,
 And this is why I have died."
 Verdict of coroner's jury:
 "The poor man was justified."
