Allegheny Students Set $4,000 Goal In College Fund Drive Beginning Next Friday

by Bill Oehmler

The annual All-College Fund Drive will begin its climb toward a $4,000 goal on February 27. This year, by vote of the AUC, $3,000 of the money raised will be used to bring foreign students to Allegheny's campus, while any funds in excess of this amount will be contributed to the World Students Service Fund.

WSSF is an organization which supports democratic educational institutions in foreign countries. It was felt by the AUC that we as students in a free educational system should do our utmost to enable others to share our benefits.

Personal Solicitations Set

Three phases of activities will be included in this year's drive. Personal solicitations, chairmanned by Carol Darnell and Sandy Reitman, will begin on February 27 and run through March 8. Plans have been formulated to contact every student personally.

Special and group projects will begin simultaneously on March 5 and will be terminated on carnival night. According to chairman Doc Thoburn, the special projects committee is planning a few special surprises in addition to the annual auction, blue jean day, and student-faculty basketball game. Organizational projects, sponsored by fraternities, sororities, independent, and freshman groups, will present an array of activities ranging from a date bureau to a scrap drive. Also included will be a rummage sale, an early morning coffee and doughnut stand in Arter, a window cleaning crew, and a musical review. These and other activities will be coordinated by group projects co-chairmen Frankie Edwards and Al Pankopf. Publicity for the fund drive will be handled by Ann Willis.

Carnival March 14

The climax of the fund drive will be centered around the All-College Carnival on March 14 in Montgomery Gym. The carnival committee is headed by Bud Schorr.

Religion-In-Life Week Closes With Evening Communion Service

Religion-In-Life Week activities will conclude this evening with a communion service at 8:15 o'clock in Ford Chapel. Under the direction of college chaplain Dr. Herbert Picht, the service of Holy Communion will be open to all.

The Rev. Howard C. Emrick, of Elwood City, a resource leader during the week, will give the communion meditation during the service. The Rev. Donald E. Struchen, of Meadville, will also assist the chaplain. The Student Worship Committee, under the chairmanship of Al Wood, is in charge of preparations for the service.

Chief speaker for the week was Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, of Pittsburgh, an Allegheny trustee, who delivered four main addresses. Assistants to the bishop during the week, in addition to Mr. Emrick and Mr. Struchen, were Mrs. Struchen; Miss Harriet Faust, of Erie; Dr. J. Milton Skeath, of Lycoming College; and Rabbi Meyer Abramowitz, of Sharon. The Rev. Hugh Crawford, of the First Presbyterian Church in Meadville, and the Rev. Edward H. Steward, of the First Baptist Church, Meadville, substituted for the Rev. Delbert E. Jolley, who was unable to participate in the week's activities because of illness.

In addition to this evening's service, the week of religious emphasis has included discussion sessions with sororities, fraternities, independent groups and freshmen; addresses by Bishop Wicke; a panel of resource leaders; and a movie.

Set March 4 Deadline For Dropping Courses

Dr. Julian L. Ross, dean of instruction, has announced that all students planning to drop courses must do so no later than Wednesday, March 4. If a subject is dropped after this date, the student will receive a failing grade in the course.

Student Counseling Program Explained; Primary Purpose Is To Help Freshmen

by Dane Hannum

Last fall, The Campus announced the beginning of a new program of counseling to be carried on by students. This program has proven very successful in helping freshmen over the hurdles posed by first semester adjustments to college. Therefore, it seems a good time now to acquaint the student body more fully with the purpose and functions of the student counseling program.

The primary purpose of the program is to acquaint the freshmen with Allegheny and with the skills and values that are needed for successful living, both in college and after graduation. The counselor carries out this purpose through information, discussion and suggestion, and by guiding the daily development of constructive living on campus.

The job of the student counselor is to help freshmen adjust to college life academically, socially, and individually; to encourage their participation in the college community; and to promote democratic responsibilities which further individual adjustment and group spirit.

Living in a dormitory with freshmen, the student counselor serves as a link between the new student and the college. The counselor must therefore, be familiar with all of the services available to the individual and know how to refer the student to them. The counselor also serves on the college Personnel Staff and so becomes an official representative of Allegheny College, not only to the freshmen but to parents and to the public in general.

Pre-Medical Meeting Set Next Wednesday

Dr. Robert T. Hendricks, Meadville physician and surgeon, will discuss medical schools and pre-medical preparation at a meeting for all pre-medical students to be held Wednesday evening, February 25, at seven o'clock in Wilcox Hall.

First term grades, medical college admission tests for juniors, and G-course exemption tests will also be discussed, according to Mr. Philip M. Benjamin, chairman of the faculty Pre-Medical Advisory Committee.

All pre-medical students are expected to be present for this important meeting, Mr. Benjamin said.

Local Phi Bete Chapter Sponsors Address By Judge Florence Allen

Judge Florence E. Allen, the only woman member of any circuit court in the United States, will be at Allegheny on Wednesday, February 25, for a lecture and discussions with the students and faculty, under the sponsorship of the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. Her lecture entitled "The Basis of Understanding," will be at 8:15 p.m. in Ford Chapel.

Judge Allen will also participate in an informal discussion with Mr. Alton Kidd's class in Constitutional Law at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning, according to Dr. Lewis N. Pino, program chairman of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter. That afternoon there will be an informal tea, open to pre-law students, in Dr. Blair Hanson's apartment from 3 to 5 p.m.

Judge Allen is a member of the United States Court of Appeals for the sixth judicial circuit, which includes Ohio, Michigan, Tennessee and Kentucky. She is the most highly rated woman lawyer in the country and has been recommended frequently during both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations for Supreme Court appointments.

Junior Class To Hold Banquet February 28; Dr. Cavelti To Speak

A junior class banquet will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday, February 28, in Brooks Hall, according to Sue Williams and Clyde Francis, co-chairmen. The banquet will be paid for by the junior class dues. Invitations have been sent out and are to be returned to Brooks lobby or to the class representatives.

Dr. John E. Cavelti will be speaker for the dinner. Tom Gladden will act as master of ceremonies.

Following the banquet an informal get-together for all juniors will be held in the Pine Room.

Thoburn Named "Campus" Sports Editor; Five Others Also Receive Appointments

Six undergraduates have been appointed to the staff of The Campus, editor-in-chief Pat Riesenman announced early this week. Doc Thoburn has been named sports editor, Nancy Morrison has been appointed assistant circulation manager, and Joan Anderson, James Cooper, Mary Sceiford and Barbara Walck have been appointed to the copy desk.

Newly-appointed "Campus" staff members buckle down to work on the next issue. At the typewriters are Joan Anderson (left) and Barbara Walck, appointed to the Copy Desk . Thoburn replaces Jack Hill, who resigned after serving as sports editor since February, 1952. Hill will remain a member of the staff as advisory sports editor.

Thoburn, a junior majoring in music and English, has worked on the newspaper since fall of 1952. He is special projects chairman for this year's all-college fund drive. A two-year member of the Allegheny Singers, he is also director of a choir at the Saegerstown Methodist Church and participated in Playshop activities during his freshman year. He is a cadet second lieutenant in the college Air Force Reserves Officers Training Corps unit. He has represented his fraternity, Phi Gamma Delta, in intramural sports.

Miss Anderson is also a junior; her major field is elementary education. She is at present a junior adviser and a member of the Associated Women Students House Council. During her freshman year she was a member of Chapel Choir. She has been associated with The Campus since last fall.

Our Fifty Fossils

There is nothing quite so depressing as seeing grownups behave like children. And when some fifty girls refuse to eat with someone other than their five closest friends, we feel that they are behaving like children. They are saying, in effect: "If you won't play our way, we'll just pick up our dollies and go home."

This new eating arrangement in Brooks is something we've needed for a long time. It goes a long way towards breaking down the artificial barriers which have been erected purely for the sake of creating an equally artificial social caste system. We don't believe there is any logical defense for such a system, and we believe that the new eating arrangement is a sound healthy way of fostering friendship between members of the various classes, from freshman to seniors, and between members of the various sororities from the Alpha to the Omega.

No one is asked to form fast friendships with her dinner companions. You women (perhaps girls is a better term) choose your own room-mates, your own bridge-partners, and your own sorority sisters. Now you are asked to eat two meals—out of 21 served each week—with someone other than those very same room-mates, bridge-partners, and sorority sisters. This doesn't seem to us to be either a tyrannical or an illegitimate request. In fact, it seems quite justifiable and democratic.

Naturally we sympathize with the girl whose nervous and digestive systems are so delicately balanced that she cannot see any faces but the same five across the dinner table without developing ulcers and/or emotional disorders. We feel that such girls should be encouraged to form small padded-cell groups where they will be freed of all disturbing influences from the outside world. Such an arrangement could no doubt be carried on even after college at post-graduate institutions in Polk and Warren, Pa.

If, in spite of this prospect, these fifty forlorn, fussy, fastidious fossils persist in staying away from the dining hall on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, then all we can say is that there are more fashionable fools in Brooks than we ever dreamed.

Faculty Profile

When asked if he had any particular hobbies, Mr. Sherman L. Ricards replied that even if he did, he wouldn't have much time for them. Not only is he engrossed in his sociology courses at Allegheny, but he is working on his Ph.D. for the University of Pennsylvania.

Once in a while, he manages to see a football or basketball game, but the occasions aren't too numerous. In high school and college he was basketball manager and later the undergraduate manager of athletics. He is still greatly interested in all intramural sports.

Bridgeton, New Jersey, is Mr. Ricards' home town but he hasn't lived there since high school days. Since then, he has been to London, Paris and Frankfurt during his career in the Signal Corps and then to the University of Pennsylvania where he studied and later taught for five years.

Upon entering Penn, he majored in history and mathematics but soon became more interested in sociology since it "pertains more to the present, while history is only concerned with the past." Mr. Ricards, in his teaching here at Allegheny College, tries to give emphasis to sociology with historical aspects to make an equal balance.

Pins 'n Sins

Things are really progressing these days. Hardly any minor details like pinnings—we've got two marriages and a birth to report this week.

Congratulations first to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mason on the arrival of a new boarder in the person of a baby girl. Bob Sherman, take note for the class of 1974!

Best wishes—and apologies for our failure to report it last week—to Kathy Isaly and Ed McAlevy ('52), who were married some two weeks ago. Felicitations also to Claire Speelman and Jim Carlisle, both February graduates, who were married last Saturday in Heinz Chapel at Pitt.

Somewhat less conclusive, but equally romantic were two recent pinnings. Bill McCartney and Sue Gallatin were pinned, as were Pat Port and Bruce Hemer. Again, congratulations to all!

Seems as if winter just won't give way to spring weather, although it doesn't seem to bother either Val Hershberger or Pat Tanton. Last we saw, they were both thoroughly enjoying themselves sliding down the walk in front of the library. It looked like a lot of fun, and we would have joined them except that it seemed too dangerous.

Defiinition of the Week: Physics is the quantitative measurement of incomprehensible qualitatives.

Don't spread it around, but it's our opinion that C.F.E. refuses to sign his name to those feature stories in order to avoid being sued. We happen to know that he's stealing all of his stuff from old issues of "Calling All Girls." Pirate!

We thought we had all the recipes for drinks. The Alpha Gams are one ahead of us, though, with their own special undiluted grape juice. We rate that, one large Ugh!

Bob and Ray (on the radio) are plugging a new type cigarette. Filties! No tobacco, just one long filter. Guaranteed by Doctors to contain no harmful nicotine—just pure, unadulterated air! Ranks with the grape juice!

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those girls who refuse to eat in Brooks on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. As our male population decreases here at Allegheny it seems as though more and more girls are eating in Brooks, and as a result we seem to be getting out of work later and later.

The girls who have decided to shun Brooks two meals a week have made a great deal less work for us. After all, fifty girls amounts to about 200 plates and at least 200 pieces of silver.

Thanks again, girls, and don't let anyone try to tell you that what you're doing is the least bit childish. If you don't want to eat with someone outside of your own little clique, by all means boycott the meals.

Faculty Profile

Mr. William H. Cooper, assistant professor of economics, is somewhat of an individualist in many matters—food, transportation, religious outlook and politics.

In the first matter, he and his wife are both vegetarians. They adopted this practice during World War II when "people began acting like animals as they grabbed for ration stamps and hoarded meat."

Politically Mr. Cooper is an independent and decentralist, who doesn't believe in the authority of a small group over a larger.

He is very much interested in various world religions and has read considerably in the writings of Lao-Tse, a Toaist, and Hindu scripture. He is also an admirer of Ghandi. His position is that of a pacifist, and for four years he worked with the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper are quite pleased with their recently-acquired English bicycles. They have little use for a car and enjoy walking very much.

Mr. William H. Cooper

Photography and oil painting are the main hobbies of the Coopers. They enjoy entertaining and are particularly interested in foreign students; they have many acquaintances from India, Japan and European countries.

Mr. Cooper says he likes Allegheny because of the opportunities of exchanging ideas with students. "College students have more imagination and are freer in expressing their views on matters than those who are settled in permanent vocations," he said.

A Week Is A Week Is A Week

by C. F. E.

What with one thing and another, Twentieth Century life is becoming just a little too complex for comfort.

It would seem as though with environment pushing and shoving us from behind, and heredity pulling and tugging from afore, the least we could be certain of would be ourselves and the date. (We won't mention the time of day, because it might be Standard or Daylight, Eastern, Central, or even Greenwich mean. One never knows. Anyway, our watch runs a little slow on rainy days.)

The point is, though, that while we might be fairly certain of ourselves—H. A. Overstreet notwithstanding—we can't be too certain of the date. Oh, it's fairly easy to figure out what day it is; the problem is, what week it it? Horologically, there are 52 weeks in each year. In practice, it works out differently. Take this week, for example. (Don't try to squirm out of it! Any way you look at it, you've no choice in the matter.) As far as we can figure, this week is composed of seven days, each equally snowy. But these seven days make up—

1. Brotherhood Week.
2. Religion-in-Life Week.
3. Hell Week.
4. National Defense Week.
5. Boy Scout Week.

And we're positive that this is only a partial list. Doughnut-dunking Week comes in somewhere around this time of year—we're not sure when.

Actually, there is a tie-in between these various causes—contrived as it may be. Hell week purports to exist for the purpose of making "brothers" of the pledges. And Religion-in-Life Week exists for the purpose of bringing us a little closer to God and our fellow man, and a little farther from Hell.

As for our friends the Boy Scouts, they have such an imposing list of worthy aims—trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, etc.—that they can be connected with almost any deserving cause. And Defense Week is necessary, presumably to protect us from anybody who's got any ideas of taking away our right to celebrate five weeks in seven days.

The only consolation in the whole affair lies in the fact that by the year 2000, at least 10 or 20 new "weeks" will be added to these very same seven days. Just think: Planethood Week, Science-In-Life Week, Galaxy Defense Week . . . . . what a mess!

Woodcuts and Drawings By Antonio Frasconi On Display In Library

An exhibit of woodcuts and drawings by Antonio Frasconi is now on display in the Octagon Room of Reis Library and will remain there through March 7, according to Mr. Carl Heeschen, of the art department.

Frasconi, born in Uruguay of Italian parents in 1919, came to New York in 1945 as the recipient of a scholarship to the Art Students League. His first one-man show in this country was held at the Brooklyn Museum in 1946.

The Princeton Print Club recently chose Frasconi's head of Dr. Albert Einstein as their Print-of-the-Year. The Print Club of Cleveland has selected his fable, "The Dog and the Crocodile", as their Presentation Print for 1952. Next fall the Cleveland Museum of Art will hold a comprehensive exhibition of Frasconi's work.

"'Monterey Fisherman," another woodcut from the current show, has received awards from both the New York Society of Graphic Art and the Print Club of Philadelphia.

A recent innovation by Fransconi in wood block prints is replacing conventional flat linear woodcut design with receding planes, achieving more notable perspective. An example of this is the large triptych, "Santa Barbara."

Frasconi's exhibitions have been displayed throughout the United States. His primary goal is described as being "to widen the general scope of the field of the graphic arts."

The art department is also sponsoring an exhibit on "Creative Photography", twelve panels lent by the Museum of Modern Art, which is now on display in the College Union. This display will remain in the small dining room of the Union until February 28.

It was also announced that Mr. Heeschen and three students, Ann Willis, Paul Gadigian and Corinne Whetzel, are represented at the Black and White Show of the Erie Public Museum.

"Pinafore" To Be Given By Music And Drama Departments March 4-7

The music department, in cooperation with the drama department, will present Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore" in the Playshop, Wednesday through Saturday, March 4 through 7.

Dr. Herbert Neurath is musical director, with Mr. William Walton and Mr. W. S. Wright North serving as dramatic director and choral director, respectively. Miss Valeta Herschberger will direct the choreography.

The pit below the Playshop stage has been enlarged to accomodate the Allegheny Sinfonietta which will furnish the orchestral accompaniment, conducted by Dr. Neurath.

Students may reserve seats by presenting their Playshop coupon or their Activities Ticket at the Playshop Box Office.

Tankers Beat Westminster, Lose To Slippery Rock; White Sets Record

Slippery Rock edged out the Allegheny finmen in the closest of meets at the Rockets' pool last Tuesday afternoon. The final score was 44-40 and was decided by the Rockets' victory in the final relay. The Gators' loss was due to a lack of second and third places, as they took six individual firsts against Slippery Rock's two individual and two relay firsts.

White Top Point-Getter

The three leading point-getters were all Hilltoppers. Freshman Carter White led the scoring with

Carter White

13 points, followed closely by captain John Muir and freshman Britt Poulson with 10 points apiece.

Muir Sets Record

The only record made during the contest occurred when John Muir set a new varsity record of 1.22.0 in capturing the 120-yard individual medley.

Slippery Rock's signal success took place as they won the 300-yard medley relay by less than one foot over the team of backstroker Al Case, breaststroker John Ertle, and freestyler Bruce Perry in 3:30.0.

Carter White began the succession of Allegheny firsts by taking the 22-yard freestyle in 2:28.0, with Frank Brand coming in third. Britt Poulson led the way in the 60-yard freestyle winning in :32.5 ahead of Dick Fisher in third place. After Muir took the 120-yard individual medley, the Rockets dived and swam to their two individual-event first places, as Logue won the fancy diving ahead of Hilltopper Dick Rodgers in second place, and Peters won the 100-yard freestyle leading Gator Carter White to the tape.

Lose in 400-yard Freestyle

The Hansonmen took over again as Captain John Muir captured the 200-yard backstroke in 2:42.0 and Britt Poulson the 200-yard backstroke in 2:49.0. John Ertle took a third in the breaststroke. Carter White and Frank Brand placed first and third in the 440-yard freestyle in 5:25.0 to give the Gators a slight lead of 40 to 37. This set the stage for the final disastrous loss of the 400-yard freestyle relay and consequently the meet, as that relay gives seven points to the winning team but none to the losing team.

Set Freestyle Record

The Allegheny swimmers defeated Westminster 46-29 in Montgomery pool last Thursday afternoon as freshman Carter White paddled to a new pool and varsity record of 5:20.7 in the 440-yard freestyle. He had good competition in Work of Westminster, but was able to pull away steadily and finish almost a full pool length in front.

The former pool and varsity records in the 440 were held by Meadville's Virgil Sayre. The other pool record was established by Westminster's Wagner in winning the 120-yard individual medley in 1:19.5, as he just beat out Captain John Muir, whose time of 1:20.4 was also under the existing pool record of 1:21.6.

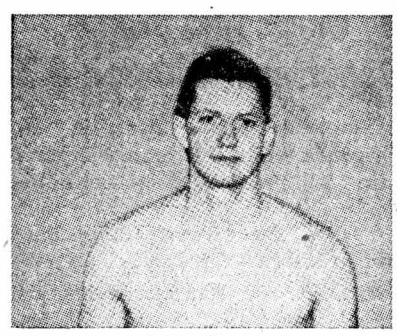

White Wins Three

White is six feet tall, weighs 150 pounds, and is 19 years old. He hails from Londonville, New York, and swam for four years at Albany Academy. He had a perfect day with three firsts, winning the 220- and 440-yard freestyle races and anchoring the first place 400-yard freestyle relay, to lead scoring for the day with 11¾ points.

Other firsts were taken for the Hilltoppers by the 300-yard medley relay team of Al Case, John Ertle, and Bruce Perry, and by Britt Poulson in the 60-yard freestyle where he was closely followed by Gator Dick Fisher in the closest race of the afternoon.

Other places taken for Allegheny during the meet were a third by Frank Brand in the 220-yard freestyle, another second for Fisher in the 100-yard freestyle, a second for Muir in the 200-yard backstroke, a second and third by Britt Poulson and John Ertle in the 200-yard breaststroke, and a third place by Al Case in the 120-yard individual medley.

Know Your Gators

John Ertle

Senior John Ertle is from Cleveland Heights, Ohio. He attended the high school there, and swam for three years, lettering twice. He also received a football letter in his senior year.

John has been a mainstay for the past four years on the swimming teams which have racked up the best records in Allegheny swimming history.

In his freshman year on the hill, John went out for Bill Hanson's squad as a freestyler and won his first varsity letter. He switched to breaststroke in his sophomore season, and has lettered while swimming that event for the past two campaigns.

Gator Hoopsters Take Buffalo State; Drop Rochester And Clarion Games

by Doc Thoburn

After taking Buffalo State in a hard-fought game last Friday night, the Hilltoppers dropped a close one to Rochester on Saturday, 74-71, to give them a percentage of .500 for their brief eastern trip. The boys played good ball in both games, but were a bit tired Saturday night and couldn't seem to close the final gap against the Rivermen. Bud McIndoe continued his scoring spree taking top honors in both games with 21 and 25 points.

Lose To Clarion

Returning to Pennsylvania, the Gators traveled to nearby Clarion last Tuesday night in an attempt to gain victory number 10 of the season. They entered the game as four-point underdogs and for awhile it looked as though they would upset the dope bucket and take the Eagles for a pretty big score. As it turned out, however, the Clarion team came to life and the teams reversed form completely, Clarion coming out on the long end of a 77-67 count.

Gators Take Early Lead

In the first period of play, the Hilltoppers went out in front, 21-12, featuring eight points by forward Bob Buck. Bud McIndoe was able to hit for only two points in this period and was pretty well tied up. The second period looked like a repeat of the former stanza until the last few minutes when Clarion started to find the range and closed the gap to 34-30, Allegheny.

Eagles Forge Ahead

The second half was a complete reversal of form with the Gators unable to come through as they had in the earlier periods. Garby's boys were taking as many as five futile shots in one volley near the basket, and then losing the ball to the Eagles, who more than made up for their early lackluster performance. The third quarter ended with the Clarion team ahead 47-43.

The Gators never regained the lead that they lost in the third period. At one point they came within two points of the Eagles, and it looked as if they might be able to pull the game out of the fire, but the Teachers increased their lead and were never again seriously threatened.

Bob Buck was high scorer with twenty points in the Clarion game, while second honors were taken by Bud McIndoe who had his lowest point total of the season, contributing 15.

Tartans Here Saturday

This Saturday night the Hilltoppers entertain the Carnegie Tech Tartans in Montgomery Gym. The Skibos have not had as good a season as had been predicted for them, but should, as always, provide plenty of excellent opposition. The results of the last three games give the Gators a 9-5 record, and they will be out to end a two-game win famine.

Fraternity Help Week Plans Include Traffic Project, Joint Dinner

Allegheny's fraternities have changed Hell Week to Help Week this year by sponsoring a joint fraternity pledge project and banquet.

The project, to be conducted Saturday morning under the sponsorship of the Meadville Chamber of Commerce, is concerned with the elimination of local parking problems. Pledges from the seven fraternities will collect and compile a mailing list of all Meadville businesses. This list will be used by the Chamber of Commerce to send questionnaires on parking statistics to all local merchants. The city plans to purchase parking lots on the basis of the information thus collected. The project was chosen with the need for such information in mind.

Sunday afternoon all pledges, together with fraternity presidents, pledge masters and college officials, will conclude Help Week with a banquet in Cochran Hall.

Help Week plans have been formed by three committees headed by fraternity pledge master. Robert Klein of Theta Chi, was chairman of the Project Committee; Robert Foster, of Phi Delta Theta, the Banquet Committee; and John Ertle, of Phi Kappa Psi, the Speakers Committee.

Liberalism Is Subject Of Benezet Address To New Organization

Dr. Louis T. Benezet will speak on the subject "Who and What Is A Liberal?" Sunday, February 22, at 2:30 p.m. in the College Union in the first of a series of programs to be presented by the newly-created "Socrates Club." The proposed organization, an outgrowth of college students attending the Meadville Unitarian Church, is to be an open group with the purpose of "fostering critical thinking about today's problems, how we live, and why."

Following Dr. Benezet's talk an open discussion on the subject will be held. Moderator for the discussion is Mr. Norman Birch, general superintendent of the American Brakeshoe Company.

Future meetings to be held on alternate Sunday afternoons by the organization will include speakers on a variety of subjects. All interested students are invited to attend the meetings.

Student Counselors

Those who are interested in being selected for this type of work should be willing and able to devote the time necessary for counselling. A prospective counselor, for instance, should not be on the Judicial Court or Senior Court, nor in general hold any major office in AUC or AWS. Likewise a fraternity or sorority president would be ineligible for the position. In addition, only juniors and seniors will be chosen for the job. In the selection of candidates, such factors as scholastic standing, personality, and potential for leadership and guidance will be considered.

Students who are interested in taking part in this program, or who have any question about it, are advised to see any of the following student counselors for further information, no later than Tuesday, February 24.
