

To Miss Jarr
School Lane.
Philadelphia.

Feb. 3. 1912.

ans 2/16/12

Madam,

Please accept my warmest thanks for your brilliant articles in the last two Amer. Magazines.
I can quite imagine the courage it must have taken to write them, but I have an idea that not even you have any conception of the vast numbers, the huge majority, of Inarticulate women who follow your thoughts, who agree with every word you have written, who can faintly adumbrate what you are going to write, and who are eternally grateful to you for expressing for them their hitherto unformulated philosophy and giving them something explicit to stand upon.

Of course the weakness of our 'Anti' position up to now has been the fact that it is 'Anti'.
Pure negation is ~~an~~ a tacit confession of defeat. Yet one has always known that behind and beneath our 'Anti' ~~is~~ attitude is the one concrete fact of life; if we could lay hold upon it, think it out and express it. Thank goodness you are doing that for us, and with a logic and an intellectual steadiness that are — to me personally at least — the most refreshing and satisfying thing I have ever met. Never mind the abuse you will probably get from the 'Deadly Female' crowd; there are a thousand of us silent ones with you to each one of them against.

Yours truly appreciatively,

B. Muriel Pears.
(of the North of Scotland. now on a visit to the U.S.A.)