

Pledges Unpaid

Athletic Board Needs Money Promised Immediately

The meeting of the Athletic Board last Monday evening resolved itself into a protest against the carelessness of the student body regarding the pledges made several weeks ago. At that time the Board clearly stated that it could not continue spring athletics unless one hundred dollars cash was immediately given, and two hundred and twenty-five pledged in tickets payable at the first baseball game. The report of the treasurer showed that a large number of these pledges are still unpaid.

A motion was made that unless practically all of the money promised was in the hands of the Board by Thursday, no entries should be made for the Western Pennsylvania meet. This motion was not passed, however, but the sentiment of the Board seemed to be that unless this money was paid immediately, the track team would not be sent to Washington and Jefferson on June 3rd. The officers of the association are at work collecting, and expect that all who have not already paid their pledges will plan to do so at once.

The fact that the meet is to be held at W. & J. instead of at Pittsburgh means that Allegheny will have to meet a large additional mileage expense which was not planned for in the original estimate. This also makes it necessary that every dollar promised be paid at once.

The baseball manager reported that Grove City's refusal to play without preps leaves an open date in the home schedule. Arrangements will possibly be made with the Edinboro Normal team to fill this date. In order that the team may have a little trip, Thiel College will be played there on Memorial Day if eligibility requirements can be met.

Two actions of the Board established precedents which will doubtless be followed in the future. One was the acceptance from Mr. Hines of control of the cups the down-town merchants have so generously given for winners in the interclass meet. The other was the acceptance of the Smith cup to be given under the auspices of the college to the winners of the Meadville High School-Alden Academy meet each year.

So far, the condition of spring athletics is up to the hopes of all, as far as intercollegiate events are concerned. Low marks and lack of funds are the only drawbacks, but it is hoped that both disadvantages may be reduced as much as possible.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT.

Dr. Elliott Tells of Arcadia, Ancient and Modern.

The second illustrated lecture of the year, given by the Classical Club, proved to be very entertaining and instructive. The audience was introduced by Dr. W. A. Elliott to the classic peninsula of the Peloponnese, and with him "On Horseback Through Acadia," visited the ruins of the ancient temple—the masterpiece of the Greeks, and viewed the beauties of Arcadia.

These beauties, though not as ideal as sometimes represented, are among the wonder spots of the world. Interesting also were the views of the recent excavations of Corinth made more interesting by the reference to Paul's eighteen months' stay there; also the excavation of Olympia where the great games were held and the foundations of the Temple of Olympian Zeus were displayed. But along with the classic references the lecture was also interesting from a modern standpoint. The idealized simple life of Arcadia is already being affected by the rumble and roar of the modern world's transgressions.

U. of Rochester Here To-day

Second Dual Track Meet of Season at Athletic This Afternoon. The Entries

The climax of the college track season comes this afternoon when Allegheny will meet Rochester in the second dual meet of the season at home. This is the first time in years that a second dual meet has been held at Meadville in one year.

The University of Rochester is one of the best schools in the east, with a very high record in athletics. Its basketball team claimed the national championship last winter. Its football team has defeated many of the best teams in the east. The track team which comes today is in the same class with the one that defeated Allegheny here two years ago, 72-49. Rochester has won two or three firsts in the big intercollegiate meet of the east annually. Allegheny mettle will be tested today more than in any other event this spring.

Several men who would have been sure point winners for Allegheny will be unable to participate. Max Croasmun has been unable to secure another examination in English I. Perley is barred because of a residence rule technicality. Ballinger sprained his back and will be unable to run anymore this season. Hofelt is also out because of an injury. And worst of all, Hines is out because of the rule that a man must have his work up a week ahead of a meet, although his work is up this week. This will throw more work on unexperienced men who must win if Allegheny is to win.

The students will meet in front of Bentley at 1:30, and from there will march to the park. Joe Piper will be on hand to lead.

The track has been measured accurately so that all records will stand as official college records. The races will finish in front of the grandstand, so there will be no difficulty in seeing the events. The jumps and weight events will also be held in front of the grandstand. All persons not contestants will be kept off the field. This will insure an unobstructed view. The audience will be informed of the events by an announcer.

Allegheny's entries are as follows:
100 yard dash, Croasmun, DeYoung.

One-half mile, Hilborn, Herpel, McKay.

220 yard hurdles, Stidger, Lord, Hillman.

220 yard dash, Croasmun, Hilborn, DeYoung.

1 mile, Barstow, Hofelt, Rosenberger.

440 yard dash, Croasmun, Van Horn, Hilborn.

120 yard hurdles, Stidger, Lord, Hillman.

2 mile, Hofelt, Winn.

Discus, Hawk, Brigham, Dotter.

High jump, Jones, Stidger, Hilborn, David.

Broad jump, Kulp, Jones, Stidger, Wells.

Shot put, Gibbs, Brigham, Kennedy.

Pole vault, Wells, Jones, Whitney.

Hammer, Ball, Brigham, Dotter.

The meet is under the personal management of Mr. Cole and Mr. Hines who have guaranteed to pay all expenses. Tickets have been sold at 35 cents. The five dollar season tickets are good, but if they are used to any great extent, it will mean a loss to the management. It is hoped that as many as can will buy 35 cent tickets instead of using the $5 tickets

ESPERANTO LECTURE AT COLLEGE

What is Esperanto? This question still is sometimes asked by persons who persistently choose for their habitation places way back in dark corners of the earth where the broad, bright sunlight of intellectual development has as yet failed to penetrate; but among people of the world generally, who make any attempt whatever to keep abreast of the times, it would be difficult indeed to find a person, who, upon being asked the question, would not be able to give an intelligent reply.

Esperanto no longer needs an introduction among intelligent people, but the interesting facts about its origin, its remarkable growth, its simplicity and its manifest advantages can be told only in volumes, so that in the allotted space one can only hint at these things, yet the following are some briefly stated facts.

Esperanto was given free to the world, without copyrights, in 1887 by Lazaro Ludiviko Zamenhoff, a native of Russian Poland. It has enjoyed a steady, rapid growth for twenty-three years until today it has enthusiastic advocates in every country. Its adaptability as a medium for business, travel, international affairs, religion, science, etc., has been tried and proven beyond a possible doubt. There is not a city of any importance at all in all Europe but what has at least one Esperanto Consul, who maintains a public headquarters for the benefit of the traveling public. It is taught in the schools throughout Japan; it and its adherents received the blessing of Pope Pius X; it is in the curriculum of many of the leading colleges and universities of the United States; the study of it is compulsory in the high schools of Pittsburgh and there is an Esperanto Society in Meadville that will welcome all who call, led either by interest, or curiosity.

Mr. Arthur Baker, a magazine editor of Chicago, who has devoted his entire time to the Esperanto movement for the last three years and who is now on tour of the Eastern States, giving lectures on the subject of Esperanto, has been engaged to deliver a lecture in Ford Memorial Chapel on Thursday, May 26th, to which the public is cordially invited. The lecture is free and it is hoped that as many persons as can possibly attend will avail themselves of the opportunity of listening to Mr. Baker. Mr. Baker is not dry, he will be entertaining, and will give a lesson in Esperanto to boot. Don't miss it. Remember the hour is eight o'clock.

CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

The inter-collegiate committee, appointed last fall to revise the rules of football so that it will be less dangerous, made their report last week.

1. Removal of five yard restriction on man receiving the ball from the snapper-back.

2. Seven men on the line of scrimmage.

3. Prohibition of flying tackle. The matter of a penalty or just how to stop the flying tackle to be decided later.

4. Division of the game in four periods with short intermissions.

5. No pushing or pulling the man with the ball. The interference cannot lock arms or hands.

6. Onside kicks not legal unless the ball goes at least twenty yards beyond the line of scrimmage.

These were the only changes made final, although many more were discussed. In any case speed will be an essential quantity in the coming game and will win where "beef" will fail.

"SAWDY" CROASMUN

Croasmun, '10, is entered in three events this afternoon. This will be his last appearance in Meadville on an Allegheny College track team as he graduates next month.

Judges Report

New Campus Board Chosen—Hillman, '11, Editor.

The report of the judges of Campus competition was posted in Bentley Hall, Thursday noon. The staff chosen for the next year is as follows: Editor-in-Chief, Paul M. Hillman, '11; Assistant Editor, Thomas Hughes, '12; Associate Editors, J. S. Robinson, '11; Ida M. Preston, '11; Charles S. Miller, '12; Reporters, Willard Maxwell, '12; Helen Bond, '11; Marguerite Sheldaine, '12; Victoria Lord, '12.

Competition has been very close for several of the positions during the entire year, and the judges experienced no little difficulty in naming the winners. The final choice will, however, meet with general approval, and assures "The Campus" a successful year.

Mr. Hillman, the new Editor, has been literary editor of "The Campus" during the past year. In addition to this work and the work of competition, he was a member of the varsity debating team, and is at the head of the general missionary committee. He had some print shop experience before he entered Allegheny.

Mr. Hughes is just completing a year as athletic editor and Miss Preston a year as society editor on the "Campus." Mr. Robinson has been writing for the "Meadville Daily Messenger" during the past year. Mr. Miller, the only freshman who won a position, came to college with some experience in secondary school journalism. With these five at the head of next year's board, Allegheny may confidently expect a first class newspaper.

In making the decision, the judges gave out the following statement:

"The decision was made on three bases, first, quantity and quality of competition; second, experience and office work down town in publishing the paper; and third, amount of submitted competition published. The extent and consistency of the competition are to be especially commended, and also the rules as passed by the College Council. For the coming year a still larger number of competitors is strongly urged."

The judges were, Dr. E. A. Smith, Dr. G. E. Snively and Professor C. F. Ross, of the college faculty.

MEADVILLE HIGH WON

Alden Academy Loses First Annual Track Meet

In an interesting, yet one sided meet, the track team of Meadville High downed the team from Alden Academy, 66-32, last Saturday at Athletic Park in the first annual meet held under the direction of the College Athletic Association. The High School team, having a larger number of men to draw from, had a decided advantage over the Academy team and took all three places in four events. The gold medal offered by the Academy faculty to the man scoring the highest number of points went to Captain Wicks, who proved himself to be by far the best athlete on the field by gaining 15 points. Jones comes in for the silver medal and Peterson for the bronze one. Owing to the weather the records were comparatively poor but nevertheless some good material was seen. Following is the summary.

100 Yard Dash—Thomas, Mitchell, Woods, all of H. S. Time, 11 3-5 seconds.

220 Yard Dash—Mitchell, Thomas, Woods, all of H. S. Time: 26 seconds.

440 Yard Dash—Woods, Ricker, of H. S.; Proctor, of A. A. Time: 61 seconds.

3 Mile Run—Wicks of A. A., Peterson, A. A.; Grant, H. S. Time: 18 minutes 1 second.

High Jump—Weller, Devor, of H. S. Height: 4 feet 8 inches.

Broad Jump—Freund, Mitchell, Thomas, all of H. S. Distance: 18 feet 4 1-2 inches.

Shot Put—Jones, A. A.; Weller, Ricker, of H. S. Distance: 35 feet 9 inches.

Discus—Striffler of H. S.; Jones, Miller, A. A. Distance: 77 feet.

1 Mile Run—Wicks, A. A.; Greene, H. S.; Ebell, A. A. Time: 5 minutes 3 seconds.

Relay—Won by High School.

Half-mile Run—Wicks, A. A.; Catlin, Greene, H. S. Time: 2 minutes 24 seconds.

1910 Year Book

Kaldron Almost Ready for the Press—A Good One

All of the reading matter for the 1910 Kaldron has been set up and is ready for printing. The proofs have all been read and only the cuts are lacking. The very large number of cuts in the Kaldron will occasion a slight unanticipated delay in the time of publication. Especially noteworthy will be the number of excellent cartoons. It has been the aim of the board to make the year book more representative of college life than it has ever been before. This has resulted in the curtailment of some of the merely "slamming" features of the book. There is no need, however, for any undue jubilation among the fearful ones as the funny hits will still be in evidence.

It will be a bigger and better Kaldron than has ever before been attempted. Enough orders have been received to warrant the publication of two editions, one bound in leather and the other in cloth. The manager will soon announce the date when the book will be put on sale.

The year book will be bound in blue with "1910" engraved on the cover in gold. A seal of the college will also be shown. There will be about 260 pages, 220 of which will be reading material and 20 advertising. The pictures of the Seniors will appear on the side of the page with the write-ups beside them. The calendar and the usual pictures of the societies will appear and a few snapshots taken "after chapel." The book will be dedicated to Mrs. Cochran.

REQUIREMENTS.

The man who said a college was a log with a student on one end and Mark Hopkins on the other might have gone a little further and defined a college education. However, even if he had, his definition would probably be out of date by this time.

An Allegheny student, who was working at a soda fountain last summer, was one day asked if he was a college man. When he said yes, the questioner ventured the information that he could always tell a college student by his appearance.

There are, however, about three requirements of a person with a college education besides this appearance which the man recognized. They are: first, ability to express one's thoughts before an audience clearly and and confidently; second, ability to conduct oneself properly at a formal reception; and lastly, ability to read a deep book and understand it. The average freshman has none of these requirements when he comes to Allegheny. Seniors ought to have them all.

THE ATHLETIC FLUNKER.

One of the winners in this year's Campus competition has handed in an article containing this significant sentence. "Why should not the college athlete feel just as strong an obligation to maintain a required grade as to put forth every ounce of energy to win athletic laurels for Allegheny?" This is coming to be the sentiment of the whole college. Every possible means is used every year to collect money for the support of athletics, but the strongest argument has always been that it is our duty to help sacrificing men win for Allegheny. If these men are going to disqualify themselves, the athletic association will be compelled to give up its best argument.

The men who seek to blame any one but themselves are in the same class with the man in the gutter who could not possibly be persuaded that he was at all responsible for his condition. Of course we expect reasonable encouragement and help from the faculty, but the athletic flunker has himself to blame. The only regret is that he cannot be punished except at Allegheny's expense. It is for this reason that his marks are not his alone.

Some of those who have supported athletics consistently are coming to feel that it is time athletics should be more than an excuse for low marks; it should be a means by which men can show that they are willing to work a little harder for Allegheny.

DESERVED HONOR

The results of the competition for places on next year's "Campus" Board cannot fail to be acceptable to the entire college. The present editor having had the pleasure of working with all the winners, knows that without exception they deserved places on the Board, and is satisfied that the decision was the very best that could have been reached.

No student who has not tried competition realizes the immense amount of work that is required to win even the lowest position on the staff. Hats off to the next year's Campus Board!

The success of competition this year makes the time opportune for a word of appreciation to the college authorities for a rule which is largely responsible for this success. Several college papers are just rejoicing over the fact that college credit is given for literary work on the college publications; others are in the midst of a campaign to secure such action. We are proud that at Allegheny the importance of this point was realized long ago, and that college credit is given the five highest officers on the "Campus" Board, if their work is satisfactory.

The college owes the committee of judges of competition thanks for their hours of tedious work. Sacrifice on the part of three faculty members every year is all that keeps the system successful.

COUNCIL VS. CONGRESS

The College Council meeting last Tuesday unquestionably meant a big advance in Allegheny spirit. The permanent constitutions for the Kaldron and for the Campus and Lit management seem flawless, and are steps in the right direction.

The Council has also, by its own vote, shown that it does not wish to be a body with definite powers; rather a body which shall give others a student opinion and let others do the actual legislation. While the change would probably have been better in the end, it is to be hoped that everyone will cooperate in making the Council what it wants to be. As a means through which the faculty can hear student opinion freely expressed, the Council can prove invaluable. For this reason, if for no other, it deserves unanimous support.

Most college clubs and organizations are holding their elections in the spring, thus allowing new members and officers to be ready to begin work immediately in the fall when so many questions are apt to arise at the very beginning of the school year. Why wouldn't this plan be a good one for the Council? It would be a guarantee against the charge of weakness which has been heard in years past at the opening of the year.

With the purpose of the Council so clearly known, a greater responsibility than ever rests upon organizations in the election of their representatives to it. The Council should be made up of the most representative men and women in school. Only in this way will it be a real student Congress.

"POGIE," "LEFF," "SPIKE" AND "LEN"

The work for the Minstrel Show to be given on Moving-up Day is going on steadily. "Judge" Criswell is busy with the end men and the chorus meets daily. "Judge" had charge of the Minstrels last year and put on one of the best ever given, and the work so far gives promise of even a better show. The end men are arranging their stunts. "Leff" is hunting up stories; "Pogie" is developing his dark dialect; "Spike" and "Len," besides limbering up their clogs, are learning to say "Mistah" in true southern fashion.

The overture does not contain as many solos as the one last year, but it is more a true minstrel medley, catchy and spirited throughout. The chorus is now bringing the overture into professional shape and giving it a truly artistic finish.

LETTER FROM PROFESSOR DUTTON'S SON.

A number of very interesting letters have been received by acting President W. T. Dutton during the past two or three years from his son, Lieutenant Benjamin Dutton of the United States Navy, who went part of the way on the round-the-world cruise of Admiral Evans' fleet, but who, before the trip was completed, was transferred to the Pacific fleet, going with it from San Francisco to China via Honolulu and the Philippines.

Lieutenant Dutton once attended Allegheny College and later graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He has been in the government naval service for several years. The letters which he has written home have been of great interest to those who know him and will also prove interesting reading matter for any one, since there is more than a little real literary merit attached to them. They are composed in a free, easy, natural style and through their frankness many points of naval matters are glanced.

We have at hand a letter written last December, but which did not reach its destination for a month or so after. With the kind permission of Prof. Dutton it is here reproduced.

U. S. S. Tennessee.

December 19, 1909.

Dear Mother: I expected to find time during my watch tonight to write you quite a letter but a number of unexpected occurrences have kept me busy otherwise. It is now 11:30 and I can jot down a few words before midnight.

I hardly like to write hurriedly of what I have seen. It is interesting enough to deserve better treatment. Strange things are going on all the time. This afternoon, for instance, I had the watch from 12 to 4. When I came on deck, there was a Chinese juggler doing tricks for the amusement of the crew. He certainly swallowed a sword. And he ate fire and ate a whole pan full of saw dust. I didn't see much else of his tricks, being busy elsewhere. Over the side two Chinamen in a junk were waging a furious war, pulling each other's cues and chattering at a great rate, while other Chinamen held them from falling overboard and helped to pull the cues at decisive moments.

The ship was surrounded by scavengers in small junks, who were busy fishing out of the water all the scraps thrown over from the crew's dinner. Each junk held a family complete. One family worked their junk into a vantage point under the garbage chute and held their net. They were eating their catch as fast as they could and stowing the rest on a net in the stern of their junk to dry. They must have had a bushel stowed there, provisions enough for a week, all water-soaked and dirty, but edible—for a poor Chinaman. How poor these people are you may judge from the fact that other boats alongside were selling fresh eggs to the crew at four cents a dozen. A cent's worth of rice would feed the family for a day, yet these people cannot afford to buy clean food. And yet the country is rich in possibilities. Almost a constant stream of steamers was passing in and out of the harbor, steamers flying the flags of all the world. Those who know say that the steamers carry a commerce that is still untouched in its possibilities. These people who are here so crowded that they have overflowed and live by the thousands on the river in junks have left a vast interior undeveloped. On the shore for miles every square foot of ground seems to be covered with houses or graves or closely cultivated fields. Yet, you can travel a few hours and find wild country. A whole deer can be bought in the markets for $1.40, and all game is cheap in proportion. How far can it be to a place where such things are plentiful? And how undeveloped for the purpose of supporting in comfort and plenty a crowded populace, such a place must be.

Twelve o'clock has come around before I have more than started. I am going to bed for I need the sleep. A trip through the old walled city of Shanghai yesterday so upset my nerves that I could not sleep. Guess I was a little bilious anyhow. I haven't had such nightmares in years. But I am going to do better tonight.

Goodnight,
Ben.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss June Shires had charge of the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Sunday evening, the subject being "Women in the Trades." In a very helpful way she gave some suggestions about the dull routine and the gloom in the lives of women in trades. Different girls took up the discussion of the social needs of the workers and of conditions in the particular industries of garment making and confectionery.

CONSTITUTION OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

The College Council held a meeting on Tuesday afternoon with the entire membership present, and settled up the work of the year. The proposed change of representation in the Council was almost unanimously rejected, the argument being that the Council is a student Congress rather than the smaller executive body found in other schools.

The other important result of the meeting was the final adoption of a permanent constitution of the Publishing Association of the college. The new constitution makes arrangements for the election of the managers of "The Campus" and "Literary Monthly," but in other respects follows quite closely the temporary constitution which has been in operation during the past three months. The executive committee was empowered to make such changes in the provisions for the election of the managers of the two publications as may be necessary for this spring's election.

The constitution follows in full:

ARTICLE I.

Name.

This organization shall be known as "The Publishing Association of Allegheny College."

ARTICLE II.

Purpose.

The purpose of this Association shall be to regulate the publication of the Allegheny College Year Book, (Kaldron) and to elect the managers of "The Campus," of Allegheny College and of "The Allegheny Literary Monthly."

ARTICLE III.

Membership.

All students and faculty members of Allegheny College shall be eligible to membership in this organization.

ARTICLE IV.

Executive Committee.

There shall be an Executive Committee, consisting of the head of the English department, two additional faculty members, who shall be elected by the College Council, the editor-in-chief of "The Campus" and the editor-in-chief of the "Allegheny Literary Monthly." These five shall constitute the Executive Committee of this Association.

stitute the Executive Committee of this Association.

ARTICLE V.

Section 1. The Executive Committee shall meet within three weeks after the opening of the first semester of each college year. They shall elect one of their own number secretary.

Section 2-A. It shall be the duty of this secretary to issue certificates which shall be sold at fifty cents and shall be accepted as seventy-five cents on the price of the Kaldron, and shall entitle those eligible to membership to a vote for the "Kaldron Electoral Board," hereinafter described.

COLLEGE NEWS ITEMS

About ten cases of mumps have been reported this week at the college.

Professor and Mrs. Ross have issued invitations for an at home on Friday evening, May 27th, to the members of the Classical club.

A part of Dr. Breed's class in Biology II enjoyed a trip to Round Top Monday morning in search of birds. A large number of new reports were secured.

The Seniors held an informal party at Ponce de Leon Springs on Monday evening. The party left here at the 5 o'clock car and in an hour were enjoying a picnic lunch. Dr. and Mrs. Akers chaperoned the crowd.

Dr. Breed, secretary of the college faculty, reports that he has never been compelled to notify students that their marks are low as often as has been the case this year. Both men and women in all four college classes are included in this category.

Bishop Thoburn left Thursday for Edinburgh, Scotland, to attend the World's Missionary Conference as an official representative of the Methodist Episcopal Church. This is Bishop Thoburn's fifteenth trip across the ocean.

In order to further encourage the playing of tennis, the men of Cochran Hall on Tuesday evening formed a tennis association with J. W. Mates as president and P. Robinson as secretary and treasurer. The men of the Hall have arranged a schedule for a tournament for the championship of the Hall, both in singles and doubles.

The athletic board on Monday evening awarded the trophy cup for the largest number of individual points in the recent meet to Stidger,

'11. Until this time it has been uncertain whether or not the points in the obstacle race should count or not. Perley, '13, had 14 points and Stidger with the obstacle race, 14 1-3.

The new dormitory for Alden Academy is rapidly approaching completion. The frame work and weather boarding has been entirely completed and inside work has been begun. Comfortable rooms for thirty students will be fitted up in addition to a den. A porch will be put up around the front and east side of the building.

Interest in the weekly Y. M. C. A. meetings continues. The leader last Wednesday evening was Mr. F. G. Willey, who chose as his subject the prophet "Elijah." His point was "Vision," an encouragement to men to see Christ. These thoughts were made very forceful by several illustrations.

The Scientific Club listened to several interesting papers by three of its members at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening. Miss Hatch read her senior thesis on "External and Internal Morphology of a Chestnut Twig," and H. N. Gould his senior oration on "Pasteur, the Father of Science." R. H. Uhlinger gave an interesting talk on a comparatively new subject, "A New Method for Qualitative Analysis in the Fourth Group." There was a fair attendance of members.

The Alden Academy baseball team took revenge on a team from Meadville High School for the drubbing in the track meet by defeating them by a score of 16-2, on Wednesday afternoon. The loose playing which characterized the work of the Academy in the earlier part of the season was not evident at all. Robinson pitched his usual fine game, allowing but 5 hits while Ricker, for high school, was bumped hard.

The score looked for a long time like a shut out, but a long drive to right brought in the two runs for the high school team.

DELTS WIN FROM PHI GAMS

The inter fraternity baseball season was opened on Monday morning when the Delts, under the captaincy of the famous Baker, downed the Phi Gams in a loosely played contest. The Delts took a lead from the start so that at the close of the fourth inning the score stood 6-0 in their favor. Here Captain "Sawdy" Croasman called his recruits together and succeeded in tying the score. Baker, however, started his haul of the inning with such a flourish that the score was 13-0 at the end. And during the rest of the game runs came in quite regularly.

A special feature is the selling of clothes for men and boys, women and girls.

Fashions in clothes are to be seen here as soon as they make their appearance—as a rule, we are the first in the city to show new styles.

The two things that form the solid foundation of this store, upon which has been built Pittsburgh's largest retail business, are quality and less price. Quality for quality, our prices are lower than anywhere in the city.
