

510 South 2nd St.,
Springfield, Ills.,
May 18, 1914.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

Our letters certainly crossed each other,- for yours of enquiry, and my answer to yours both bear the same date,- May 15th.

That golden wedding,-May 4th- intervening put me out of line with pen work for several days. I mailed you marked copy of our city papers having short local of that event.

Should my letter of 15th not reached you yet,- tell me and I will send you a copy.

Which address reaches you most conveniently and prompt,- 381 Fourth Avenue, or 132 Nineteenth Street?

Most sincerely,

Henry B. Rantine.