Two Piano Music By Radio Artists Highly Applauded

Frances Hall, Rudolph Gruen Please Last Audience of Lecture-Concert Course.

This season's College-Community Concert-Lecture Course was brought to a close last Friday evening, when an enthusiastic audience greeted the performance of Frances Hall and Rudolph Gruen in their two-piano recital in Ford Memorial Chapel.

The course this year has been a very successful one financially, according to the report of Prof. I. R. Beiler, who introduced the artists. The show of hands in response to a question as to whether it was desired to continue the course next year, seemed to indicate clearly that the students and townspeople would support another series.

Miss Hall and Mr. Gruen played with a precision of ensemble and technical proficiency that seemed little short of genius. The two young musicians, each of whom has earned a reputation as an individual performer, are well-fitted for the difficult form of ensemble they have chosen. Their performance was by no means mechanical, however, and disclosed a warmth and sincerity clearly indicative of a true understanding.

The audience was so delighted with the concluding number on the program, Ernest Hutcheson's arrangement of the Rakoczy March, that it demanded three additional selections. These were an arrangement of Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song"; two etudes by Chopin, "Butterfly Etude" and "Black Key Etude", played separately and then together; and a Two-Part Invention in C major, by Bach.

In response to a request by Mr. Gruen, no applause greeted the playing of Cesar Franck's "Prelude, Fugue, and Variation". It was characterized by Mr. Gruen as "a sermon on beauty", and its especial charm lay in its oriental nature and its harmonic progressions.

Mozart's "Sonata in D major" and Mr. Gruen's own composition, "Suite Moderne", were two other selections especially well received by the audience. The contrast between each of these two numbers and between them and the Franck selection served to add variety to the program, and to illustrate the range of the artistry of the performers.

Miss Hall is from Erie, and is known personally by some of the professors and the students here.

Their recital of two-piano music is a regular feature of the National Broadcasting Company every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock over the WEAF network.

Aims of Socialism Stated in Lecture By B. C. Vladeck

B. C. Vladeck, last of the six League for Industrial Democracy lecturers told an audience of about 150 at Ford Chapel last Wednesday evening: "The basic aim of a new social order in the United States is the establishment of a social as well as a political democracy; then, eventually, there will grow up a cultural democracy."

In the first part of his talk Mr. Vladeck pointed out that neither the New Deal nor Communism are a solution to the present depression, for the New Deal still leaves poverty amidst plenty and Communism could never be practical in a nation which values its political freedom so highly.

Explaining socialism, the Jewish editor said: "Socialism is a transfer from a state of necessity to a state of freedom. Human beings will begin to have a planned destiny instead of stumbling on their fates."

Socialism will not come with the election of the Socialist party to power, the speaker maintained, but will come only when the American people have been educated enough to back its program whole-heartedly.

Music Appreciation Hour To Replace Sunday Forum

A music appreciation hour will be held in the oratory from 9:30 to 10:30 every Sunday morning, in place of the old Sunday morning forum.

Professor Luvaas will be in charge, playing and commenting upon selections from his library of victrola records. He invites all students to attend.

Second Performance Of Shaw's "Candida" Given by Playshop

A second performance of George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" was given last Thursday evening in the Playshop before an audience of about 150 and with a cast practically the same as that of the original presentation on November 18.

David Smith portrayed Mr. Burgess, Candida's father, instead of Max LaBorde, and the rest of the cast acted their roles for the second time. Jean Holman played Candida; Edward Stainbrook, the Rev. James Morell; Helen Wicks, Miss Proserpine Garnett (Morell's secretary); and Paul Gilmore, Lexy Mill (Morell's curate).

The production and business staffs for the performance of "Candida" were under the supervision of Mr. Hulburt. The production staff included: Production manager, Joseph Macedo; stage manager, Tom Pringle; costumes, Elizabeth Roberts; lighting, Robert Dennis; assistants, Franklin Miller, Burch Powell, Karl McBride; properties, Jean Kelley, Joseph Macedo; book holder, Helen Edmundson.

The members of the business staff were: Business manager, Margaret Van Aken; assistants, Charles Miller, John Sampson; house manager, Frank Oakes; ushers, Hugh Annett, Donald Bortz, Donald Herron, James Campbell, Harry Repman, William Clarke, Jack Hoeveler, Carson Baker.

The program announced that the next production will be given on March 24 and 26 and will be "The Fan" by Carlos Goldoni, 18th century Italian writer of comedies.

Men's Senate to Sponsor All-College Dance Mar. 3

The Men's Senate is sponsoring an all-college dance in the gym on Saturday night, March 3, for the benefit of the new men's lounge room in Cochran Hall.

Barney Knapp's Melody Weavers will play at the affair, which will be informal. Other details for the dance have not been arranged, but Fred Kiebort, Senate president, assures a reasonable admission price.

A radio and possibly other furnishings for the lounge room will be purchased from the dance proceeds.

And Was She Embarrassed!

And then there was the senior who entered an education course at midyear and after buying books and attending class for two weeks was informed by the office that she had completed the course in her sophomore year with a grade of "B". She says she is willing to sell the first two weeks' carefully copied notes cheaply.

Overheard in Caflisch Hall: "I don't like to smoke cigarettes while wearing gloves. I don't like the smell of burning leather."

Geneva Debaters Oppose Allegheny On Subsidization

Crawford and Dennis Argue Against Tri-State Athletic Scholarships.

Much criticized for their Tri-State intercollegiate athletic policy, Geneva College will have a chance to defend it next Monday when Arthur Crawford and Robert Dennis journey to the Beaver Falls college to debate the question before a student assembly.

The question is: "Resolved: That the member colleges of the Tri-State Conference should be granted the privilege of giving a maximum of ten athletic scholarships a year."

Radio Debate Program.

John Corcoran and William Olson will continue Allegheny's radio debating feature this Friday afternoon over WLBW, in Erie.

From 1:30 till 2:00 p. m. the two debators will discuss the subject, "Our Future Economic Order".

Speak at Pittsburgh.

Allegheny's extension debate program took four college speakers to Pittsburgh last Friday to speak before the Pittsburgh DeMolay Alumni.

Frank Helfrich and Norman Stoner will travel to Grove City tomorrow to engage in a debate on the N.R.A. question.

Kappa Phi Kappa Select Delegates To Nat. Conclave

Seven men were chosen delegates to a national convention which will be held in Cleveland on March 1, 2, and 3 at a meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa, men's professional education fraternity, last Wednesday night.

Meeting at the home of Professor and Mrs. Henke, the fraternity elected new members and chose as delegates to the Cleveland conclave Richard Porter, William Olson, Stanley Vollmer, Francis Leipold, John Bittler, Francis Battaglia, and George Maynard. Some of the other members of the organization will probably attend also as unofficial representatives.

Education Fraternities Will Celebrate Their Founders' Day

Plans are being made for a joint Founders' Day celebration for Kappa Phi Kappa, and Kappa Delta Epsilon, women's education sorority. A banquet will be held at the Kepler Hotel on either March 16 or March 23.

Some outstanding person in the field of education will be the speaker for the evening.

The committee in charge is: John Bittler, Larue Smith, Ruth Hibbs, Esther Parker, Phyllis Beet and Myrtle Sanzenbacher.

Men wishing to compete for the position of Campus business manager are asked to leave their names with Robert Muir at the close of chapel Friday.

German Club Hears Illustrated Lecture On German Buildings

Using slides to illustrate her lecture, Professor Spann explained to German Club members yesterday evening how landscape and cultural periods influenced German architecture.

Among the slides shown by Professor Spann were pictures of Rothenburg, Berlin, Dresden, the Rhine Country, German universities, and German city halls.

Two new members were initiated at last night's meeting—Rose Mueller, '37, and Edward Stainbrook, '36.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Anna Strott and Eleanor Stevenson.

Faculty guests at the program included Professors Church, Benjamin, Woodring and Beiler, Professor and Mrs. Ufford, Mr. and Mrs. Seely, Mr. and Mrs. Finney, Mr. Heller, and Miss Ludwig.

Vocational Advice Given Women by Miss Jackson

About 26 girls scheduled individual conferences with Miss Florence Jackson, Wellesley College vocational guidance authority who visited here last week; and about 56 different women were present at the eight forum sessions on Thursday and Friday.

Two general assemblies were held at Hulings Hall; one on Thursday evening at which Miss Jackson spoke on "Practical Advice on Securing a Position," and one Friday noon when she discussed "Factors That Make for Success."

The forum on "Business: Office Work, Buying, and Selling" proved the most popular, attracting an audience of 125.

Sarah Thompson had charge of a tea given Thursday afternoon in Miss Jackson's honor; and Jane Stover arranged for a formal dinner for the guest on Friday evening. Dean Kunkel, of Edinboro College, and Mrs. William P. Tolley were guests at Friday's dinner.

Several Interesting Books Added to Library Shelves

Interesting new books at the library include Edward F. Benson's "King Edward VII", Ludwig Lewisohn's "Creative America", James Hatfield's "New Light on Longfellow", and Dr. Bruce Wright's "Chancel Windows".

The first of these books, "King Edward VII", is an effective character portrait of "that overtutored prince and self-created ruler". Lewisohn's "Creative America" is an anthology of American prose and poetry from colonial to present times and is an admirable supplement to the author's outstanding literary history and criticism "Expression in America". "New Light on Longfellow" is especially interesting in its discussion of Longfellow's contacts with Germany.

"Chancel Windows" was given to the library by its author Dr. Bruce Wright, Allegheny alumnus and pastor of Stone Church. The title refers to an analogy which the writer draws between a chancel window from which light streams and Christ whose light alleviates the burdened and perplexed.

New Student Registers

Elizabeth Wright, daughter of Dr. Bruce Wright, pastor of Stone Church, enrolled as a graduate student at Allegheny this week bringing the second term enrollment figure to 542.

Miss Wright is a graduate of Goucher College.

College Orators To Compete Here For State Finals

Edward Stainbrook to Speak For Allegheny in Contest On March 10.

Allegheny College will be host to some of the outstanding collegian orators of the state on March 10 when the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest will be held at the Playshop Theatre.

Edward Stainbrook, who will speak on the subject "Death Speaks to Life," has been selected by Professor Anderson to represent Allegheny against orators from Muhlenberg, Grove City, Gettysburg, and possibly, Westminster, Lebanon Valley, and Waynesburg Colleges. Whether or not the last four institutions named will participate will be known this week, according to William Olson, who is managing plans for the event.

The winner of the coming oratorical contest will be awarded free expenses for a trip to Chicago where he will represent Pennsylvania in the national finals to be held at Northwestern University during the last week in April. The second place oration receives a cash prize.

Olson, who represented Pennsylvania and Allegheny at Northwestern last Spring, is now president of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Association. Because of his last year's victory he is ineligible to represent Allegheny again this year, although he did win first place in the Wakefield Contest. As chairman of he contest to be held two weeks from Saturday, he is busy arranging a program of entertainment for the visiting orators and selecting judges.

Women's Assembly Ceremony Conducted by Senate Members

A cap and gown ceremony by Women's Senate members was held yesterday noon at the Playshop before a women's assembly.

Jane Dasher was installed as newly elected junior member; a report was given on the recent North Carolina student government convention; the newly adopted rules were formally installed; and an account of the year's activities was presented.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Miss Anvilla Prescott, was "to formally establish in the minds of women students that their student government organization belongs to the entire group—that the members of the Senate are representatives of the girls and are attempting to put into effect the girls' own ideas of community living."

Richard Bail Reads Paper At Classical Club Meeting

At a meeting of the Classical Club, held Tuesday evening, February 20, Richard Bail read a paper entitled "Some Points of Roman Law".

Thoburn Club

The Thoburn club met in the library last Thursday evening when Dr. Bruce Wright led a discussion on missionary work. The club will meet again tomorrow evening in the library, at 7:15.

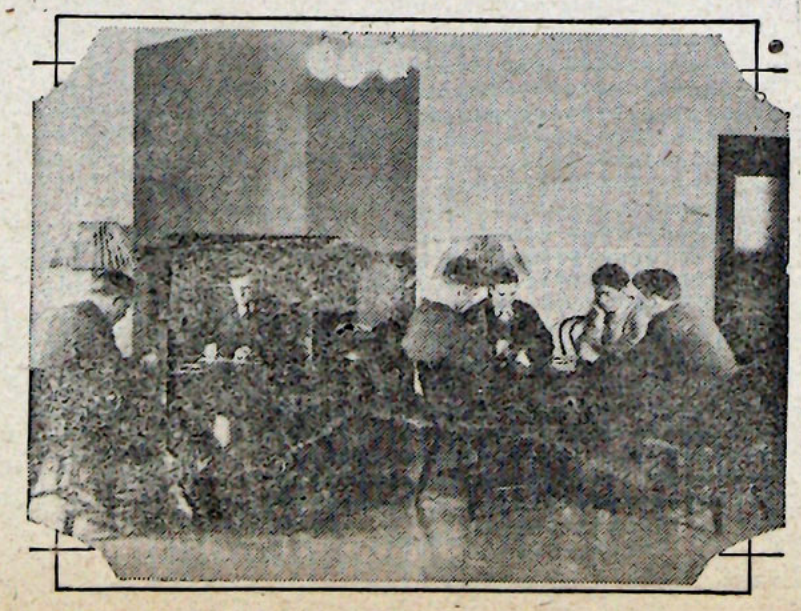

The Men's Lounge

When the college carpenter puts the finishing touches of paint on the men's lounge room ping pong table and it is shipped to Cochran Hall Saturday, the recreation room will be fairly well equipped as an amusement center for college men.

A radio and additional furniture will come later as a result of various Men's Senate programs to raise funds. The first step in this direction is the all-college dance to be given March 3, which should yield a radio for the new room.

Robert Edwards has charge of the men's lounging room, which is open during the same hours as the bowling alleys. Tables for bridge and checkers have been acquired, and cards or checkers are available on request. A few magazines are there at present and will be supplied with regularity as soon as the room draws enough men to warrant it. Firewood for the open fire place has also been supplied.

Letters to the Editor

February 19, 1934.

Editor of the Campus.

Dear Mr. Smith:

There have been numerous reports circulating around the campus concerning alleged irregularities in the actions of the committee of the Interfraternity Council in charge of the Greek Swing Out held on the tenth of February. These reports have been to the effect that someone received a "big cut" on the price paid for the band hired for the occasion. We contracted "Deacon" Moore's Orchestra for the sum of $275 in full faith that we were getting his own orchestra, through a booker in Erie. One contract, and only one contract, was made, and it will willingly be shown to anyone whose curiosity has been aroused to such an extent that he doubts the honesty and integrity of the committee. The orchestra that was sent to us was directed by one Cliff Smith, and, as it was explained to us by the manager of the orchestra, he is supposed to have taken over the men who formerly played in "Deacon" Moore's orchestra, and "Deacon" Moore is now engaged in business in Chicago.

Perhaps these reports that have been circulating have all been in fun, and a part of the "ride" which we must take for having such a "lousy" band (and I personally think it was) and if such is the case I don't care. But if anyone is in earnest, I can merely say to him to quiet his fears, for the committee absolutely did not receive a "cut".

Respectfully yours,
WM. K. UNVERZAGT,
Chanrman of the Committee for the Greek Swing Out.

"Anthony Adverse"

By Hervey Allen

Reviewed by Catherine G. Miller

Hervey Allen's latest book, "Anthony Adverse", is a romantic historical novel, just crammed full of adventure. Its 1223 pages can not be swallowed in one gulp; but at least the reader can finish them in less time than it took the author to write them. Hervey Allen spent four years on this story, before he considered it ready for publication. If the reader is capable of enjoying a picaresque narrative for the narrative's sake, and of appreciating a lively and vigorous reconstruction of times past, based upon a wealth of knowledge, he will thoroughly enjoy himself while reading "Anthony Adverse".

"Anthony Adverse" is the story of an orphan, the bastard son of an English girl married to a Machiavellian Spanish diplomat. His mother died at his birth; and so, deserted by his father, he spent the early part of his life in an Italian convent. When he was 12, a Scotch merchant of Livorne adopted him. Then, he became successively a young man of fashion in Cuba, a slave dealer in Africa, a rich lord in Paris and London, an owner of a plantation, a savage in the unexplored wilderness of America, a hunted man who was driven across Mexican deserts, an inmate of a lazar-house, a wealthy man again, and finally a middle-aged man chained to domesticity.

Hervey Allen has the delightful ability of presenting many coincidences in his novel so that they seem perfectly natural. For instance, such happenings as the adoption of Anthony by his maternal grandfather, the friendship of Anthony and the friar St. Francis, who was present at his father's death, and the enmity between Anthony and Don Luis, the husband of Anthony's mother, do not seem at all unlikely.

Everywhere the author transports his hero the reader gets a clear picture of the life and the effect of environment on Anthony. Anthony was not the same in Cuba as he was in Africa. In Africa he became a hard taskmaster, bereft of most of his ideals. Subconsciously he was the same; Mr. Allen shows that Anthony was tormented by the same type of dreams as he was in his childhood. Consequently, I should say this novel is more dominated by sociological factors than some historical novels I have read.

In conclusion, I should say that a historical novel such as "Anthony Adverse", even though it may be inaccurate in some instances, spurs the imagination to a vivid sense of past events and a vanished group of people.

Cops Find Frosh Is Stringing Them; Mystery Unsolved

Fifty-two cards were becoming four piles of thirteen each at a bridge table in the Beta Upsilon fraternity house about 1 o'clock one morning shortly before exams when the doorbell rang and two leather-coated Meadville policemen entered escorting George Hinon, freshman pledge.

"This one of your fellows?" the cop asked the bridge players.

"Yes," somebody admitted after a pause.

"Lucky for him—he came near spending the night in the hoosegow," the cop replied with an official smile.

Then, bit by bit, the story came out.

On several preceding nights of that week, a nervous woman resident on Park Avenue had either seen or imagined she saw a man prowling about her house. Unfortunately for Hinton who passed the lady's residence measuring the distance from the B.U. house to Caflisch Hall with a 30-foot piece of string, the shakily-nerved woman knew nothing about upperclassmen's assignments to freshmen pledges. Observing a suspicious character on the walk in front of her home stooping down, rising and walking a few steps waving his arms in peculiar fashion, and then stooping again, she had phoned the police.

Of course, when the cops heard Hinton's story corroborated by his fraternity brethren, they were quite satisfied. In fact, they even became mellow with reminiscence.

And Hinton still doesn't know for sure that the shortest way to the B.U. house from Caflisch Hall is via the walk past the library, Bentley, Wilcox, etc.

Flashy Attack Marks Victory Over Oberlin

Ohio College Drops Game to Hard-Playing Blue and Gold Team.

For the first time this year Allegheny fans witnessed a Gator attack that resembled that of championship teams produced here not so long ago. The Blue and Gold aggregation took over the Oberlin quintet 30-21 in a fast, well-played battle.

Although most of the time the Gator attack ran with much improved smoothness and effectiveness, there was still an occasional raggedness in passing which often enabled Oberlin to intercept for a score.

A few seconds after the opening whistle, the Blue and Gold got under way for a 12-3 lead but a tightening of the Oberlin defense kept the contest close, the half ending 16-12. Allegheny.

With Hibbs leading an attack during the second half. Coach Tippin's crew displayed a brand of offensive ball which excelled anything done by the home team on the Montgomery court this year.

McKim, with 10 points, led the scoring for the Gators while Hibbs followed not far behind with nine points. Oberlin's big threat was Rivin, center, who netted three field goals and a pair of fouls.

Intersorority Basketeers Begin Week's Tournament

A girls' elimination basketball tournament got under way yesterday afternoon when Kappa Alpha Theta defeated Kappa Kappa Gamma 9-2 and Alpha Chi Omega downed the Non-Sorority group 31-8.

This afternoon Theta Upsilon plays Delta Alpha Theta and Alpha Xi Delta meets Alpha Gamma Delta. Semi-finals will be held Thursday and the final round probably on Friday.

Robb and Search sat side by side in a class at Fordham.

Robertson Leads Freshmen To Scanty Win Over Kanty

The score in the Frosh-Kanty College preliminary to the Oberlin game see-sawed so much that many spectators weren't quite sure that the plebes did beat the Erie boys 33-32.

Trailing 20-19, at half time, a second period attack led by Robertson and Hutchison brought victory.

Ray Robertson's eight field goals earn him the place as star of Thursday's game. Big Keith Hutchison rang up seven points and George Robie registered six.

Bobeck, right forward for the visitors, garnered seven fouls and three field goals, proving the chief scoring threat of the opposition.

Phi Delta Theta Add Two New Pledges

Phi Delta Theta announces the pledging of Carl St. Clair, Bellevue, and Herbert Luce, Ashtabula, Ohio.

LEADBEATER GUARD

Alligators Take Bad Shellacking From Titans, 45-10

Using 16 players in the course of the game, Westminster College's tall Titans overwhelmed Allegheny on the New Wilmington floor Monday night, holding Coach Tippin's men to a single field goal.

The whole game was such a one-sided affair that there's hardly anything to write about it. The Westminster boys led at the half 31-4; and their reserve players had little more trouble than did the varsity men in scoring virtually at will.

Leadbeater's three foul goals gave him the dubious honor of Blue and Gold high scorer; and Berger's lone field goal was a pot-shot in the first two minutes of play.

Because of Lubic's injury, Coach Tippin started a changed line-up using Berger at right forward, Nevins at left forward, Hibbs at center, and Vanaman and Weber at guards.

Lanky Wes Bennett played less than half the game; but even so his single field goal and four foul shots showed him to be a little below his usual high-scoring ability.

Pitt Publication Gives Profs Stars, Black Marks

A group of Pitt students recently published a "Campus Index" in which they estimated their professors, courses, and university organizations with a frankness that made the pamphlet immensely popular.

The "tough" course, the dull lecturers, the hard markers, the heavy outside reading courses were all duly recorded so that collegians could choose their curriculums with eyes wide open.

Earlham College recently held an interesting social affair at which the co-eds appeared in the costumes of famous characters of fiction. The "books" could be borrowed for a period of ten minutes and fines were levied for late returns. The fines ran very high on some "books."

League Leading Quintets Open Championship Series

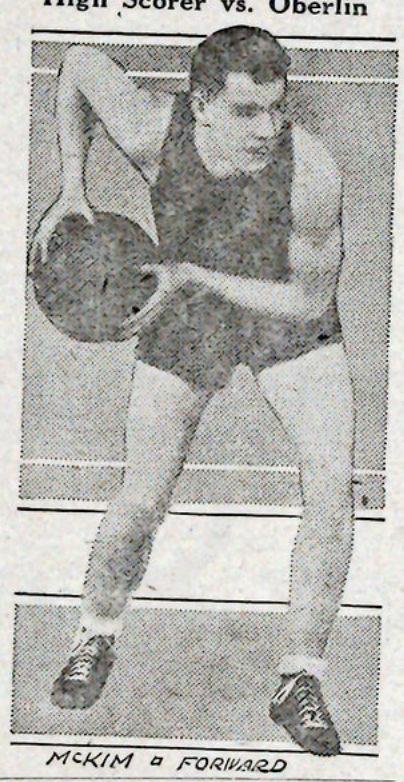

Alfred and St. Vincent Remain on Gator Cage Card

Curtains will fall on a none-too-successful basketball season this week with the Alligators playing a heavy card of three games.

The Westminster-Allegheny affair was checked off the books on Monday, and tomorrow evening's game with Alfred University and Saturday's contest here with St. Vincent clear things up.

Just what to expect from the Alfred game tomorrow night is a puzzle since not much data on the Purple 1934 record is available. St. Vincent and Allegheny should make the last home game a fairly well-contested tilt since both teams scored about evenly against Youngstown College.

For the same time Friday night is scheduled the second Phi Gam-Sig encounter, and the preliminary for this event will be a game between Phi Psis and the winner of Wednesday evening's opener. Saturday afternoon at 2:15 the Delts will meet the winner of Friday night's opener to determine the championship third place.

The winner of the Phi Gam-Sig series will take first place in the championship, and the loser automatically wins second place. Vanaman, referee, and Lubic, umpire, will officiate for the main games, while Richardson, referee, and Maytum, umpire, will run the other games.

Last Wednesday evening the Sig five took first place in League B in downing the Phi Delt cagers, 18-12. Ruffner alone accounted for five baskets and two free throws for the Sigs, and Robertson and Stuart together netted 11 of the Phi Delt points. This left the Delts in second place to meet the winner of the Beta Upsilon-Independent-Phi Psi deadlock in League A for the third place in the championship.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon	3	0	1.000

McKay, Hoffman Win Prizes For High Bowling Records

Ernie McKay, with a total of 190, and Sally Hoffman, with 103, won the prizes offered by local merchants for the highest scores for men and women made on the Cochran alleys last week.

Bob Edwards, manager, states that the decrease in price to five cents a line has brought in a substantially larger business for the alleys. The alleys are now open from 2 until 6 and from 7 until 10 every day except Sunday and on Thursdays, when they do not open until 3.

Loading a pipe, son, is like building a fire

"NOW if you want to build a fire you've got to have the right kind of chimney, and you've got to have the right kind of wood, seasoned right and packed right in the fireplace. If you've got all this, it's easy to light up.

"It's pretty near the same way in smoking a pipe. Now if you've got Granger Tobacco—the right kind of pipe tobacco—any old pipe will do.

"And if you put in a pinch at a time and pack it down good and tight—the way to load a pipe—all you need to do is strike a match.

"Granger smokes sweet and cool right down to the bottom of the bowl.

"That's pipe comfort, I tell you."

FACULTY NOTES

Professors Church and Kalfayan have articles published in the February issue of "The French Review".

One is an article written by Professor Church entitled "Anthony Adverse and the French Language". It deplores the use of incorrect French in American and English novels.

The other by Professor Kalfayan is a book review in which "Le Prisonnier Chanceux", edited by Professor Church, is discussed.

'An Early Unpublished Poem of Bayard Taylor" was the title of a short article by Dean Shultz which was published in Jan. "American Literature".

Professors Buckingham and Henke will attend a meeting of the National Education Association in Cleveland during the first three days of next week.

Dean Evelyn Miller left this morning for Cleveland where she will attend the annual convention of the National Association of Deans of Women.

Mr. Carey March, chemistry instructor, has been confined at City Hospital for almost two weeks with the flu.

There are still chuckles over the dignified members of the American Association of University Professors meeting in the Colonial Cocktail Room of the Kepler Hotel Monday evening.

At the end of each lecture at Johns Hopkins, the person on duty for that period walks up and down the aisles gently prodding the class into wakefulness.

Intramural Bowlers To Complete Matches Within Coming Week

League play in intramural bowling will be wound up this week, and the championship matches will follow late this week or early next week. Only one match, that between Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Delta Theta, remains to be rolled, and it is scheduled for 7:15 this evening.

The Sigs made a determined effort to take undisputed first place in League B last Wednesday by downing the Phi Gams, 2-0, but the Chi Rhos kept the Phi Gams in the running by unexpectedly defeating the Sigs on the following day, and then losing to the Phi Gams Saturday. This leaves the Sigs and Phi Gams in first place with three wins and a loss each, and will cause additional matches before the championship can be started.

Friday the Beta Upsilon team downed the Independents, and Monday evening play saw Alpha Chi Rho defeat the Independents 2-0.

The Delts took a match from the Phi Psis in League A competition Saturday afternoon, leaving the Phi Psi-Phi Delt game unplayed to date. The present standing in League B is:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Gamma Delta	3	1	.750
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	3	1	.750
Beta Upsilon	2	2	.500
Alpha Chi Rho	2	2	.500
Independents	0	4	.000

Lucky Strike the fully packed cigarette

— no loose ends

Always the finest tobaccos and only the center leaves are purchased for Lucky Strike cigarettes. We don't buy top leaves—because those are under-developed. And not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. The center leaves—for which farmers are paid higher prices—are the mildest leaves. And only center leaves are used in making Luckies—so round, so firm—free from loose ends. That's why every Lucky draws easily, burns evenly—and is always mild and smooth. Then, too—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.
