Dear Miss Tarbell:-

I am sorry there has been a delay in answering your letter of June 29th, but the information with respect to these old-timers had to be secured from Chicago, and I am sorry to say that our people in Chicago attempted to make some further inquiry with respect to the stock holdings of these men, and found that they were a little reluctant to disclose their present holdings, except so far as the retaining of their original subscription is concerned.

From what check we can make here of our records, we are inclined to believe that they subscribed for their full allotment each year.

Very truly yours,

P. S. Some time when you are down this way again, Mr. Taylor would like to have a talk with you.
