THANKSGIVING VACATION FROM NOV. 27 TO DEC. 2

Vol. LIV., No. 9 | MEADVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA | NOVEMBER 20, 1935

"Men Must Fight" To Be Presented Nov. 22-23-25

Allegheny Players to Present Production Three Days.

Lovers of the modern drama are eagerly awaiting the Playshop production of "Men Must Fight", by Reginald Lawrence and S. K. Lauren, to be given next Friday evening, November 22, at 8:20 p. m. Additional performances will be given on Saturday and Monday evenings, November 23 and 25.

While the advance ticket sale has been large, good seats may still be reserved for this production at the Playshop box office or by calling 1386. The ticket price is 50c.

"Men Must Fight" is one of the most interesting and provocative plays that has been produced on the American stage in the past five years. The imminence of another European war has given the play a more immediate significance than it had five years ago when it was first produced in New York. As a result it is finding its way back into the reportoires of university and community theatres.

The title is self-explanatory of the story which reveals the conflicts of feeling and opinion which are inevitable when war is in the offing. The theme is one which never fails to compel attention and interest—the reactions of a liberal, peace-loving and loyal American family upon finding the country plunged into war. The plot which develops from this situation is not only gripping and exciting, but the play is noteworthy for the revelation of human nature and character. Relief is afforded by the comedy strains running through the play, which is a well-balanced piece of dramatic work.

At the time of its premiere, New York critics were especially favorable in their criticism of "Men Must Fight", as will be seen from the following excerpts:

"Unlike the common variety of special pleading drama, 'Men Must Fight' is temperate and reticent. By discussing the gravest of subjects intelligently it has made a profound impression."—New York Times.

"'Men Must Fight' stirs first audience. There were numerous curtain calls."—New York Daily News.

"Something worthy of respect has arrived on Broadway—an earnest and excellently acted play called 'Men Must Fight'. It says its say quite soberly—and its irony is as tidy as true."—New York American.

"—reaches the hearts of its audience—and the audience gave every evidence that with them the play was a great success—and a very fine play—"—Brooklyn Eagle.

"—its incidents are cannily put forward. The authors have delved deep into their subject and have brought forth a play that is thoughtful and worthy of attention."—Brooklyn Times Union.

"A play rich in both irony and pity and one in which deep feeling is intensified by quietness—is lighted by the strain of irony which runs through it."—New York Sun.

"—it offers an interesting and provocative evening in the theatre. It is a subject, somehow, that never seems to lose its appeal."—New York Evening Post.

A veteran cast will present "Men Must Fight", many of whom have achieved success in previous Playshop productions for which they will be remembered. The players are: Eugene Wasson, Helen Edmundson, Laura Beebe, Donald Murray, Edward Carney, Joseph Macedo, Helena Mumaw, Dorothea Ely, John Jones, and Teresa Vetter.

Last Issue Of Campus Until After Thanksgiving

With the nearness of the Thanksgiving holidays it is announced that this present issue of The Campus will be the last until after the return from the vacation.

Alleghenians leave Wednesday, the day of publication, with most students leaving before the scheduled time of appearance of this publication, therefore this date was eliminated in the preparation of a publication budget.

The students leave Wednesday and return Monday, but time does not permit an issue on the first Wednesday after vacation. The next issue of The Campus will appear December 11.

Five Are Tapped By O. D. K. In Chapel This Noon

Four seniors and one junior were "tapped" by Omicron Delta Kappa in chapel today. Dr. Bruce S. Wright also spoke on "Frank Buchman and the Oxford Group Movement."

Those "tapped" were Robert Dennis, Philip Jacobus, William Hyde, and Richard Darling, seniors; and Walter Jacobson, junior.

Omicron Delta Kappa was established at Allegheny in 1928. The purpose of the fraternity is to honor men who are prominent in extra-curricular activities of the school.

The new members are prominent in athletics, student government, debate, publications, music.

Elections are held twice a year, seniors being chosen in the fall and juniors selected in the spring. The men are elected according to a point system devised for the fraternity.

History Club To Send Delegates To Syracuse U.

This week-end, three student delegates of the History and Political Science Club will journey to Syracuse University, there to participate in a regional conclave of the International Student Relations Club featuring a symposium on the current problem: "Collective Action for World Peace."

Dr. Paul Giddens, Assistant Professor of History, is also expected to attend as faculty representative.

Richard Darling, '36; Mishell George, '37, and Betty Elliott, '37, will participate in the varied discussions during the two-day convention, November 22 and 23. Approximately 150 college delegates from the Middle Atlantic states will be present.

Each Allegheny representative will concentrate his inquiry into one specific field of the round table discussions. Richard Darling will contribute to the forum, "Adjusting economic conditions which engender war"; Mishell George, "American Neutrality"; and Betty Elliott, "League sanctions against aggressor states."

Following the reception and dinner at the University Friday night, the first of a series of round table discussions will be held.

Saturday will be devoted to a business meeting and further symposiums.

Dr. Joseph Kunz, famous international lawyer, affiliated with the University of Toledo, will speak on international amity at the dinner the same evening.

Under the auspices of the Carnegie Peace Foundation, the International Relations Club seeks to foster international understanding by concerted action for peace.

From this organization, the Allegheny History and Political Science Club has been the recipient of annual contributions of popular books and pamphlets relative to all aspects of the peace problem.

To Hold Wakefield Oration Contest Dec. 3

Preliminaries for the annual Wakefield Oration Contest will be held December 3, at four o'clock. This contest is open to any student of the sophomore, junior, or senior class. The oration shall be from 1500 to 1800 words and the delivered oration shall not exceed fifteen minutes.

The final contest is scheduled for eight o'clock, December 12, at the Playshop Theatre. This final contest will be between six contestants remaining after the preliminary elimination. The person adjudged to be the best speaker will receive an award of $25 and the person taking second place will receive $10.

Names of all participants should be turned immediately into Mr. Hurst Anderson, in Arter Hall.

'Gators Lose Fifth Straight, Bow To Juniata

A tall, heavy, and rangy squad of gridders from Juniata College, came out of central Pennsylvania last Saturday, to provide the best game seen on Montgomery field this year, and march over Allegheny's 'Gators to the tune of 20-6.

Though the score indicated the superiority of the Indians, over the Lawrencemen, it did not indicate the battle necessary for the scores, and the outstanding defensive play of the 'Gators which stopped many a Juniata drive that seemed certain to add to their total.

After a scoreless first half, a half full of defensive and offensive brilliancy, the Juniatians broke loose in the third quarter to score all of their 20 points. Unleashing a veritable maze of screened plays, the Indians forced the resisting 'Gators to crumble before their attack, and pushed over three touchdowns in rapid succession.

After their first goal and conversion the 'Gators supplied a thrill by scoring on a blocked punt and bringing the score to a 7-6 count. But the Juniata power broke loose and dominated the play until the end of the game.

Weaver, a very tricky halfback, scored all of the Indian touchdown points. His slashing drives provided the fans with many a thrill.

In the end, the superior size and weight advantage held by the Juniata eleven, counted up most to give them a game in the win column.

Each quarter was a constant battle, with line smashing, hard tackling, passing, and punting for both teams. The big Juniata squad had an advantage over the scrappy little 'Gators by considerably greater weight combined with speed. The Juniata line averaged one hundred and eighty pounds and the backfield averaged one hundred and sixty pounds. With all the weight and speed the Alligators' line proved many times to be a stone wall for their visitors.

Kappa Phi Kappa Elects Five Men Into Membership

A banquet in honor of five newly initiated men will be held in the Kepler Hotel by Kappa Phi Kappa, men's professional educational fraternity, this evening at six o'clock. An initiation ceremony will take place.

Speakers will be Mr. John Bozic, local attorney, who will talk on "Crime Prevention". Rev. Dr. Bruce S. Wright, pastor of Stone Church, will also speak.

Last Wednesday afternoon Kappa Phi Kappa initiated Richard Rushmore, '37; Leon Gregg, '36; Carson Baker, '37; Leonard Bataglia, '38; and Keith Hutchison, '37.

Phi Beta Phi Plans For Christmas Party

Phi Beta Phi plans to hold its annual Christmas party in its completed cabin at the Bousson Farm, according to the president of the organization, Robert Muir, '36.

Roof rafters have been put into place and work on the fireplace and roof is to begin this week.

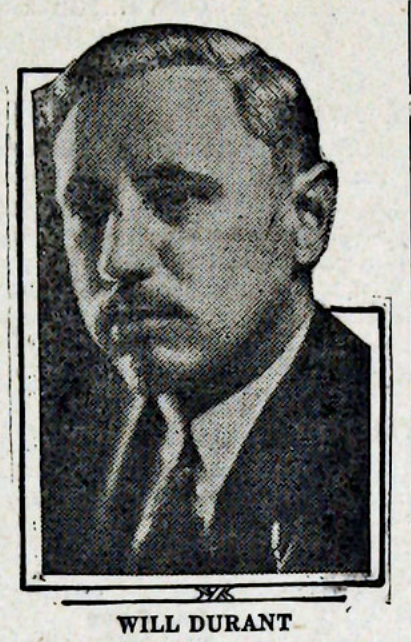

When completed, the cabin will be used as an experiment and observation station by the Biology department, as well as for a camp and meeting place of Phi Beta Phi.

Exhibit Of Commercial Art Shown At Library

An exhibit of commercial art in advertising, comprising catalogs of many of the industries whose products are in every day use, is being shown at the Reis Library. Catalogs of many of the local merchants have been loaned for the occasion. The work will be kept on display for two weeks.

Early American firemarks are also being shown in the library. Firemarks were used to identify insured from uninsured properties. They were adopted by the Fire Office in Philadelphia in 1752. A replica of the first mark made is included in the display loaned by Miss Helen Remler.

Famous Lecturer To Appear Here Tomorrow Evening

WILL DURANT

Dr. Will Durant to be Feature Of Lecture Course.

Dr. Will Durant, who has been referred to as "the best-educated man in America", will make his appearance in the high school auditorium tomorrow evening at 8:15. Dr. Durant comes here under the auspices of the College-Community Concert-Lecture Course.

The lecturer will discuss "The Crisis in American Civilization", a subject which was prepared after giving much thought to America's problems. The discussion will concern "the threat to civilization from revolution, war, and internal decay, and possible measures for the salvation and strengthening of western civilization."

Dr. Durant is probably one of the most popular speakers on the American platform today. Even the most intellectual of his lectures are presented in such an intelligent and witty manner as to be highly interesting to every audience. His flashing wit and charming personality are supported by the fact that he always has something to say and says it in an interesting manner.

Speaking is not Dr. Durant's only accomplishment, for he has written many books on subjects of philosophy, several of which are selling better than the most popular fiction. His latest book, the first of a series which will be completed in 1950, is "The Story of Civilization—Our Oriental Heritage." These books and speeches of his have a wide background of education and travel.

Allegheny Debate Is Broadcast Over Radio Station WLEU

The first of the series of radio debates given by members of the Allegheny Debaters was presented yesterday afternoon over the Erie station WLEU at 3:00 p. m. John Bletzinger was the affirmative speaker and William Hyde took the negative side of the question, "Should the nations of the world resort to military sanctions in an attempt to enforce peace." Rex Malmquist was the announcer.

The problem resolved into three minor questions, namely, Is there a need for world peace? What is the best method for world peace? and Will military sanctions be necessary for world peace? The question was very skillfully handled. This debate was a non-decision discussion as the following ones will be.

Next Tuesday afternoon the program will be in charge of the women debaters with the question, "Should the United States protect the interests of its citizens in foreign war zones?" Aileen Rockenbach will present the affirmative side while the negative view will be represented by Betty Elliott. Dorothea Ely will be the announcer.

These debates will take place every Tuesday afternoon while school is in session till Feb. 18. The men are under the direction of Mr. Anderson, while Mr. Haberman has charge of the women speakers.

Representatives To Language Fraternity Convention Return

Miss Alice Church, '37, and Robert Smith, '37, represented Allegheny at the annual convention of Phi Sigma Iota, held November 15 and 16 at Illinois Wesleyan University.

Phi Sigma Iota is an honorary romance language fraternity. It was founded at Allegheny under the leadership of Dr. Henry W. Church, head of the Romance Language Department, in 1922 and became a national in 1925.

Dr. Church, national president of the fraternity, accompanied the delegates.

Women's Education Fraternity Holds Initiation Tuesday

Because of their outstanding work in the education department, six upperclass women were initiated into Kappa Delta Epsilon, honorary educational fraternity for women, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 19. The six initiates are Virginia Dalrymple, '36; Betty Miller, '36; Ruth Meyers, '37; Emma Robertson, '37; Betty Heath, '37, and Julia Ferguson, '37.

The initiation took place at seven o'clock in the Theta Upsilon rooms in Hulings Hall. After the services, the members held their regular meeting in the Gold Room, where Dr. Armen Kalfayan spoke on "The Place of Women in the Turkish Educational System."

Inter-Fraternity Sing To Be Held Under New Competition

Although the Interfraternity Sing will not be held until next spring, plans are already being formulated by a committee consisting of Everett Hendriks, '37, Archie Tate, '37, and Alfred Van Andel, '36.

The chief purpose of this committee is to promote singing in the fraternity houses throughout the year and to halt the practice of learning songs just previous to the Sing.

Four rules have been decided upon by the committee. They are:

1. Each fraternity will prepare a list of songs which they are fully capable of singing.
2. These lists will be given to the judges, who will choose from them two or three numbers to be sung.
3. The names of these songs are to be kept secret from the fraternities until just before the Sing.
4. For each song entered over and above four, points will be given which will enter into the final judging.

Contrary to the custom of previous years, informality will be the keynote of the Sing this year.

Meadville Artist Guest Speaker At Assembly

Noon assembly on Friday, Nov. 15, was in charge of the Associated Women Students, in Hulings Hall. Mr. Gorney, who maintains an art studio in Meadville, was the guest speaker. He spoke on the International Art Exhibit at the Carnegie Art Gallery, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. Gorney pointed out that 21 nations participated this year. Artists were eligible on invitation only, thus raising the art standards in which a selection of only the best are is represented. The outstanding jury this year was composed of two Americans, Stewart Curry and Alexander Brooks, and three jurists of European countries.

After discussing the three prize pictures, and certain other outstanding paintings of the various national sections, Mr. Gorney told the students the principle points of judging a picture. He said that the student should ask himself three questions. These were "Is the form good? Is the color good?" and "Is the composition good?"

"The Campus" Extends Its Best Wishes For An Enjoyable Thanksgiving Vacation

THE LIBRARY

Reis Library is very well administered in the interests of the students but there is one time when their needs are not considered—Sunday afternoon. For it seems the library is not open long enough on that day.

If one goes to the library on Sunday afternoon, it is interesting to see the large number of students present, studying hard and working feverishly to cram work which can only be accomplished there. Many comments are heard in the cloak room, such as, "This place is only open from three to five o'clock; wish they could keep it open for another hour and a half and I could collect all my material."

This remark is typical of the many that are made. Why cannot the library be closed on Saturday evening and be left open for another hour and a half on Sunday?

There are usually dances or other activities on Saturday night and consequently only ten to twenty students make use of the library. This was true last Saturday night for by actual count there were only fifteen or twenty students present all evening. Yet the next afternoon, at exactly three o'clock, there were fifteen students already present. By half past three there were well over fifty or sixty students in the library.

Therefore, can any plausible reason be pointed out why Reis Library should not be closed at five-thirty o'clock Saturday afternoon and opened from two to five-thirty o'clock on Sunday? The lengthened Sunday hours will neither interfere with morning church or evening vespers and will fulfill a student need.

STUDENT THOUGHT ON POLITICS

"College students are perhaps thinking too much—for the welfare of those who have run the government." Such is a prominent thought of the day. It is offered by many as a criticism of the modern college youth. At least, college students are thinking. It has been a common habit to label everything new in governmental and economic thought as radical. The fact is that many college students are more conservative than their elders. However, they know why they are conservative. They are taking an interest in political things. This is what frightens the elders; they fail to consider what it really means.

The entrance of more and more college students into politics, the emphasis on training for political positions means a new era of political thought in the United States. It means that men will hold offices for which they have had some measure of training. It means that the voting public will be conscious of what is going on in government, and why. It means that the vote-buying illiterate gangster will be ousted from public office. It does not mean that red flags are being hoisted above the buildings of our colleges and that college students are being taught to be good little disciples of socialism.

RADIO

TID-BITS

Shades of Hal Kemp and his orchestra! Jimmie Bray, selected by the Women's Student Association for their Hobo Hop, was a great imitator of the Nighthawks leader. A swell band, congrats to the women for getting him here . . . Paul Specht, Allegheny's 1935 Junior Prom choice, is now playing for the Auto Show spectacle in Pittsburgh, and broadcasting over a CBS hookup. Marie Dupree, feminine blues singer, is still with him. We remember how the fellows went for her last year. The Phi Gams even had her up for tea, or rather dinner . . . Another band featured at an Allegheny Junior Prom is back on the airwaves after a layoff. Sleepy Hall and his band, who played here in 1932, is now over CBS from Rochester. His banjo rendition of Tiger Rag, which members of the present senior class remember, is still the tops, if his rendition the other night can be an indicator. He reviewed several old favorites including "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" and "Would You Like to Take a Walk." . . . While on the subject of Junior Proms how about a selection from one of these less expensive bands for the prom next semester: Tommy Tucker, Sleepy Hall, Tommy Christian, Jimmy Lunceford, Jan Savitt, Sammy Kaye . . . Ray Noble has vacated his Coty hour spot, and is now "miking" it over CBS, rather than his starting NBC network.

Ballad Burgeons Out Of Interclass Fray

The soph'mores came so bold and strong
Met the freshmen and did them wrong.

They gathered in front of the hall
Jeered the frosh to enter the brawl.

After a while the freshies came
Showed the soph'mores they were game.

And then there was oh such a fight
The noise of which rang through the nite.

The watching girls stood in a crowd
Cheering the soph'mores oh so loud

Soph'more Tommy Jones was rushed away
And lost his pants during the fray.

Vainly he shouted loud for help
But nary a soph heard his yelp.

Sad was the plight of poor Bill Crane
Who battled fiercely but in vain.

First of all they cut off some hair
Then took all clothes but underwear.

Jackie McFarland took a chance
Was unsuccessful, lost his pants.

Crooner Bob Johnson lost some hair
But then no one else seemed to care.

Spence and Petrequin held their ground
Rushed and tossed the freshies around.

But Monk Meyers met his defeat
When he stumbled and left his feet.

When Bobby Burns came up for air
He found his pants no longer there.

"Alas," he shouted. "Woe is me.
A sadder sight you'll never see."

The frosh fought hard but had no chance
Therefore most of them lost their pants.

After an hour the fight ended
And to their homes, the soph'mores wended.

A bit bruised up, and tired, but glad
They'd left the freshmen sore and sad.

But the freshies were not too sad
They'd done their best and were not mad.

Wait a year, maybe they'll be king
And make the class of '40 sing.

They went to bed, then came the dawn
And then the janitor viewed the lawn.

He wrung his hands and said "alas
Look what has happened to my grass."

"I wish I had been there last night
I'd have shown those birds what was a fight."

"Just look again at my poor grass
But what's the use, alack, alas."

Of course there'll prob'ly be a stink
But the men's senate knows what we think.

Next year when the '39ers get their chance,
They'll probably see to it that other freshies lose their pants.

Freshman-Sophomore Vendetta Flares Into Furious Conflict

Long held in abeyance, the traditional Freshman-Sophomore feud recrudesced with a cataclysmic force last Tuesday night as Allegheny undergraduates locked in a furious but indecisive conflict before Caflisch Hall to establish reputation and ascendancy in interclass relations.

The fierce imbroglio—outgrowth of a reputedly friendly resentment between the classes—was prosecuted with an exceptional fervor. Trousers rent asunder, faces mauled and mangled, hair clipped with reckless abandon—in fact, all overt acts of terrorism were injected into the bestial brawl.

Animated by a spirited class rally held earlier in the evening at Bousson Farm, the Sophomore hordes of braggadocio males tramped to the portals of the Freshman citadel, there to lustily challenge the somnolent yearlings.

A coterie of vehement and termagant camp followers—including many Sophomore women whose evening permission had been extended for the occasion—shrilled defiance to the Class of '39 and urged their tatterdemalion bone-crushers to do their worst.

Freshmen, about to retire, galvanized their forces for resistance by rousing their slumbering comrades and shouting recriminations from upstairs dormitory windows.

Finally, their courage screwed to the breaking point, freshmen attacking parties lunged headlong from their quarters into the menacing opposition. The long-smouldering vendetta was instantaneously precipitated.

Figuratively unleashing their fangs, splitting the drizzling night with their horrendous cries, the classes of '38 and '39—evenly matched in manpower and aggressive insolence—wrought indiscriminate havoc with their opposition.

Barricading himself in a convenient corridor, one indomitable yearling flayed about in a blind fury, using a chair as his weapon of assault. A proctor who appeared unexpectedly was almost clouted.

With noses bloodied but unbowed and teeth dislocated, freshmen fought valiantly against a gallant opposition. And above the tumult of the massacre, feminine spectators screamed exultantly.

As the battle progressed, more ingenious devices for treacherous backbiting were adopted. From an upper floor of Caflisch, a decomposed squash came hurtling into the melange with meteoric force. Several sophomores were transfixed—with amazement.

Now sophomores retaliated with a predetermined vengeance. Unmercilessly, errant freshmen were seized singly, overwhelmed, and forthwith subjected to a Samson and Delilah act.

The Master Barbers' Association of Crawford County, it has been rumored, may protest against the amateur quality of the haircuts administered by non-union labor.

While they wallowed in the muck of a once verdant lawn, breeches, pantaloons, shoes and every possible item of wearing apparel were wrenched from the drenched combatants. Still the spectators chortled.

After the groveling fighters disengaged themselves from the melee and staggered homeward, freshmen and sophomores alike claimed supreme victory in the glorious conquest. Since the altercation was not entirely waged according to the rules of the Marquis of Queensbury, no definite decision could be ascertained.

Mud flowed thicker than water in the Caflisch showers that night.

Next morning, the only forlorn vestiges of a Pyrrhic victory—waged with incredible ferocity, yet producing no tenable results—were the sodden remains of tattered garments and accessory apparel trampled into the viscous mud of a distorted lawn.

Also, freshman dinks were to be seen in greater prominence, ostensibly to cover up the scene of the sophomores' depredations.

Juniata, Last Week's Foe Composed Of Underclassmen

Beware of Juniata in the next couple of years!

When the Indians plastered a 20-6 defeat onto Allegheny's 'Gators last Saturday, they did it with but two seniors in the lineup. Renniger, halfback, and Scott, center, were the only two men playing who will be missing next year.

The large Gold squad is composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores, and four freshmen. No less than fourteen freshmen were represented on the squad that made the trip here.

Weaver, the sensational half back, who scored all three touchdowns was only a sophomore. And, he's the one advance notice from Juniata hailed as a "blocking" back whose injuries would prevent his appearance. A blocking back who carried the ball 19 times and rolled up a yardage total of 183 yards.

Fourteen freshmen and eight sophomores were among the first string men. And Allegheny plays them next season!

When Vincent Kelley registered at the University of Nebraska he offered 3,600 pennies which took him seven years to save. They weighed 22 pounds.

From the same source we learn that Northwestern has inaugurated a course in knitting for the men . . . A course in bridge is being offered at Purdue . . . The University of Alabama has a girl enrolled in a boxing class.

Annual Turkey Race To Be Held Tomorrow

Tomorrow the classic of the fall intramural program will take place, the Turkey Race. With a big turkey dinner at stake the boys will be out to do or die.

Competition will be unusually keen this year as the teams who are particularly strong in numbers lack the individual stars and vice versa.

The winners last year, Phi Gamma Delta, have but two men eligible, the Phi Psi's who finished third have a much stronger team this year and will make a determined bid for the fowl. It is by no means an open and shut race as all the teams entered have a good chance to come out on top. Bill Wilson, the winner of last year's race, is looked to repeat but he will have more competition than he did last year. The race will be one of the best that has been witnessed in many years and upsets may be looked for.

Sophomores Take Inter-class Title In Touch Football

Sophomores were declared interclass touch football champions Monday when their opponents, the Juniors, failed to show up for the scheduled championship game. The sophomores had won the right to participate in the championship game by having previously defeated the freshmen, 30-6, and the juniors defeated the seniors, 18-12.

The seniors lost their second game of the competition by forfeiting to the freshmen. Therefore the freshmen were awarded second place in the final standings even though the juniors were tied with them. This was due mainly to the indifference of the juniors and seniors to be on hand to play their games at the scheduled time.

The final standings:

Class	Won	Lost	Prctg.
Sophomores	2	0	1.000
Freshmen	1	1	.500
Juniors	1	1	.500
Seniors	0	2	.000

'Gators To Travel To Massachusetts Saturday

Strong Springfield Eleven to Be Met in Last Game.

The last and toughest game on the 'Gator football schedule will be played next Saturday with Springfield College, of Massachusetts furnishing the opposition. Springfield numbers among its victims this season Brown, New Hampshire U., and Lowell Textile, all defeated by large margins. The one blot upon their record is the 39-0 drubbing handed them by Boston College last Saturday.

In the history of the football rivalry between the two schools Allegheny has never walked off the field victorious and this year offers no hope of exception.

Saturday's game will mark the end of the collegiate football careers of three varsity lettermen: Horn and Widmann, the co-captains and Len Blasdell.

The 'Gators will travel to the den of the New Englanders with but small hope of bettering their present record which stands at 2 wins, and 5 losses.

Springfield is the alma mater of all three members of Allegheny's coaching staff, Paul Way, Karl Lawrence, and Arthur Daniels.

The physical education school has consistently produced football teams that rank with the best in the east, and this year's edition is holding up the reputation.

Fraternities To Commence Play In Volley Ball

Interfraternity volleyball tournaments will get under way this week. After a year without any competition the teams are eager to justify the return of the sport to intramural competition. The Sigs won the tournament in 1933-34 but it is rather difficult to pick a winner or to even narrow the field down to two or three teams as none of the teams has played to date. However, the clubs are showing a lot of spirit and the tournament should prove to be one of the most closely contested of the year.

The schedule:

LEAGUE A.

Wed., Nov. 20—Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Delta Tau Delta.
Fri., Nov. 22—Phi Kappa Psi vs. Phi Delta Theta.
Sat., Nov. 23—Delta Tau Delta vs. Phi Kappa Psi.
Tues., Nov. 26—Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Phi Kappa Psi.
Tues., Dec. 3—Phi Delta Theta vs. Delta Tau Delta.

LEAGUE B.

Wed., Nov. 20—Beta Kappa vs. Independents.
Fri., Nov. 22—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Independents.
Sat., Nov. 23—Alpha Chi Rho vs. Beta Kappa.
Tues., Nov. 26—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Beta Kappa.
Tues., Dec. 3—Independents vs. Alpha Chi Rho.

Dr. L. J. Long Presents System For Frat Finance

Dr. Louis J. Long, new Instructor in Economics, spoke at the meeting of the Interfraternity Council at the Delta Tau Delta house last Wednesday evening. He presented a system which he had devised for use in connection with fraternity finance.

Dr. Long, who had charge of financial problems in several fraternities while at the University of Illinois, has been elected National Comptroller of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

'GATORS BOW TO JUNIATA

The first quarter was almost an even battle. Most of the playing took place between the two twenty-yard lines. The visitors outnumbered the Blue and Gold in first downs by a number of five to nothing in the first quarter but Blasdell's long punting far exceeded that of Juniata.

In the second quarter the Alligators came back with much fight and determination. The surprised Juniata team was thrown for many losses, due to the good work of Horn in the first few minutes of play. A thirty-yard pass completed by Garner to Pelka put Juniata in scoring position on the 'Gator's nine-yard line. The Blue and Gold held for four downs giving no yards. As Allegheny lined up in punt formation the quarter ended.

The crucial period of the game was in the third quarter. Both teams gave everything they had at this time. Line plunging, lateral, and forward passes in profusion gave the fans more football than seen here this year. Juniata scored the first touchdown by a lateral and forward pass completed by Renninger to Garner to Weaver. Scott converted the extra point. Juniata's punt was blocked on their thirty-two yard line. Spence recovered and took it across the line for Allegheny's lone touchdown. Blasdell's try for the extra point was wide. The constant driving of Weaver took the ball from Juniata's twenty-yard line over the Allegheny goal for another tally. Scott missed the extra point. Clark made a thirty-two yard comeback on the kick-off, but the ball was fumbled on the next play and Juniata gained possession of it. Weaver marched it across the goal line for another score and Scott completed the extra point. Swanson, a freshman, made many gains on line plunges in the third quarter.

The 'Gators entered the fourth quarter with determination, and most of the battling took place in Juniata's territory. The game ended with Allegheny on Juniata's five-yard line. The lineup:

ALLEGHENY		JUNIATA
L.E.	Horn	M. Garner
L.T.	Cousins	T. Garner
L.G.	White	Seiders
C.	Widmann	Scott
R.G.	Becker	Friend
R.T.	Spence	Wolfe
R.E.	J. Lavely	Cook
Q.B.	Clark	Hahn
L.H.	Diaz	Weaver
R.H.	Blasdell	Renninger
F.B.	Swanson	Cramer

Score by quarters:

Juniata	0	0	20	0	—20
Allegheny	0	0	6	0	— 6

Touchdowns—Weaver 3, Spence. Extra points after touchdowns, Scott 2. First Downs 16-1.

Substitutions: Juniata—Geiser and Pelka. Allegheny—Heckman, H. Lavely, McFarland, Carlson, Pardee, Petriquin, Bowman, Ransferd, and Henry.

Can you wiggle your thumbs? Gatekeepers at Ohio State have a novel method of deciding whether you are sober enough to enter the stadium. If you can wiggle your thumbs in unison, you're OK. Otherwise you can watch the game from a telephone pole.

Imagine the consternation of Pitt officials when they discovered that they had no coveted 50-yard-line seats in their stadium. The mid-strip is directly on line with an aisle.—Fiat Lux.

The college man is too honest to steal, too proud to beg, too lazy to work, and too poor to pay cash. That's why we have to give him credit.—Mich. Daily.

Student Psychology: (When his roomie tries to wake him for an eight o'clock.) "What's the use of going to my eight o'clock? I studied that subject last night. There's no use in going to my nine o'clock either, I didn't study it. Call me in time for chapel."

The Fordham mascot, a ram, recently disgraced himself by mistaking an elderly woman for a football spy when she bent over to pick dandelions near the practice field. The woman was taken to the infirmary where it was discovered her injuries were not serious.

★ STARDUST ★

At last the Sophs have had their fun. The hair-cutting free-for-all turned out to be quite a fray. Both sides claim a victory so you can't win! The cutting of the long tawny locks of one of the verdent freshmen, certainly helped his personal appearance almost to the extent of actual beauty. The Hulings inhabitants might well be glad of this exhibition, for now they know who the best man in the Sophomore class is . . . The Women's Athletic Council deserves "egg in their beer" for a very excellent dance . . . Rumor has is that a Theta wore a Kappa pin as being appropriate for the Hobo Hop . . . You might know the Phi Psis could take first prize at any Hobo Hop, but then too, the Sigs showed their inherent nature . . . Conspicuous by their absence were the two "Young Republicans" of the senior class . . . It's bad enough for the Freshmen to pick on the poor Sophomore men, but when they bring a mouse to class to scare the Sophomore girls—well, that is bad . . . The "tally-ho" Phi Delt reached the height of laziness when he suggested that the Freshman-Sophomore fiasco be transferred to the Phi Delt farm. It seems that the idea of trekking through the fields and marshes is very discouraging to their morale . . . The Phi Gam prize print (thanks to Dorothy Dix and Esquire) came to light for the second time this semester. They make laws against other things— . . . The Cochran Women have to be strong and healthy to get even a bowl of soup these days. It's sort of the survival of the fit. If you're sick you starve . . . The Delts had a big dinner in honor of their pledge class at the country club. That's why the Hookless shut down for a day. It's something scandalous what some people will go through to get a decent meal. The prerequisite was church on Sunday morning. No church, no dinner! . . . And to those who have a thirst for verse, can take this excuse for better or worse.

The horse and mule live thirty years
And nothing know of wines and beers;
The goat and sheep at twenty die
But never taste of Scotch or Rye.
The cow drinks water by the ton
And when eighteen is almost done,
Without the aid of gin or rum.
The cat in milk and water soaks
And then in twelve short years it croaks
The modest, sober, bone-dry hen
Lays eggs for nogs and dies at ten.
The lower animals are cursed
Because they lack a liquor thirst;
From birth they play a tragic part
And stop before they fairly start
All animals are strictly dry,
They sinless live and swiftly die
But sinful, ginful, rumsoaked men
Survive for three-score years and ten.

From one Phi Bete to another. This conversation was heard between two distinguished scholars: "Were you sober last night, or is it now?" Oh, to wear a Phi Bete key to be privileged to use such intelligent phrases . . . . . Some think there is a plan afoot to undermine the Greeks, we dassan't say too much one way or another . . . What would happen to the profits of the last two all-college dances if they were handed over to the Men's Senate??? Have they a sinking fund? Eighty-eight dollars is money in any man's language . . . The Men's Senate would have sponsored another all-college had it not been the great disappointment of one of the Senators in not being appointed to the committee . . . The dancing master at the Sig house got two prizes at the Hobo Hop. One for his speech and one for his costume . . . Anyhow our president expressed the opinion it was great to be back to Allegheny and see a sensible student body.

Winners In Football Contest Announced

Winners in the football score guessing contest of the Pitt-Army, Thiel-Allegheny gridiron contests of November 9 were announced yesterday, by the sponsors of the contest, the Old Gold Cigarette Company.

Ben Raskin, '38, was the winner of the first prize of $10. Robert Cappe, '39, received $5 as second prize. William Osborn, '36, received as third prize, 400 Old Gold cigarettes, while Charles Nevins, '36, received 200 cigarettes as fourth prize.

Allegheny Representatives Attend Inauguration

Dean John R. Schultz represented Allegheny College at the inauguration of President Alan Valentine at the University of Rochester on Friday, November 15. Dean Schultz was one of many representatives from the colleges of the Northeastern United States.

Dr. C. F. Ross, representing Allegheny College, attended the inauguration of President James, at the University of Ohio, in Athens, Ohio, last Friday.

A lone male is enrolled at Wellesley college. He is working for a bachelor's degree.

From Washington and Lee's Ring-Tum-Phi we learn that out of 330 Sweet Briar students questioned, 228 smoked. The freshmen class had the highest percentage of smokers with 49 out of the 89 questioned.

I'd have a place to put the junk
My girl brings to the dances.

Cochran Crew Celebrates.

The waiters and dishwashers of Cochran Hall held a radio party Friday, November 15, in Cochran Hall. The chaperones were Miss Nancy Peffer and Mr. P. M. Benjamin. There were twenty couples present. The entertainment consisted of square dancing, the Virginia Reel and round dancing. Cider, doughnuts and carmels were served as refreshments.

"Hobo Hop."

A Hobo Hop, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association was held in Montgomery Gymnasium from 8 until 12 o'clock on Nov. 16. One hundred and fifty couples danced to the music of Jimmie Bray and his orchestra.

The price of admission was 75 cents for brunettes, 80 cents for blondes, 85 cents for redheads, and 90 cents for bald heads plus tax. Tin cans and signboards appropriately decorated the gym.

All hoboes participated in a Grand March held before intermission at which time prizes were bestowed upon Bill DeArment and Frances Boone for best costume, while DeWitt Zahniser and Mary K. Brazell received honorable mention.

Refreshments consisted of doughnuts and coffee.

Mr. Paul Cares and Miss May were chaperones for the occasion.

Kaldron Staff Wages Crusade To Lure Students To Studio

"PHOTOGRAPHY is the art or process of producing images on sensitized surfaces by the chemical action of radiant energy."

Thus spake Noah Webster, of dictionary fame.

But Noah Webster, recquiescat in pace, never was in the vicinity of Meadville. Never did he observe the frantic supplications and fervent cajolings of the Kaldron Staff in its energetic drive to make the student body cognizant of its crusade for "photograph consciousness".

Already, the entire female population of the college has been marshalled to the studios of Kurt Glaubach where, behind an intricate battery of spotlights, coy and demure damsels have been transmuted into seductive wenches of transcendent charm—photographically speaking.

Kaldron officials, including Barbara Burns, Assistant Editor, Francis Wynn, Fraternity Editor, and Judith Kerr, Seniors Editor, made this universal representation possible, employing every device of persuasive tactics to effect this achievement.

However, the summoning of intransigeant freshmen and senior males to have their profiles recorded for posterity constitutes a confounding problem. Obviously, the $1.50 asessment could not conceivably be such a pervasive deterrent.

A new policy, inaugurated by the Kaldron Editorial Board, provides for the use of undergraduate photographs in succeeding issues of the yearbook. Hence, all those upperclassmen desiring to have last year's photographs repeated in the 1936 Kaldron may do so. A nominal fee of 35c will be assessed for replacement costs in such cases.

Since freshmen photographs will probably be featured permanently, it is imperative that appointments be arranged promptly to facilitate publication.

In an exclusive news release, Walter Jacobson, '37, Editor-in-chief of the Kaldron, declared: "The 1936 Kaldron Staff will endeavor to produce an original yearbook to epitomize the multifarious activities of Allegheny campus life.

"For one thing, the 1936 Kaldron will be enlarged by 32 pages. The innovation of candid camera shots by Kurt C. Glaubach, official college photographer, will enliven the publication.

"The Kaldron Staff requests all freshmen to lend their support by making their appointments immediately."

Ping Pong Tournament Planned In December

Due to the interest taken this year in ping pong, a tournament has been planned for Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14. There will be a small charge of five cents per person for singles and ten cents per team for doubles. The doubles tournament should prove of great interest as it is something new in ping pong at Allegheny. It is expected that it will be the feature of the tourney.

All those interested in participating in this competition should contact either Luther Taylor at the S. A. E. House, or Bill Burr at the Phi Psi House. Valuable prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Evangelical Students League To Meet Today

Wednesday at 2:25 p. m., The League of Evangelical Students expects to hold its meeting in the history seminar room in the Library.

At the last meeting, it was stated that under modern attacks, certain of the peculiar Christian doctrines have been relinquished. It is contended that the religion that remains is not Christianity. To ascertain if this is true, an appeal was made to Paul and to the primitive church. At this afternoon's meeting we expect to see what Jesus has to say on the subject.

All students are cordially invited to attend this meeting this afternoon.

A ventilating system designed to change the air in the University of Iowa (Iowa City) Union every six minutes will be installed in the Cornhuskers' social center in the near future.
