

Paragraphs

¶ The social dancing class for both men and women really gets underway this week with Miss Elfrid Ide, physical education instructor in charge. Meeting in Brooks hall at 4:10 p. m. Mondays, the group will take up all phases of ballroom dancing. Miss Ide, proficient in French, may possibly introduce students to the proper words in that language that precede the various efforts.

¶ An appeal to collegians to recognize the serious plight of China's students was voiced last Thursday in Ford chapel by Miss Elsa Logan, an American missionary born in China. How eastern Chinese colleges had been forced to close by the Japanese invasion, and how scholars had been driven west to continue their educations under most difficult conditions, was related by the speaker. Comparing the Japanese occupation of Manchuria to a similar hypothetical control of New England, she further emphasized the stranglehold the invaders have on China. Despite the seriousness of the situation, according to Miss Logan, students are not required to join the Chiang forces and China is making every effort to produce able leaders for the period following the war.

¶ "In every age, the nations of the world take the precious gifts brought to them by sacrifice and suffering, make a brief obeisance, utter a few platitudes on special occasion, and then proceed to pour the gifts upon the ground." Thus did President William P. Tolley explain the present war in a sermon Sunday afternoon at vesper service on the Day of Prayer that brought to a close the city's Civilian Mobilization week. "What did we do with our precious heritage of which we gained possession following the last war? Did we make proper use of it? No," the president declared, "we poured it on the ground." The present war, the president charged, was another effort to establish the freedom of self-government, brought on by our failure to guard the precious heritage against encroachment. At the service, in Stone church, Allegheny's Singers added further student participation to the week of observance.

¶ "I wasn't sleeping, I was only resting," vigorously declared U. B. Tongue in answer to this column's hint last week that he had been discovered sleeping off a saturnalia attendant upon the recent Kolisch quartet visit. Being able to rest on the sofa there is herculean enough, especially for a classics man, accustomed to Roman couches.

¶ Students marched and "vociferously" too, according to the local journal, in the Friday night parade that was a big event in Meadville's Civilian Mobilization week. Some hundred and fifty, a less proportionate decline than in the ranks of townspeople, echeloned along in a "helluva night for a parade." Other big event of the week was the well-planned city blackout that extinguished all lights and brought forth the hidden talents of two sophomores. Their brave invasion of Brooks hall fizzled out in the local calaboose, however.

¶ The robbery at the Beta Kappa house early last Monday morning should serve as a warning to other fraternities in the habit of leaving front doors unlocked all night. Fifty-six dollars in cash was taken, along with other valuables, by the thief who ransacked dresser drawers to pick up loose change. Police are investigating.

¶ A timely discussion of the Dutch East Indies, currently one of the war's big theatres of action, was brought to chapel-goers Tuesday noon by Mr. Paul B. Cares of the history department. "We must keep a foothold in these islands," the speaker declared, illustrating his point with a description of the tremendous amount of raw materials exported to this country from the islands. Of the islands, however, according to Cares, Java, remaining free among the other fallen islands, is the best prepared to defend herself. He was not optimistic of chances for survival of this "greatest undeveloped source of natural resources in the world."

¶ Dean Laila Skinner's lounge will be open to women students who wish to make use of her extensive record collection, according to information from the A. W. S. meeting Monday noon. Also made public was an invitation for women students to entertain men for dinner in her apartment.

Tri-Weekly Testing Is Instituted

Central Office Will Handle Class Quizzes

In order to discourage excessive cutting for the remainder of the semester, a tri-weekly examination system has been set up under which examinations will be given on material covered in class lectures and will be mimeographed, as well as corrected, in a central office recently established for that purpose.

The service is being offered as a possible solution to the individual professor's problem of class attendance and is not mandatory, but can be used at the discretion of the teacher. It will, when requested, provide mimeographed duplicates of test originals and score them, providing answer sheets are used.

Since this service will be used in a good many courses, it is necessary that a strict schedule be followed and that the tests all be of a uniform nature. They will be all objective and will include both true and false and the multiple choice types. Special pencils will be provided and the answers will be recorded on standardized answer sheets which will be corrected by machine. One answer sheet will be expected to last a student for the duration of the semester. As the schedule is now set up, all tests will fall on the end of the week. Monday and Wednesday classes will be tested on Friday and Tuesday and Thursday classes on Saturday.

It is suggested that the instructors vary the type of examination with an essay-type at various intervals to break the monotony of the testing and to measure certain other types of ability.

In some cases this system is now in effect. Within a week it is expected that most instructors will decide whether they will use it or not.

Ticket Sale Underway

Shaw Comedy March Feature

Arms and the Man, a three-act satirical comedy by George Bernard Shaw, will be presented by the drama department on Tuesday, March 3 through Saturday, March 7, at 8:15 p. m., in the playshop.

Tickets may be obtained at the box-office every day between 2:00 and 4:30 p. m., upon presentation of activities tickets.

A fast-moving comedy, the play satirizes romanticism in Shaw's best manner. The action takes place in Bulgaria about 1885.

The cast includes: Raina—Eleanor K. Hutchison '45, Katherine—Esther Ebenhoe '43, Luka—Arlene Fegley '44, Blunehli—Harold Newson '44, Sergius—Melvin Gerseny '45, Petkoff—Stanley Johnson '43 and Walter Morris '43, Nicola—James Aiken '42, a Russian officer—Wallace Borger '44.

John W. Hulburt, as director, heads the production staff, which includes Harold Kopel, designer, and DeLisle Crawford, make-up.

This performance marks the third occasion on which Arms and the Man has been presented on the Allegheny campus. It was first presented in 1914 and later in 1931.

Work Co-op Lists Jobs Available

Opportunity for students desiring odd jobs to obtain work is again offered this semester through the Allegheny Work Cooperative, a student organization.

With the increase in odd jobs which comes with spring, additional members will be needed to handle the extra work, a spokesman for the "Co-op" added.

Applicants may put their names on file with Jean Beatty in Louis J. Long's office on the second floor of Bentley hall.

Reorganization of the cooperative is planned for the near future.

A.C.C. Plans Special Morning Devotions, Easter Services

Many activities of the Allegheny Christian council are under way, including the Sunday bible discussion classes, morning devotion services, and plans for special Easter services.

President William P. Tolley will lead this Sunday's Bible Discussion class, to be held at 9:30 a. m. in the Oratory. Morning devotion services are also being held in the Oratory every Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 7-7:30. Between ten and twenty students have been attending these services. Several members of the group are planning to journey to Pittsburgh Saturday for a conference on reconstruction after the war.

The Christian council is also making plans to hold a special Easter service on the campus.

Efforts are being made by the group to secure recreational opportunities for the negroes of Meadville. Many A. C. C. members have been attending young peoples' meetings at negro churches in Meadville to learn what may be done to help in this problem.

Snow Frolic Set March 7

Nearby Schools Send Outers

"Plans for Allegheny's Winter carnival are virtually completed," Bruce Campbell '42, president of the Outing club, announced Tuesday. The Carnival, scheduled for the week-end of March 7, will be held at Bousson farm.

Present ideas include a wide variety of winter sports, including skiing, tobogganing, ice-skating and hiking in the afternoon. Contests for proficiency in these sports will be held. Evening plans provide for a taffy-pull and a barn dance.

Approximately forty students from neighboring colleges, including Swarthmore, Grove City, Westminster, Pitt, Geneva, and Edinboro, have already accepted invitations to the event and more are expected.

Robert Spears '42 is head of the committee in charge of the Carnival.

Robert McPherson '43, was elected president of the Outing club for next year, at a meeting held last Tuesday night by the organization.

Other members of the executive committee elected are: Treasurer, Catherine Cavelti '43; Healers committee, Wallace Hansen '43; transportation committee, John Foster '43; week-end committee, Eleanor Sterrett and Marjorie Jenkins, both '44; maintenance committee, William Goodnough '44; winter sports committee, Ralph Waldo '44; special trips committee, Jean Risser '43; and social committee, Ruth Hammon '44.

Mexican Readings Craig Room Topic

Miss Blair Hanson speaks on the subject, "Moods in Mexican Literature," in the Craig Room this Sunday. Miss Hanson, of the French department, has many interesting sidelights on the subject, having spent last summer studying in that country.

Other library features this week are the lentum messages at the foot of the stairs, calling attention to the lent period, which was prepared by Donald Kingsley '44, head of the Thoburn Club, and a display of books as a reminder of the book campaign now in progress to provide more reading material for the men in the armed services.

The next speaker in the Craig Room will be Dr. Robert H. Ellsworth, class of 1921, who will discuss music.

Bookstore Selling Defense Stamps

Ten-cent defense stamps have been obtained by the college and are now available to students in the bookstore. Stamps worth $18.75 may be exchanged for a defense bond whose maturity value is $25.

Sport Outlook Is Brightened

President Announces Varsity Sport Schedules Will Continue; Summer Tennis, Golf Cards Arranged

A rearranged spring sport schedule will be carried out and the outlook for the continuation of football next fall is hopeful, according to a statement on the college's intercollegiate athletic situation made this week by President William P. Tolley.

Dispelling rumor and counter-rumor, the statement completely erased a previous feeling that dropping of football and the spring sports was certain to come under the accelerated program here.

According to the statement the freshman rule will probably be dropped, intercollegiate golf and tennis matches may be scheduled for the summer session and the intramural program will be continued on an extensive scale.

The president's statement:

Because of our early commencement it will not be possible to carry out the full schedule of spring intercollegiate sports. We are not, however, abandoning our spring program. It is possible that one or two additional tennis matches will be scheduled in April and we hope that we shall have two intercollegiate track meets.

The faculty and administration believe in intercollegiate sports and would like to continue them on a peace-time basis as long as possible. The Physical Education department is making an effort to secure equipment for the varsity teams in anticipation of future needs. Because of the rubber shortage, however, manufacturers of athletic equipment are unable to guarantee delivery of many of the things we need. We are hoping to run a full physical education program during the summer. In addition to an extensive intramural program there will probably be intercollegiate matches in tennis and golf.

By fall we should begin to feel the full effect of the war. The conscription of boys who are twenty or older is bound to cut down upper-class enrollment. We hope, however, that the freshman class will be as large as ever. If there is a change in the freshman rule there may be sufficient material to warrant a continuance of intercollegiate football. Most of the colleges will suspend the freshman rule for the duration of the war.

We know that we must have a sports or training program that will keep all of our students in good physical condition. We know that students would like both an intercollegiate and an intramural program. It is possible, however, that as the shortage of man-power becomes more evident in industry, students will either carry heavy schedules of college work or will take part-time employment in Meadville factories and stores. Some students may lighten their college course and work a full eight-hour shift. Others will carry a normal schedule and work four hours a day. If this becomes general, it is bound to interfere with intercollegiate sports.

It is difficult to predict all the changes that will occur between now and September. It will take some time to move from peace to war, and what seems very important now may be sacrificed without complaint tomorrow. In so far as we can, however, we should like to build up our health and sports program. We should like to give it more attention rather than less.

Schultz Attends Training Conference

Dean John R. Schultz met with 166 representatives of other colleges and universities Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at Chicago university, to discuss pre-induction training on the country's campuses.

A report of the new pre-induction plan first forwarded by the Navy department on Saturday is contained in the Defense Section, on page four. Many other problems were discussed in informal talks between the representatives, including plans that have been instituted in the various schools.

Girl Cellist Plays For Vespers

Young Musician Appears Here This Sunday

Miss Carol Gebhardt, cellist, will be guest soloist at this Sunday's vesper recital at 4:00 p. m., in Ford chapel, and Edward Johe of the faculty will play the organ.

Miss Gebhardt has unusual talent in her chosen instrument. She is sixteen years old and a junior in Academy high school in Erie. Last summer, she won the cello scholarship in Chautauqua for study under George Miquelle, solo cellist of the Detroit symphony and Chautauqua symphony. She is now studying under Harry Fuchs of the Cleveland symphony.

Only three programs remain in the Sunday recital series, since the original schedule had to be altered due to the shortening of the college semester. These programs will be presented on April 12 and May 3.

The Sunday program:

Guidance Clinic Scheduled Again

The fourth annual Educational Guidance Clinic, designed to aid high school students in making plans for education, will be held on the campus June 28-July 3.

Extensive tests will determine for the student his talents, his deficiencies, whether he should go to college, what his chances are at college and what colleges are best fitted to educate him. Conferences will seek to correlate the information gained through the testing.

All facilities normally available to college students will be put at the disposal of the visitors.

Still Unconcerned

FURTHER evidence that college students still do not realize that they will have to prepare to live the next few years under abnormal and difficult conditions keeps piling up. Not taken seriously enough is the certainty that this will be a long war and that, sooner or later, each American citizen—even the college student—will have to sacrifice more and work harder at tasks not of his own choosing.

Although the difference in the world situation now is far from that of three years ago, the average Allegheny student is still living as he always did, with no awareness of its importance to him. Winning efforts will require strong bodies and educated minds, and yet the collegian has not changed his habits to fit the times.

The reading room at Reis library is a case in point. Daily newspapers don't receive their proper attention; periodicals go neglected on the shelves. The same few students are there all along, but the majority don't get there at all.

Then there's the physical fitness situation. Attendance by an army physician at a mass physical examination of the sort bi-annually given the various classes would give that gentleman cause for flight. The women have started on exercise classes, but as yet the men have not initiated a movement for similar conditioning activity.

That most students don't have even an elementary knowledge of geography is, in a way, indicative of the lack of interest in world affairs so assiduously cultivated by them.

Somehow these elements tie in together. Somehow they illustrate a lethargic condition which has permitted the student body, and the nation too, to be caught short by rapidly changing world affairs. Without knowledge and the inclination for knowledge, and without desire to prepare themselves for the future, there will be many more shocks before the war is won.

Intelligent thinking is at a premium today. Without it the war will be prolonged. Information is a primary requisite to clear thinking.

Physical fitness will ease difficult days ahead. It makes for healthy morale.

Allegheny students should wake up and take steps to make themselves well informed and prepared in every other way for the vicious struggle that is just beginning.

Random Notes

THE way in which the connotation of the word "defense" has changed in the past few months is as significant as the change in the world situation. While until December 7 it was a glib euphemism to describe our left handed aid to the allies, it now is used in connection with a less leisurely struggle for survival. . . . There is still time to participate in the Victory Book campaign by bringing in volumes for the men in the services. Pocket Book editions are not given in the spirit with which the drive began. . . . Few Allegheny students have yet discovered the entertaining series of reading hours that take place Sunday afternoon in the library. There is no better place to spend these afternoons than in the Craig Room. Miss Blair Hanson's talk on moods in Mexican literature this week is typical of these programs in which faculty and townspeople discuss their favorite topics in literature. . . . More names and addresses of the many Alleghenians now serving in the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard are needed if the Defense Section is to continue its work. There are many students who will appreciate knowing the whereabouts of former companions. The addresses may be deposited at the office of the deans or at the grill. . . . The undergraduate council-faculty college defense council is working to best serve the student body with relation to the war. Students' ideas for action should be reported to Mr. Lee D. McLean, chairman of the group. . . . The popularity of the Shaw play, Arms and the Man, is best indicated by the desire to again produce it here in the Playshop. That a play could be used for the third time by a college group is significant. Like White Steed, produced two years ago, the play is somewhat more than the usual run produced for college audiences. Its permanence is sufficient reason for every student to see it. . . . The president's statement that intercollegiate athletics will be continued as long as possible is good news, but students should not accept the plan as absolute assurance that such activity will be continued throughout the war. It is common knowledge that the battle for the world is in its beginning and there will certainly be more trying times ahead. The resolution to go ahead with intercollegiate athletics is liable to meet a snag at any time.

Vaguely Speaking

If you happened to see some extra people around campus over the past week-end, just forget it. They weren't supposed to be here until next week-end. You see, EDINBORO students came on Saturday and were all hepped-up about the ALLEGHENY WINTER CARNIVAL. The sad part was though, that there wasn't any carnival—it wasn't due till two weeks later—March 7. So poor EDINBORO had to turn around and go home. All this mix-up was due to the fact that a certain letter announcing the change in the carnival date, didn't reach Edinboro in time. Oh how well WE at Allegheny are acquainted with the mail system!

Did anyone find a stray turtle? Description—The shell is painted yellow with the name TOMMY written on it. If it is found it should be returned to Doris Traub tout de suite, cause it might need water. The only thing that this column can suggest to Miss Traub is this:—Last year Jane Austin lost a turtle in Neal Wehr's car, and TWO months later it was found—in the car! So—o-o-o—Keep 'em Lookin'.

Perhaps you have seen BOB TODD stepping along very lively these days. The reason is that the freshmen are after him. (The Cwen Dance).

OFF THE RECORD:—Eighty (yes, 80) girls have moved at semesters. This includes transfers, but mainly room switches.

Don't fret about not being able to go home for Easter. If it does worry you, though, think of Marilyn Braniger's case. She is not going home until she finishes school. That won't be until 1943 either. She's taking it on the chin too, believe me. P.S. Her home is in California.

"Drap yourself down, like this, Uuh; now drap yourself up, like this, one, two, three," directed Emily Jane Gould, as she supervised a ballet class on 3rd front. This class is also known as a "limper-upper class." Exercises proceeded with aside remarks from active participants, such as, "Ain't she balletistic?" "Say, do you know, so and so?" "Gee, I'd like to date him!" "You know he talked to me on the Phi Psi barrel roll," etc. What girls won't do!

Special praise goes to Gubby Miller. It was recently discovered that he has owned a car ever since he was 12 years old. The astonishing fact is that he bought them with money that he earned. The traveling salesman makes good! Now, alas, he must give up his machine because he no longer sells magazines.

Now we know where the Lochinvar of the AXP house (I mean, of course, Bob Spears) acquires his romantic nothings. Some boys quote Shakespeare; some Shaw or even Gilbert and Sullivan; but our boy Spears prefers to woo his ladies fair with excerpts from "pulp" magazines.

Several people have desired to become members of the MEADVILLE CHARTER. If they wish other reference, they should consult EISENBUD and ROBERTS for further details. Then, too, I believe that there are some girls who would like to be placed on the waiting list.

Last week someone called the Campus office to report a boy's ring with the initials R.E.B. found in the men's locker room in the gym. Now there is a notice in the library to the effect that a boy's ring with the initials R.E.B. has been lost. It's too bad these people can't get together.

It seems that the little paragraph about faculty members seeing that students are kept "on campus" has had its effect. After the Kolisch recital there was a little party. Afterwards Mr. Crawford escorted some of the party home. This was the record:—six students in the dorm before 11 o'clock; three faculty ladies in before 12—but then he slipped, oh so slightly. The last lady entered the dorm at 12:15, after ringing the night bell and getting the Brooks door open. The lady was helped in the doorway. Mr. Crawford was holding a "Demi-john" (which is another story) left over from the party. Then the lady turned around and said, "If I'm campused . . . !" The lady was Dean Skinner.

Cwen Dance Tickets Now Being Sold

The tickets for the Cwen Dance, being held tomorrow evening at Brooks hall, went on sale today at noon at the desk. They will also be sold there this evening and tomorrow at noon.

The receiving line will be headed by President Joan Bliss, assisted by Ellen Boyd, Virginia Bennett, Marilyn Braniger, Caroline Emerson, Ruth Hammon, Jean Merrill, Nancy Konstanzer, Anne Rinehart, Charlotte Snell, and Doris Traub. Old Cwens are invited to take part.

The Clemson college mess hall contains 278 tables and seats for 2,224 students. Four tables are available for guests.

Stepping Out with Peggy Laley

Initiation announcements and banquets form the nucleus of this week's social calendar which also features inter-sorority socials and fraternity smokers.

Miss Betty Teal, Miss Laila Skinner's new secretary was the guest of honor Sunday at the first of Miss Skinner's monthly Sunday afternoon socials in her apartment.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA sophomores are planning their "Kitten" party—the party the recent initiates each year give for the other members—for next Monday evening.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA will this year be under the leadership of Jean Risser, president, Ruth Gelbach, pledge trainer, and Peggy Williams, standard chairman.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA has invited Dean John R. Schultz and Mr. John E. Cavelti to speak to them and the Kappas at their social next Monday.

THETA UPSILON announces that their spring dance will be in the form of a chapter party rather than a spring formal, as stated in the social calendar in the last issue of the Campus.

PHI KAPPA PSI initiation last Saturday was followed by a banquet at their house honoring Murray Anderson, Dick Benson, August Blomquist, Clark Knierman, Donald Mogg, Kenneth Muir, Robert Pierson, Harold Warner, Donald Wells, and George Wittbold, all '45. Families of Phi Psi actives and alumni were guests Tuesday evening at a tureen supper sponsored by the women's auxiliary.

Robert McPherson, president; Harold August, vice-president; John

Foster, secretary; and Edward MacElrath, treasurer, are the Phi Psi officers for next year.

PHI GAMMA DELTA recently initiated Gilbert Black, James Brown, and John Hauserman, '45. Mr. Charles S. Miller spoke at the Phi Gam initiation banquet at the Beacon Inn Sunday.

J. Llewellyn Davies, '40, was a week-end guest and Mr. Philip Benjamin and Mr. Albert Ogilvie were guests for dinner Tuesday.

DELTA TAU DELTA initiated Robert Owen '43, Richard Hastie and Wilbur Hansen '45. Open house was held at the Delt house last Sunday afternoon and was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Buckingham.

PHI DELTA THETA announces the pledging of Roy Whiting '45. Their Sunday dinner guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Julian Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Long. Eugene Hartzell and Donald Chester were Phi Delt guests for the week-end.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON announces the initiation of Donald Bare, James Brooks, Jay Brunner, Forman Bullock, Harry Falck, Edward Feidler, Robert Greenbaum, Chester Hardenburg, Samuel Rose, James Spiringer, and Edward Torrey.

The Sigs are planning a radio party Saturday evening.

ALPHA CHI RHO had the Sigs as their guests at a smoker Tuesday evening after the game.

Med Schools Okay Eight Early-Accepted Students Named

Admission to medical schools has already been given eight of Allegheny's twelve pre-medical students this year.

Seven have been accepted at Philadelphia Universities: Fred Zimmer, Henry Frye and Ted Conlin are going to the University of Pennsylvania; and Richard Graft, Grace Pierce, Walter Levinsky and William Chapman are planning to enter Temple. Western Reserve Medical School of Cleveland has sent word that Charles McClelland has been accepted there.

Those acceptances already received are only from medical schools whose policy is to announce admissions at an early date. Several students have their applications with schools that announce their selections later.

Chapman and Conlin are the only ones in the group who will complete their primary training in three years. All the others will graduate this spring. Most of the group plan to start their graduate work this summer, thus moving up next year's medical school enrollment to some-

Kappas Offer Fellowships

Three fellowships of $500 each for graduate work will be awarded again this year by the national sorority of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Eligibility for the awards is not confined to membership in Kappa Kappa Gamma. Any senior girl with affiliation in any group including the Independents may secure an information blank from the Dean's office. March 25 has been determined the deadline for mailing the applications to the national office.

These scholarships are usually, although not necessarily, divided into the fields of science, art, and human relations. Last year's Kappa fellows are studying in Western Reserve, Washington university, Stanford university, University of California and Purdue university.

time in February, and necessarily forcing all junior pre-meds to take summer school work, in order to graduate at the completion of next year's first semester.

Since deferment regulations for pre-meds are continually changing, it is advisable for all such students to check and see that they will have the necessary requirements.

Intramural Basketball

Intramural basketball results including Monday's game are as follows:

Alden Men 24, Phi Kappa Psi 22; Phi Delta Theta 29, S.A.E. 20; Phi Deltas 32, Beta Kappa 17.

The best game of the week, which may be truly classed as an upset, was the Alden Men's triumph over the Phi Psis. "Pepper" Martin and Barney Radoff led the way with 10 and 8 points respectively. Buck Newson upheld the Phi Psi scoring with 4 points.

We hope that roughness and poor sportsmanship which were displayed in this game will not be typical of the play of the entire league. Remember that the referees are trying their best, so let's keep it clean in the future!

The Phi Deltas rolled over the strong S.A.E. squad as Bill Present and Bob Welday each tallied 10 points. George Hanson, ineligible frosh star, scored 6 points for the losers but was injured and will probably be out for the rest of the season.

In Monday's game, the Phi Deltas continued their winning ways by trouncing the Beta Kappa's, 32-17. A second half rally turned the trick as the Phi Deltas trailed 33-10 at the intermission. Bill Present set a new high for individual scoring with 15 points. This brings his total to 37 points in three games.

Intramural Handball

The intramural handball tourney is drawing near to a climax as the quarter finals get underway this week. Results of the fourth round matches, winners of which will enter the quarter-finals, are as follows:

Blank, S.A.E., defeated Hartman, A.X.P., 2-0.

Marcy, P.K.P., downed Carper, P.G.D., 2-0.

McKay, P.G.D., swamped Gilbert, S.A.E., 2-0.

Nasta, A.X.P., won over Spears, A.X.P., 2-0.

Muir, P.K.P., defeated Dundon, P.G.D., 2-0.

Stone, S.A.E., defeated Reider, P.G.D., 2-0.

Klingensmith, P.D.T., edged Minnick, B.K., 2-1.

Upon looking over the slate, it appears that the Sigs and Phi Psi's will reap the lion's share of handball points. Both fraternities also have an excellent chance of emerging with the tournament champion as Blank, Stone, Marcy, Muir and Race are still in the running. None of the other competitors can be ignored, however. Nasta and McKay are both top-flight players and Klingensmith is capable of a surprise victory.

Last Minute Shot Gives Visitors 48-47 Edge

The Gator varsity made a valiant bid for victory Tuesday evening but a final desperate long shot by Alfred as the game ended gave the visitors a 48-47 win.

It was a heart-breaking loss for the Alleghenians, who led at half-time, 20-15, and were able to maintain a slim lead throughout most of the second half. A third quarter slump allowed the New Yorkers to catch the leading Gators and the final stanza found both teams battling for the shifting lead.

Easily the most important man on the floor for the evening was Frigilio, chunky Alfred veteran, who scored 29 points for the victors on a total of 13 field goals and three fouls. Twenty-three of Frigilio's counters were chalked up in the second half when he cut the cords from the foul circle time after time. The scoring for the Gators was well spread, with diminutive Hank Frye leading the home forces with 12 points. Nichols counted 10, Turk 9, and Lavelly 8. Foster and Chapman accounted for six and two points respectively to round out the Gator tally.

With only a minute left to play, Frye, standing alone under the basket, sank his fifth shot of the evening to give the Gators a lead of three points which at the time looked insurmountable. Frigilio countered with his 28th and 29th points of the evening and a few seconds later Jolley, a substitute guard, made good his long one from the center circle for the winning points.

The outstanding Gator of the evening was shifty Hank Frye, who proved to be the best all-around man on the floor. The little forward was jarred by a fall in the second quarter with Johnson, Alfred center, but he was able to return to the contest when the second half got underway.

The summary:

The Woman's Side

By Jean Risser

If the Allegheny males are curious as to the reasons for the complaints coming from the inhabitants of Hulings-Brooks-Walker halls of stiff backs and sore muscles, the great American pastime of exercising is the answer. Every night (except Saturday and Sunday) supervised exercise classes are held in the old dining room of Hulings hall from 10 to 10:30. The classes are open to any girl who cares to participate; the whole plan is voluntary and continuous attendance is not required. The class has proved a very popular and beneficial one since its start a few weeks ago.

Do you know how to dance as well as you would like to? Well, stop wishing that you could and start acting (or I should say dancing). Join the social dancing class that meets every Monday afternoon at 4:10 in the old dining room of Hulings hall. The fundamental principles of ballroom dancing are those that are being emphasized by Miss Ide, dancing teacher, but she will also teach the latest dance steps to those who wish to learn them. Both boys and girls are urged to attend this class.

The ping pong tournament is in its third round this week. All girls who are still in the running are asked to play their rounds as soon as possible. The deadline for the third round is February 27; after that all unplayed games of that round will be automatically forfeited.

The League II teams in the basketball tournament started their games Tuesday afternoon. Joan Bliss, in charge of the tournament this year, has scheduled the games in such a way that all of the teams in one league will complete their games before the next league starts to play. In this way a team is not handicapped by long stretches of inactivity between games, a situation that might result if the teams in all three leagues were scheduled for games simultaneously. It is hoped that this system will make the tournament more satisfactory for everyone. The results of the two games on Tuesday are: Alpha Chi's won by a forfeit from Beebe and Hammett. Theta's 15, Alpha Xi's 8.

At the present time the Athletic Board is occupied with the work of revising the constitution of the Women's Athletic Association. Those on the committee for this project include Virginia Chester, June Patterson, Bettymae McComb, Miss Gilchrist, and Miss Ide. At the last meeting of the Board it was decided that 10 points would be given to those girls hiking on Saturday afternoons for every hike over two miles long.

Timothy Alden, founder and first president of the college, was the founder of six other schools.

Chancellor to the Panamanian consulate at New Orleans is Juan Diaz, senior in law at Louisiana State university, a native of Panama.

Buffalo Game Ends Campaign

Tuesday Contest With Bisons Ends Floor Careers of Frye, Leitzel, McKnight; Win Chance Slight

The Gators take to the road once again for their final contest of the season when they invade the range of the University of Buffalo Bisons next Tuesday evening.

The luckless Gators, suffering from their worst cage campaign within memory, will doubtless be striving mightily to finish the season with a win but just as certain are the probabilities that once more they will be turned back at their opponents' hands.

Frosh Five Tops Alfred

Conroy, Todd Lead Attack

The freshman cagers finally found the hoop once more in the second half of their game with the Alfred frosh and came from behind to win the overtime contest, 48-45.

Biggest gun for the Gators in the contest was "Jap" Conroy, who scored 19 points for the home forces, 15 of them in the second half and overtime periods. Bob Todd was also an important factor in the victory as he used his height to good advantage for the Gators under the basket, in addition to chalking up a total of 11 points.

Fenton of the visitors equalled Conroy's mark at 19 and Check trailed Todd closely with 10 counters.

Both teams got off to a slow start in the first quarter, the score at the end of that period standing at 6-5 in Alfred's favor.

The New Yorkers lengthened their lead in the second quarter, outscoring the frosh 7-2 to bring the score at the half to 13-7.

Throughout this first half the frosh, though clearly outplayed, had shot after shot miss the hoop by bare inches.

The third quarter saw a rejuvenated squad take the floor and push 15 points through the hoop. The Alfredmen increased their lead to nine points, however, by the close of this period and the Gators faced a 22-31 deficit.

Then the locals began to move. In rapid succession Conroy, May, Todd, and Corrigan sank two-pointers which gradually erased the Alfred lead. Time after time the visitors were victims of intercepted passes as the alert Gators fought to overtake their opponents.

During this period Conroy counted eleven points alone and earned the plaudits of the crowd for his splendid play.

With a half minute left to play, May sank a crucial foul and the game went into an overtime period at 41-41.

Conroy starred again in the extra session as the Gators scored seven to Alfred's four to bring the final tally to 48-45.

Dean's Secretary Describes First Impressions Here

Have you ever realized that students' friendly "good mornings" can go far in making a newcomer feel at home at Allegheny? This, at least, was the opinion expressed by Miss Betty Teal, new secretary of the dean of women, when she described Allegheny as "a friendly school." Miss Teal is replacing Miss Mary Virginia Jones, who left the job to await her May marriage. A Pitt graduate of 1940, Miss Teal was vice-president of the women's student government there, a Cwen, and was vice-president of her class during her junior year. Since her graduation, she has been employed in the business office of the Bell Telephone company.

In comparing the women student governments of Allegheny and Pitt, Miss Teal noted that the two were very similar in that each was the students' own government.

She described an extensive program, under the Pitt student government, designed to orientate the freshmen. Instead of becoming involved in several activities her freshman year, each girl is allowed to become apprenticed to one unit—camera arts, for instance, or the literary unit, or the music unit. During this time she was not to take part in any of the major activities, but was to become prepared to actively participate in that unit the next year.

Complete information on the Bisons is unavailable but the scores of a few of their games are able to shed some light on the situation. The most humbling defeat the Bisons have had this year was a 54-31 loss to Marietta. Colgate-beaten Hobart also administered a shellacking to the Bisons to the tune of 51-36. More interesting and more significant for Alleghenians than these scores, however, are the results of Buffalo's forays against Alfred and Rochester, both of whom were also Allegheny opponents.

Against the strong Rochester quintet the Bison's defense was able to hold the Yellow Jackets to 37 points, but their offense was able to score but 27 points, costing Buffalo a 10-point defeat. This is the same margin of victory the Yellow Jackets held over the Gators this year when the gun sounded the end of their game this year, 43-33.

Against Alfred, the Bisons gained a 47-34 victory and completely outplayed their victims throughout the contest.

Last year the Gators took the Bisons into camp by a 62-43 count. The Gators so completely dominated the contest that they were able to clear the bench in the fourth quarter and still coast to a comfortable victory.

Seniors wearing the blue and gold for the last time are Sparkplug Hank Frye, slick ball-handler and ballhawk, Frank McKnight, reserve guard, and Henry Leitzel, reserve center.

Hiram Defeat Was Fourth Two-Point Rebuff in Row

Lady Luck has definitely deserted the Allegheny basketballers. The fourth two-point defeat in a row came last Saturday night when Hiram defeated the Gators, 37-34.

The contest itself, which was waged at Hiram, Ohio, was a rather desultory and slipshod affair in which neither five played their best basketball or showed to the best advantage. The only bright spot for the Gators was Dick Nichols, who experienced his first "hot" night of the season as he garnered 14 points to almost lead the Blue and Gold to victory. John Foster, who has been a consistent point maker all season, followed Nichols in the scoring column as he collected eight markers, while Rice, aggressive Hiram forward, was the game high point man with 15 scores to his credit.

The game got off to a slow start but both aggregations fought nip and tuck until the half ended with the Gators on the short end of an 18-17 score. Hiram lengthened their leading margin in the second half but the Alligators staged a last-ditch closing drive which almost brought them the victory only to fall short by that two-point margin again.

Navy Plans Program

Change Affects New Freshmen

Announcement of the Navy's new pre-induction training program for college students was made Saturday by Joseph W. Barker, special assistant to the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, before a large gathering of educators at Chicago university.

Dean John R. Schultz outlined the program as presented before representatives of 167 schools. The new program offers students taking the pre-induction course the opportunity to stay in school for two years, "V-1's". Only by first becoming a V-1 will students become eligible for the V-7 and V-5 commissions offered by the navy. This new plan will be only of significance to freshmen enrolling this summer or fall, and 17 to 19 years old.

In addressing the representatives of the colleges and universities, Mr. Barker said, "The Navy is today announcing an extension of its personnel recruiting plan which integrates directly with pre-induction training, the subject we are discussing at this conference. For those young men now in accredited colleges or about to enter such colleges, the Navy will accept voluntary enlistment as Apprentice Seamen (V1) of not more than 80,000 men per year who are between the ages of 17-19 inclusive; who are of good moral character; who can meet the enlisted physical examination standards; and who will continue in college at their own expense taking pre-induction Naval training curricula on an inactive status for the equivalent of two academic years.

The pre-induction Naval training curricula will be prepared by the faculty of any accredited college which desires to participate in this plan and would naturally conform to the normal program of that college provided it stresses physical training, mathematics and the physical sciences.

The Navy Department through its Bureau of Navigation, Division of Training will consult with colleges desiring to participate and will assist and advise on curricula. Courses will be given by your regular staff members, there is no intention nor any desire to militarize instruction. This is in no way a resurrection of the S. A. T. C.

The curriculum committee met Tuesday to discuss the plan and draw up a training curriculum which will be submitted to the faculty; if passed this plan will be sent to the Navy Department by the first of the week, and will commence this summer if approved. This curriculum will include English, history, government, and languages, but more stress will be put on math, physics and chemistry.

After completing the two years pre-induction course, the V-1 man will be given a comprehensive general examination; if he ranks sufficiently high he can transfer to the V-5 program for training officer-pilots, or to the V-7 program, and will be "continued on inactive duty and permitted to continue on their regular engineering school or college programs acceptable to the Navy Department to the baccalaureate degree as prescribed by your faculty as long as they maintain academic standards satisfactory to your faculty and as long as the exigencies of war permit."

The balance will be called to active duty as Apprentice Seamen. Any man who voluntarily enlists in this V-1 program and fails to pass the subjects on the pre-induction training program will be called to active duty.

This announcement by the Navy is considered of added importance to colleges and eligible students, with the belief current the draft age will before too long be lowered to 18 or 19.

Pension for Students in Service
The Associated Collegiate Press reports that under the provisions of a recent order of Canadian government, discharges of the armed services, whether or not they have had previous college or university training will, if they apply within fifteen months of their discharge from service, and providing their course of study is approved by the minister of pensions and national health, have their fees paid. In addition a weekly subsidy of nine dollars for unmarried students will be paid, and $13 for married students.

Women Students and Defense
In too many schools, as in Allegheny, the women students have had very little to do with the defense efforts of the country. But in many places the movement is gaining headway to eliminate them as bystanders and put them direct-

23 Freshmen Make Proctor's List

Twenty-three freshmen students have received grades of "2" or better for the first semester and have been included in the proctor's list for that period, according to Philip M. Benjamin, chief proctor of Caffisch hall.

Albert Lammert and Joseph Mull received straight grades of "1" for the first term.

The list of students in order of their standing in the class:

- 1, Albert Lammert, Joseph Mull,
- 2, James Brown, 3, August Blomquist, 4, Donald Forbeck, 5, William Thornton, 6, Richard Anderson, James Rhinesmith, 7, Jack Mason, Donald Mogg, 8, James Brooks, Robert Craig.

ly into the defense program. Oberlin has followed suit this semester, adding non-credit Red Cross courses open to women in first-aid, life saving and home nursing. Additional courses are soon to be added for nurses aids, and in auto mechanics.

Juniors to Enter

Allegheny, along with Brown, Northwestern and several other schools, will admit students after three years of high school. Such students will be admitted to Allegheny this summer and fall, providing they pass certain tests. Dickinson college will admit a limited number of high school men who have completed three and a half years of school work.
