Results Of Comprehensive Examinations Announced

Many Sophomores Receive "A" Averages in Required Examinations.

The results of the comprehensive examinations taken by the sophomore class of last year have recently been tabulated. The examinations were given in nine courses. The results were announced by Dr. G. E. Buckingham this past week.

A averages for the entire examination were made by Walter Jacobson, George Hinton, Betty Elliott, John Leisher, Keith Hutchison, Alice Church, Joe Macedo, and John Sampson.

The following students had a grade of A in the various examinations:

English: George Hinton, Joe Macedo, Betty Elliott, Alice Church, and William Weesner.

Religion: George Hinton, Ross Beiler, Walter Jacobson, Alice Church, and Florence Bromley.

History: Walter Jacobson, Alice Church, Mary Virginia Jones, Jack Hoeveler, and Armour Hillstrom.

Mathematics: Robert Smith (Erie), George Hinton, Archie Tate, John Sampson, and Lillian Peebles.

Contemporary Affairs: Betty Elliott, John Leisher, Walter Jacobson, Walter Oliver, and Keith Hutchison.

Examinations were given in Art, Drama, and Music Appreciation, but their ranking is omitted as they were not of the objective type.

These examinations are a part of the new curriculum which was introduced at Allegheny three years ago. The new plan divided the student body into two levels. The upper level is composed of seniors and juniors; the lower level includes freshmen and sophomores. The lower level aims to broaden and round out the student's general education. In order to do this several carefully planned lecture courses have been prepared. A comprehensive examination is given at the end of the lower level. A passing grade in this comprehensive is a prerequisite for entrance into the upper level of more concentrated work.

Cheering Sections Being Organized By Men's Senate

The Men's Senate for the coming year is going to play an important part in the activities on the campus. This group has as an object the building up of class spirit in the college. In order to accomplish this there is a comprehensive plan under way. The Men's Senate is proposing to sponsor many projects such as class dinners, the election of class officers, and the Homecoming Dance on October 19.

The Men's Senate plans to organize a large cheering group. Members of the respective classes will be assigned sections in the Allegheny stands. By this means it is hoped that a greater spirit will be created in the entire school.

The only change in the Senate has been the election of Mishell George in place of Armour Hillstrom as the Independent representative.

Boots And Saddle Club To Organize, Elect Officers

This evening at 7:30 P. M., the Boots and Saddle Club will meet in the gymnasium to organize and elect officers.

The present plans include regular meetings to advance knowledge of horsemanship among the members, have various supper rides, and take rides to Erie and Edinboro.

Interest in riding is increasing more each year among the girls at Allegheny as is evidenced by the 130 girls who are attending riding classes. As a result of this enthusiasm the club expects to enlarge this year.

The qualifications for admission to the club are based on one's ability to walk, trot, and canter a horse in good form, mount and dismount properly, and trot with and without stirrups. Any girl who wishes to take the admission test should see Mariana Rall.

MISS MINA FRENCH

Miss Mina L. French, former Alumni secretary of Allegheny, has returned to this campus in connection with the newly established secretarial school.

Miss French gave up her alumni office duties early in 1934 in order to take up graduate studies at the University of Pittsburgh in preparation for teaching duties at Allegheny.

Concert By Boston Sinfonietta Opens Series Here Friday

The first concert of the College Community Concert-Lecture Course was given last Friday evening at the High School Auditorium by the Boston Sinfonietta. This was the first of a series of seven concerts and lectures to be given during the fall and winter. The opening performance was attended by about six hundred people.

The Sinfonietta was conducted by Mr. Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Symphony "Pop" Concerts. The selections were as follows: "Suite for Strings" by Corelli; Symphony No. 1 in G Major by Beethoven; "Finlandia" by Sibelius; "Air on the G String" by Bach-Wilhelmj; Suite from the opera "Carmen" by Bizet; Dance of the Hours, from opera "La Gioconda" by Ponchelli. Mr. Fiedler was very generous with his encores and responded with four selections, including the "Blue Danube Waltz."

The audience was responsive and appreciative, as was evidenced by the enthusiastic applause. The music was very ably rendered and of the whole, the string selections stood out. The size of the orchestra probably accounted for this feature. The rendition of Finlandia was just a bit too much for the Sinfonietta to try because it lacked the background of a heavy bass to bring out the effects of the elements. Beethoven's Symphony has a loveliness and charm that keeps it always beautiful, and so it was on this occasion. With "Carmen" the audience was made to live again in gay festive Seville. The flutes in this selection seem to lift you up into a land of laughter and song. Mr. Fiedler gave as one of his encores "The Mosquito Dance" by Paul White. In fact, the mosquito could be felt to find his victim and light with the disastrous inevitableness which would naturally follow.

Seven More Men Are Pledged To Frats During Week

Seven more men were pledged by the various fraternities during the past week.

The Alpha Chi Rho fraternity raised their total of pledges to 11 with the pledging of three freshmen, William Reed, Rural Valley, Wayne Spray, Wilkinsburg, and Wayne Knight, Avalon. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, with the pledging of Bruce Sterling, Masonown, increased their total to 19.

Phi Kappa Psi increased their number to 16, with the pledging of William Becker, '37, Jersey City, N. J.

With the pledging of Robert Albright, Mt. Lebanon, the Phi Delta Theta fraternity now has 12 pledges.

Delta Tau Delta announces the pledging of two more men, Elmer Foshier, Cincinnati, and Thomas Allison, of Kittanning, raising their total to 15.

Dr. Spann To Continue Program Of Lecturing

Dr. Spann-Delorme began her series of lectures this season Tuesday, the first of October with a lecture on "Germany in 1935," before the Woman's Club of Ashtabula, Ohio.

Many requests for out-of-town lectures this year have been received by Dr. Spann, among them several return engagements.

Dr. Spann spent the summer abroad studying politics and economics at the Hochschule fuer Politik in Berlin and attending courses of a similar nature in Italy.

RESOLUTION

Be it resolved that the Men's Senate of Allegheny College is against all forms of hazing on the part of the upper three classes. All students participating in such activity will be subject to serious penalties, including academic probation, if necessary.

Hazing will constitute any force, physical or otherwise (including any class fight without Senate sanction) used by upper classmen to effect their wishes.

Outing Club Begins Work On Busson Farm Lodge

Tentative plans for the construction of a lodge at the Busson farm have materialized, and the members of the Outing Club began work on the project last week.

Materials from the barn which is now being torn down will be utilized for the project.

The lodge will be approximately 40 by 20 feet in size. It will consist of one large room with a fireplace in the center of one wall and balconies on either end. The balconies will serve as bunks and will accommodate fourteen.

Phi Beta Phi is also building a lodge which will accommodate ten persons. Both lodges will be in use during week-end trips by the organization.

The fall program also consists of work on ski and hiking trails.

Changed Lineup Under New System Aiming For Good Year's Start.

Allegheny's 1935 edition of the Blue and Gold 'Gator football team will trot onto Montgomery field this Saturday to face the Clarion State Teachers football aggregation in the season's opener.

With six lettermen back, the Allegheny squad will endeavor to start the season off on the right foot by handing the Teachers a setback. Working under a new system and a new coach, with scant reserve material on hand, the 'Gators will be facing a stiff job.

The Clarion team has one game already played on their schedule, and though it was a 19-0 defeat by the Bloomsburg Teachers, the experience gained in that one game will be a big asset, when stacking up against the yet untried power of the local eleven. With that one game under their belt the visiting team is expected to show great improvement under Coach Waldo Tippet, former Allegheny coach until last year, who has taken up the coaching duties at the Clarion school.

Last year Clarion was also met as the opening game of the season, and suffered a 6-0 setback, but with much backfield power missing here this year, it is impossible to predict any outcome of the game. The two teams stack up about even in material, but the playing of one game is liable to give the Clarion lads a decided edge. Coach Tippet's team showed considerable line ability in their game last Saturday and it will tax the new 'Gator backfield to its utmost.

With but three days to go Coach Lawrence has still to name a starting lineup. Though the lettermen from last year are almost certain to be in the lineup when the two teams take the field, their starting positions are still indefinite. Coach Lawrence has been doing considerable shifting to find a strong representative team. Co-Captains Dick Horn and Scott Widmann are almost certain of being at their usual posts of end and center respectively, where they have been outstanding during the past three years. Both men last year were outstanding in the district. Diaz and Blasedell, the only lettermen available for backfield duty are certain to be present at some position, in an effort to tally touchdowns for the 'Gator cause.

Los Camaines To Have Picnic, Plan Membership

Los Caimanes, Spanish Club, will hold their first meeting Thursday evening, and will discuss the admission of new members of the freshman class. Jean Morrow, president, and Dr. Evelyn Miller, advisor to the club, report that a good program has been outlined for this year.

A committee composed of Francis Boone, Peg Stroble, Walter Jacobson, and Don Herron will meet with the Spanish Club to plan a picnic for the entire Spanish department. This picnic, suggested by Dr. Miller, is being held so that the members of the Spanish department will know each other and be acquainted with the instructor of the course.

Enthusiasm, created by increased enrollment, has caused a great deal of student interest in language and in the people who speak it.

Marion G. May Completes Library Staff, Proctors

One of the many newcomers to the Allegheny Campus is the latest member of the library staff, Miss Marion G. May.

Miss May is a graduate of Ann Arbor High School. After leaving there she attended the University of Michigan where she received her Bachelor of Arts degrees and her Bachelor of Arts and Library Science in 1932 and 1933 respectively.

Miss May spent 1934 and 1935 in the library of Ohio Wesleyan University. She had formerly spent some time in the library of the University of Michigan.

Added to this education and experience is included a trip to Europe.

Miss May arrived here Sept. 1 to take up her duties as proctor of Tarbell House and member of the Allegheny College Library staff.

FOOTBALL OPENER

This Saturday, Allegheny's football eleven, under a new regime, marches onto Montgomery field to face their first grid encounter of the '35 gridiron season.

Students have been looking forward to the Clarion opener ever since it was announced last year that there was to be a new coach at the helm. Now the day is close at hand and much speculation is encountered as to the outcome of Saturday's game. Too many students, it seems, are prepared to base too much opinion upon the outcome of this single game, the first of the year.

One cannot put too much stress on the avoiding of this "jumping at conclusions." The outcome of this one game, in case of a loss, should not play too important a part in the future spirit.

It must be remembered and considered that Coach Karl Lawrence has had but little time to install a new system here. He has had to work with a scarcity of material, being severely handicapped by lack of reserve and replacement material.

But what is obviously lacking in material is more than made up for by the spirit shown.

Those that have reported for practice and have "stuck it out" are evidencing more vigor and willingness to cooperate and learn than has been seen on Montgomery field in several seasons. The men are putting their hearts into the game in an effort to provide a satisfactory season record. But before they can attain their goal they have to wade through some very tough opposition, that will prove extremely hard obstacles to knock over.

It has been a motto of Coach Lawrence, one that he has put to practice ever since he started, that if the players put their minds on the game, play good football, and benefit from the game, a great deal is accomplished, regardless of the outcome of a particular encounter. A hard fought, well played loss, leaves a better impression than a half hearted win. Coach Lawrence is drilling his men to PLAY, good, hard, clean football. If that materializes, a great deal is accomplished.

It is better to gradually improve in play and in the matter of games, than to start in a flash and then decline. If an improvement is noted after each succeeding encounter, a great deal of satisfaction is achieved.

And so for Saturday's game, if a loss is chalked up, which we of course hope will not be the case, look at it from the angle of how well the game was played. Take into consideration the short time and amount of material with which Coach Lawrence has been working. A gradual climb towards a peak is after all just as satisfying a procedure in the attainment of that peak as any other way.

We wish to extend our congratulations to Coach Lawrence for the work he has accomplished. He is right there working with the men at all times. He has aroused a spirit in the men which we hope will continue. The men respect him, and are ready to play real football to make his first season here a successful one. We are all behind our new coach and his charges. Here's to them this Saturday, and the rest of the football days.

FRATERNITY ROBBERIES

A great deal of commotion has been caused on the campus by the robbing of three of the fraternities here. An estimated sum of over $200 was taken in by the prowlers, who it seems safe to say, committed all three jobs.

It is too bad that such an incident had to crop up so close to fraternity rushing. One objection to joining a fraternity by some parents has been because of things like that going on inside of the fraternity house. This is an unusual occurrence on this campus, however, and should cast no reflection. Seeing that there were three houses burglarized the first night, it would indicate an "outside job". No jewelry, fraternity pins, or such were taken. The thieves were careful to take only money, after carefully ravaging all possible nooks and corners in search of their loot.

It seems as if the occurrence won't happen again, what with the fraternity men just waiting to lay their hands on any prowlers from now on. No questions will be asked, so future invaders had better avoid the clutching hands of fraternity residents.

Letters to the Editor

To the editor of The Campus,
My Dear Mr. Hawkins:

Last year, writing as an impartial observer of the fraternity situation at Allegheny I made a statement which caused a good deal of comment among the students. The statement you may recall dealt with the type of students that our school is catering to at the present time. I simply said that "the rah rah type of fellow and the tramp athlete have made their exit from Allegheny. The rich man's son has gone to a large institution along with a greater percentage of the lazy and indifferent students. Allegheny has become distinctly a middle-class school, a school for young ladies and gentlemen, an institution catering to those who, will someday go out to join the great middle-class, which, the sociologists tell us is the backbone of the nation." Last year when I wrote that I believed it with the typical collegian's naive devotion to his own ideals and today as I write this I am more than ever convinced that what I said is true. As I watched this year's freshman class enter our now famous campus I realized that we are more than ever catering to the type of student about whom I wrote. Catering to this type of student provides for a more wholesome spirit within the school and so I was quite pleased when the Men's Senate at Allegheny in attempting to construct a program to arouse class spirit did adopt one which was a tribute to the student and not an insult to him.

In order to make clear to the student body just what we are trying to do I wish to state here the aims of our organization. It is primarily our aim as I have already suggested to build up a healthy class spirit among all the classes both in the upper and lower levels. To do this we have planned a series of class get-togethers and a supervised organization of the classes. One of our plans calls for the designing of some insignia for each of the classes so that the members of the classes can be recognized and a definite consciousness will result. Rather than force anything on the classes we have decided to put the proposition to each of them for their approval and comments. Believing that the most spirit in school rested in the freshman class it was our plan to approach them first hoping that they would cooperate and set a fine example for the other three classes. With this in mind we consulted the freshmen and found them willing to cooperate almost to a man because they have already a certain devotion for Allegheny which many of the upperclassmen have never found. Believing in the senate and its aims the freshmen found themselves more than willing to wear class caps. For their attitude they are to be congratulated and admired and they know that the Men's Senate appreciates what they have done.

Last week you wrote in the editorial section of your paper a comment on this situation in which you expressed the belief that these caps are to be used as a method of subjecting the freshmen, of making them conscious of a non-existing inferiority place on the campus. You regretted the fact that the freshmen had been consulted on the matter rather than having it forced upon them. Unfortunately your statements were directly in opposition to the attitude which the senate and the administration are taking in this affair. These caps are not to be used as a sign of subjection to the upperclasses nor are they a signal for razing or hazing activities for any upperclassmen caught in such an act are subject to serious penalties. These caps are to be used to help the freshmen recognize each other and are to signify that they are fellow students. The freshmen were consulted in the matter just as the upperclassmen will be consulted in matters pertaining to them. After all the difference of three years in an individual's life is not enough to allow that he should be scorned in his first year in school and worshipped in his last year. The idea of subjecting the freshmen went out with the idea of subsidizing athletics and with the disappearance of the so-called "collegiate" type on the campus. It is unfortunate to see the situation in some of the hick colleges in this country where the upperclassmen act like a mob of barbarians and the freshmen look like a flock of timid sheep being led to the slaughter. If as young ladies and gentlemen of the same social class we can't learn to live to-

Three Fraternities Visited By Light Fingered Gentry

Three fraternity houses on the campus suffered financial ravagings last Thursday night when midnight prowlers ransacked students rooms.

The Phi Delta Theta fraternity was the hardest hit group, and also the first to notice the rummaging. Every student living in the house reported some loss, with a total of over $100 being stolen. The Alpha Chi Rho house evidently was entered the same night, though the losses were not noticed until Saturday morning. Only the student rooms on the second floor were ransacked. Rooms on the dormitory floor were untouched. From the four rooms entered a total of about $25 was taken. Later reports also revealed that the Phi Kappa Psi house was also subjected to the sweepings of the intruders, though no definite loss was made known.

No official investigation has been made, due to lack of definite information which might lead to the apprehension of the thieves. But fraternity men are now preparing to squelch any further intrusions that might occur.

Together and respect each other then it is indeed unfortunate. If we would only use our energy toward creating a healthy class spirit at Allegheny rather than denouncing serious attempts to do this, everything would be much more satisfactory.

I deeply regret that we did not make clear to you before hand the ideas of the senate. As editor of the school paper you represent the highest type of a high type of student, for if you didn't you wouldn't have been chosen to this important position for two years, and because you do represent this type I believe that you can appreciate the attitude which the men's student government and the college administration is taking. Trusting that I have made everything clear and that I may be of some service to you in the future, and wishing The Campus more of the same success that it enjoyed under your direction last year, I wish to remain

Respectfully yours,

Construction Work Well Under Way On Bousson Property

Work is progressing rapidly on the Bousson farm, 142-acre property purchased by Allegheny College for scientific and recreational purposes. Logs are already being fitted into place in the biology cabin, being erected in the woods north of the dirt road, and the slate has been removed as the first step in dismantling the barn.

College officials said they hoped to complete before winter most of their plans for converting the Bousson place into an ideal spot for biological research and for college outings. In the meantime the college outing club, organized last year with 20 members, is laying plans for an enjoyable winter of picnicing, hiking, dancing, and swapping stories before a fireplace in a cabin by the pond.

The property is well suited to the purpose which it is serving. First of all, the college was fortunate in securing it at a very reasonable price through the instrumentality of the Kiwanis Club. FERA labor is being employed in the erection of the cabins and the dismantling of the barn, the timbers and rafters of which are being used in the cabins. To complete the picture of economy, the property will be tax exempt.

Two ponds are located on the farm, the larger, "Lake Siple," being about two acres in extent, and the smaller lake one-half acre. About half the land is in timber, and the remainder has been reforested, 33,000 pine trees having been set out at a cost of two dollars per thousand. The property has been allowed to revert to an original state, with a great deal of tall grass and thick underbrush, making it very suitable as a game preserve.

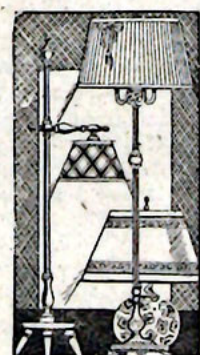

Dr. C. A. Darling, head of the biology department, said that plans were being made for establishing feeding stations for birds. It is also the intention of the biology department to plant all kinds of vegetation that will grow for observational purposes. The biology cabin now under construction, with dimensions of 40 to 20 feet, will serve as the base for biological work. It may also be used as the quarters of a summer group.

An outing lodge 40x25 will be erected on the shore of Lake Siple. A huge fireplace will be built opposite the door and a hard floor will be installed for dancing. Two balconies will serve as sleeping quarters, with accommodations for 14 persons. The biology cabin, similarly constructed, will house 10 persons overnight.

A plank slide 300 or 400 feet in length is being planned for tobogganing.

It is expected that the outing lodge and other facilities will be made available to various social groups in the college, including the faculty.

Representatives Of Intramural Sports Get Plans Started

Allegheny's intramural sports program got under way this week with two meetings of the intramural sports committee being held.

The committee consists of representatives from the different fraternities who are as follows:

Alpha Chi Rho James Heckman
Phi Gamma Delta Robert Gilmore
Sigma Alpha Epsilon.....Donald Ervin
Phi Delta Theta William Cappe
Delta Tau Delta Carl Von Senden
Beta Kappa Wilbur Long
Phi Kappa Psi Ben Johnson
Independents Boyd Overdorf

The purpose of this branch of Dept. of Physical Education is to encourage and enlist the entire student body in some form of organized athletic activity, and to encourage the promotion of wholesome recreation.

Every under-graduate is eligible to enter in these sports except letter men, from this or any other college. The men are allowed to participate in any sport in which they have not received a letter.

Among the events are volley ball, touch football, swimming, track, cross country races, basketball, tennis, boxing and golf. The tennis, touch football, and golf season is already in progress. The seasons for the other sports will be determined by the committee at a later date.

The different units of competition have already sent out their men to the golf tryouts. Scoring in golf will be on a new basis this year. The sixteen men with the lowest scores will contest in an open tournament. This system of scoring will be included in Intramural Handbook which lists the rules and regulations.

Other men who have had experience here who will find their way into the lineup Saturday in all probability are, Cousins, White, Spence, Ransford, Clark, Dunbar, and Lavelly. Petrequin, a newcomer has shown up well in practice in the backfield.

Coach Lawrence has been drilling the men the past week on several tricky plays to be used when scoring possibilities present themselves. Work has been concentrated on developing a strong forward line to make way for a fast charging backfield.

Sanction Organization Of Amateur Photographers

Under the endorsement of Dr. Tolley, other members of the faculty, and the Student Relations Committee, a Photography Club has recently been formed at Allegheny. This group, organized for the promotion of interest in the field of amateur photography, has been fortunate in securing the services of Kurt C. Glaubach, professional photographer and technical advisor of the Kalidon.

Prof. Harley Morris and Mr. Frederick Haberman, faculty advisors of the club, are at present outlining a program for the coming year. Twenty-Two Men Turn In Cards For Intramural Golf

'Gator Soccer Team To Open '35 Season With Veteran Group

The Allegheny soccer team will open its second season on Oct. 18 with Slippery Rock furnishing the opposition.

Last year, in their first year of varsity competition, the 'Gator soccerites gained a split decision with the Teachers. The visitors gained a 5-0 win in the first contest, but the 'Gators more than made up for it by taking a 2-1 decision in the return game at Slippery Rock thus handing them their only setback of the season.

The team, with 11 lettermen back, one for every position, should be pointed for a successful season. Coach Way is expecting more men to report for practice within the next week; with these additions the squad will number well over 30, thus assuring an abundance of reserve material. With the captain-elect, Zurlo, out of school, the squad has elected Bob Dain to lead them for the season.

The lettermen are: Dain, Barackman, Clark, Darling, Acker, Dennis, Gilmore, Ober, Robertson, Shafer, and Hutchison.

Tribulations Of Cochran Waiters Revealed In Tale

Behind that savory dinner of synthetic chicken, succulent string beans, and pulverized potatoes which you recently so casually consumed in the pretentious Cochran Hall Dining Room, there was enacted a momentous episode, replete with the stark chaos and the frenzied activities of stalwart waiters and scullery knaves—the varlets who constitute the Forgotten Men of the Cochran Kitchens.

Despite maddening distractions and insuperable obstacles, this reputedly efficient battalion has steadily supplied sustenance for the ravening multitudes.

Undaunted, the Starvation Storm Troops, under the command of Major-domo Richard Horn, has struggled gallantly against futility. Yet, no matter how sedulously or how fulsomely they serve enormous quantities of edibles, the insatiable Freshman Class invariably appears for more.

In a demi-monde of steaming tureens and boiling cauldrons, scullions and waiters prepare for the onslaught of their hungry cohorts. For efficiency's sake, a strategic routine is adhered to.

Promptly, half an hour before each meal, a motley crew of reputable rogues appear in the back reaches of the Cochran Kitchens. There, with a gusto and a verve that defies explanation, waiters and dishwashers overexert themselves to operate their mandibles and digestive processes at a spirited tempo.

Fifteen good men and true stow away reserve rations with calculated efficiency. According to a competent informant, gentility and courtesy while eating are not entirely unknown.

Their strenuous work accomplished, dishwashers retire to await developments while waiters prepare tables for prandial exploits.

After the voracious Freshman horde storms in, waiters ply their patrons with food and drink. Meanwhile, the kitchen crew chants sentimental ballads and lugubrious dirges, oblivious to the clatter, rattle and roar of the inferno about them.

Behold! A super-efficient waiter enters to obtain replenishments. Slipping on the damp floor, his feet are catapulted out from under him and a pitcher of very moist water which he has been carrying is unceremoniously poured into his lap.

All of which accounts for the presence of a substitute waiter during the last course of the dinner.

From an overcrowded drainboard, several drinking glasses go smashing to the floor. In the ominous silence that follows, someone ironically croaks, "Sic transit glassware mundi."

And several moments later, the devilish discord is in full swing again.

Thus, despite every conceivable mishap, the indefatigable Calibans of the Cochran Kitchens maintain the vestiges of their alleged sanity.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5

At 2:00 P. M.

Miller, Hawkins, and Schultz Break 90 to Lead Field of Qualifiers.

Twenty-two men went out over the past week-end in an effort to qualify for the 16 positions eligible in competition for the yearly inter-fraternity golf plaque. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon representatives have not yet turned in cards, due to a misunderstanding.

A meeting is being held today by the intramural board to decide the condition of their getting into the competition.

The low sixteen scores will qualify for the tournament which will be played off this week. The sixteen men will be bracketed into individual matches, with the four low scores being seeded entrants. The matches will be drawn by lots. The winner of each match will gain 2 points, and the loser 1, up to the finals. In the finals, the winner will get 2 points for winning, and 3 for being the champion; the loser in the finals will get 1 point, and 2 for being runner-up. The fraternity having the highest total of points will be awarded the trophy.

Charles Miller, Phi Delta Theta; Orin Hawkins, Alpha Chi Rho, and Richard Schultz, Phi Kappa Psi, turned in the three lowest scores of the week-end competition to be certain of qualifying positions regardless of the outcome of the Sig decision. Being the only men to crack 90, Miller turned in the lowest score of 86, while Hawkins and Schultz both carded 89's. The rest of the field straggled behind with scores ranging from 93 to 128.

The sixteen low scores will be chosen as soon as the Sig entrants get their cards turned in, and match play to determine an individual and fraternity champion will immediately get under way.

The scores of the 22 men in the qualifying round are as follows:

C. Miller, Phi Delt	45	41—86
O. Hawkins, Chi Rho	46	43—89
R. Schultz, Phi Psi	44	45—89

Women To Form New Dormitory League For Competitive Program

A novel women's sports program which includes championship contests between dormitory leagues was announced today by Miss Nancy Pepper, instructor.

The season will open with a tennis tournament under the direction of Miss Betty Heath. The second event will be a parallel to the men's freshman-sophomore fight, in the form of a hockey game between freshman and an upperclass team. A swimming meet will follow.

A league, to be made up of a team for each sport from the respective dormitories, will be formed. The different houses, as well as the sororities, will compete for championships in the various sports in this year's program.

The annual Athletic Dance has been set for Nov. 9.

Outing Club Will Increase To 40 On Application Basis

The Outing Club announced plans today of increasing its membership to 40 members who will be taken in by application and acceptance of the club.

Application must be made to Miss Nancy Pepper, Mr. A. S. Daniels, or Robert Lowstetter. Only upperclass students are eligible; students of the lower level may be junior members. The latter may enter into any of the club's activities, and their enthusiasm in this respect will be considered when they apply for membership.

The requirements of the organization are: A keen interest in outside sports, desire to work on the club projects, and a junior or senior class standing.

The Club has made application for membership into the Intercollegiate Outing Association.

HANGOVERS

After a summer's layoff, Hangovers is (or are) back again on the campus, or in "The Campus". It would almost seem as if the populace of our college wanted this thing, to hear the comment passed when nothing of the sort appeared in the first issue. But then, the frosh couldn't be initiated into all the wonders of Allegheny at once, something had to be saved till the last... Speaking of the freshmen, it seems as if these first-year women are doing alright by themselves, take it from the men of the school, or from the upperclass women. Too bad they have certain social restrictions, or else there might be more to talk or rave about... We wonder how many of them will soon be getting mentioned in this space?... Come on girls, keep us supplied... About the most amusing incident occurring here in sometime, and the one most worthy of mention concerns the antics of a horse again. Are we going to be bothered with horses again this year? We thought we got rid of them with that homecoming episode two years ago. It seems that one upperclass woman had to plead with a horse to make him cease amorous intentions. But it seems that the animal had no ear for the tearful protestations of the damsel. We suggest that hereafter a little bit more persuasion be used instead of pleading to remove a heavily clodded hoof from a dainty walking member. (It seems as if there is still a chance for upperclass women to get some notice, after all.)... Another damsel crashes into print this week, tho not a member of our fair group. Seems as if Myrtle, the campus flame, was rewarded, after years of patient waiting, with a ride downtown last week in one of the more outstanding omnibuses of the campus. Bill Wilson ought to be rewarded, with possibly an autographed picture of her, for his kind deed. But if he repeats, he ought to get away from the terrific speed of 13 miles an hour, 'cause it seems Myrtle thought it was too fast, from the way she clung to the sides of the car. Wonder how her seat mate liked the ride?... There was a big rush for those student handbooks with the free passes in, but the rush of one upperclassman to get his on September 27, when the passes expired the 25th, deserves something or other... Going back to the omnibus item. It seems that there are quite a few decorating the roads bordering the campus, but the wax cake goes to that antiquated yellow gas lighted affair. What with a white one, a yellow and silver one, and a combination red and green one, we'll have quite a color scheme around here. We hope they hold together long enough so that we won't have rainbows piled all over the campus... If the upperclass women can't get the attention they want, they go out and get some for themselves, as evidenced at a certain fraternity radio party last week, when several of these maidens began a "dance-cutting-in" system of their own... Some spirit!... What damsel of the off campus dorm has made the habit of gathering up discarded cigarettes and depositing them for private use in a collapsible ciggie holder. Some system, but watch that collapsing business... It's great to have fraternity brothers, ask one female wearer of a pin here... if you forget to wear the one of the original donor, just ask a brother of the same frat, as one coed did, and found him obliging. Two pins from the same place, ouch!... The rules of date ending times of the girls seemed to find their way into Cafisch last week, when one frosh was called up, by a supposed proctor and reminded that he had to be in his room at a certain time after a date... True to the frosh intuition, he dashed towards the dorm to apologize to the proctor, pleading that it was the first time, only to find a flaw in the story... Ah! At last an item concerning these frosh women we've been hearing so much about. It seems that at least one of them got off on the right foot by squelching an upperclassman. This Hulingsite downed a short blonde date by continually referring to her tall, dark and handsome boy friend at home... Another frosh girl just escaped being famous, when a trick played on her date was discovered and cleared up. Otherwise some poor girl would have had to endure quite an odor while on that ride in the country... Nicknames are already cropping up in that frosh class. What with "Pin head", "Phussy-Phil" and a couple of others, they are already riding high in that respect... We hear our famed "horse killer" is not back with us this year, what will we do now for homecoming ideas?... The freshmen seem to boast a number of so-called "crooners", Lord save us... we hope they confine their efforts to the shower rooms of Cafisch... Well, we think we have done enough rambling for this week, but the season for "column crashing" is officially on, so we'll be looking for material for the next issue. We wonder how many people will be besieged this year with requests to leave names out of "their" column?

Arthur Cobb Leads Second Of Vesper Service Series

The second of the Sunday vesper services was held Sunday evening at Hulings Hall. The service was conducted by Arthur Cobb, who led in the singing of several hymns, after which Duane Good led in prayer. After the reading of the scripture, Dr. Beiler, Professor of Bible and Religion, gave a talk on the subject, "Why are we as moral as we are?"

Dr. Beiler opened his talk by pointing out how various authorities which formerly carried much weight have lost much of their influence. Parental and governmental authorities are not as strong as before, as is evidenced by the lawlessness in the world. The authority of even the Bible is constantly being put to the test.

He then opened the meeting to discussion by asking the question, "What is our authority for moral behavior?" Several opinions were expressed by different members of the group.

Dr. Beiler summed up the discussion by saying that the teachings of Jesus are by far superior to other standards because they serve the greatest good for the greatest number of people. He said that their superiority lay in the fact that their main purpose was to serve human life.

Many Improvements Made On Campus During Summer

During the past summer Allegheny College has been preparing for the student hordes by making many improvements to buildings and campus.

As usual much painting has been done, both in the kitchens of Hulings and Cochran Hall and in the locker rooms of the men's gymnasium. The gym floor was refinished, new partitions were put up in the locker room, a new stairway was built, and a waiting room was furnished for the ladies. The secretarial department was expanded when one of the rooms on the first floor of Ruter Hall was refurnished with new desks and chairs and fifteen new typewriters were installed. Carnegie Hall has been improved by the enlargement of the lecture room and the painting of the outside.

The beauty of the campus was increased when a new walk was laid between the chapel and the observatory, and lawns graded in front of the chapel.

Sororities Hold Rushing Parties During Past Week

Six sororities held various entertainments during the past rushing week, prior to the actual pledging Monday.

Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained twenty-one girls at its rushing party, Saturday afternoon, September 21. The history of the chapter was presented in the form of a pageant, following which refreshments were served. A trio, composed of Mary Lou Waha, Emma Robertson, and Marty Lou Youngman, gave several selections. Peggy Starr, as a gypsy, told the rushers' fortunes from their tea leaves. Mary Lou Waha was chairman of the party, and Marty Lou Youngman had charge of the refreshments.

Twenty-five freshman girls were entertained at the Theta Upsilon Cocktail Party on Monday afternoon, September 23. A fashion show was held in the Rainbow Cocktail Room, where ginger ale and root beer were served. A tap dance was presented by Virginia Moore and Virginia Johns. Betty Elliott was in charge of the party.

Thirty-five girls were forced to walk the plank, blindfolded, in the Alpha Xi Delta Pirate's Den, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 24. Dice games and a treasure chest formed a part of the entertainment. Lydia Mieszkowski and Julia Ferguson gave a pirate song. Doughnuts and root beer were served. Julia Ferguson and Jean Norris were in charge of the program and refreshments.

Alpha Gamma Delta presented pictures of its summer camp at the rushing party, which was held Wednesday afternoon, September 25. Camp songs were sung, and a skit, entitled The Judge's Bench, was given, after which refreshments were served. Eleanor Ruth and Ella Darling were in charge of the party.

Alpha Chi Omega Studio was the scene of much activity Thursday afternoon, September 26, when thirty-five freshman girls were guests at a studio party. The following pictures were presented: Sweet Alpha Chi Girl; A Day in College, and Tin Foiled Again. A trio, composed of Eleanor Keefer, Dorothea Ely, and Martha Schreiner, gave several selections. Refreshments were served, and group singing was presented by the chapter. The grand finale and masterpiece of the artist was the Alpha Chi Omega Dream Cake, which was introduced by Jane Stover. Martha Schreiner was in charge of the party.

Kappa Alpha Theta entertained thirty girls at the Theta Little Theatre, Friday afternoon, September 27. Parodies on Romeo and Juliet, Lady MacBeth and the Courtroom Scene were presented under the direction of Amy Bishop. Betty Siebert, Beulah Burch, and Sally McVey composed the chorus. Refreshments were served during the intermission, after which the closing scene was given, titled The Realm of Love. Helen Edmundson was chairman of the party.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

The Sigma Chi's are funny guys.
The Beta's are a scream.
The Phi Delta Theta men are boys,
They can't be as they seem.
The Alpha Chi Rho's are hairy men
But there ain't none on their chests.
The Phi Psi's are an abnormal lot
No better than the rest.
The Kappa Sig's are the timid kind
That lock their doors at night.
The Phi Kappa Sigma's you'll agree
Are a devastating blight.
The Commons Club small virtue have
The Theta Chi's are boisterous
The S. A. E.'s of all the gangs
Are a little bit the worsterous.

A liar is one who has no partition between his imagination and his information, according to the Dickinsonian.

The Northeastern News says that originality has been defined as, "Remembering what the other fellow has said and forgetting where you heard it."

The boys at a frat house at Boston U. did not mind eating hash six days a week, but when the cook had the consummate nerve to put raisins in it on Sunday and serve it for mince-meat, well, then they got sore.
