Aug. 7th, 1931.

My dear Miss Tarbell,

Will you give me a sentence expressing your anti-prohibition views, with permission to quote it? Conditions are very bad here, & I am working with a group of women for reform. We are using the opinions of a number of distinguished people, and yours would help a lot.

We are well but hot, here in Ohio. The children grow & flourish like the wicked green bay-tree; we are taking them to Marblehead for September. Ted's world history is coming out in January, first as a text-book with the Ginns, later as a book for general consumption. I have a novel appearing in January too. I hope to see you soon after at the dear friendly club. Where are you now, I wonder?

Affectionately yours,

Gertrude Pahlow.
