31st C. T. D. Program Is Canceled Here

Army Well-Satisfied With Allegheny's Part in Program

Removal of the 31st College Training Detachment of the Army Air Corps from Allegheny college was discussed by President John Richie Schultz in chapel today.

The notice of discontinuation of this branch came without warning from Army headquarters last weekend. This move, which affects 70 colleges and universities, is in line with General H. H. Arnold's recent report that "as the war continues, emphasis will shift from training of vast numbers of new men to the training of replacements."

President Schultz said that the announcement of the discontinuation of the program came without notice, although "we have felt that this was coming for some time." He mentioned several indications, including the fact that many specialized training programs have already been terminated—pre-meteorological training, flying programs under the Civilian Aeronautics Authority for instruction, Navy V-5 programs and Navy pre-flight training at various colleges in the near future.

"Judging by these indications we have felt the program would not last," he said. "We have planned on the basis of finishing Army training by July 1." The actual situation, as reported, will coincide almost exactly with plans to send out the regular monthly detachments without replacements until the newest man has been trained. This means that the program should close in June.

Program Satisfactory—Army.

Captain D. L. Echols, commanding officer of the 31st C. T. D., assured the college that its training of the cadets was very efficient and had proved quite satisfactory.

"Allegheny college," he said, "has gone all-out to co-operate with the training program for air forces aviation students. The entire setup at the college has been geared to our program. . . . Every request we have made—on academic matters, the physical training, just everything—has been met willingly. The co-operation of President Schultz, Comptroller L. J. Long and Co-ordinator Donald E. Murray has been the finest I've ever seen—and I've been in several college training detachments."

A recent survey conducted by the Army showed that of all the Allegheny-trained men who had reached pre-flight schools, none had been disqualified. This he termed an "excellent showing."

President Schultz expressed his satisfaction with the program also. He said, "We've been glad to do our part. If the Army is satisfied, we're satisfied that we've done our job."

Plans for Future

Naturally, changes in the college program will be entailed. Those faculty members employed specifically for the Army training program will not be required after the program is over.

President Schultz said that we must "prepare for a smaller college, although it will still be as large as the Allegheny of 15 years ago. We now have 510 students in school, and with a small expansion next year, we plan to keep the regular faculty together."

It is also expected that the increasing number of boys re-entering college because of medical discharges from the armed forces will supplement the student body.

After the war the demobilization plan which is now being discussed in Congress will also send many boys back to school.

As for housing facilities, the Odd Fellows' home will be given up first and then Caflisch will be evacuated. During the summer months, the reconditioning of Caflisch is planned.

Students Graduate In January

Twenty-one students of Allegheny were graduated this January. No formal exercises were held, although the graduates are invited to attend the regular May commencement ceremonies.

The following received the Bachelor of Arts degree: Cecilia Sarah Ballinger, Joan Elizabeth Bliss, Eleanor Emery Evans, Earl Brooks Gilbert, Donald James Haack, Ruth Elizabeth Hammon, Mary Jane Kennan, Calvin Ellsworth Miller, Jeanne Marie Sawtelle, Jane Graham Sinclair, Charlotte Louise Snell, George Brenton Taylor, Elverta Hattie Turk, John James Van Strien, and Roberta Jane Waite.

Bachelor of Science degrees were awarded to John McDowell Caughey, Mitchell Elias Daniels, Paul Marcus Hamilton, Nancy Lee Konstanzer, Mildred Anne Wright, and Pearl Mae Zawadski.

Results of A.U.C. Poll Made Known

The Allegheny Christian Council and Epsilon chapter of Cwens were each granted a seat on the Allegheny Undergraduate Council, as a result of a majority vote in a student poll Tuesday evening.

The representative of each organization shall be the president or a delegate elected by the group.

The final tabulations are in the hands of the A. U. C. and may be had upon request.

At Sunday's meeting of the A. U. C. an amendment to the by-laws was made to move the election of president of A. U. C. in the week preceding Easter vacation, rather than after as in former years.

Four replacements on the council were announced by Harry Conroy, president, at the last meeting.

Elizabeth North, '45, has succeeded Jane Sinclair, '44, as president of the Pan-Hellenic council; Richard Coon, '47, has replaced Joan Hexter, ex '45, as head of the War Bonds and Stamps committee. Mildred Ann Ditty, '46, representing publications, replaced Charlotte Snell, who graduated in January. Betsy Pileeger, '45, was granted a non-voting seat on the A. U. C. as representative of the Allegheny Advertising Agency.

Freshman Women Elect New Members For A.W.S. Senate

Proctors for the second semester were elected at house and section meetings last Thursday evening, while the election of freshmen Senate members was held in the chapel Saturday during a meeting of the A. W. S.

The newly elected senate members include: Margaret McKay, Beebe; Glenna Miller, Tarbell; Patty Reichard, Ridge; Betty Ervin, Crawford; Lynn Uhlinger, Gamble; Ruth McMillan and Betty Crabbs, Brooks. They succeed Wanda Ronenberg, Margaret Auty, Marjorie Keast, Judy St. Clair, Mary Jane Houston, Martha Jane Sector and Portia Gott.

A rare print of a photograph taken of Abraham Lincoln in 1860 was found in the Ida M. Tarbell collection at Allegheny College and has been published for the first time in the February 12 issue of Collier's magazine.

The picture appears in connection with an article, "The Face of Lincoln", written by Carl Sandburg, eminent author and Lincoln biographer and long-time friend of the college. Mr. Sandburg's article is the foreword of a book, "The Photographs of Abraham Lincoln", soon to be published by Harcourt, Brace & Company over the names of Mr. Sandburg and Frederick Hill Meserve, authority on Lincoln portraits and photographs. The Allegheny photograph will also be reproduced in the book.

Allegheny's treasured collection of Lincolniana was received from Ida M. Tarbell, noted lecturer and dean of American women writers, who died recently at Bridgeport, Connecticut. She was a graduate of the class of 1880 at Allegheny.

Philip M. Benjamin, director of the Reis Library of Allegheny College, said that when the rare photograph could not be identified with others in the Meserve catalogue, it was forwarded to Mr. Meserve for study. Mr. Meserve concluded that it was unlike any of the published ones, and he and Mr. Sandburg agreed that it had probably been taken in Springfield, Illinois, just after Lincoln's nomination.

The photograph, judged an earlier sitting than others taken of Lincoln in 1860-61, is a full profile of the right side of the face and offers an interesting comparison with the four celebrated Mathew Brady profiles made at Washington on February 9, 1864.

Registration This Term Five Hundred

The total enrollment of the second semester is 510, according to reports from the registrar's office. Of these, 125 are men students and the remaining 385 are women.

Four of the new enrollees are former students, eight are special and thirty-four were admitted as freshmen, which brings the total number of new names on the second semester registration to 46.

Seventy-two students who were here the first semester did not register again, but since a few of these are due to illness, it is expected that this number will be decreased later.

Comparison with last year's figure shows that there are 213 less students registered this year.

First All-College Dance of 1944 Will Be Held On Saturday

Gene Parlette will play for the first all-college dance of the new year this Saturday night from nine to eleven-thirty at Brooks hall.

All Air Corps men, with dates, are cordially invited to attend this dance.

The basketball game between Allegheny and Camp Reynolds has been moved up to eight o'clock so that students can attend both the game and the dance.

Mr. F. F. Seely and Mr. Alexander Kern will be the chaperones for the evening.

Dr. A. D. Heinrich Speaks At German Club Discussion

Dr. A. D. Heinrich, a Meadville chiropractor, spoke in German to Der Deutsche Verein, last week on the subject of German youth, their education and customs before 1926. The meeting was thrown open for general discussion, and Dr. Heinrich answered many questions raised by the students.

During a short business meeting, James Hurst, '46, was elected treasurer of the club to replace Jeanne Sawtelle who graduated last semester. The meeting ended with the singing of German songs and the serving of refreshments.

Campus and Community Back New Bond Drive

Students Help Drive's Success

Allegheny college students have played an important role in the success of Meadville's portion of the Fourth War Bond drive during the past two weeks.

Although the final results are in the hands of Meadville bankers and not made public, it is believed that the goal of $3,200,000 was topped.

A committee composed of Nancy Altman, '46, Barbara Bender, '45, Jean Griffith, '45, Richard Coon, '47, and Robert Deitsch, '47, directed the college's effort. Their job was to see that all of the booths in downtown Meadville were constantly manned. College students enthusiastically sold bonds from the booths as well as solicited every downtown business establishment during the period.

Corporal Joseph Sorce, ex '44, was granted a 17-day leave from Brooksville, Florida, to organize and coordinate the local drive. It was Cpl. Sorce, who, while still a college student, inspired the very successful college-community bond drive in Meadville last year.

The Allegheny Playshop will once again climax the effort when they present "Arsenic and Old Lace" tonight in the Meadville high school auditorium. The admission price will be one $18.75 war bond. A special performance of "Destination Tokyo" starring Cary Grant and John Garfield was shown at the Park theater last Thursday evening. A war bond was also the price of admission to that event.

Bousson Camp Thrown Open To Organizations

The A. U. C. announces that the use of Bousson camp has been put on an organizational basis, with the following rules to be effective:

1. At times not scheduled in the college calendar for the Outing club, Bousson cabin will be available to any campus organization recognized by the A. U. C.
2. Organizations desiring use of the cabin must check the date with the Dean of Women; when date is approved the party planning to use the cabin may obtain the key upon signing for it at the telephone operator's desk in Brooks hall; key must be returned here immediately after outing party returns to campus.
3. All groups using the cabin are subject to the following regulations regarding the care of the facilities, and any group violating these provisions will be denied use of the cabin by the A. U. C., acting upon recommendation from the Outing club.

Before leaving the cabin be sure that the following duties have been performed:

- a. Balconies and floors swept.
 - b. Mattresses put away.
 - c. Cots folded and piled up.
 - d. Wood boxes filled.
 - e. All equipment cleaned and returned to its proper place.
 - f. All refuse put in the refuse pit.
 - g. Positively all fresh foods taken out of the cabin.
 - h. Police the grounds (ground cleanup).
 - i. Report any need in the following supplies to the Outing club immediately: fuel for lamps, etc.
 - j. Fasten all shutters, lock the windows and be sure the door is locked.
 - k. Be sure the fire screen is in place and the fire extinguished.
 - l. Report any damage immediately on return to town.
- Lest you forget, a good camper leaves the cabin and grounds in better condition than he found it.

Bond Committee Newly Organized

Reorganization of the War Bonds and Stamps committee of the A. U. C. has strategically taken place in time to aid the Fourth War Loan drive.

Richard Coon, '47, has replaced Joan Hexter, who left school at mid-semester, and now is directing the committee. His aides are Rita Rogers, '44, treasurer, and Harold Knappenberger, '47, chairman of solicitors. The new personnel is determined to uphold its standing as one of the most important committees on campus.

An active drive is being made for all back payments up to and including January's for the "bond by May" drive started last semester. Special solicitation is being made this week to include them in the Fourth War Loan drive. Those who made pledges of $2.68 per month at the start of the drive should have paid $8.04 by now. Those who have let their payments slip are asked to sincerely try to bring them up to date this week.

Chairman Coon urged that those who contemplate purchasing an extra bond should do it this week in order to boost Allegheny's total.

Excellent results have been obtained from the letters sent last week to parents of the students.

Thus, independently of the Meadville drive, the college is aiming for a sizable contribution to the national effort.

Solicitors for the drive are: Carol Blake, '46, Jane Ann Fleming, '45, Priscilla Garden, '46, Elinor Slutz, '45, Alberta Marriot, '46, Ruth Hykes, '46, and Aline Horst, Sue Smathers, Patricia Patchen, John Bowlus, Corinne Irwin, Catherine Richards, Vera Lee Hampson, Jean Linnert, William Walker, and Ruth Blodgett, all of the class of '47.

Debate Schedule Announced

Decision of the freshmen debate schedule has been announced by Mr. Orland Ritchie of the speech department.

Sophie Morrow, '47, and John Bowlus, '47, on the affirmative team and Marion Stewart, '46, and Dominic Sciamanda, '47, on the negative, will debate tonight. On February 10, Emily Dunn, '46, and Rae Marsteller, '47, will take the affirmative side against Fred Sturm, '47, and Jack Yockey, '47, on the negative team. The topic for these debates is: "Resolved: That in the event of an allied victory, the United States should co-operate in the formation of an international police force." All debates are held at 8 o'clock in Arter 15.

Several delegates will be sent to the 9th Annual Penn State Debater's Conference on March 24 and 25. Topics will be chosen upon the theme, "Problems in the maintenance of a lasting peace." All colleges in Pennsylvania have been invited to participate in this conference.

Pan-Hell's New Head Is Elizabeth North

Elizabeth North, '45, representing Theta Upsilon, has been appointed president of the Pan-Hellenic council to succeed Jane Sinclair, Alpha Xi Delta, who graduated in January.

The first intersorority function of the new semester was a radio party held last Saturday night in the girls' gymnasium.

A tentative date of March 25 has been set for the spring Intersorority Ball, upon final approval of all the sororities. Several other intersorority functions are also being planned for the semester.

The Social Whirl

By PEGGY OWENS

With second semester off to a good start, social life resumes its whirl in a round of socials, teas, and initiations.

Mr. Philip Benjamin played the piano and Jay Luvaas played the oboe when members of Alpha Chi Omega entertained the Kappas at a social whirl in their rooms last Monday evening. The Alpha Chis presented Cecilia Ballinger with a silver chafing dish; Cecilia is to be married in March. Ruth Wright was a guest of the past weekend.

Louise Bowman and Doris Depp were weekend guests of the Alpha Gams. Louise has just completed graduate work at Pitt school of merchandising.

New officers were elected in Alpha Xi Delta last Monday evening. They include: Dorothy-Jeanne Butt, president; Marie Greenleaf, vice-president; Martha Tawney, recording secretary; Nancy Reed, treasurer; Gladys Vanek, assistant treasurer; and Marjorie Haslun, Panhellenic representative. Esther Lee, '43, is a guest of the sorority.

Last Monday evening members of Kappa Alpha Theta celebrated Founder's Day with their town alumnae. In December the Thetas entertained at a miscellaneous shower held in honor of Ruth Hammon, '44, who is to be married February 13.

Mrs. Wiggins was a guest when her daughter Ellen and Elizabeth Brown were initiated by Kappa Kappa Gamma last Monday evening.

The T. U.'s announce the recent engagement of Betty Martin, ex '45, to Mel Rechold, Pitt, '42. Alice Flaugh has been named social chairman of Theta Upsilon and Eileen Graham is the news editor.

Jim Brooks was elected president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at a recent election of officers. Bob Clohency is the secretary and Tom Johnson is the new vice-president, Dave Roesse the treasurer. Hebard Manness, ex-'39, ensign Alex Brokas, '42, Corporal Joe Sorce, ex '44, and Joe Backus, ex '46, were visitors on campus during the past week.

Calvin Neithamer, '47, and Paul Dain, '47, are new initiates of Phi Kappa Psi. Recent visitors of the Phi Psis were Ensign Paul Allen, ex '44, A/S Robert Sleighter, ex '46, and Piney Knierman, ex '45.

Chic Matthews, ex '47, left for the Army on Tuesday of this week, while A/S William Miller, ex '46, and Ralph Davis, ex '46, were weekend Phi Gam guests.

Lt. Donald Blythe, ex '46, was a recent guest of the Phi Deltas.

NEW BOOKS

by Jean Merrill

Have you heard about the book two Seniors are writing for their comprehensive, a book of short stories about Allegheny, about you and you. It is hoped that the book will appear in published form sometime in the spring. Anyone interested in having his name put on the subscription list may apply to this column. (Adv.)

Coronal by Paul Claudel is a book of poetry by one of France's leading poets. His work shows how he has succeeded in uniting his unwavering faith in Catholicism with his day by day activity of life. The theme is essentially religion, and the poems reveal a depth of emotion. Both English and French versions are included.

A collection of Steinbeck's short stories is on this week's list, The Long Valley. Some of the items in this collection depart quite a bit from his usual earnest attitude toward social problems. May I suggest one story in the volume—"Saint Katy the Virgin."

Toscanini and Great Music by Lawrence Gilman is a fine piece of musical criticism. The intent of the book is not autobiographical but rather to evaluate the work of one of our greatest contemporary artists.

A biography that may have popular appeal is George M. Cohan by Ward Morehouse. Cohan is known as "the greatest little guy in the American theatre"—he's that "Yankee Doodle" boy. The story begins in the eighties and presents a vivid picture of the song-and-dance man in his brilliant career in the realm of playwright, composer and actor.

Cohan's songs have become a part of the American folk music and history gives us not only a picture of a charming 100% American, but an intimate picture of the American theatre.

FLYING HIGH

This Week's Outstanding Air Student

Because of his outstanding record at Allegheny, A/S Hyman F. McCarty, Jr. of the 31st C. T. D. of the Army Air Corps has been selected by Captain D. L. Echols to be interviewed in the first of a series of articles presenting "the outstanding aviation student of the week."

Hyman, who came here from the basic training center at Miami Beach, Florida, has been an officer in the detachment from the first month, and on January 7 was elevated to the post of group commander. Now in the flying group, he is scheduled to leave with the next group.

Aviation Student McCarty was born in Ovett, Mississippi, June 13, 1921. In 1938 he was graduated from the high school at Chabuta, Mississippi. After high school, Hyman attended Copiah-Lincoln prep school, followed by attendance at the University of Mississippi, from which he received his B. A. in 1942. McCarty, who majored in history, was quite active in college. His activities included membership in the Mississippi Alpha chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, debate team, Tau Kappa Alpha forensic fraternity, Hermion Literary society, and the presidency in his senior year of the University Y. M. C. A. In addition to this in the summer of 1943 he was a member of a Methodist Youth Fellowship Caravan group in western Texas. Originally planning to be a lawyer, he spent one year at law school before Uncle Sam stepped in.

When questioned on his opinion of Allegheny in comparison with Mississippi McCarty made several criticisms. Hyman was rather amazed to find that the students often do not speak to one another when passing on the street. It is a custom at Mississippi (as at some other places) to speak to your fellow students when passing whether you know them or not. (Ed. note: This custom is supposed to be in practice at Allegheny, also.) According to McCarty this helps immensely in developing a feeling of friendship among all of the students. Another thing McCarty would like to see come about is closer co-operation between the Air Corps Training Detachment and college students in the various campus activities and organizations.

Aviation student McCarty has had a number of big days and experiences, but the date which probably stands out above all others in his mind is December 24, 1943. Breaking into a broad grin when questioned concerning this day, Hyman is only too willing to inform one that he has just been married. To all concerned: the little woman is a graduate of Winthrop college. They met while working at a camp in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

With an infectious grin, a good sense of humor, an easy flowing conversation which immediately puts one at ease, Aviation Student Hyman F. McCarty is one person anyone might be proud to know as a friend.

Do You Know This Week's Professor?

(With a profusion of apologies to Helen Houghton)

After I had talked to Marianne Chills for about half an hour, I came to the conclusion that maybe I should have decided to write about somebody else. And I'm afraid I didn't mean to say to her, "Geze, you must've been a pretty dull thud!" The result? Miss Chills really opened up and let loose then.

When she was very young she went to visit her father, who was an assistant chieftain of a tribe of natives in French Equatorial Africa. She remembers how every morning when she did her yogi exercises an elephant would poke his head through a hole in the floor (Miss Chills couldn't speak a word of French—let alone French Equatorial African) and watch. She likes to think that by this way she saved the entire village of Bania from destruction. You see, from this elephant (whom she had named Jeff) teaching all the other elephants yogi, they stood around and yogied when a stiff storm came up and normally they would have stampeded. Miss Chills doesn't like the smell of elephants.

After coming back to good old American terra firma, "Chilly", as the young men aboard ship had called her, had an awful time convincing Public Kindergarten No. 4 (and herself too; she has no mean sense of humor, I want to tell you) that sixteen wasn't too old to enroll. Probably she had inherited a streak of perseverance from her Aunt Bess who had her eleventh husband and first child at the age of seventy-two. In kindergarten she first realized that all men—the boys aboard ship, the natives of French

ARSENIC AND OLD LACE

By ROBERTA WAITE

"Words of Wisdom Concerning Womanhood"

(Written by one Senior for Another Senior on Becoming of Age)

A boy who has turned twenty-one is called a Man. However, a girl upon turning twenty-one is known as a Woman. Now that the relationship between age and sex is established, let us proceed to the pithy portion of this discourse.

Naturally, the first question which occurs to any normal girl who has just come of age is, "What does it mean to be a woman?" Well, what does it mean to be a woman? If somebody knows, I wish they'd tell me.

But we mustn't digress.

What does it mean to be a woman? Let us consider this extremely important question. No girl should launch upon adulthood without knowing what it means to leave childhood behind.

First and foremost, you can tell the waitress you're twenty-one and mean it.

Secondly, you're free to step into a voting machine, pull the curtain, and then practically suffocate in a desperate attempt to get out again.

Thirdly, you're free to bandy your signature about on contracts, in public restrooms, and the like.

Lastly, but not leastly, you're free to become romantically entangled. This is a vital point which requires further elaboration, for which I refer you to the many books printed on the subject. However, a very important bit of advice is necessary. It is just this if you see a man you're lucky.

Had you heard that for once the tables were turned on Dr. Darling, Allegheny's leading exponent of the practical joke. One of Dr. Darling's favorite pasttimes is to have innocent friends taste various specimens of wild life—things like dragon jack root which looks like a harmless piece of raw potato or peculiar specimen of mushrooms. It seems that Dr. Darling has a nice collection of succulent plants of the cactus variety. The other day he persuaded Jean Flanagan that she should try some cactus milk. It seems that that is what you do if you are dying of thirst on the desert. Flannine being a social sort of person, said she would drink of the plant if Dr. Darling would too—when last seen Dr. Darling was wandering around with his mouth full of ice cubes in considerable agony.

You've probably heard strains of "the new song" that is rapidly vying for first place with "Don't Do It, Darling" up third Walker way. We thought you might like to know the words. It's one of the most satisfactory Allegheny songs we've sung in a long time.

"Remember the times we've had here

Remember when you're away
Remember the friends you've made here

And don't forget to come back someday.

Let's Put It Over!

With the Fourth War Loan drive well on its ways, let's take inventory of what Allegheny has done as its share.

First of all, we can point with pride to its co-operation with the city of Meadville in bringing about the second annual college-community bond drive. Corporal Joe Sorce and his able committee members on the hill deserve a vote of thanks for their hard work, particularly during semester vacation. All those who gave their time to go down town and sell bonds and stamps at the stores and banks should also be included.

On the other hand, "a bond for every student by May," a project which was started last fall, has come to a standstill. Several installments have been allowed to slip by, either through the fault of the solicitors or students. The new chairman of the bonds and stamps committee, in an effort to add these sales to Allegheny's credit under the Fourth War Loan, is asking that all installments be paid up promptly, so that payments can proceed as scheduled the rest of the semester. The solicitors have been charged to renew their efforts and will do a complete job, it is assured by the new chairman.

Thus, the burden rests on us as students to make a sincere effort to sacrifice a little and bring our installments up to date. Then we can really feel that we have personally contributed to the Fourth War Loan. Allegheny has continuously made a good showing in its contributions to the war effort. Let's keep that record unmarred!

A Word Of Appreciation

It seems that every Alleghenian comes to love and appreciate his college more after he has left it, and any connecting link to that life he left behind is eagerly welcomed. Every week letters of appreciation are received from former Alleghenians in the armed services for the copies of the Campus which are sent to them each week. How is this service accomplished?

Only too often we are apt to overlook or take for granted work being done by students here on the campus—particularly if the work does not affect us directly. The service circulation department, a committee of students which, unknown to many of us, is responsible for sending out the Campus each Friday afternoon to Alleghenians in the Service. Using its own file of names, this committee, headed by Marguerite Kift, '46, is doing a commendable job in helping to keep over one hundred ex-Alleghenians now in uniform informed about the latest news of Allegheny and of their ex-classmates.

The continued success of the committee depends upon the wholehearted co-operation and backing of everyone. Perhaps you know of a changed or new address of an Alleghenian now in the service. Turn it in and keep the file up-to-date. Keep that connecting link going out to our boys all over the world.

In that way, express your appreciation along with the appreciation of all Alleghenians now in uniform. J.R., '46

M.U.C. Announces New Program For Current Semester

Plans of the Men's Undergraduate council for the current semester were revealed by president James Jenkins, '44, following a meeting Monday afternoon.

A table tennis tournament, usually a part of intramurals, will be sponsored by the M. U. C. this year. Albert Lammert, '44, is chairman of the event. All male students interested are requested to sign up for the tourney on the bulletin board in Brooks hall. Competition will be on an individual basis.

Richard Andersen, '44, is organizing college men for an interfraternity serenade. This is an innovation on the M. U. C. calendar. Tentative plans for an interfraternity spring dance were also discussed at Monday's meeting.

Gator Rivals Y.M., Reynolds

Tough Match Provided With Camp Reynolds

Although ineffective as a true test of the college squad's possibilities, the game with the Y. M. C. A. at least served as a tune-up for this coming Saturday's big encounter with the Camp Reynolds Indians.

This long awaited game promises to be a real contest and it is earnestly hoped that a large turnout of collegians will be on hand. The Montgomery gym is slated to be the scene of Saturday night's action and festivities will start promptly at 8:00 p. m. to allow plenty of time to join the shindig at Brooks later in the evening.

As the attendance at home games so far this year has been disappointingly weak, it is hoped that Alleghenians will take a lesson from the spirit of past years and really support their representatives in their toughest engagement.

The Indians present a formidable aggregation with more than one top flight college and professional cager on their lineup, but Coach Garbark, who'll probably string along with Conroy, Nichols, Donaldson, Fuhrer and Kirkpatrick in starting roles, promises a real battle with hopes for the best.

Also on the Gator's calendar are games with Alliance at Cambridge Springs on February 11, Grove City on February 19 at home, and Camp Reynolds again on February 23 at Greenville. A pair of engagements with the General Electric team in Erie have been booked but the final dates are not yet set.

Gators Win Easily Over Local Y. M. C. A.

The Gator basketball squad overpowered their way to a 51-27 decision over the Meadville Y. M. C. A. on the loser's court last Monday night. The game saw over 100 spectators on hand to cheer their respective favorites on to greater heights.

The Allegheny quintet seized an early lead which, except for a brief moment early in the second period when the Y pulled up a 12-12 tie, was never seriously threatened. Coach Garbark was able to substitute freely, and before the game was over all 10 men had seen action.

Donaldson opened the scoring for the Gators with a set from near the foul line and from then on the Blue and Gold rolled merrily on its way to the second win of the campaign over the downtown competitors.

Harry Conroy ran off with individual honors, checking in with a season's high of 17 points, most of which came in the first half. Teammate Frank Fuhrer tallied nine, which was also the total for Jimmy Davern, high scorer for the Y. The remainder of the Gator scoring was divided among Kirkpatrick with 7, Nichols, 6, Donaldson, 6, Neithemer, 4, and Dart and Bailey, who garnered a point apiece.

Mr. Benjamin Will Speak At Class Banquet

The class of '45 will hold its banquet on Thursday, February 10, at 6 P. M. in Brooks Hall.

The speaker of the evening is Mr. Philip M. Benjamin, who spoke at the freshman banquet of the class of '45. In addition, there will be several numbers by a male quartet, a reading by Rita Rogers, and a passing review of the boys in the service.

The guests of honor will be President and Mrs. John R. Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Horace T. Lavelly, and Miss Skinner.

The committee in charge of the dinner are Harry Conroy, president; Louise Schweitzer, secretary; James Brooks, program; Naomi Lutz, invitations; and June McGary, decorations.

Open House Teas

Present plans for the Open House teas held every Sunday afternoon in Brooks hall are to have the freshman houses and sororities each take charge of arrangements at different times throughout the semester.

On January 30 Gamble house was in charge. The tentative plan is as follows: February 6, Tarbell; February 13, Beebe; February 20, Crawford; February 27, Ridge; March 5, Brooks fourth, and on March 8, freshmen on Brooks third.

Have a Coca-Cola = Let's be friendly

... a way to win a welcome wherever you go

There's friendliness in the simple phrase Have a "Coke". It turns strangers into friends. In both hemispheres, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the high-sign of the good-hearted.

CATHERINE WHITE and GERALDINE WALLACE

It seems as if a good many have beat me to this, and I'm very sorry about my laxity, but I wish to state at this time that I appreciate more than somewhat receiving the Campus every week. Receiving news from Allegheny every week is one of my few contacts with the civilized world, and I look forward to each Monday with a great deal of anticipation. Being stuck in the Bronx since last July, and expecting to be here until July 1944 makes memories of Allegheny more pleasant than you in Meadville can imagine. I've read and heard about the joys and wonders of the great city of New York, but after a fair test I still say God's country, i.e. northwestern Pennsylvania, is the most pleasant spot I've ever been in.

I'm one of these A. S. T. P. men you probably hear about, or subway commandos—whatever the current name may be. The army tells me I'll be a civil engineer in six months, and since I've learned long since the folly of arguing with the army, here I am. The work, the hours, and the mental strain are all a lot harder than being in the army, and for one who never believed in study or regular hours it's quite a tough grind but I guess I'll survive At Allegheny the faculty really teaches a thing or two, but the poor N. Y. U. engineer wastes his time in class and then has to get his work out of the books.

While home furloughing last week I was able to confirm a couple of rumors for the sake of the records of the Alumni News people. Fact 1: my brother, Charles P. Grow, ex '38 currently chasing around the Pacific has been boosted in rang from an ensign to lieutenant. (j.g.) Fact 2: As of November 16 I'm the father of one Ronna Lynn Grow, a bouncing little baby girl if ever there was one. This latter piece of information was drummed into me by my nightly walks from 8:00 p. m. to 3:30 a. m. with said infant interestedly peering over my shoulder, wide awake, completely ignoring my lullabies, piano playing, poetry reading, and other devices to make her sleep. She's a most excellent little girl in every respect, and I've forgiven her for her over-enthusiastic welcome. She looks like her mother, and bears absolutely no resemblance to her old man, so I'll say she is a beautiful baby. Sincerely, P.F.C. THOMAS A. GROW, 13110001 CO. B, 3202 A.S.T.U., N.Y.U. BRONX, NEW YORK 53, N. Y.

Just a line to give you my new address. Sure would like another copy of the Campus. I haven't had one for a month and really missed it. I'm now in Cadets. Although I attended Allegheny only a few months, I feel that it is my college. When it comes to school spirit especially, I wish that I were back there, as it is almost completely lacking at M. I. T. You have it, keep it.

Since I left Allegheny I have met only one former student from there, Bert Bossler, who is also here at Tech. We don't have any time to get together, though, as Tech is all work and no play. A notice the other day read something like this:

It has come to the attention of the commanding officer that trainers, to get out of work, are committing suicide by swallowing their slide rules. This is a needless waste of slide rules and time, which are now very precious, and this practice shall be discontinued immediately.

I had no thought of hari-kari to escape work because we're getting too good an education at the expense of Uncle Sam. Roses go to him.

I have been receiving the Campus for a couple months now and thanks a million to all of you who take time to mail it to us. I read it from cover to cover. Keep it coming and thanks again. A/S A. POTPOURRI

All students and members of the faculty are invited to come and hear Dr. Julian Ross speak on "Love and Hate," and to participate in the following discussion, this Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. in the Oratory. A semester program of timely and interesting discussions is being mapped out, with Dr. Kalfayan and Dr. Long as possibilities for the near future.

A meeting of the Christian Council is to be held immediately after the discussion period, at 3:30 p. m. to work on plans for this year's campus-wide Religious Emphasis week scheduled for February 21 to 25. All members are asked to be present.

Come to the grand opening of the "Cafe Pompadour" on Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in Arter hall. Hear the famous chanteuse, Sally Lou Connor. Eat, drink, and be merry. Dress in appropriate costume. On parle francais.

In Reis library this week is a colorful display of foreign and American dolls from the collection of Helen P. Cox, an Allegheny freshman. Each of the foreign dolls was brought back by a friend who traveled in that country.

Catholic students and Catholic members of the 31st C. T. D. are requested to meet in the Oratory Sunday night at 8:30 for Newman club. Plans for a communion breakfast with Father Weschler in charge are to be discussed, and an election of officers will be held.

A meeting of all reporters on the Campus staff will be held at 1 o'clock on Friday in the Green room.

All those wishing to go on the Bousson outing this weekend are to sign up in the women's gymnasium.
