

TRUSTEES ANNOUNCE BUILDING PROGRAM

INCREASED ENDOWMENT ON TEN YEAR PLAN TO FURNISH NEEDED EQUIPMENT

At the annual meeting of the Trustees held June 19, 1923, the urgent need for additional buildings and endowment to meet the actual requirements of the College at its present size was thoroughly discussed. It was decided that the endowment should be increased to $2,500,000, and that the following buildings should be provided: A Recitation and Administration Hall, a Dormitory for Freshmen men, an Auditorium, a Heating Plant, a Memorial Tower and a Library Extension.

The College has not sufficient office facilities and fire-proof storage room for academic records of students and alumni, and other valuable records, is entirely lacking. The offices of the President, and the Treasurer, and particularly of the Registrar and Dean of Men are cramped and entirely inadequate.

The College also has pressing need of nine additional recitation rooms, and a place to accommodate full meetings of the Faculty and of the Trustees. A building which would provide these accommodations is not only an immediate necessity for the College at its present size, but is doubly necessary before any increase in size could be considered.

Inasmuch as the College has no dormitory for Freshmen, it is the custom for the first year men to find rooms in private homes. It is believed that to house the freshmen in a college dormitory would promote better scholarship and real democracy among them. Since adequate recreation rooms, parlors, dining rooms and kitchens are already provided in Cochran Hall, a hall of residence for freshmen would include only dormitories. No auditorium on the campus, including Ford Memorial Chapel, has seating room for more than five hundred people. There is urgent need for an auditorium seating 1500 people to accommodate the crowds drawn by commencement exercises, concert courses, college dramatics, or any convocation which brings together a greater number of people than the student body.

The Memorial Tower is planned to be equipped with an electric clock which would ring the hours automatically and synchronize the movements of all classes. This would do away with the present inaccurate and unsatisfactory custom of a college bell ringer. The lower stories of the Tower would afford rooms for the Campus, the Kaldron and the Men's Senate.

This project is known as the Ten Year Building Program, and is an outgrowth and a natural complement of the Second Century Endowment Fund.

STUDENTS FORM CLASS AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

DR. C. F. LITTELL TO TEACH ORGANIZED SUNDAY SCHOOL GROUP

With Dr. C. W. Littell as instructor, a class, exclusively for college men, was organized at First M. E. Church Sunday School last Sabbath. This class will take the room formerly occupied by Dr. W. H. Elliott's Bible Class. The Bible Class will transfer its meeting place to a room in the Court House.

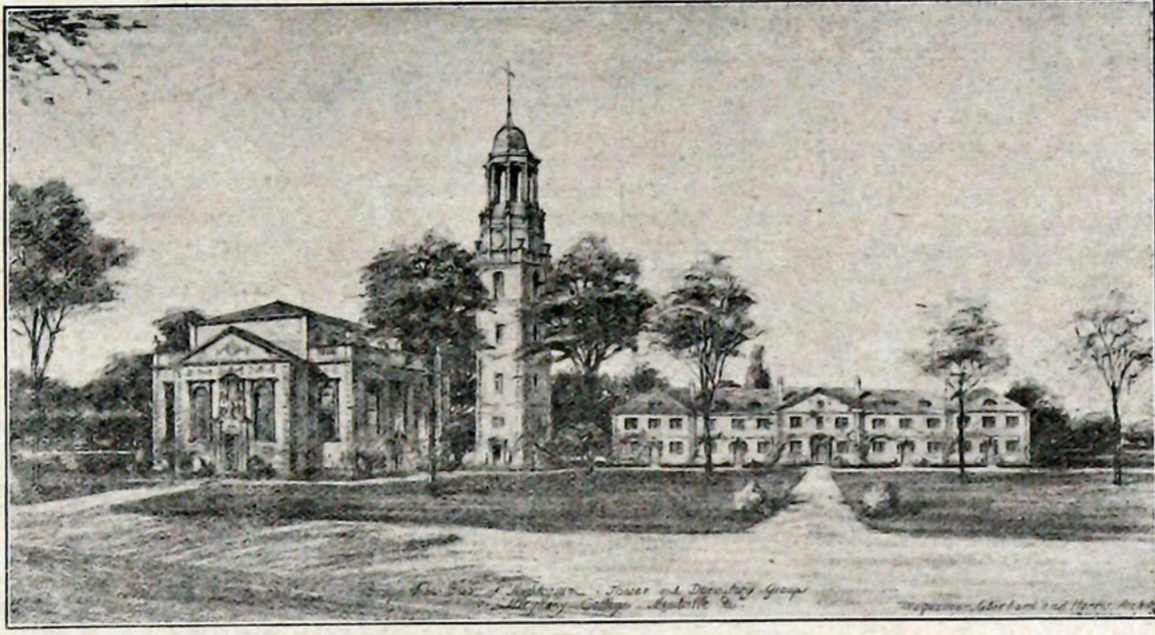

About twenty men were present at the initial meeting of the class. The members of the group decided to discuss a different problem of current interest each Sunday. Next Sunday the topic will be "Faith." The two Sundays following, the topics will be "Nature of the Bible" and "Evolution."

STUDENTS COMPETE FOR CHEER LEADER

The Student Senate plans for additional cheer-leader tryouts at the next pep meeting. The following men are competing for the position: H. B. Knapp, R. G. Davis, J. H. Miller, and C. B. Hartman. Popular election of one of the candidates will follow soon after the final tryout.

STUDENTS RECEIVE SCHOLASTIC HONORS

MARY C. DORWORTH AND EDGAR L. GASTEIGER ELECTED TO PHI BETA KAPPA

At the chapel services on Saturday, October 6, President Fred W. Hixson announced the scholastic honors of the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes of last year. He also announced the election of Mary C. Dorworth and Edgar L. Gasteiger of the class of 1924 to the honorary academic fraternity of Phi Beta Kappa.

Miss Dorworth and Mr. Gasteiger were elected to Phi Beta Kappa at this time in accordance with a provision of the constitution of the Allegheny chapter which provides that one-fourth of the total number to be elected to the society from a given class may be elected at the beginning of the senior year, provided the ones to be elected have an average of "A." Election to the society of Phi Beta Kappa at Allegheny is given in accordance with the following cause in the constitution of the local chapter:

"From the names of all men in the class shall be taken the one-fourth whose scholastic standing for the college course has been the highest, and who are otherwise eligible. In a similar way the eligible list of young women shall be determined. From each eligible list the Executive Committee shall elect, by a majority vote of members present, a number not exceeding one-eighth of the total number of men—or of women—in the class."

FACULTY REPRESENTED AT ERIE CONFERENCE

PRESIDENT HIXSON TO HEAD DELEGATION OF FIVE PASTORS AT M. E. CONFERENCE

President Fred W. Hixson was elected to the high position of head of the delegation of five clergymen who are to attend the General Conference at Springfield, Mass., early next May. Dr. Hixson was also appointed chairman of the committee to induce young men, contemplating the ministry as a life work, to attend school.

Dr. W. A. Elliot was the second man elected to the delegation of five laymen to represent the Erie Conference at the Springfield meeting.

Other faculty men prominent at the conference were Dr. I. R. Beller, Dr. F. G. Henke, and Asst. Treas. C. W. Gill. Judge Thos. J. Prather was also in attendance.

ORATORICAL BOARD PREPARES SCHEDULE

DR. S. S. SWARTLEY ATTENDS CONFERENCE AT WESTERN RESERVE

Arrangements preliminary to the starting of debating activities for the year were made by Dr. S. S. Swartley at a conference of representatives from five colleges, which met at Western Reserve University at Cleveland, O., last Friday to schedule intercollegiate debates for the coming year.

Representatives from Wooster, Western Reserve, Ohio Wesleyan, Oberlin, and Allegheny met in the Administration Building of the University and discussed the following subjects as propositions for the coming debates: the "World Court," the "Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Canal," the "Entrance of the American Federation of Labor Into Politics as a Separate Political Party," and the "Entrance of the United States Into the League of Nations."

It was finally decided the proposition should be: Resolved, That the United States Should Enter the League of Nations." Two weeks are given in which it must be decided whether any condition shall be attached to the proposition. For instance, it may be necessary to rule out discussion of the World Court as an alternative from the argument of the negative side. Only the merits and demerits of the League will be discussed.

The usual triangular debates are scheduled for March 15, and the dual debate with Western Reserve will be held during the latter part of February. (Continued on page 3)

Y. M. C. A. TO HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

PRESIDENT HIXSON TO ADDRESS FIRST MEETING OF CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

President Fred W. Hixson will address the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. of the new year which will be held tonight at seven o'clock, in their former rooms in the basement of Cochran Hall.

The cabinet has prepared a live program for the entire year and has planned to make the half-hour spent at these meetings one of real benefit to the members. In all cases the meetings will begin promptly and close promptly, making use of every minute of the short time scheduled. Beginning with tonight, each Wednesday evening the Association will offer attractions from which every man student of the College can gain much to help him in a practical way. In addition to brief addresses, as in the case of the program for tonight, there will be open forum discussions, and special feature numbers. Special music will frequently form a part of the program.

The Y. M. C. A. is indeed fortunate in securing its room again, after having had to vacate it because of other necessary arrangements. It is well adapted to house the spirit of Christian fellowship and helpfulness which characterizes the Association meetings.

In this announcement of the first meeting of the new year, the freshmen in particular are reminded that the Y. M. C. A. is for them, as it is for every man on the Hill. The faculty members, too, are urged to spend this half-hour for the betterment of life.

MORE THAN THREE HUNDRED STUDENTS ENJOY SOCIAL EVENING AT COCHRAN HALL

Over three hundred Alleghenians enjoyed an entertaining program which included several new features at the annual Y. M.-Y. W. reception held last Thursday evening at Cochran Hall.

The parlors were handsomely decorated with baskets of vari-colored fall flowers instead of streamers and conventional Halloween decorations which were used last year. A spirit of geniality and informality which is characteristic of Y. M.-Y. W. receptions was felt throughout the evening, and everyone present, mingled freely in good-fellowship.

A receiving line of the Faculty members who were present greeted the students as they arrived. In this line were Prof. R. W. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. O. P. Akers, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Darling, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Elliott, Dr. C. F. Ross, Dr. J. L. Russo, Miss Helen Fry, president of the Y. W. C. A., and Mr. C. W. Havice, president of the Y. M. C. A.

Several musical numbers added much to the pleasantness of the function. The Allegheny Serenaders contributed their services gratis for the occasion and played popular music throughout the evening. Miss Harriet Humphrey sang "Yesterday" and responded to the request for an encore with "If I Were a Butterfly." Miss Virginia Berry gave two very amusing readings: "How to Use a Fan" and "Johnny's Idea of Love."

The usual custom of exchanging autograph booklets was enlivened by a contest. Booklets were passed out, and everyone was given half an hour to get as many signatures as possible. A handsome pennant was given as a prize to Mr. Donald Weining who secured the most names, 125.

PHILO-FRANKLIN FORUM TO REORGANIZE FRIDAY

FORENSIC BODY BEGINS PROGRAM FOR YEAR AT COMING MEETING

Philo-Franklin Forum will hold its first meeting of the year Friday afternoon at 4:45 in the usual room on the third floor of Bentley Hall. Reorganization and the program for the year will be considered at this time, as well as applications for membership received.

Philo-Franklin Forum has for some years occupied a needed place among college organizations. Each week its members convene to participate in a debate or discussion, conducting the meeting in a parliamentary fashion.

Dr. S. S. Swartley, who for some time has been very active in the interests of the Forum, intends to complete reorganization as soon as possible and enter upon the program of the year. All men of the College, who are interested in forensics, are invited to attend the meeting Friday afternoon and present their names for election into membership.

GREEKS FINISH SEASON OF INTENSIVE RUSHING

NUMBER OF PLEDGES PRACTICALLY THE SAME AS LAST YEAR

After a brief but intensive season of rushing, a large number of the men of the freshman class are wearing the pledge pins of the several national and local fraternities on the Hill. With the greater portion of the pledging done, the groups are now marking time and are taking the opportunity of looking over the results of their labors. ### LEACOCK TO LECTURE ON "FRENZIED FICTION"

MARK TWAIN OF TODAY SPEAKS HERE SATURDAY NIGHT OCTOBER 20

With the coming of Stephen Leacock to Allegheny on Saturday, October 20, students and townspeople are looking forward to an evening full of delightful hilarity. This noted humorist will speak here as the first number of the Y. M. C. A. lecture course in conjunction with Charles Paddock, world's champion sprinter, who will appear here on December 19.

Mr. Leacock will deliver his well-known lecture of "Frenzied Fiction." The title is suggestive of the type of writing which has made Stephen Leacock one of the leading humorists in the world. Among his popular books can be mentioned "Behind the Beyond," "Further Foolishness," "Nonsense Novels," "Literary Lapses," "Over the Footlights," and "Essays and Literary Studies." However, his most popular subject is "Frenzied Fiction." Whenever he has turned loose his satirical guns, whether on the platform or through his books or magazine contributions, the result has inevitably been a hearty laugh. His wit and satire are not always easy to grasp, but when the meaning dawns upon his audience, the uproar is so much the greater. His humor is subtle rather than flashy, and keener in wit than in mere foolishness.

He toured England a year ago, "kidded" his British cousins unmercifully in a speaking tour of that country, and then discussed it all over again in Harper's Magazine in a series of highly amusing articles entitled "My Discovery of England." "Over the Footlights," a travesty on the drama, is another characteristic work of Leacock, overflowing with wit and satire.

The Y. M. C. A. is planning an intensive ticket campaign during the next week. In view of the fact that only a limited supply of tickets will be available, the student body will have the first opportunity to purchase them. The campaign is to be conducted with the slogan, "A ticket for every student."

GLEE CLUB SELECTS TENTATIVE MEMBERS

PROFESSOR LEE HESS BARNES WILL AGAIN LEAD MUSIC CLUB

Prof. Lee Hess Barnes, director of the Men's Glee Club, has selected a tentative personnel of the club for the coming season. Tryouts were held early last week, and an abundance of good material makes additional hearings necessary. These will be held shortly.

However, the following list gives a fairly accurate indication of the permanent members:

ALUMNUS OFFERS THREE PRIZES FOR SCHOLARSHIP

On Friday, October 6, President Hixson read the following excerpt from a letter which he received from S. Y. Rossiter, '10, of Erie, Pa.

"I propose to pay the sum of $50.00 to that student from Erie, County, Pennsylvania, who achieves the highest scholastic average within the present college year; I propose to pay $50.00 to that student who shall have earned his athletic 'A' within the current year in any branch of sport, and who at the same time shall have the highest scholastic average among those competing; and I propose to pay $50.00 to that member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity who shall have attained the highest scholastic average within the current year."

Dr. C. A. Darling has been elected secretary of the Meadville Kiwanis Club to succeed Dr. L. D. McClean, who is in ill health.

OCTOBER 20 IS HOME-COMING DAY

Saturday, October 20, is Home-Coming Day, the day when the graduated members of our College family will come back to the Hill again. It's a time for renewing associations which the call of the business and professional world have necessarily broken. It's a time when the doctor, the manager, the preacher, is just an Alleghenian once more.

Home-Coming Day this year is going to be a banner one, and the attractions are certain to bring a host of alumni back. It is the day of the Grove City game. This event alone is going to attract boosters of the Blue and Gold from far and near. Then the evening will bring another feature: a lecture by one of the world's most renowned humorists, Stephen Leacock. And, of course, the alumnae will be here to have a part in the excitement of Hellenic pledging.

The day will be a big one for Allegheny. We are preparing for it way back here. Are you getting ready to come home, alumni?

A MATTER OF COURTESY

Two years ago a small college sent a football team to play Yale. The squad arrived in New Haven to find the student body on hand to greet them. Yale went out of its way to make them at home. The visitors were dined, taken around the University, went to theatre parties, and before the game they were regretting their choice of a college, so much was their love for "Old Eli." We shall not record the outcome of the game, but merely adorn the tale with a brief moral.

Most of us remember with regret our treatment of Grove City two years ago. Last year our attitude toward Westminster and Alfred was unfriendly. Our treatment at Morgantown is an example of what a big school does for visiting teams. Thirty freshmen were on hand at the station to carry our baggage to the hotel. The managers could not do enough for us. The co-eds greeted our men on the campus. In fact, we were treated like distinguished alumni returning to the old school. Even the townspeople were cordial.

Everyone remarked after the game on the clean ball our team played. Isn't it logical for the student body to back the team in clean sportsmanship as well as in spirit? When Grove City or any other college plays us, let us show them we love the college enough to want others to like it.

A CHALLENGE TO LEAD

Even the most casual student of the times is impressed with the complex situation which humanity faces. It is not pessimism that points out the increasing disorder and disruption of the world. It is a fact, and we cannot afford to fool ourselves into blind apathy.

It is not at all strange that a great civilization should have complex problems. Prehistoric peoples were not worried over the Bolshevism of Russia, the Prussianism of Germany, the Nipponism of Japan, the Ku Klux Klan of America, the Ruhr question, the World Court plan, and the countless other problems which should threaten to crowd out patent medicine testimonials from our daily papers. But who would want to live in the prehistoric past?

Just being fully conscious of conditions is not enough. Because colleges pride themselves upon dealing with fundamentals, and because people have discovered to their grief that mere delegations, pacts, and resolutions have not eliminated the evils, the world is turning with more dependence and expectancy to its college men and women to lead it from its labyrinth. Truly, the hope of the future does lie in the products of our Christian colleges, and the challenge to leadership should urge any red-blooded student on to the tremendous opportunity which is awaiting as never before.

ACTING WELL OUR PART

In this day the press and platform eagerly lavish honors upon those who have come before the public eye for having built a better mouse-trap than somebody else, or whatever it may have been. We must not forget that all cannot occupy the conspicuous places, nor must we forget that honor goes to more than the few who have been placed securely upon their pedestals.

Some of our alumni have been able to rise to high positions among their fellowmen. Allegheny points to them with pardonable pride, because we ARE genuinely proud of them and proud that this old College has had some share in preparing them for the leadership and responsibilities which have been entrusted to them.

Allegheny is none the less proud and honors likewise those of her alumni who are faithfully fulfilling a less conspicuous mission in life. Sometimes even greater honor is due those whose role is to be played over dimmed foot-lights and whose lines are said not without courageous effort.

In a little town there is a fine-spirited alumnus, blind. In hottest summer or coldest winter his tap-tap along the street can be heard as he delivers the daily newspapers to his customers whose pennies mean not only his own livelihood but that of an aged mother. He is not the great physician which his Allegheny visions would have had him, but is it less honor that we should accord him?

To the alumnus upon whom circumstance has imposed an insurmountable barrier—for there are some barriers which the will cannot overcome—and to the army of alumni who have sacrificed pomp for service to humanity, Allegheny pays an honor which is more intrinsic than blaring headlines and oratorical bombast. For

"Honor and shame from no condition rise;
Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

My Financial Career

By Stephen Leacock.

When I go into a bank, I get rattled. The clerks rattle me; the sight of money rattles me; everything rattles me.

The moment I cross the threshold of a bank and attempt to transact business there, I become an irresponsible idiot.

I knew this beforehand, but my salary had been raised to fifty dollars a month, and I felt that the bank was the only place for it.

So I shambled in and looked timidly around at the clerks. I had an idea that a person about to open an account must needs consult the manager.

I went up to a wicket marked "Accountant." The accountant was a tall, cool devil. The very sight of him rattled me. My voice was sepulchral.

"Can I see the manager?" I said, and added solemnly, "alone." I don't know why I said "Alone."

"Certainly," said the accountant, and fetched him. The manager was a grave, calm man. I held my fifty-six dollars clutched in a crumpled ball in my pocket.

"Are you the manager?" I said. God knows I didn't doubt it.

"Yes," he said.

"Can I see you," I asked, "alone?" I didn't want to say "alone" again, but without it the thing seemed self-evident.

The manager looked at me in some alarm. He felt that I had an awful secret to reveal.

"Come in here," he said, and led the way to a private room. He turned the key in the lock.

"We are safe from interruption here," he said; "sit down."

We both sat down and looked at each other. I found no voice to speak.

"You are one of Pinkerton's men, I presume," he said.

He had gathered from my mysterious manner that I was a detective. I knew what he was thinking, and it made me worse.

"No, not from Pinkerton's," I said, seeming to imply that I came from a rival agency.

"To tell the truth," I went on, as if I had been prompted to lie about it, "I am not a detective at all. I have come to open an account. I intend to keep all my money in this bank."

The manager looked relieved but still serious; he concluded now that I was a son of Baron Rothschild or a young Gould.

"A large account, I suppose," he said.

"Fairly large," I whispered. "I propose to deposit fifty-six dollars now and fifty dollars a month regularly."

The manager got up and opened the door. He called to the accountant.

"Mr. Montgomery," he said unkindly loud, "this man is opening an account, he will deposit fifty-six dollars. Good morning."

I rose.

A big iron door stood open at the side of the room.

"Good morning," I said, and stepped into the safe.

"Come out," said the manager coldly, and showed me the other way.

I went up to the accountant's wicket and poked the ball of money at him with a quick convulsive movement as if I were doing a conjuring trick.

My face was ghastly pale.

"Here," I said, "deposit it." The tone of the words seemed to mean, "Let us do this painful thing while the fit is on us."

He took the money and gave it to another clerk.

He made me write the sum on a slip and sign my name in a book. I no longer knew what I was doing. The bank swam before my eyes.

"Is it deposited?" I asked in a hollow, vibrating voice.

"It is," replied the accountant.

"Then I want to draw a cheque."

My idea was to draw out six dollars of it for present use. Someone gave me a cheque-book through a wicket and someone else began telling me how to draw it out. The people in the bank had the impression that I was an invalid millionaire. I wrote something on the cheque and thrust it at the clerk. He looked at it.

"What! are you drawing it all out again?" he asked in surprise. Then I realized that I had written fifty-six instead of six. I was too far gone to reason now. I had a feeling that it was impossible to explain the thing. All the clerks had stopped writing to look at me.

Reckless with misery, I made a plunge.

"Yes, the whole thing."

"You withdraw your money from the bank?"

"Every cent of it."

"Are you not going to deposit any more?" said the clerk, astonished.

"Never."

An idiot hope struck me that they might think something had insulted me while I was writing the cheque and that I had changed my mind. I made a wretched attempt to look like a man with a fearfully quick temper.

The clerk prepared to pay the money.

"How will you have it?" he said.

"What?"

"How will you have it?"

"Oh—I caught his meaning and answered without even trying to think—in fifties."

He gave me a fifty-dollar bill.

"And the six?" he asked dryly.

"In sixes," I said.

He gave it to me and I rushed out.

As the big door swung behind me I caught the echo of a roar of laughter that went up to the ceiling of the bank. Since then I bank no more. I keep my money in cash in my trousers pocket and my savings in silver dollars in a sock.

FEW RAILSPLITTERS TO PRESIDENT NOWADAYS

In an article entitled "Why Go to College," in the August number of The Christian Student, the following statistics have been compiled:

"Someone has taken the pains to go through the 24,000 names in 'Who's Who in America,' looking for college men and women. He finds that 73% of those who are included in this volume because of outstanding positions or because of notable achievement in a business or in a profession, have graduated from or attended college. Since less than one per cent of Americans are college trained, it means that one per cent has furnished three out of every four persons who attain to prominence.

"Few sequels are today being written to our boyhood favorites, 'From Log Cabin to White House,' and 'From Railsplitter to President.' Our leaders in public life, as in industry and commerce, are being recruited more and more from the 'college trained' class, correspondingly less from the 'self-made' group. That one per cent of college trained citizens have furnished:

- 55% of our Presidents.
- 54% of our Vice Presidents.
- 47% of our Speakers of the House.
- 69% of our Justices of the Supreme Court.
- 67% of our Attorneys-General.
- 62% of our Secretaries of State.
- 50% of our Secretaries of the Treasury.

"A touch of divine discontent is probably the best thing a boy gets from college," says Louis Stern, the New York merchant. "This keeps him from falling too low in the scale."

"TOWN AND GOWN"

"Town and Gown," by Lynn Montross and Lois Seyster Montross, is a collection of college stories, but college stories which are a far cry from the Molly Brown series of our youth. The chapter titles, among them, "Girls Who Pet," "The First Man," "The Faculty and the Creaking Shirt," "Bass Drums," "Dry As Dust," certainly do not suggest the sheltered, romantic college of the alumni's mind. In fact, alumni, old and young, with the idealizing influence of a few or many years between them and Alma Mater, will call "Town and Gown" sensational. And we, the undergraduates, may agree to this charge, but we will add, perhaps, that it is sensational because it is true.

Mr. and Mrs. Montross of the Universities of Nebraska and Illinois, respectively, have portrayed their midwestern universities in a rather brilliant style that savors of F. Scott Fitzgerald but which has a new flavor in sympathetic understanding. In thirteen episodes, each an authentic sketch and complete in itself, we have the college world before us—its students, faculty, fraternities, romances, aspirations, frustrations. Typical of the spirit of the book is this statement: "College is a hard, sordid, practical kind of place and petting is its substitute for romance."

No, "Town and Gown" does not read like the conventional rah-rah series type of college story. In "Town and Gown" the most daring escapade is not a spread after lights. Here we have real life—real college life, if you will—depicted with clearness and understanding. "Town and Gown" throws on the searchlight. What it reveals makes a disturbing book.

"Remember there are two sides to every question. Get both. Be truthful. Get the facts. Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than a hundred wrong. Be decent; be fair; be generous. Boost—don't knock. There's good in everybody. Bring out the good in everybody, and never needlessly hurt the feelings of anybody. In reporting a political gathering give the facts; tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it. Treat all parties alike. If there's any politics to be played, we will play it in our editorial columns. Treat all religious matters reverently. If it can possibly be avoided, never bring ignominy to an innocent man or child in telling of the misdeeds or misfortune of a relative. Don't wait to be asked, but do it without asking, and above all, be clean and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type. I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child."—President Harding to his staff on the Marion "Star."

CHANGES ARE MADE IN AWARDING FOOTBALL LETTER

At its last meeting, the Athletic Board of Control made extensive revisions in the requirements for the awarding of a football letter. Previous to this year a man was granted a letter if he had participated in one-half each of the games of the last half of the season. From now on the letter will be granted on the following basis:

1. To a player who has participated in at least 3/4 (three-fourths) of the total number of games on the schedule. He must, however, have participated in at least 1 1/2 (one-half) of the Class A games.
2. To a player who has participated in at least 1/2 (one-half) of the total number of quarters played during the entire season.
3. To a player who has played at least 1/2 (one-half) of the total number of quarters played complete.

The Athletic Board of Control has complete jurisdiction over the awarding of letters and will not award a letter to any player who does not finish the season, except in cases of injury or for other good reasons. This basis of award was carefully worked out by the members of the Board and will undoubtedly prove satisfactory.

SOPH-FROSH FOOTBALL

A Freshman-Sophomore football game. A test for the two lower classes on the gridiron instead of in a fistic battle. This is the newest and most feasible substitute proposed for the annual poster-scrap. This proposition comes from a considerable number of the men of both the sophomore and freshman classes. It meets with the approval of both classes and is highly favored by Coach Hammett. The Student Senate will likely take action within a week, and a decision will soon be forthcoming. Allowing time for practice and training the contest ought to come off early in November. The likelihood is that such a game would quickly become a college custom, superseding the dangerous poster-scrap and easily exceeding it in popularity, especially with the unlucky frosh.

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE TO THE NEWSPAPER MAN

"The highest type of newspaper man ought to try to put his business above all other businesses. The editor who stands as a judge in a community should be one of the men to whom you would expect to look up, because his function as editor makes him a more important man than the average merchant, the average business man, or the average professional man can be. He wields great influence; and he cannot escape the responsibility of wielding it. If he wields it well, honor is his beyond the honor that comes to the average man who does well. If he wields it ill, shame should be his beyond the shame that comes to the average man who does ill. And what I say of the editor applies to every man who writes for a newspaper, or a magazine, or who is connected with it in any capacity."
—Theodore Roosevelt.

CROSS-COUNTRY SQUAD MAKING GOOD PROGRESS
TWENTY MEN TRAIN FOR FIRST MEET WITH ALFRED

With about twenty men working out daily under the tutelage of Coach Faries and Captain Bliss, the Allegheny cross-country squad should be in good shape for its opening meet which will be held within the month against Alfred University. The Allegheny harriers are rapidly becoming accustomed to their new running course which this year measures almost six miles. Last season, a considerably shorter course was used, but this fall the runners are working out over a greater distance because of recent distance regulations. At the present time it is impossible to predict just who will compose the Allegheny team for this fall. All of the veteran men, including Captain Bliss, Little, Beyer, and Bogardus are showing real form as are Rae and Mays, two freshmen. Winters and Rainer, both upper classmen are also displaying clever running ability. Besides the regular meets with Alfred and Pittsburgh, an intra-mural handicap cross-country run will perhaps close the season. Another dual meet is pending with West Virginia University on Thanksgiving. Should this contest be arranged, it will undoubtedly be run off as a preliminary to the Mountaineers football game with Washington and Jefferson scheduled at Morgantown for that day.

MASSON'S SHOW SPIRIT
Manifesting a real spirit of co-operation in the college athletic program, James W. Masson and Son, successors to Ohlman's, dealers in Men's furnishings, with their shop located on North Water Street, came forward with the generous offer of five dollars in merchandise to that player on the Allegheny College football team who makes the first touchdown in each and every home game. Art Dahl was the first able to take advantage of this offer, and he has already made his selection. Masson and Son feel that proper recognition is not given the linemen and are at present working out some scheme in connection with the athletic authorities, by which these men also will be rewarded. In addition, this firm is erecting, at the corner of North and North Main Streets, a beautiful 7x12 foot poster, advertising the Grove City game. In order to leave nothing undone, the Messrs. Masson have also promised some sort of a prize for the members of the basket ball team. This material evidence of good will, coming from one of the town's leading merchants, is a proof of the worth of Allegheny's new athletic program. James W. Masson and Son deserve our thanks.

WEST VIRGINIA CHAMPIONS DEFEAT ALLEGHENY GRIDDERS
Fighting Hurricane Holds Powerful Mountaineer Squad to 28-0 Score

Fighting stubbornly until the final whistle blew, Allegheny went down to defeat before the highly-touted Mountaineers of West Virginia University at Morgantown, Saturday, 28-0. However, the score does not mean as much to the Blue and Gold enthusiasts as do those details that tell intimately of fight and really good football displayed by McCracken's proteges. Allegheny presented a surprisingly strong forward attack that forced the Mountaineers to show everything they had in order to gain ground, and in the test of battle it was the line of the Northerners that stood out. Barney Logan, the chubby little thunderbolt who pastimes in the fullback position whenever McCracken feels he is needed, featured himself as the individual star for the losers by crushing the West Virginia line at will. Buck Wolz turned in several pretty tackles behind the victors' line, while little Freddy Parnell took care of all attempts made by the Mountaineers to rush his gate. Smith displayed exceptional elusiveness in tearing around the ends, traveling once for thirty-three yards before he was brought to earth.

FIRST QUARTER
Allegheny arrived on the field at 2:48 to face the Mountaineers whom Coach Spears had decked out in gray jerseys and white socks at the last moment when he learned that Allegheny's uniforms were similar to those of West Virginia. Captain Simmons won the toss and elected to receive, defending the north goal. Parnell kicked off to Simons, who returned the ball 20 yards. Nardacci made four at tackle, but Barnum was stopped at left end by Judd. Barnum punted out of bounds at Allegheny's 30 yard line. Two plunges by Logan and one by Hanlon gave the invaders a first down. Judd punted to Nardacci who ran the ball back 85 yards for a touchdown. With Nardacci holding the ball, Barnum kicked the extra point. The score came after four minutes of play.

SECOND QUARTER
West Virginia scrimmaged on Allegheny's 32 yard line. After Nardacci clipped off four at right tackle, Barnum tore through left tackle for 15 yards. Four more plays put the ball in position for Barnum to rush 2 yards for his team's third touchdown. The remainder of the period was spent in a see-saw battle between the two teams without further scoring. Mahrt replaced Nardacci, and Weaver took the place of Hanlon, who was injured.

THIRD QUARTER
Pierre Hill went in for Graham, George Hill for Captain Simons, Nardacci resumed his place. Morley returned Barnum's kickoff 10 yards. West Virginia could not penetrate the visitors' line. Shultz captured Barnum's pass when it rolled out of Pierre Hill's arms. A pass, Morley to Weaver, gained 28 yards for Allegheny. The Mountaineers' line held in mid-field and Judd punted over the line. Spears sent in an army of substitutes who preyed on the weakened Blue and Gold forces. Straight football put West Virginia on Allegheny's 19 yard line, from where Bruder, who went in for Nardacci, struggled through for West Virginia's fourth and last touchdown.

FOURTH QUARTER
Fucy went in for G. Hill, Marsh for Pinkney, Olliker for Barnum. Logan made first down in two plunges at right tackle. Substitutions were made by pairs in this quarter by both coaches. A series of grounded passes and an exchange of punts gained nothing. The game ended with the ball in Allegheny's possession in their own territory.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES
The Pitt Panther outfought his heavier enemy in the very shadow of the goal posts and then opened up a stellar aerial attack, defeating Lafayette for the first time in three years. Tech defeated Thiel 28-0 without much effort on Saturday, although the Greenville team displayed a threatening attack in the last few minutes of play. When Washington & Jefferson refused to withdraw Charlie West, her big Negro athlete, Jimmy DeHart declared all bets off, and Washington & Lee forfeited to the Presidents, 1-0. The "Big Three" got off to a flying start on Saturday, Harvard defeating Rhode Island easily by a 35-0 score at the same moment that Yale was piling up a total of fifty-three points against North Carolina. Johns Hopkins offered the only real resistance, holding Princeton to sixteen points and garnering a single touchdown herself. Geneva held the field day at the expense of Juniata at Beaver Falls, and, using second and third string men, rolled up a 50-0 count against the down-state team.

Cornell amassed the greatest number of points in collegiate football when the New Yorkers dropped on Susquehanna and smothered her under an 84-0 count. William & Mary succeeded in a lone drop-kick and saved herself from the "Goose Egg" column, but didn't mean anything, for Syracuse made the final tally 61-3. Both the Army and Navy continued to win, the former taking the measure of Florida in a listless 20-0 game, while the Navy found rougher sailing in her encounter with Dickenson College, although she managed to emerge on the long end of a 13-0 score.

The greatest upset in the "dope" of Class B circles occurred when Waynesburg came through with a totally unexpected win over Grove City, 14-13. Colgate put on a fine exhibition in her easy 55-0 victory on Saturday, pleasing every one concerned—except Niagara. Grove City goes to New Wilmington on October 13 to play Westminster, while our own Hurricane will be idle, storing up pep for the big game here on the 20th.

Interest in the football world is centered on the coming clash of the Panthers and the Mountaineers on October 13. Last year was the first that West Virginia has ever been able to solve the Pitt attack and at the same time develop the necessary punch to win, and now, with both teams apparently in for one of the best seasons of their histories, the game this Saturday should be a classic. The vaunted Crimson attack didn't show up so well against Waynesburg's Yellowjackets Saturday. The Grove City men are light, extremely light in comparison with the Blue and Gold, but they have the fight. A pair of clever ends and a heady backfield comprise their offense.
