

Miss W. A. Aker

WESTINGHOUSE
ELECTRIC & MANUFACTURING COMPANY
EAST PITTSBURGH, PA.

March 24, 1933

My dear Miss Tarbell:

I have just read your article about our Company in the April issue of Commopelitan.

The extent to which you caught the spirit of our organization, during your short visit with us, impresses me as being quite unusual. All through these rather difficult days, Westinghouse men and women are maintaining their morale, keeping up their interest in worthwhile subjects, and looking ahead hopefully. As you point out so well, such attitudes can only grow out of reciprocal interests, and of a policy which aims to keep alive the spiritual values of the past, all of which are embodied in our educational plan.

Several weeks ago the building which has housed our evening school for nearly thirty years, was destroyed by fire. Our students had scheduled a musical comedy for this evening to be given in the auditorium of an adjacent building. While the fire was still burning, and the streets were so blocked that many of those who had wished to attend, could not get through, the students put on their show as planned. They readjusted their program of study, in a new building, without missing a single hour of work.

You have certainly caught the spirit of our "hive", in your article, and I want to express my appreciation.

Very sincerely yours,

Educational Department

G.S. Coler
G.S. Coler

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City, New York.