Dr. Jonathan Hamnett

TO OUR OWN
DR. JONATHAN HAMNETT
WHOM WE ALL LOVE BECAUSE HE GAVE A PURE CLEAN LIFE
TO OUR COLLEGE,
THIS BOOK IS RESPECTFULLY DEDICATED.

Foreword

IN preparing this Annual, we have endeavored to make the book an exact representation of the sentiment of the student body. The material has been contributed by the many, not by the few. We have been forced to use the editorial pencil on many write-ups presented, in order to make the KALDRON what we think it should be. Needless to say, the worst has not been told. Were we to put in some of the worst, we would fear for our future. The volume, we trust, is only the honest mirror reflecting not only the scars but also the medals.

The book is now yours; you have made it what it is—we have attempted only to put the finishing touches on your work.

Our apology: "If we've done anything we're sorry for, we're glad of it."

The Faculty

WILLIAM H. CRAWFORD, D.D., LL.D.,
President Allegheny College

JONATHAN HAMNETT, D.D.

When a man has lived ninety years and has spent most of his time at Allegheny College, he ought to escape burning—that is, in the KALDRON. Here's hoping John lives to be a hundred.

WILLIAM T. DUTTON, C.E.

Dutt. used to be a joker and an all-around good fellow, but lately he too has flunked people and hence has fallen in our estimation. If you ever get sick again, Dutt., your class won't send you tobies, mail pouch, etc.

WILLIAM A. ELLIOTT, A.M.

Works hard to pound Greek into the students' minds and make Clarence's baby boy say, "Dr. Elliott is a gentleman and a scholar." He meets with small success in both cases.

ERNEST A. SMITH, Ph.D.

Spends his time in "scrapping" with Eddie and chaperoning delegates to religious conventions. Is going abroad this summer to show Ed. VII how to run England correctly. Is a fusser in society.

CLARANCE F. ROSS, A.M.

Sore because Bill lets Buster Brown run his errands. Still imitates Dr. Elliott, but the comparison grows less yearly. Ought to be setting up pins in a bowling alley.

ALBERT C. KNUDSON, Ph.D.

Worries over his wife's good looks. He'll make Boston University wish they had never let Mitchell go. He can beat Arthur at tennis.

FRANK C. LOCKWOOD, Ph.D.

Makes his English classes a bore, and spends his spare time in trying to remember whether the Doctor said Elizabeth Pitner's bath should be at a temperature of 102° or 201°.

ROBERT S. BREED, Ph.D.

Responsible for the great scarcity of stray cats on the hill. Enjoys cutting up toads more than he does eating ice cream.

GEORGE A. MULFINGER, Ph.D.

Fulfilled his mother's prediction by "coming out on top." Holds nine degrees, and butchers the English language more than any other man on the faculty. "At the next meeting of the German Club, the Mandolin Club will bring their violins up and sing for us."

H. EDWARD WELLS, Ph.D.

The handsomest man on the faculty, but has three great faults: lets Dr. Elliott select his tailor, is chief nabob of the athletic board, and takes old maids out to the Saegertown Inn.

M. EMMA N. FRASER, Ph.D.

Your smile, and the fact that you have followed a good preceptress, sadly handicaps you, but you've done fairly well, considerin'. Better give up your Canadian ideas on "good form."

SAMUEL R. COOK, Ph.D.

This is his first year, and it looks as if it will be a case of "Good-bye, Hiram." May be some improvement over Guernsey, but we had rather have whiskers than that woe begone look that foretells a death from violent(?) exercise.

LEMUEL R. BROWN, A.M.

For chief occupation see write-up of Ross. Also hoes his garden, owes dues to the Oratorical Association, and coaches the debating teams. Spends spare time wheeling little Johnny around.

OSCAR P. AKERS, Ph.D.

Knows math., but thinks everybody else does. Big enough to raise a mortgage with one hand and a family of children with the other, but wears boys' size clothing.

J. HARRIS WERNER, B.S.

Retired pugilist, who enjoys getting "chesty." Wears an "A" which he never won, but since "A" can stand for most anything, it's allowed. Pretty poor thing. Will train Jeffries next year.

ALICE HUNTINGTON SPALDING.

The new catalogue cuts her line out. Oh, Alice, after all these years, is it true? Constant rendition of "The Old Maid's Love Letter" must have done it. Here's good wishes, for we had rather marry you than "Roxy" any day.

ROXANE LANGEILLIER, A.M.

Good-bye, Langy, this is your last year, and we're very sorry—that we can't roast you in another KALDRON. We wish you joy with your French fiancé fighting in the Russian army in Spain.—Poor fellow!!!

WILLIAM R. MAIN.

Got his Job by helping Breed sweep out the museum. Manages to keep his Y. M. C. A. dues paid up, and is good at writing labels for rocks, quartz, etc.

FLOYD L. DARROW.

Won our hearts by adequately describing Langy and Eddie. Talks through his nose and ought to be kept in the museum. But he is married, so will pass him by.

Civil Engineering.

As he is a C. E. and is in contact with Dutt we cannot expect too much from him. Quiet and harmless. Lives in town and consequently scarce in college circles.

CLAUDE RUSSELL DYE, South Dayton, N. Y.

Classical. Theta Delta Psi.

Brother Y. M. C. A. Dye, we would have you understand, is a charter member of Theta Delta Psi. In his audience with Dr. Crawford on March 2, he not only put Ananias to shame, but almost equaled Prexy.

Latin and Modern Language.

Lockwood's assistant as commissary of the Quill Club. Has more class and college spirit than all the rest of her class put together. Stars in English and class meetings.

LEROY GEORGE GARTNER, Meadville, Pa.

Civil Engineering.

Would like to be an athlete. Better posted on athletic "dope" than any other five men in college. Glories in the fact that he was college mascot when Bill Elliott was captain of the football team. Learned to chew tobacco from Dutt.

JOHN RICHARD GIBLYN, Watertown, N. Y.

Latin and Modern Language. Theta Delta Psi.

A better executive than Prexy; talks more and says less than Lockwood, and more of an old maid than either Smith or Wells. An oracle on frats.

NORA HILDEGARDE GIELE, Meadville, Pa.

Latin and Modern Language.

Having lived outside the Hall, she never had her ideas of good form corrupted. Has a delightful way of keeping to herself. Works hard every day, burns no redfire, but is getting there just the same.

Latin and Modern Language.

More of a dream than Hiawatha's Indian maid.
Quiet and unobtrusive. Has a captivating eye which we are sure, if she lived in the Hall and had an equal chance, would have won over many a fellow.

JOHN WILLIAM KING, Munhall, Pa.

Classical.

Gospel hot air machine. Never joined the Y. M. C. A. Has boasted that his board bill was only $1.50 per week. He never paid that. Could give Paul pointers on the scriptures. Bosom friend of Hartung.

GOFFREY A. LYON, Warren, Pa.

Latin Scientific. Phi Gamma Delta.

Fossilized, antiquated and somewhat mummified but still in the ring. Burns incense at the shrine of Miss Langelier (and that's going some.) Spent most of his college course making frog sandwiches for Doc Breed.

KATHERINE MAY McALLISTER, Irwin, Pa.

Classical.

The matriarch of Theta Sigma. Was present at the founding of the chapter and ever since has been the power behind the throne. Keeps the religious fervor of her sisters at flood tide. A pillar of the Y. W. C. A.

"Fat" is a bunch of concentrated smiles and sunshine, and that's queer considering he's married.
Weighs 350 pounds with his sleeves rolled up and is the sole survivor of Philo Franklin. Mary's brother.

EFFIE ALBERTA MILLIREN, Reynoldsville, Pa.

Latin and Modern Language. Kappa Alpha Theta.

Seems the personification of George Ade's College Widow since Kunkle went away. Goes about quietly day by day doing her "full stunt" and seeming happy.

Modest as a wayside flower. Assists "sister" Ball in pulling political wires for h' k' l'. She seems to have Andy cinched and as friends of Andy we congratulate and envy him.

NATHAN HARLEY PHILLIPS, Girard, Pa.

Latin. Scientific.

Slings hash at the Farrelly Club. Manager of the Senior base ball team. Chief barker for the athletic board. Since college base ball was declared off he has wandered about the campus like a case of misplaced confidence. An object for divine sympathy. (Ask Prexy.)

ANDREW WELLS ROBERTSON, Panama, N. Y.

Latin and Modern Language. Phi Delta Theta.

"Andy's" college life has had a certain checker-board effect. In addition to wooing Adelaide he has done everything from preaching to playing football. A more enthusiastic advocate of college sports than the athletic board. Chief "nabob" of oratorical association.

BEN ROSSITER, Meadville, Pa.

Civil Engineering.

The hero of the year. Worked hard for our athletes and then got the usual Allegheny reward. Can play basket ball with his eyes shut. Happy but quiet. Seems to live entirely to himself. Never known to "fuss."

FREDERICK A. SHAFFER, Cochran, Pa.

Latin-Scientific. Phi Gamma Delta.

"Shaf" is sort of a happy-go-lucky nonentity. Aspires to be a debater. Made the college choir and glee club in his freshman year, and we're sorry to say, he stayed on both.

ROSS MAXWELL STUNTZ, Edinboro, Pa.

Classical.

Used to be a fair enough chap but his constant contact during the past winter with the athletic board has had a bad effect on him. As to girls, he has Lotz. Has a case that Dr. Hamnett pronounces the "real essence of goo-goo."

WATKIN POWELL STURTEVANT, Conneautville, Pa.

Classical. Phi Kappa Psi.

Happy as they put them up. Has a line of hot air that would make an ordinary sky-pilot look like plugged money. In love———with himself. Won our hearts by treating the football boys all right.

LOUIS WILLIAM SWANSON, Tidioute, Pa.

Classical. Phi Delta Theta.

"Looie" is one of the leading assassins on the glee club. For two years he led that bum host of villians. Said to be responsible for the coming of Bill Thomas to Allegheny College. Dabbles some in love.

WILLIAM SAUNDERS TAFT, Youngsville, Pa.

Latin and Modern Language. Phi Delta Theta.

Has the long hair and artistic temperament of a poet. Writes a story and stays grouchy for a week. Can work a strong bluff with his "classic brow." Author of "Life History of Napoleon." Guardian of Jerome Collett Fisher.

FRANK MEREDITH THOMPSON, Canonsburg, Pa.

Classical. Phi Delta Theta.

A typical sky-pilot. Has the meek, injured air of a home missionary and a voice like a foghorn. Handicapped by knowing Bill Taft. Is said to have a girl pining away for him at home.

CHARLES ALPHONSO WILSON, Allegheny.

Latin and Modern Language. Phi Gamma Delta.

The ever present statue on the steps of Hulings Hall. Seems incomplete when alone. Has loved more girls than he is years old, but it's not his fault, as he has to have one. An occasional fond, sweet smile illu-mines his otherwise grouchy phiz.

NELLIE GERTRUDE WILSON, Union City.

Latin and Modern Language.

Not guilty of being related to Phonse, so she has some chance in the world. Although young and fair to look upon she remained somewhat in the background
'till about a year ago, when she realized her affinity was Charles Wesley Gill. A noted example where the Gill is still persistent.

Faculty Baby Show

[EDITOR'S NOTE:—This letter of Mr. Yoshimi's was found by accident, and we have deemed it fit to put into the KALDRON as it stands.]

PENNA. MEADVILLE.

The forty-seventh day of Henochi.

Most honorable and mighty father:—

Your base, unworthy son sends his humble greeting. May the reign of his Divine Majesty, the Mikado, endure forever.

All the things of which this college converses now is about the marvelous Faculty Baby Show, so that is entirely whereof I write. Be informed that great many of Professors and their consorts have a great liking and affection for babies, so that there is a wonderful magnitude of baby among the most respectful faculty. Every family can afford one, and a Sophomore told me that no family should be without one. Many times the college paper proclaims: "The faculty has been increased by the addition of a new member in the Language department," or other, and then during a week every man gets the "A" in Greek. The students say so many babies all right for this is affirmed in the Bible: "The wicked shall increase;" the rest of the college says he is glad, also, for hoping that perhaps President Roosevelt will present this institution with a government appropriation. Even there is a ritual for the baptism of babies in the end of the chapel song book.

Because there was so an wonderful magnitude of babies, and because the most august professors were always rowing in faculty meeting about each his baby, was decided to have a petition on one day and hold a "baby show." This thing "baby show" is like the

Japan day when one celebrates all the boy babies with the fish signs, only it is different thus that the girl babies are estimated as much as the boys, and one professor, that used to be with a Wild West show, wants to knock the spots off some one that thinks any boy who is better than his "Bunny." The portents appeared one day like this:

FIRST ANNUAL BABY SHOW.

7 BABIES 7

Misses Elliott, Hendershot, Breed and Lockwood.
Masters Ross, Mulfinger and Brown.

Contests of every nature and size.

Positively last appearance in this College of Dr. Smith as judge in a Beauty Contest.

Belwildering. ✨ Bounding. ✨ Beautiful.

BENEFIT OF "CAMPUS" MANAGEMENT.

Admission, . . . Ten, Twent, Thirt.

It was a terrific time deciding what contests to have and then to detect some one to give the prizes. Finally they got a Ballantyne scholarship for the most learned baby; twenty-five dollars from the Mellins Food Co. for the Fattest Baby; a silver rattle from the Glee Club for the Most Musical Baby; three Dollars sixty-seven cents from Bill Thomas for the Best Natured Baby; a prize from some anonymous friend for the Homeliest Baby; a five dollar credit from Ballinger and Siggins for the Strongest baby, and most wonderfully a gold cup from the Book Store for the Most Beautiful Baby. Howsoever, they still needed one prize and Dr. Lockwood offered a set of Browning for the Youngest Baby. Manifestly Dr. Smith was the man for the Beauty Contest and Jay Chesty Werner for the Strong man contest. The others were to be judged by three judges, Miss Roxy Langellier, Dr. Wells and Dean Fraser.

KATHERYNE

On the great night was at the gym everybody from Col. Dick to Robert Beebe except that poor Mr. Booze Russell who was hanging around the ingress, lugubrious because it was not permitted to him to enter "Blick."

Withinside agitation was fearful. The babies were giving their yell every three minutes. "Boo-boo-boo! Ha! Ha! Ha! Faculty Babies. Rah! Rah! Rah!"

All persons were ornamented with different colored baby-ribbon to show their predilections. Tom Colter was taking bets with both hands at all kinds of odds until Prof. William A. Elliott laid down fifty dollars and elevated his Ruth to a three-to-five favorite. Each beautiful child was appareled in his glad rags, except Buster Brown who wore a bathing suit being chiefly interested in the strong man stunt. Also all had a table to hold their prizes. No ink to me is to expose to you all the excitement of the contests but list promulgated by the judges went this way

The Most Beautiful Baby	Miss Alice Breed
The Most Learned Baby	Julian Ross
The Most Musical Baby	Rudolph Mulfinger
The Fattest Baby	Miss Katherine Hendershot
The Best Natured Baby	Miss Ruth Elliott
The Strongest Baby	John Brown
The Youngest Baby	Miss Elizabeth Lockwood
The Homeliest Baby	No Contestants

Alice Breed knew Dr. Smith all right. When he began his judging she smiled at him and cooed and he pulled out his blue ribbon immediately. Dr. Elliot was mad as a drowned hen, he was terrific mad and one says that Dr. Smith won't be here next year. Hendershot had very much longing for the strength prize but he apprehended that a boy must be compelled to get that and "you know, 'cepting papa, we're mostly all girls at our house."

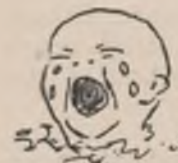

Rudolph

Anyway the Mellin's Food people had contributed $25 to him for a picture of his wonder and his solemn oath that Katherine had been grown solely on Mellin's Food. When the Seven Sages came to compete for the wise-prize, they made amazing exhibition but everybody, excepting the fond parents of the other infants agreed that Julian Ross's Masterly rendition of "Mica, Mica, parva stella" was the star so to him was given the Prep School ticket. No-body, however, understands how any baby associated with Dr. Elliot could have won the good natured prize and so upset all Jacob Riis' theories of both heredity and environment.

After the contests things stopped twenty minutes for refreshments and all the babies got out their bottles. Miss Hendershot possessed a grouch anyway because she didn't like the strange Mellin's Food and when she received how much her neighbor Rudolph was enjoying his Anheuser-Busch she had a mad.

"Oo isn't no gentleman, oo shouldn't dink like dat 'fore ladies. Asn't oo been raised wiff any manners at all. Frow it away or I'll bite you." Much astonishment was to Rudolf. "Aber, my Fraulein, es is alle-right now gedone. Ich hab so been geraised. Gott in Himmel, bier is besser don die milche. Komme on and drinken mit me. Ich am sehr sorrig." Buster Brown got pugilistic and belted his koniglich Hochlichkeit an awful swat. Then everybody of the babies got to crying and was had a terrible time. More noise and fight than a basket ball game. All the Professors and Mrs. Professors mixed in, being rambunctious anyway because they only had one prize apiece and Dr. Wells climbed the rope to the rafters and the others were barricaded in the gym office so everybody took his baby and went home and that was all.

From your most devoted, obscure, submissive, affectionate son,

KUCHI YOSHIMI.

P. S.—Our Prexy, that is Mr. Crawford, has a big boy named Raymond who is very baby and it was overheard by me to hear him say to a big fat fellow that he (meaning Raymond) should also be in the faculty baby show. To me it seems it is better for him to be out, for because if the contest included also him, the eighth prize would have been given to Raymond himself. This I have just discovered and let you know.

And sit at table G;
To listen to Miss Spalding's jokes,
And have men folks to tea.

"The loadstone was discovered many centuries ago, and has been known ever since it was first discovered," said Dr. Cook in Physics I. We could scarcely believe our ears, until he repeated the statement, a few minutes later.

Stidger talking in his sleep: "Now you take the bundles, and I'll carry the baby."

"I am in Greek VIII—only six in the class; also in Latin VII—only five in the class. Thus I belong to the intellectual aristocracy of the college." — W. T. Mackey.

"O, if they put anything in the KALDRON about me, I think I shall Dye!" — Miss Mills.

Dr. Smith wears some sort of a pin which looks suspiciously like the badge of θ Ν Ε. Beware, Ernest; you ought to know by this time what Prex does to people who let it be known that they are members of that fearsome organization.

The Seniors' remark after the President's reception: "Two more hours of required work off."

St. Hulings Convent

Founded in 1893.

Con-founded in 1906.

A beautiful and homelike abode for ministers' daughters. The surrounding influences and quiet, secluded, cloistral life are particularly beneficial to the young ladies. Every young lady who has completed the required course will receive the degree of O. M.

To the sacred cloisters has recently been added an excellent new gymnasium. This is equipped with all modern appliances for young ladies, such as rolling-pins, butter-paddles and wooden-spoons. Alice Huntington Spalding, O. M., who has had many long years of experience, is in charge of the new gym. Aesthetic hat-pin and curling-iron drills are executed, which not only give ease and grace to the young ladies, but also render them means of self-protection. Ping-pong and other rough sports are not tolerated.

All candidates for admission to this saintly convent are required to conform closely to the following rules:

1. Prayers must be said every night and morning.
2. No girl is allowed to so much as look at a man without the official permit, countersigned by Soeur Roxane de Paris, O. M.
3. Spreads and chafing-dish parties are strictly prohibited, except on Washington's Birthday and the Day of Prayer.
4. The fire escapes are to be used only in case of fire.

Terms—$2.00 to $3.50 per week for board, room, washing and ironing. Hash a la francaise and ice cream are served with no additional expense every other fourth Sunday.

Those Fugate Hats

One day "Polly" Miller, in a great burst of emotion, joyously declared that his Edith had more keen hats than any other girl in the Hall. Some of the fellows were inclined to dispute this statement and "Polly" was forced to make good his extravagant claim. He produced a picture of a few of Miss Fugate's creations. We were fortunate enough to get a copy of that picture, which we take great pleasure in presenting here for the benefit of our readers.

Claims to have great knowledge of love.—Fullerton.

Hendershot:—If we published all that we have been asked to about you there would be no room for any one else.

EPITAPH.

As to "Math." Talk about Gurney; he was an angel.

A Suggestion For Better Management of Hulings Hall

There is a Dean at Hulings Hall,
And she is wondrous wise;
She's bothered so by naughty girls
That she just sighs and sighs.

The real trouble of it is
She's Canadian by birth;
She has no sense of humor,
And ne'er gives way to mirth.

She so dislikes the "horrid men,"—
Considers them quite crude;
And thinks the girls who go with them
Are becoming very rude.

Let's put a searchlight in the tower;
On each girl tie a string,
And on her neck a little bell
With individual ring.

Whene'r a girl gets out, you know—
Bell accompanying Belle—
With the searchlight and the string
She'll be fully marked and well.

Let's fill the Campus with arc-lights;
Hang one on every tree.
Give Roxyane some X-ray lamps
So through doors she can see.

Get phonographs for every room—
Blank records for each day—
Then give them to Miss Langelier
To show her what girls say.

'Twill abolish then; this dreadful bore
Of walking round o' nights.
A connection with her room we'll make
For putting out the lights.

The Hall will be a paradise;
The girls all angels be.
The Dean and Roxy Langelier
Will laugh in holy glee.

Savonarola Roasted*

One Week From the Exchange Columns.

[The Atlantic Times, Monday, March 6, 1906.]

Dr. Crawford delivered his annual lecture on Savonarola here last night to his usual audience. We need give no copy of the lecture, as one may be found in our files of May 9, 1896. But we can say that the lecture keeps up to its old standard and is given, the veterans say, with marvelous precision, without the loss of a single word or phrase. Dr. Crawford stated to our interviewer that he enjoyed giving this lecture in Atlantic more each year, and that it is very inspiring to a people who understand the subject as well as our people do, and are as quick to greet the good points.

[Clark's Corners Sky Rocket, Tuesday, May 7, 1906.]

Dr. William H. Crawford, A.B., A.M., D.D., L.L.D., President of Allegheny College, last night delivered to an innumerable audience, his well-known lecture on Florence and Savonarola.

This lecture is exactly the same as it was when it produced so great an effect on the Bishops at Los Angeles and it produced an even greater effect on our people here, so that Dr. Crawford was offered here the position of justice of the peace. Great numbers of the president's admirers were present as his guests, and there was at least a hundred persons in the hall.

The lecture is a truly wonderful one, containing parts of no less than twenty-three books, and displays an intimate acquaintance with Savonarola. The delivery was faultless and without hesitation, and what is more, Dr. Crawford tells us that while delivering the lecture he thought out the details for obtaining $25,000 from a doner who may be announced later. Dr. Crawford has truly a wonderful mind.

*The Crawford Lecture. In 1 pamphlet. 1 Savonarola. Edited by Dr. Frank C. Lockwood, Professor of English in Allegheny College. Published by the Century Co., Union Square, New York. Edition de luxe, $3.00, with autograph of author. Paper bound, 10c.

By his charming and suave manner the lecturer made an irradicable impression on the audience that will have great influence with those who have been thinking of sending their sons to Dr. Crawford's school.

[Meadville Tribune-Republican, Thursday, March 9, 1906. Little's Corners Cor.]

W. H. Crawford's lecture was given by phonograph here last night at the home of Mr. J. M. Smith, for the benefit of the Little's Corners Band.

The parlor was crowded with people who have heard of this lecture and it was received as if it were a personal friend.

This record is certain to become one of the most popular that the Edison Co. produces, especially among those unfortunates in outlaying parts of the nation who have not had the opportunity of hearing Dr. Crawford.

Ice cream and cake was served and $6.80 was realized for the Band.

[The Townville Booster, Saturday, March 11, 1906.]

William Crawford pitched his tent here yesterday and advertised a popular lecture. All the beauty and bravery of Townville was present at the event, and all were made acquainted with an Italian named Savonarola. The lecturer made a most imposing appearance. He has a broad personality and abundant presence, and his pleasant ways very much interested the audience. He was costumed in an elegant suit of black vicina, cut extremely décolleté, and wore a white four-in-hand tie with patent leather pumps. The lecturer was very familiar with his subject, but not to the point where familiarity breeds contempt, for he stated at our office that he had the greatest admiration for this lecture. The lecture was fairly good, better than most at the price, and the Doctor should have at least as large an audience next year.

"You Can Search Me"

In distant years beyond our ken
When men herald our praises with voice and pen;
When we no longer wither, crisp, and brown
Beneath old Bill's most terrible frown;
When we fail to melt before the honeyed guile
Of our worthy Prexy's dog-day smile;
When Latin verbs have lost their charm
And Christian ethics no longer harm;
When the author's mill refuses to grind
And meaningless platitudes are left behind;
When history has closed its golden book
And its champion become a common crook;
When Doc. Wells has cut out Latin down below
And the bug man sent him to flunker's row;
When dear old Dut does nothing but joke
And Johnny Hamnett has ceased to croak;
When Miss Langellier has met her doom
And sweet Alice is the reigning beauty on the moon;
When dough-head Cook flunks the divine exam
Because St. Peter holds his prayer not worth a damn;
Then when these signs indicate the approaching day
They will fold their tents like Arabs and silently steal away;
Upon the judgment throne will sit the KALDRON board
And before them shall be gathered this motley horde;
Then in accordance with Scriptural fate
The goats from the sheep they will separate.

Peabody met Giblyn on the street, "Gib" followed by a miserable little dog.

"Say, 'Gib,' where did you get that dog?"

"Why that's the frat dog. You know all the frats have dogs"—

'Tis rumored "Boney" Horn had a bad case of heart trouble but after continuous use of Olgarine he is now on a fair way to recovery.

The Musical Fussers

On a gentle afternoon about the middle of May when the writer was dosing over his Greek, he was startled by a vision more scintillating than the sun and more glorious than the spring moon. "But what this thusness." It was only fair Edith perambulating, as was her wont, toward Barnett's to incidentally develop her musical talent. For a few moments we heard nothing but the rip rash of the daily drill. Then the spring zephyrs bore to our ears a voice of most pathetic sweetness which inspired us to creep near and discern if possible whence the cause. Putting our optics to a hole in the window glass we saw a scene which for artistic beauty would put Raphael back two centuries.

There stood Olin in all the majesty of his figure, his grey spring suit and his new Y. M. C. A. $1.50 halo, with arms outstretched, his eyes raised to the red wall paper on the ceiling vocalizing extemporaneously from the fullness of his overworked heart his sentiments to his affinity in the following ebullition, which in the stereotyped words of Dr. Lockwood, culled from a recent magazine, contains all the mystery of a deeply poetic nature.

MY SWEETHEART 'MID THE HILLS OF TIDIOUTE.

I was riding in the rain
To catch the evening train
That would take me home to sweetheart waiting there;
For the time had slowly passed,
Since I kissed the fair maid last
As beneath the shady grapevine arch she stood.

CHORUS.

Farewell! Farewell to sweetheart
Beneath the grapevines green;
One year from this evening
I'll return to you, my queen;
I know your heart is breaking,
For mine is aching too,
But remember, dear sweetheart,
I'm always true to you.

In the morning just at dawn
As I neared the farmhouse lawn
Of her homestead 'mid the hills of Tidioute;
As the Easter bells were ringing,
I could hear a sweet voice singing,
And I knew it was my sweetheart, dear to me.

When the moon was at its height
We walked with footsteps light
To the banks along the river, dewey green;
To the orchard on the hill,
To the rolling, humming mill,
In the harmony of happiness and love.

When 'mid world's strife and care
Think of sweetheart, bright and fair,
Whether soldier, broker, banker you should be
Go home and have her sing
Away all cares that bring
A frown of darkening shadow to your brow.

Election of Senior Infinity

Date—May 10, 1906.

Polls { Faculty Room, Library
 { Dr. Knudson's Room, Bentley

Suffrage limited to an unprejudiced faculty and members of the class of '06.

Method of Procedure.

I. Faculty chooses two members from the class on their ability to grind, stuff and "cribb", authenticated by statistics from the registrar's records.

II. Class chooses two representatives; theoretically those who are not grinds, who do go out with the boys, who are not preachers, and who by their winning ways have captivated the hearts of the class; practically these members are chosen by a political ring that for stripes and viciousness makes the Tammany Tiger turn tail and seek the safety of Greater New York.

III. Two members are then chosen by the faculty from the debris of soreheads remaining. Nothing is taken into account but the "pulls" of the various members, the records and pocket books of their fathers, and Miss Spalding's testimony in regard to their oratorical ability.

Under such conditions class and faculty met at 4:15 p. m. in their respective rendezvous. After the faculty had hashed over Freshmen records and compared the church cuts of the class and balloting had begun, Lemmie Brown, the office boy, answered a knock and admitted President Wilson. "Slats" Gleason had become worried as to the eligibility of C. E.'s and Wilson had been sent to procure the rules governing the game. "The list of eligibles will be sent to the class in due order," came from the chair and "Alfonse" butted out. While the class waited, "Father" Giblyn's remarks on the French teacher and a caucus of the Phi Delts and Phi Gams eased the strain. Prof. Ross arrived and announced the names of Darrow and Robertson chosen on the first count, everybody cheered, the noise died away and the ring had done its work. To insure freedom of thought, the unbiased and uncorrupted will of the class, and the benefits of a "square deal", a motion for nomination by secret ballot was made and carried, resulting in thirteen nominations from twenty-six members, everybody's neighbor evidently doing the proper thing. First ballot was taken and Mac got eleven out of twenty-six votes—who thinks about a majority! Swanson, Stuntz and Miss Ottoway tied for second place. Chivalrous class of 1906! Another ballot and Stuntz got the plum by a vote of 17. Everbody looked surprised, some are wondering yet. Mac and Stuntz congratulated each other and still some people looked puzzled. Returns were sent to the faculty and everybody laughed. Eddie Wells piped up, "Mr. President, I move you the faculty elect Gleason and Tribby without delay." Dr. Smith winked at "Bill" and murmured, "Phi Psi-non-frat, watch it." The faculty proceeded to separate the sheep from the goats once more. The goods being delivered and laws of equity governing the case, "Prexie's" word went and Miss Giele and Swanson were declared duly elected on the fifteenth ballot.

Yes, it was a great election, illustrating all the moves of a great campaign and resulting in a happy minority and a sad but wiser majority.

May 10. 10 p. m. (at the Reception). Faculty feels that Miss Giele, unlike the rest of the Senior Six, was chosen for her merits. McLaughlin denies the accusation to his surrounding crowd of admirers, Goodloe, Tribby and young Prex.

May 11. (Prexy's office.) McLaughlin's conscience begins to jag and he tearfully acknowledges to Dr. Crawford that, knowing that he could not get the honor(?), he begged the class to bestow it upon him instead of giving it to anyone of less weight with the class.

May 12. The faculty, indignant on account of the misdeal of the class, shows itself to be a four flush and gives the consolation prizes to Miss Ball and Watkin P. Sturtevant.

That Base Ball Money

[A small boy living down town was in swimming one day and went away leaving his coat lying on the bank. The following letter, addressed to M. J. Conlin, of the New York National League Base Ball Team, was found in a pocket. We take the liberty of printing it.]

MEADVILLE, PA., April 16, 1906.

Mi Deer Unkle Mike:—

I am dum sorry tu haf tu rite and tell yu dat our skeme is busted becos de guys up on de hill ain't goin' to have no base ball teem dis yeer. I did want yu tu koatch dem becos I nu yu kood make a gude teem fore dem.

It's like dis. Thre old guys wots on de fakulty run de stoodents athletics fore dem. There naims is Ed. Wells, Prof. Ross and Doc. Breed. Theys got de runnin' of tings but Ed Wells lives wit Doc. Smith, de Sporting Editor of the Misionarie Revu, and so Smittie gets his say tu. (Last yeer Smittie had full charge and de stoodents all says dat tings wuz mutch better.)

Wells ust tu be an atlete and so he tinks he nose all about how tu run de sports, Ross is tu little tu be an atlete and he's soar and acks soar like, and Doc. Breed doan no nuthin about anyting but bugs and dead wurms. Well, dese guys is wot de stoodents kall de athletic bord. Ed. Wells runs de cash and so he's de hole ting.

How I found out dese tings wuz like dis. I wuz lofeing in Kebert's one day when I saw 3 guys eatin' at de korner table and engaged in a heeted diskushun. Der naims wuz Cot, Nate and Boney. An wot d'ye tink, dey wuz tauking bout de colidge baseball situashun. It seems dey wuz mutch interested. Cot wuz de captain, Nate de manager and Boney de outfielder who had seven erors last year. You no he's de guy hoos naim yu saw in de patent medisin ad bout dis Olga-rine stuff.

Nate sed, "It's a dum shame, felows, wen I maid so meny kontrakts tu have dem all busted. Wot t'ell du de profs tink we are. I'll tell yuse guys wot I tink. Edy Wells is goin to get maried an needs de cash.

"Nit," sed Cot, "I'm wize to all dat. Edy tole Langy de French woman all about it and she tole Slat's girrul. Its like dis. Eddie an Doc Smith last weak had a lecksture guy hear from New Yorke naimed Vin-sent. Well, Edy an Doc tuk dis guy up tu Sagertown an spent de stoodents athletic money for shampain booze for dis swell guy. Dem an a hole gang of bachelores drank 398 dollars wurth of booze an now de stoodents ain't in no way tu have enny teem."

An Boney just sat and sed lots of tings wot he never lerned at Sunday skule. "It's jus like George Washington sed tu Linkoln," sed Boney, "millions for booze but not one sent for athletics."

Dese guys went on tu say how soar de stoodents were at de plais. Dey wanted tu see Edy Wells die, dey hated Prexy an de girruls were goin tu throw Miss Langelier out. Dey also sed dat meny old stoodents would not be back again but would go some plais else.

Its easy pickins, Unkle Mike, de plais is goin tu de dogs an is moar like a kindergarten dan a colidge.

Mebbie dey'll be a teem next year.

Feeling dum sorry dat de plais is such a dum poor punk dog show, I remane,

Yure cussin nefu,

Jack.

P. S. —Maw and paw seys, dey luves you. You no I do. Jack.

A certain couple felt slighted in last year's KAL-DRON. Will they in this year's?

Jones sipped the nectar from her lips

As 'neath the moon they sat,

And wondered if the god's e'er drank

From such a "mug" as that.

Messrs. LaBounty & Taft 4/17/06
Gentlemen Sirs:-

Your letters of even
date to hand and it is with great reluctance that we take pen in hand to answer. We are very sorry to say that it is impossible for us in accordance with your requests to publish your Washington Birthday Toasts in the Kalendar. Yours skin is already in print in that Hands & Noble book.
As for your gift - we will tell
you, we promised Knudie,
that we would edit a clean book. Sincerely regretting that our hands are tied.
We are - Le Editors

It happened about twenty-four years ago. When one year old he could stand on his left foot and, wrapping his right leg around his neck, bite his big toe. At four he was captain of the marble team at the kindergarten. He was the bestest boy, even his own ma said so. Got a straight line of gold stars at Sunday school for regular attendance. At ten could smoke cigarettes and blow the smoke through his nose. At twelve he could lick any "kid" in the town, and one year later entered high school. Developed into a fusser and at fifteen falling in love with Elsie Jenks, the leading lady of his town, he quit cigarettes and took to Beeman's Pep-sin. During his high school days he developed a bunch of gas that would move a postage stamp to tears.
Graduated with honors. For the next three years he dealt in mud with the Duem Aul Real Estate Co.

Entered Allegheny in 1903, put it on Bill Elliott and registered for 25 hour's work. Always seemed busier than the garbage man and made 52 in everything. Last year peddled gas for W. H. C. Later became leader of the band and bosom friend of Jay Chesty Werner.
Continues to carry heavy work, which has served to make his broad expanse of phiz look worried.

Still leads the band, does stunts in Y. M. C. A.,
confides in Chesty, cuts gym, eats more than a regiment, sleeps in English, and what is worse, loafes with Fat McLaughlin.

And his name is PUSH.

AT PREXY'S SENIOR RECEPTION.

Mlle. Langellier—Does Mr. Smith dislike me, Mr.
Giblyn?

Mr. Giblyn—Indeed he does.

Mlle. Langellier—Am I then so unpopular, Mr.
Giblyn?

Mr. Giblyn—You are indeed the most unpopular woman in town.

Mlle. Langellier—Au revoir, Monsieur Giblyn.

Mr. Giblyn—Avec grand plaisir.

How About This?

In the great efforts being made here at the present time to have pure athletics, we fear that our teachers are so far forgetting themselves as to make rules to suit special cases.

A conscientious athlete who by two years of hard work had won the right to participate in an inter-collegiate track meet where he could have won his white "A" was deprived of this well earned recognition by a clever little piece of darkroom work on the part of our incandescent professor, the sycophantic aspirant for the vice-presidential dignity.

This worthy, for want of a better reason, gave the young man two conditions in a subject he was not taking, thereby depriving the athlete of any chance of winning his "A". We trust that the Carnegie committee for pure college faculties will investigate this affair, and that the guilty parties in this case read two or three old Peruna almanacs and take liberal potations of the remedy therein prescribed to rid themselves of internal disorders.

tight place

This was "dead easy." 'Twas taken at a time when "Jason" was happy and so, reckless. However, he insisted on having the picture in the KALDRON for he says, "Don't you know, she is a keen girl. The picture will look good to the folks at home."

They will no doubt see how Jason is improving his time at college.

See that minors pay their tuition and do not write temporary permits for tuition.

Answers to Correspondents

We invite questioning on all subjects. Before answers are given careful research is made among original records.

Miss Amy Valliant Courtenay in charge of style and fashion.

Mr. Frederic Nordica Tribby in charge of general information department.

Mr. William McQuiston answers all questions pertaining to the ladies.

Dear Miss Langellier:—In answer to your question, we cannot say exactly how often, but we note the following from the Pittsburg Dispatch of a recent date:

Ashtabula Hen Performs Twice a Day.

ASHTABULA, O., May 8. (Special)
—A Plymouth Rock hen belonging to Superintendent F. S. Converse, of the Ashtabula Sailors' Home, has been laying two eggs daily during the last week.

No; Mr. Cappeau, you should never be "indifferent" to the "Lord." 2. No; you are too young. You should not entertain such serious thoughts until you are at least twenty-five.

Yes; Miss Carroll. You could easily make your living as a Carpenter. Ship building is just as good, if you make a specialty of "Hulls."

Inquirer:—No; the Seniors have not got out an injunction against Giblyn's graduating with the class of '06, but they are thinking seriously of it.

Dear Mr. McFeaters:—In answer to your question, "How many on Senior Six?" So far as we know it has always been as named, six Seniors; but we are told this year the faculty has named two more to show its magnanimity, unquestionable dominance, and unswerving faith in the flexibility of mathematics.

Jerome:—It would be rather presumptuous of us to state positively who has the best literary talent in the college. You might have better submitted this question to Dr. Lockwood or the Quill Club. Judging from your contributions to current literature, however, we will go so far as to say that you have "unlimited possibilities" in this line.

We desire to state for the benefit of the class in French I that anyone can travel through France without a knowledge of the "phonetic symbols." On consulting Mademoiselle Langellier we learn that "she was only fooling" when she taught "La Phonetique."

Yes; Miss Harriet Phillips. A round straw hat with long ribbons hanging down behind would be very suitable for Mr. Gleason. He could also wear white shoes and stockings.

French I:—It's a lie. Miss Langellier bought her blue neck ribbon down at the Fuller Dry Goods Co. The person who told you that she had it tied on her at a dog show is a liar.

Yes; Mr. Fowler. If you purchase Madam Yale's "Perfect Blush" by the car load there is a rebate of thirty-one cents. Since you say you use nine boxes a week, we would advise you to take advantage of this rebate, for "every little helps."

In answer to the query, "Phi Gams," we have learned that Mademoiselle Langellier is not particularly fond of the men at Allegheny College. But never mind, all the young ladies at Hulings Hall are not of the same opinion.

Miss Mabel Deane:—Yes; we think Bill is a fair enough chap. Notwithstanding the fact that he is a missionary and runs with the boozers on the Glee Club, yet he is fairly decent.

As far as Horns are concerned, Miss Henry, any young lady may become accomplished. Do not be so friendly with "Boozer," or we will hear you singing "coon" songs wherever you go.

Dr. Mulfinger:—Use bay rum and quinine on your hair. This is recommended highly by Mr. Hartung.

James Hughes:—You ask whether shortness in a man detracts any from his power as a public speaker. In some cases, yes, but your deep, musical voice and earnestness of expression, if you inform us rightly, ought to enable you to attain success in your chosen profession in spite of this handicap.

Blondy W:—We hardly agree with you in thinking that your increasing baldness is due to overstudy. It is probably caused by the constant wearing of a hat indoors, thus smothering the hair. As a remedy we would suggest as many out-door walks as possible, and a regular application of "Herpicide."

Purchaser:—The "Eliot" brand of paint-brushes is more expensive than the "Brown," but they last longer. The color of the bristles is an indication of their strength.

Archibald Dixon Andrews:—The "Grow-Tall Co." is not a reliable firm. For your case I would advise you to hang on the top of a door, for two hours daily, with a heavy weight attached to your feet. This will so increase your height that you will be very welcome at the Hall.

Goddess of Spring:—Your question covers quite a number of "cases," but undoubtedly the persons who disturb your labors so frequently are Miss Seipp and Mr. Fowler. Miss Seipp is interested in the study of Dutchology; Mr. Fowler is interested in Miss Seipp, and the spring days seem to give material aid in these arduous studies.

No, indeed, Miss Seipp, we would not advise you to look for another man. "A bird in the hand (or arms) is worth two in the bush." The popular song best adapted to your voice is, "It was the Dutch."

Lem'me B-----

When first he used his tongue,
This sickly, squirming little one,
He never answered to his name
As children do; but said, instead,
"Lem'me be."

At school and college this bearded youth
Ponied and cheated and shunned the truth,
Ducked and dodged, and always shy,
He would, when called, usually cry,
"Lem'me be."

None knew why this particular one
Was ever forced hear to come;
Unless Brown with Smith wore joined,
For to all he wrote he signed,
"Lem'me B."

He's a cynic and discouraged quite
And on the theme margin does write
With bluest pencil, cutting words
And then signs, with audible sigh,
"Lem'me B."

And now, someday, whenever he says,
"Well" or "What" to some one who says
"Lem'me be" to him he finds himself
Alone with Lem'me B.
Poor Lem'me B.

Miss Frances Walker is ahead of the other prep. Eng. students, for in addition to having read all the required English she has "Red" Ginn. Has she?

His hat had blown off and you couldn't tell whether it was "Push" Miller coming or "Hans" Mulfinger going.

Little Journeys to the Homes of little men

C. Dormat Purdy.—Member of Butta Butta Butta. Alternate delegate with C. Tom Greer to the Tri-Butt convention, 1907, at Butte, Montana. Noted for his wonderful sermons, most of which are cribbed from Dr. Crawford's Savorola. Has a high forehead, ingrown face and rebutting teeth. His oratorical masterpiece was delivered at the election of the commissary at the Farrelly Club in 1906. Has a fluency unsurpassed in the English language which vents itself in Phillippics against those who excel him in brains. Now living in quiet and secluded retirement at Horse Heads, N. Y., where he spends his spare time writing poems for Dowie's "Leaves of Knocking."

Awful Cute Trego.—A Spaniard of doubtful lineage. A brother of the celebrated Miss Dorothy, the most noted actress of her day. Trego was often spoken of in college as a contented sort of a punk head. Only known because he tried to imitate unsuccessfully the antics of "Hot" McDowell, and falling short of this, had to line up with the famous Stanley, the Beau Brummell of Ten Mile Bottom. Mr. Trego died in 1935 in Pikeville, Me., and all that is left to posterity is a three line notice in the Pikeville Weekly Waterplug.

J. McFadden Calvin.—Born on Kiser Hill, Pa., February 29, 1879. Graduated from Allegheny College 1906. Noted in his early days as a rising literary genius, but this was nipped in the bud by his early marriage. For four years he was Wayland correspondent for the Crawford County Journal, and has left behind him one noted piece of literature, a paper read before the Wayland Grange on "The Proper Bringing Up of Your Wife's Family." On a cold, bleak December afternoon in 1940, when his fond wife went to remind him that the fried potatoes were done, he was found with his toes turned to the daisies. He was followed to his grave in Lonelyvale cemetery, Pont, Pa., by the order of Defunct Journalists. The Wayland Grange sent a beautiful floral emblem of a plow draped in peonies, on which was written in smartweed: "To our dear brother McFadden. Gone, but not forgotten. The pen is mightier than the sword." Still remembered by his friends as a grouch, but by his mother-in-law as an easy mark.

Here lay the bones of Joseph Mac,
Who had a head just like a tack.
'Twas red without, but void within;
He had no brains, but lots of tin."

The above epitaph still stands on his moss grown tombstone, and is an everlasting testimony to the enduring love of his wife.

C. Tom Greer.—A.B. Allegheny College 1908. (A B. shows his relation to the goat.) While in college he lived with a naturalized Pole whose anglicized name was Toujours Buttin. In later years he tried to put Torrey and Alexander out of the business. In his endeavor to excel in every line he started in giving Dr. Crawford's Saronarolla to the Filipinos. One night while dealing in his own inimitable manner with that most complex of problems, the "Psychology of the Mob," the audience with one accord joined the mob. But here we must hesitate, for a wave of pathos blows over us like a gust of angry wind. All that was earthly of Dr. Greer was found under the feet of a water-buffalo in a rice-field. He was only identified by a letter found in his pocket saying, "please send your ten cents to help paint the house." He occupies a little plot (six feet long and eight wide) in the Ogowonga cemetery on the island of Luzon.

But do we say that his life was a failure? Oh! no. The mob spirit is more dominant in the Philippines than ever before. While the undertaker was making final arrangements with the quartette, and his many friends were hunting five-leaf clovers with which to decorate his grave, his little Filipino sweetheart, whom he was soon to have wed, overawed by the sublimity of her grief, burst forth in the following elegaic strain:

*Here rest the bones of Greer, the obese;
He led the mob a lively chase.
Butt the mob, furious, ran like sin;
Poor Tom—he won't no more butt in.

This verse was engraven upon the magnificent shaft of pumice stone erected to his sacred memory by the Guild of Prematurely Superannuated Missionaries of which he was the founder, and of whose principles he was a most zealous advocate. At the first convention of the Guild after Dr. Greer's lamented demise, the monument was dedicated to its noble purpose by the Rev. T. F. Chilcote, (a charter member of the Guild and co-worker of the deceased) in his usual most touching and pathetic manner.

* According to the English version of S. Xavier Bright, of the Manila Bay Fisheries.

James Lindsay Weldon.—The fourth member of the Wilkinsburg Trio. When in 1904 Tom Lawson started his articles on "Frenzied Finance," he was ably assisted by this embryonic celebrity who had his first glimpse of financial greatness while emptying waste paper baskets in the Water Mellon Bank of Pittsburg, Pa. Mr. Weldon has not left behind many works of real literary merit, but despite this fact, the spirit of invective is predominant in his work. He is well known to the general public on account of his stinging rebuke to Dr. Crawford, President of Allegheny College, on the occasion of the earthquake of March 2, 1906. This rebuke so completely quelled that loquaciously pugnacious gentleman that he at once took to the tall timbers back of the Library.

But notwithstanding these things Mr. Weldon, even up until the time of his death, was completely overwhelmed by the immensity of his love for his alma mater, which was demonstrated by the kind terms in which he always spoke of her.

He died in 1931 of a fever contracted while investigating the economic conditions of the submerged seven-eighths in Liberia. Here he made a fruitless attempt to reestablish their coinage on a tin basis.

Mr. Weldon never married. The only romance of his prosaic life was cut short by his being jilted by a certain Miss Berkey, who in later years, became the devoted wife and able assistant of Dr. W. L. Stidger, the editor of the Algerian Christian Review.

Oscar Minus Brown.—His only claim to renown is that he is the supposed long lost cousin of Lemuel R. Brown. Played left field in the Epworth League. A strong admirer of Jonathan Hamnett and Mise Langellier. Much interested in chemistry, his favorite being Pink Pills for Pale People. Now engaged in writing his memoirs at his summer home at Roaring Pine, Mo.

C. Henry Eisenman.—During his infancy this celebrity was noted for his consumption of Mellin's Food. In later years his taste for Mellin's Food changed into a desire for Postum. His masterpiece, "The White Elephant," was delivered three times per week during the college year. Has written a powerful and convincing treatise on the "Affinity of Pretzels for Beer." The last years of his decline were spent at the Odd Fellows' Home, Meadville, Pennsylvania.

Slow Going Perry.—Discovered in the bullrushes about Irwin, July 4, 1889. One of the inevitable results of the Johnstown Flood. Raised on Nestle's Food, as an experiment, which proved unsuccessful. His ancestors were warriors, one of whom, Col. Skedgwick, served under Napoleon in the great retreat across the Delaware. Direct descendant of the famous Commodore Perry, discoverer of the Kimberly rice mines in Thibet.

Assistant manicure artist in the city dog pound during the administration of Mayor Lord. Court jester to the president of the Class of '09. Charter member of the Order of the Cap and Bells.

Still living at North Warren, Pa., where he is known as No. 3614, Room 23. He is pointed out to sympathetic onlookers as the worst known living case of cerebral stagnation.

'Twas on the eve of the Washington's Birthday Banquet. Exit P. T. Perry, pursued by "Bill" Thomas. "Bill," you know, can tramp along some quickly, but the P. T. had him sifted to a vapor. Big chunks of mud flying from Coon's heels struck "Bill" square on his osculatory garden. The next day "Bill" was a sight, mouth in bad shape, and almost hidden by a patch of adhesive plaster. Mabel was furious.

There is a tall Senior named Taft,
And at his toast every one laft.

But Prexy got sore,
"Cuss it; I'll give no more
Toast for you," said this student named Taft.

Professor

Professor, oh, Professor,
Did you never slyly slip
Your arm around a damsel
With a red and pouting lip?
Did you never feel a quiver
From your fingers to your toes,
When you sought to kiss her rightly,
But caromed off her nose?

Professor, oh, Professor,
Did you never take a drive
When the moonlight and the maiden
Made you glad you were alive?
Never guide the horse one-handed,
Or, through one part of the trip
Let him amble slowly homeward
With the lines wrapped round the whip?

Professor, oh, Professor,
Did you never feel a tug
At your heartstrings when
The moment was approaching for a hug?
Did you never get the tingle
Like a strong magnetic breeze,
Which is the peculiar symptom
Of a frank and honest squeeze?

Professor, oh, Professor,
In your tan and freckled days,
Did you never try "postoffice"
And such osculating plays?
Did the girlie of your fancy
Never kiss you on the cheek,
And you to prove devotion
Wouldn't wash it for a week?

Professor, oh, Professor,
Of your failings I take note,
And it's hard to think that really
You have got the right to vote!
And my only hope, Professor,
If it's true you've not been kissed,
Is that fate has fixed it some way
That you don't know what you've missed.

The A, B, C of Courtship

Characters—Adelaide Ottoway, Andrew Robertson.
Scene—Highland Avenue.

ACT I.

Mr. R.—Let thine ears be attentive unto the sound of my supplication!

Miss O.—Mine eyes shall be open and mine ears attentive.

Mr. R. (seriously)—Oh! when wilt thou come unto me?
Lovest thou me?

Unseen Spirit—Let no man deceive you with idle words.

Miss O.—My presence shall go with thee.

Mr. R.—A new heart also will I give unto thee. Forsake me not!

Spirit—Love one another.

Miss O.—I will never leave thee nor forsake thee.
Where thou goest I will go. Even there thine hand shall lead me.

Spirit—Kiss the son lest he be angry.

(Strange sound follows.)

CURTAIN.

Miss Langellier has sent in a special request that she be kindly treated in the KALDRON. This explains why so little has been said about her, and why she has been "slammed" to such a small extent. We never like to hurt people's feelings, you know.

AT A KALDRON BOARD MEETING.

A Member of the Board—They say Prexy beautified and improved his Soronarola when he was in Europe.

Wat Sturtevant—It must have been pretty poor before.

Wat Sturtevant—"Have a look, fellows. There goes the leading lady of the 'Beauty Doctor.'"

"Polly" Miller—"Don't you think it. That's Edith with her new hat, and what's more, she has two bigger than that."

A certain young lady from Kane Said, "College love gives me a pain."

But she was seen makin'

Big eyes at "Puss" Aiken.

Now "Puss," too, is achin' with pain.

(B) To show Dr. M. how.

(C) Didn't want to, but had to prevent an athletic meeting.

(D) Took time to insert the adjectives.

(E) We could never find out why.

(F) Always cuts on her day.

(G) Bishop Vincent. Long experience has taught him to be brief, in order to cover all the field.

First Prize—Bishop Vincent.

The Other Prize—Dr. Mulfinger.

Are you sure those shoes are satisfactory, Petite. Charge them to me.

When "Polly" Miller was at the hospital, before the operation, he insisted on having a minister present because he said he wanted to be opened with prayer.

Jimmie Mason sure is a chip off the old block because he can play basketball just as good as the old man can lecture.

A year ago Taft was saying his prayers ensconced in an easy chair. The poet has now come down to that place where he does not even do that good. For particulars ask "Looie" Swanson.

Satin trembles when he sees
The weakest saint present his pleas;
But Taft who knows no mercy seat
Says, "Lord O Lord, what dirty feet."

"Anything I don't know about the ladies is not worth knowing.—Ambrose.

Miss Courtenay—We have one of the largest bridges in the world at Zanesville.

Appleby—They also have big Bridges at W. & J.

Miss Courtney (10 minutes later)—Oh! I see the joke.

Glenroy Smith—They say Miss Langellier is two-faced—I don't believe it.

W. P. Dunbar—Sure not; if she had another, she would wear it.

Glenroy—And then it would be impossible to make two like that.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

FOUNDED IN 14 B. C. BY ANANIAS

Fake Traditions, Strong Expenses, Unreasonable Faculty, "Unsurpassed Athletics"

FIVE STRONG COURSES.

Dancing. Cotillions a Specialty.—Dr J. Harris Werner.

Coozology (5 hours a week)—Dr. H. Edward Wells.
Labratory assistants, Tribby and Unc Fish.

Modern Classics. Strong courses in Ade, Dooley and Swinnerton. Dr. F. Crawford Lockwood.

Tobacconical Botany. Specimans collected from "Polar Bear," "Scrapno" and "Red Band." Elective Work in "Duke's Mixture," "Five Brothers," and "Turkish Trophies." Prof. W. Tecumseh Dutton.

Knockology. Special attention paid to elocution students. Mademoiselle R. Emilie Langellier, lately arrived from Bordeaux, where she took special courses under Count Boni de Cottolene.

Electives are liberal, but original research in "coozing," and along lines of "tobacconical botany," is required in all courses.

The degree of B.C. is given to all graduates after four years of plugging, ("Piper Heidsick"). Phi Beta Kappa is distributed liberally at the digression of Frank C. (Crawford) Elliott.

Catalogue sent annually until returned. For particulars write

Dr. A. X. Morford, - President.

Father Luce, Vice-President. Frank Cousins, Registrar.

Meadville, - Pennsylvania.

Shop open all day Sunday—Back door.

Beginning to notice that Lab. fees, book store graft and tainted money gleaned from the Hulings Hall hash department were not sufficient to keep him in pocket money, etc., Prexy bought a butcher shop and started in the business for fair. Not every college can boast of a president who has pigs feet, calf-liver, ox heart and spare ribs. Truly Prexy is a versatile man.

Here we have a picture of Herman and his Willa. These young folks have the worst case that Allegheny has seen for years. They are so confounded happy in their love affair that they cannot stay away from one another for any length of time. Consequently they take walks every day, two on Sunday. One of the sweetest sights to be seen here is to see Herman walking down street with his Willa leaning upon his arm. Herman, in addition to being a good student, is a real pretty boy and Willa is such a dear little thing that the discipline committee never butts in on their love affairs and so together they keep busy putting it on the dean.

"The most powerful factor in shaping my college career is Will."—Miss Deane.

When in Europe Dr. Smith bought a generous supply of "Pardon Tickets." He uses the same continually in History I.

Who is that villainous looking man? He looks like a hardened criminal.

That's only Chesty Werner—guaranteed to be harmless.

BUSTER BROWN'S RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, Next time you're a little boy, take time to grow—it will pay.

Resolved, Next time do not throw away good advice on Freshmen—It gives them indigestion.

Resolved, Next time do not contradict any one. Compromise or else remember that without might and height right stands little show.

Resolved, Next time do not make any more resolutions.

Bill Elliott's a dog,

A mad one, too, at that.

He never gets a shave,

Or buys a new cravat or hat.

But he's no bluff;

He has enough of the stuff

To make you work.

So to try to shirk is folly,

And that's no jolly,

We know because we've been there.

At last we have found out who wrote, "I'm Tired of Living Alone." It was Miss Spalding.

"The Taming of the Shrew"

Scene—Miss Spalding's Room

Time—4:15 p. m., May 10, 1906

Dramatis Personae—Rocks, Alice and a Few Hall Girls

R.—(Entering.)—Hello, Alice, old girl.

A.—I want you to understand, Miss Langellier, I am not an old girl. I'm scarcely out of my teens.

R.—Oh! You needn't get mad about it, anyhow. The truth is bitter always.

A.—'Tis not bitter because it's true. You don't know what the truth is. The bitter part is, it comes from you—old Pickleface.

R.—Miss Spalding, I want you to distinctly understand that I am Assistant Dean of Women in this college.

A.—Yes you are—Assistant Dean of Women. You're more like Assistant Janitor of the Hall. You old "Snooper."

R.—I want you to understand I spent two years in Paris.

A.—Yes, you did—Paris, Texas—Anybody could tell it from you manner.

R.—I was going to ask you to go to the Senior reception with me, but now I won't.

A.—No; it wouldn't have done you any good to have asked me, anyhow, you old Roxy. I have what you never could get—a man.

R.—You needn't talk. I was pretty nearly married twice.

A.—I guess you were. I heard your father was a justice of the peace.

R.—Well, Miss Spalding; if you were a lady you would walk home with me to-night, anyhow.

A.—Well; if "being a lady" required that I should have to walk home with you, I would not want to be a lady.

R.—Well; I can walk home alone, anyhow.

A.—You certainly ought to be able to do so. You surely are used to it.

R.—Well; I'm glad my contract has nearly run out at this place.

A.—Well; you're not alone in the game, old girl. There are about two hundred and ninety-two other people around here rejoicing over the same thing.

R.—That isn't so.

A.—Well; perhaps not quite that many. I have heard that you get along with "Chesty" Werner all right.

R.—You horrid thing; take that. (French book flies through window pane as Roxy makes her exit.)

(Enter Fifteen Hall Girls.)

Girls—(In Chorus)—What's the matter, Miss Spalding?

A.—I just had a fight with Frenchy.

Girls—Well; we hope you put it on her.

A.—Well I did. I tamed her.

Girls—

What's the Matter With Miss Spalding?
She's All Right!
Who's All Right?
Miss Spalding!

Voice From Roxy's Room—

What's the Matter With Miss Langellier?

(The reply is drowned in the oppressive silence.)

Other Hall Girls (Coming in at 8:30 p. m.)—Miss Spalding, is Miss Langellier ready yet?

A.—I don't know and I don't care.

Girls—Well; is she not going?

A.—I do not know and I care less. Exeunt.

And Sam, his head's in a whirl.
But knowledge? My, Sam does bone
To get his Greek. But Bill flunked him anyhow.

DR. CRAWFORD CALLS UP J. J. SHRYOCK CO.

Is my carpet done?
Who is this?
Dr. Crawford.
Who?
Dr. William H. Crawford of Allegheny College.
Oh!
Well; is it done?
No.
No? ? ? ?

The clerk fell back in a state of unconsciousness.
An electrician pronounced the 'phone burned out.
Moral—Live the simple life.

IN MOURNING.

Jimmy—What sort of music did that Freshman play after the cane rush? It was so peculiar:
Sophy—I believe that only the black keys were used.

O, students of Allegheny, I tell you Miss Temple is a big woman.—Prexy.

Oh Boney Horn, oh Boney Horn,
Whatever would you do,
If you didn't have sweet Olga
To take a walk with you?
What would you do, Miss Henry,
Would you, too, be forlorn,
If you couldn't go a strolling
With Reuben Kenneth Horn?

Reward!—A liberal reward is offered to any person who will swear that he has ever seen the Phillips girls when they were not giggling. Fish and Gleason are not barred from the reward.

Eddie Wells has oft been seen
Holding hands with our new dean.
He says—My pleasure has no measure;
She's sure a treasure—My Doc. Fraser.

Consider the lillies of Hulings Hall. They toil not, neither do they spin. Yet Pie Davis in all his glory, etc.

Makes his mouth go in elocution like a "bunny" eating cabbage. —Hughes.

Tries to grow a bunch of goat hair like Hartung. —Cooley.

Of the Sophs, the softest was Hughes,
He'd souze himself full of cheap booze;
'Twas called common "punch"
By the Y. M. C. A. bunch
This booze, which Short Hughes would choose.

Tickle me love in those lonesome ribs.—"Puss" Aiken.

"Young ladies of Hulings Hall," said the dean, "I understand that some of the Seniors have refused to give the underclass girls their receipt for fudge. This must be stopped, as hazing will not be permitted at all."

I once knew a student named Taft,
Who roll-ed his eyes when he laft.
By his poetic hair,
And sad, dreamy air
You could tell this deep thinker, Will Taft.

Friend—What is your favorite flower?
Miss Deane—Oh! Sweet William, of course.
Just ask 'Phonse and Bess about that cab to the court house.

Rumor has it that a new fraternity is about to appear at Allegheny. We understand their non-de-plume to be The Amalgamated Brotherhood of Demons. They hold midnight meetings in front of Hulings. There is h-l enough at Allegheny. Get busy, faculty, there is a rival in the field.

Rickey—"Did I hurt your head, Brown?"
O(h) M(y) Brown—"Oh! You can't hurt my head.
I carry my brains in my feet."

The "Cords."

(Posed exclusively for the Kaldron by Mr. Sherwin.)

Oh! Mary McLaughlin,
An' did you go walkin'
Wid that young Prexy bye?
It's exceedin' shockin'
That y' shud be talkin'
Wid a birrud thot soars so high

If you have tears prepare to shed them now. We understand that Miss Langellier is looking for another position. (We would suggest that you shed them for the other fellow, whom she will teach next year.)

I do not love thee, Mademoiselle,
The reason why I will not tell;
But this alone I know full well,
I do not love thee, Mademoiselle.

Doc. Wells has a grouch that is chronic;
 Doc. Gamble advised a strong tonic.
 Ed. said, "Doctor dear,
 Won't you please make it beer?"
 "No," said the Doc., "that's Teutonic."

What Vandalism Causes.

There was a young lady named Hayward,
 Who was exceedingly wayward.
 She sat up all night,
 Ate fudge 'til 'twas light,
 And was sorry when darkness went dayward.

Friend—I haven't a cent to my name.
 Miss Deane—I've been holding onto one Bill for a long time. I believe in making this one last.

Doc Knudson, hearing from Dr. Mulfinger that there was to be company at chapel service, spent five minutes more fussing up his hair.

June 8. Extra pink edition of the Campus.

June 13. KALDRON appears. Cloud of dust rises in the west, through which can be seen streaks of Sherwin and Cappeau disappearing over the brow of Kennedy Hill, with Dr. Crawford and Miss Langellier in full pursuit.

June 20. Glee Club concert.

June 21. Commencement Day.

"My cat speaks French," said Roxy Ann,
 "As plainly as can be.
 Says 'sil vous plait (that's if you please,)
 And thanks me with merci.
 I know, because I understand
 Each word she says to me."

"Ach! Mine speaks German," with a nod,
 Said George from o'er the Rhine.
 "Says bitte when she wants to drink;
 And ja, of course, and nein.
 I wouldn't have a cat that spoke
 A different tongue from mine."

It has just come to our ears that Miss Langellier has resigned, but is not certain whether her resignation will be accepted or not. Well, go ahead, Miss Langellier, we as a student body will use our influence with Dr. Crawford to have him accept it. And, by the way, we might add that we wish you would take Miss Fraser with you. She may be all right in her way, but we do not like her, and we are perfectly willing to see her go. Her many views on good form may be all right, but when they become so obnoxious to many of the faculty and the entire student body, we think it's high time for her to become scarce. We got along very well last year without you, and hope to do the same next year.

Sunday, May 13, '06.

Miss Seipp—"Say, girls, what do you think? I gave Mr. Fowler a bunch of cards back last Sunday and here I have sixteen more already."

STEVENS

FIREARMS

Give Universal Satisfaction

All our Rifles and Shotguns possess the "take down" feature, which is an additional property of merit embodied in the deservedly popular STEVENS products. This is especially desirable in a small arm, that, by taking down, can be carried in a trunk, grip, or small package.
