Dear Dr. Schlesinger:

I am returning to you today the chapter which I held out from the revised manuscript, "Reforming from Within," to be used as you think wise.

You suggested in your note on the first draft that a concluding paragraph on the points treated in the chapter would be desirable. I think so myself, but if the chapter is to be broken, as I gathered that you had in mind, the points to be inserted where they seemed to you most effective, such a paragraph would be unnecessary. If, however, you should use the material as it stands I will write the paragraph.

Very sincerely yours
