College Liberated By Party Coup

SPECIAL TO THE HEMLOCK CUP, April 7 — Allegheny College was today seized in a well planned coup by the USAF's "Fighting 735th," the local branch of the People's Party of America. The coup was planned, according to regretful college officials, during a recent trip several of the cadets made over spring vacation to Florida. The trip was originally intended to be a training exercise for the cadets, not in governmental overthrow, but in elementary Air Science.

The Professor of Air Science at Allegheny was not available for comment; however, one of his aides, a former "instructor" of Air Science, had this to say: "It couldn't have been pulled off without 'Black Jack's' aid. The Soviet government was invaluable in this exercise. We also found the classroom indoctrination of cadets quite useful in the liberation, although a few did not respond as hoped."

One student, who requested that his name be withheld, gave the student body's opinion: "We want the hell out of this mess." The official ROTC feeling that Allegheny can be run in the same manner as Red China seems to have run into opposition.

Celebrated Preacher To Return April 22

The Religious Activities Committee has announced that it has secured the Rev. R. T. Humbug of Youngstown, Ohio, to deliver a series of lectures during the annual Religion vs. Life Week, to be held this year from April 14 to April 22.

Rev. Humbug, affectionately known as "Old Rex", serves a Youngstown parish which includes the Church of the Day Before Yesterday. He is also Regius Professor of Old Testaments and Homiletics at the Humbug Theological Seminary, located in a much-frequented district of Youngstown.

Dr. Debtor, Religious Activities Cause Chairman who arranged for Humbug's appearance here, is enthusiastic about the committee's choice. "We wanted to get a speaker who would put a lot of religion into Religion vs. Life Week, and we feel sure that Old Rex will be able to do so." Debtor disclosed that Rev. Humbug will speak on a variety of topics, including an address on "The Burning Issues of Our Faith."

Debtor also hinted that Humbug, along with a group of pastoral assistants, might be available to provide music for the All-College Dance to be held after classes April 20.

"And for my next miracle..."

PAS Promoted To Fool Colonel

The Air Force announced last week that Lt. Col. Johnny Hughes, Professor of Air Science at Allegheny, has been promoted to the rank of Fool Colonel. The promotion will not change the duties presently "performed" by the Colonel.

plied, "cause". During the course of the interview, Miss Betz made a plea for student and faculty support of the organization. When asked why she felt a need for such support, her only answer was, "cause".

By this point in the interview, Miss Betz's compatriots had arrived on the scene and the reporter was unceremoniously dumped into the street. When the reporter asked why the action was being taken, the cohorts replied in unison, "cause".

If the reader may wonder why this interview was undertaken and the subsequent article was written, his only answer can be: You guessed it; he had used up all of his unemployment checks.

Planning Triumph Revealed; Carr Hall Plans Drawn Up

"We've found a place for Carr Hall!" a high-up member of the administration wheezed to a Hemlock reporter. Speaking from his office in Bentley attic, the administrator stressed the need for secrecy—"It ain't going to be in the Tribune 'till tomorrow," he said.

But the Hemlock Cup has been able to dig out the complete story on the proposed Carr Hall of Science and its future location—Bentley Lawn.

The building will begin a few feet from South Hall and extend diagonally toward Ruter. "We don't know just how far it will go yet," the administrator commented. "But we'll sure as hell leave a way open for traffic to the Rustic Bridge!"

Architects Change Carr

Although a tentative design for the building has already been released, Carr Hall will not necessarily be constructed in that manner. In fact, the architectural firm of Wilcox, Ruter, and Reis, already famous for its contributions to campus buildings, has been called in to work on the Carr case and indicates that some changes will be made.

"For one thing," said Dr. Arter (D.D.S., P.A.C.), the firm's chief designer and an expert in such matters, "there's not a column on the whole damn building." He indicated that this matter would be rectified by alternating two and four story pillars around the building. "This is to symbolize aesthetically the growth of the student between the time he enters college and when he leaves, and also the difference in tuition during this period," he stated.

More Rhododendrons

However, in recognition of the fact that there are those who don't like modern buildings and those who don't like columns, the building will be surrounded by a special breed of 25-foot rhododendrons developed by the Chemistry Department.

ment. "It kinda makes me feel like Jack and the beanstalk," the head of the department remarked in a philosophical moment.

At the top of the science building there will be an observatory designed by the Alumni Office in conjunction with the Physics Department. The observatory will be equipped with special high-power telescopes fixed on Bentley Tower, the college insignia on Brooks Hall, and the rustic bridge. They will be designed for heavy use by alumni and will operate when a coin is dropped into the slot. By turning a dial the alumnus can determine whether his money will go into the Annual Fund, the General Fund, the Semi-Annual Fund, or the Alumni Director's salary. "Anythin' for a buck!" said R. J. "Scrooge" Doolman with an avaricious grin.

Excavation for Carr Hall will begin as soon as the ground thaws to permit it. The company doing the work hopes to start by the first week in July.

Hell Principal Enters Philo-Franklin Debate

The Philo-Franklin Society is pleased to announce that President Pell Mell Etier will hold a final dialogue with Dr. O. O. I'm Clean, Principal of Tempters' College, Hell. The debate will be held in the Chapel this Thursday evening at 8:15 p.m. Lord D. Byron Bower, President of the society this year, recommends the debate highly. "It should be a damn good show," he said.

Air Force Coup

The faculty is quite happy about the "liberation." They were informed that their services were no longer needed; however, while they could not leave the area, they would receive full pay until they were released. The students feel that the administration is to blame for allowing such freedom to the ROTC department in the face of such criticism as was given by the students. They have adopted an attitude of "I told you so."

The Campus has been closed to all outsiders as of today and no one may enter or leave, with a few exceptions (alcoholics needing a drink, for instance).

Madison Square Crowd Sees Gator Five Win NIT Tourney

Allegheny's "Battling Gators" swept past favored Ohio State tonight, 30-28 to capture the coveted National Invitational Tournament trophy before 3,000 screaming Ohio State fans at Madison Square Garden.

State's seven foot super-star, Jerry Lucas, was held to four points by the vicious clawing of "Antlers" Ravenscraft assisted by a step ladder supplied by the Gator's coach, Bob Bardark. Bardark, incidently, had to be restrained towards the end of the game as Allegheny was in the process of blowing a 20 point lead and the coach, naturally concerned, tried to enter the game, towel in hand, to help his faltering basketeers.

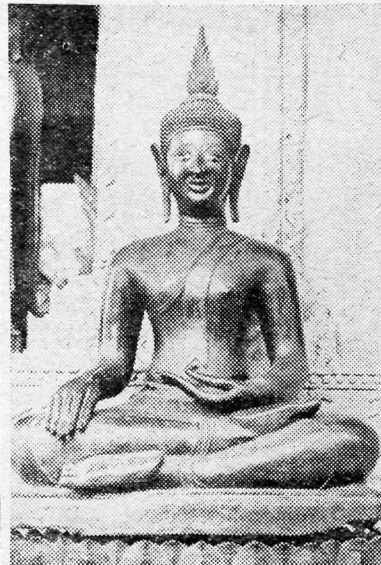

Allegheny Gators were severely hampered when James "the hatchet" Marcis fouled out in the fourth quarter and had to be replaced by Pinkinson who was suffering from malnutrition, arising from Coach Bardark's "fatherly" punishment of depriving him of meals when Bardark caught him sneaking out of his hotel room after 10 o'clock curfew. The Gator squad consisted of only six players due to Allegheny's small budget after the administration decision to de-emphasize athletics.

Madison Square Garden, which seats 14,000, was noticeably empty as only five students from Allegheny were present due to sorority parties being scheduled the same weekend at the western Pennsylvania campus. The five students, including your reporter, sat sullenly throughout the game because it appeared hopeless for their cause as they had bet against the Gator squad. Two shy girls, also from Allegheny, shivered outside on Eight Avenue, afraid to enter because they lacked dates.

Glen Becker was awarded the "Best Amateur of the Year" trophy for his sparkling play throughout the tournament. The Gator cheerleaders shared honors with Coach Joe Lapchick of the New York Knicks as they were presented with the "Hemlock Cup" which was awarded by the New York Sports writers for the most frustrating jobs in sports.
