Dear Mr. Andrews:

Looking over my Mussolini file I concluded that it would be better to send you a copy of the articles as I sent them from Italy. The Magazine did not publish them in full and the cutting seemed to me to rather destroy the effort I had made to get something approaching a logical narrative. It was difficult for me. As I told you I went to Italy knowing about what had really happened and what I tried to get into the articles was what I discovered ~~what~~ had happened and what they were trying to work out.

I hope the story will be of some use to you and that you will be able to find out how this Corporate State undertaking has worked out to date. I shall be mighty interested in your findings.

Faithfully yours
