

NINETY-THIRD YEAR OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY.

Large Increase in Membership of Freshman Class.

Class Rooms are Well Filled—Hulings Crowded to Overflowing—A Good Year in All Departments is Assured.

Another college year has opened and just sixteen students more than those of last year have matriculated. And a pleasing and interesting fact about this is that the increase is among the men.

The hall was filled entirely up about the middle of the summer and Dr. Crawford had a waiting list of about one hundred girls which he gave to a sister college about the first of August. However about a week before school opened five young ladies on account of illness were unable to come. This left a chance for five girls who were disappointed during the summer to come to Allegheny and the places were easily filled.

The new students began to arrive on Monday, and Tuesday they had their first troubles of college life with the registrar, but as some one has said "It is darkest before the dawn." So it was that after the tribulations of registering were over the sun shone forth and the real pleasure of college life began, that of making friends and fixing up rooms, and being entertained and meeting several people. And by Tuesday evening all the new students had in their possession cards which entitled them to begin work and enter classes.

Wednesday, Professor Ross had his try at the old familiar faces and it is very pleasing to hear that very few of them were missing. By night fall Wednesday the old students were registered and Thursday morning work began in dead earnest. When Dr. Breed faced his Biology I. class he found that there were eight more students taking it than had ever begun before; Dr. Akers found when he called the roll that he had 20 more in his Math. I. class than have entered within the last two years; Dr. Elliott found just 60 willing, unsuspecting innocents ready to tackle his Greek; while to cap the climax Prof. Snively was crowded into a corner of his French I. room by 60 regular beginning students. Some re-adjustment will have to be made this week to overcome the present disagreeable overflow.

However all this only means that the old school is only growing more popular every year and that she is just now entering upon the greatest, undoubtedly the greatest year in the history of the institution.

And with the summer just behind; a year of work in front; a strong and an earnest faculty; large and enthusiastic student body the prospect is most promising.

NEW INSTRUCTORS FOR FACULTY CHOSEN

CHAIR OF CHEMISTRY.

Professor Hyskell to Assist in Latin—Dr. Sheets to be Head of Department of Physical Instruction.

Three new instructors have been added to the college faculty. To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Wells, Professor Lee has been elected to the chair of chemistry; Professor Hyskell is to assist Professor Ross in Latin, while Professor Suaveley is to teach French exclusively. Dr. Sheets is to take Prof. Werner's place as physical instructor.

Professor Lee comes from Mount

Union college, where he has been on the faculty the last five years. He obtained his first degree, that of bachelor of science, from North Eastern Ohio college. His M. S. was obtained from both North Eastern and Mount Union. After his college work in Ohio he went to Harvard, where he earned his A. M. degree, and then completed his work in the sciences by graduate work at Cornell. As to experience in teaching, he spent two years, 1897-99, in high school work in Indiana, from 1899 to 1902 he occupied the chair of chemistry and physics at North Eastern, whence he went to Mount Union in 1902.

Professor Hyskell is a graduate of Allegheny of the class of 1905. He took the classical course, and earned his bachelors degree, and his Phi Beta Kappa key. After completing his course here, he took several years post graduate work in Harvard in Latin and Greek, and received his masters degree. Professor Hyskell has had several years of teaching experience, and comes highly recommended.

Dr. Sheets, a recent graduate of the Jefferson Medical school is the new coach. His school, located in Philadelphia, is the oldest one of its kind in the United States, and some of the most eminent surgeons have it for their Alma Mater.

While in preparatory school at Mercersburg, Dr. Sheets first donned the moleskins and made his debut on the gridiron. Since then he has been at it constantly for seven years, playing every season and almost every position on the team. Mercersburg has always had one of the very fastest teams among preparatory schools and to get ones first training there has always meant a lot to a football player. And many of the greatest football players have come from Mercersburg to the colleges and universities.

The coach played all of his four years at Jefferson and comes to Allegheny with his six foot two inches of humanity filled with an enthusiasm and optimism which is bound to spread and infect, the team first, then the supporters.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK MOST ENCOURAGING

LARGE SQUAD OF MEN IN TRAINING.

Much Enthusiasm Being Shown—Coach Sheets Filled With Hope—Very Reasonable Schedule.

Dr. Sheets is very much pleased with the large squad that is out daily and is getting them into good trim for the rapidly approaching season. The squad is large, but should be larger, and the 22 who have been coming out regularly, should be increased to twice that number before this week is over. There must be plenty of "scrubs" to help make Varsity and every man has a full chance at the first team. Come out and help things along.

Manager, Tom Coulter has prepared a very reasonable schedule for the team this year. The kick for several years back has been that we have scheduled teams away out of our class. This year the teams are undoubtedly not that. The Oberlin and Westminster games will be our two hard ones and the latter will be played at home.

CLASS FIGHTING FAST AND FURIOUS

SOPHS AND FRESHIES CLASH IN AN EXCITING BATTLE.

Second Year Men Post Proclamations—Rivalry is all Friendly—Doubtful Which Class Won.

The fight is on and friendly rivalry is running high on college hill just now. The Sophomore class fired the opening gun of the campaign on last Saturday morning at about 3 a. m. by putting up their annual posters of advice to the Freshmen. The posters were printed in green ink and along that line were certainly works of art. George Ade might well get a few pointers from the funny man who concocted such a conglomeration of nonsensical advice. The Freshmen did not know that the posters were up until long after daybreak and it was after nine o'clock Saturday morning before they were all down and even yet there are two or three glaring green posters which the Freshmen have missed, still flaring and flaunting unsought advice in the faces of passers. One Freshman said: "Well no wonder you got 'em up, you did it while we were all asleep."

At Chapel Saturday morning there did not seem to be much feeling for a scrap and all passed off quietly before Chapel, except for the class yells which were given to stir up the proper feeling among the timid Freshmen. During chapel service three Sophomores inaugurated a new stunt and nailed their flag to the pole on Bentley Hall. After chapel the Freshmen were appraised of this new move by the challenging yells from the house top.

In a few minutes a horde of the enemy rushed up the stairs of Bentley bound for the tower. Several strenuous struggles occurred in the way up but the Freshmen finally forced the door, breaking down some bannisters in the attempt, and were soon out on the roof. At this juncture the upper classmen interferred for fear some person would be pushed off of the building and the flag was carried down the stairs to the lawn in front of Bentley where the fight continued. It was only a few minutes until a Sophomore had the flag in his possession and was up a pine tree. This changed the scene of conflict and it was for a time fiercely waged under the tree. A Freshman tore the flag down and as it fell, the whole mob was upon it. This struggle lasted for ten minutes when a Sophomore again obtained the rag and was off across the ravine.

It was brought back and after another struggle of fifteen minutes in which all were about exhausted, the Sophomores again got possession of the larger part of the now torn and tattered red and white banner.

A committee of upper classmen awarded the flag rush to the Sophomores, inasmuch as the flag remained in their possession, but in other respects the committee favored the Freshmen.

The Sophomores were outnumbered about ten men but put up a sturdy fight notwithstanding. The rush and fight were both marked by the best of friendly feeling and in not one instance was there any slugging or brutality. It was all good friendly class rivalry, and in many instances frat brothers wrestled with frat brothers.

At present the feeling is high and the cane rush will be intensely interesting from the spectator's view point.

DR. CRAWFORD'S FIRST CHAPEL TALK

WARM WELCOME GIVEN TO FRESHMEN.

Brief History of Class of '07—Tuition Covers but One-fourth expenses of School.

In his first chapel talk of Thursday morning President Crawford made his usual speech to the Freshmen. Then he gave some very interesting statistics concerning last year's class, to the effect that 15 are at the present time teaching. 12 are taking university courses, and 21 are in the civil engineering profession, or some kind of business.

Following this Dr. Crawford presented to the new students a few most interesting and surprising facts which show that the students who come to Allegheny college and pay their little tuition and other fees do not even pay one-fourth of the running expenses of the college, and that no fees have ever gone into any single building on the campus, nor in the repairing of any building. "Everything here is a gift that has been presented to you and to myself, to use while we are here for the betterment of ourselves, that we may some day go out into the world and do for others as we have been done by."

Then in a beautiful way the president told about the gift of each of the fine buildings on the campus, humorously suggesting that some day some student might be able to build Dr. Breed a new hall for his science department, and also another building that he, Dr. Crawford, had in mind. The usual Freshman lectures were held last week in the chapel.

Again the monotonous click-click of the linotype machine reaches the ears and disturbs the thoughts of the "new" board. Before we turn in the copy of this, our second issue to the typographer, and amidst the eagerness with which we resume the duties incurred upon our attainment of office, let us repeat the statement made in the last issue in the spring: that it shall be the aim of the new board to be fair and honorable in all things, and to serve the best interests of our college community. It's purpose is to keep these columns free from the guilt of indulgence in petty enmities derogatory to the true Allegheny spirit. The Campus that has nurtured three generations of men before us is teeming with life and prosperity, and we want "The Campus" that we read to be an accurate mirror of its activities.

Mr. Dennis' Illness.

The board presents this first issue of the "Campus" to its readers without formal apology for its many shortcomings, trusting that its patrons will be lenient, as the Editor-in-chief, Mr. Dennis, is at present ill at his home. With Mr. Dennis absent from the editorial desk, the board is working under harassing conditions. For the mantle of the chief to unexpectedly fall upon the shoulders of others produces the inevitable result of confusion and dismay. We sincerely trust that Mr. Dennis will be able to be with us at our next issue.

"Do It Now."

This is the time of beginnings in every department of college life. A secret out of school: If you want a "stand in" with your "Prof." get to work now; make your best marks now; get your languages well started now; go out for the team now if you can only scrub; get into the real college life now. "Be Optimistic" and believe that "to-day is better than yesterday, and to-morrow will be better than to-day." But whatever you do "Do It now."

Your Part.

Never in recent years has the outlook for athletics been so promising. In football there is a very large squad of husky men in training, and much enthusiasm in their work is being shown on the side lines. The volunteer, both varsity man and scrub, is displaying the spirit that means excellence in athletics for Allegheny. Now for the spirit that the man on the side lines can display, besides lending his lungs: buy a seven dollar ticket. Next in importance to men is money.

Service the Key Note.

In an interview with Dr. Crawford a few days ago he said: "Only a few weeks ago I had the pleasure of spending some time with the president of one of our big universities. I said to him: 'Doctor, we people in the small colleges have something higher than you, something which you cannot have and that is, we can ask our men and women to go into unpaid service; we can ask and they will go out into the world to live a life of service for others; to sacrifice their lives, nobly it certainly is, in the missionary fields of our world, in the slums and poor districts of our own country. You, Doctor, can only see your university men and women go out into the maelstrom struggle for money.' The President of the university answered: 'Doctor Crawford, you are right. You people of the small colleges are making the cultured, literary men and women of the world; the men and women who live the higher and nobler things of life; the heroes who give their lives for others.'"

The above conversation touches the key note of the main endeavor and theme of Allegheny College. The word "service" is implanted in every heart that beats true to the great traditions and history of this college. Hundreds of loyal alumni have lived nobly and died as nobly as they lived for their fellow men. The spirit is here and sooner or later every new student feels it.

We WANT YALE AND MORE BIG ONES

To Tax the Mettle of Our Team—Eastern Trip Desired.

Knoell failing to come back to school this year, of course will necessitate the election of a new basket ball manager at the regular election to be held this fall. However, it seems that the work of preparing a schedule will fall to the assistant manager, who is McNeese, '08.

There seems to be a decidedly strong sentiment prevailing, not only among the players themselves but also among the students, that Allegheny should have a try at some of the large Eastern colleges and universities if it is possible to get games. Allegheny can defeat anything in basket ball, and it is no more than the proper thing that she have a chance to show the big wide college world what she can do. Last year's captain and other players have suggested that the manager try for an Eastern trip with at, say, Williams, Yale, Columbia, U. of P., and any others with whom games could be secured. What's the good of playing every year little colleges that it is an easy matter to defeat. It does the college no especial good, and hardly taxes the mettle of the teams. Bring on something that will lick us occasionally and we'll show the college world that we can go some in basket ball.

DOCTOR SMITH RETURNS.

Given Ovation in Chapel Service Thursday.

Dr. Smith, professor of History and Economics, has returned from Europe after spending more than a year there in study and travel. He resumes his teaching this fall having been off on Sabbath leave last year. After his winter of study at Oxford University and on the Continent, he spent the summer traveling in Switzerland, Germany and France, visiting meanwhile the World's Sunday School Convention at Rome. Needless to say we are glad to welcome Doctor Smith back, as was shown in the ovation he received in chapel Thursday.

DR. CRAWFORD AT JAMESTOWN

PREACHED STRONG SERMONS IN FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Dr. Crawford Also Gave an Interesting Address at the Albanian Services at the Y. M. C. A.

President William H. Crawford of Allegheny college, Meadville, occupied the pulpit of the First Congregational church Sunday morning and evening, preaching strong sermons to large congregations, says the Jamestown Journal.

After the evening sermon, President Crawford and Rev. E. C. Hall attended the Albanian service in Y. M. C. A. hall. The Albanians enthusiastically received President Crawford and immediately after his entrance rose and sang their national song, the "Shkipetare," for him, after which President Crawford addressed them, stating his pleasure in meeting so goodly a body of men from another land; that he was greatly pleased with their national song as interpreted to him by their leader. It reminded him of the subject of the midweek college prayer meeting next Wednesday evening at Meadville which would be "the place which Jesus Christ should have in the program of every college student." Jesus Christ should have a place in the program of every man and particularly these men coming from a foreign country; that all the good and great men who had made this country were believers in Jesus Christ; that William McKinley, our martyred president, had done much to uphold the religion of Jesus Christ. If they would come to Meadville he would show them the building and the room where William McKinley studied while a student at Allegheny college. He hoped also that they had become acquainted with the record of President Roosevelt. He believed that there was no greater preacher of righteousness today than Mr. Roosevelt. He hoped that they would one and all study the principles laid down by Jesus Christ and endeavor to follow the example of these good and great men and preserve this a land of liberty and freedom for themselves as well as all mankind.

After the address Dr. Crawford shook hands with all the Albanians and expressed himself as highly pleased with this unique service and acquaintanceship with a new nationality; one with which he had never come in touch as yet, praising their strong qualities and expressing himself as highly pleased with the men.

ATHLETIC HISTORY.

Athletic Editor Rehearses Some Achievements of our Teams.

For the benefit of the new students who are not familiar with the Allegheny college standing in athletics the Athletic Editor of this paper will present a few interesting facts. Basketball undoubtedly stands first of all, and it is perfectly safe to say that this college stands among the first of all colleges and universities in the United States. Since the author has been in college we have defeated Yale University three times and several other strong eastern schools every time we have played them. We have easily trimmed several western schools and the southern schools we have played in the last four years have been "snaps." We must spread out now in our schedule and show people outside of this district that we can do a few things in basketball.

Then comes track. Up until six years ago track athletics in this college was decidedly among the dead and buried. Or rather it had never been born. Within these five years however it has been born and reared up to be the second healthiest athletic son of the college and it takes a speedy bunch to throw gravel in any Allegheny sprinter's face. Witness the Pittsburgh meet of June 2nd, 1906 where Allegheny took every first and most of the seconds in the sprints, easily defeating the crack W. & J. relay team that won the same year at Philadelphia. Then the meet at Grove City in the same year where our sprinters were so far ahead that the Grove City clod busters were behind in the dim and dusty past. The meets of last year, at Hiram and at Conneaut Lake were the easiest victories that the team has ever brought home, the latter being a victory over four or five colleges of this section of the state. This year the boys will be lead by Capt. Croasman, the man who leads because he is so speedy that he can't do anything else but lead, and it is his intention to have the candidates for the team practice in the Gym. all winter.

Base ball comes next. Two years ago we had no team because of some little financial difficulties. Away back when professionalism was unknown Allegheny held her own with any team in her class. Then came professionalism and the gradual debilitating of our team until it, was not, in the year mentioned. Last year the ball spirit was revived and out of almost entirely new material one of the best teams we ever had was finally pounded out by the coach. Toward the close of last season the team was certainly playing great ball and there is no reason in the world why the coming year, with most of last year's men back, should not be a "Hummer."

Then comes foot ball, last in proportionate rate of victories won but in that place only because Allegheny has always adhered strictly to clean athletics while some of the teams she has been playing have not hesitated to hire men, an instance of which we quote the Bridges case, well known about Pennsylvania. Under the present rules we are coming to to the front in football and it is a safe prediction that we will win most of our games this year. What school can show excellence in any more sports than Allegheny?

The Phi Delta Thetas initiated Hines, Harper, Weidler, R. Stidger, Ross, Bortz and Irwin last night.
