Dear Miss Carroll:

Mrs. Wolfe received the copy of Eleanor Roosevelt and made a fresh one to send to the lady. I left a blank space and asked her to tell us something about the founding and the aim of the Todhunter School. It seemed to be better to get it direct from her. As soon as the manuscript comes back I shall let you know what she says.

As to the photograph, I told her what you wanted - her and the Governor before the fire - she with her knitting and he with his cards. I am quite sure they will agree, though of course there will be delay because of the Governor's absence. That will hardly be long, however, if his mother continues to improve.

I am so glad you and Mr. Greeve think the article all right for the Delineator.

Faithfully yours
