SEVERAL NEW TEACHERS ADDED TO FACULTY

Changes in Allegheny's faculty this fall include the addition of two new members.

Mr. Joseph L. Fisher of the Department of Economics and Business Administration, is one of the incumbents. A resident of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, Mr. Fisher received his Bachelor of Science from Bowdoin College, Maine. He also attended the School of Economics at the University of London. Upon his return he attended Harvard where he obtained the Master of Arts degree.

Interviewed in last week's Campus, Dr. H. S. Rhinesmith, Professor of Chemistry, is another new faculty member.

NEW ECO PROF BELIEVES CLOTHES WILL BE AMALGAMATED, OR SUMPIN'

Believe it or not, our two newest faculty members are both in Delta Upsilon. If you happened to read the interview last week, you know that Dr. Rhinesmith is a D.U. And now we find that Mr. J. L. Fisher, the latest addition to the Economics department, is a brother of his. Furthermore they both took graduate courses at Harvard... well, it's a small world.

Outside of those two facts, however, Dr. Rhinesmith and Mr. Fisher aren't alike, except that we know the latter is another "drawing card".

If you want to get on the good side of Mr. Fisher, talk to him about anything that has to do with "the great outdoors". For he really goes for the wide open spaces and saves bridge, dancing, and other indoor activities (which, by the way he enjoys only half-heartedly) for rainy days.

Mr. Fisher said that the following isn't important, but it's nevertheless, interesting to note that we have a male version of Elizabeth Hawes in our midst. At least his plan for the changing of men's wear is nothing short of phenomenal. To put it in a word, he thinks male attire is "terrific". To quote him, "Both coats and vests should be eliminated. I find them constricting. I object also to formal attire. Men's clothes are uncomfortable, and uncolorful. We men wear the sign of the machine age right

'39 KALDRON STAFF HEADED BY MILLER

Johnston, Fay, Ochsenhirt,
Kraus, And Davies Named
Department Editors

At Monday night's meeting in the Speech studio in Arter hall, editor Charles Miller, '40, of the Kaldron announced the complete staff for this year's edition.

The staff includes Barbara Johnston, '40, and Miriam Fay, '40, in charge of the writing divisions. Helen Ochsenhirt, '40, is Managing editor of pictures, while Cora Kraus, '40, will be in charge of mounting. Lewellyn Davies, '40, is the Business manager. Professor Hurst R. Anderson of the Speech department is the faculty advisor.

The professional photography is to be done by Stanton studio, local city photographer. Candid shots will be snapped by Leroy Schneck, '41, with the assistance of Robert Campbell, '42, George Cordozo, '42, John Kriml, '40, and Betty Knowlton, '41.

Primary difference between this year's Kaldron and that of previous years will be the elimination of Freshman representatives and the Senior Hall of Fame. The A.U.C., M.U.C., and Women's government will be treated as a unit.

The charm section will contain the May Queen, featured in a two-page series, and a representative from each of the four classes. There will be a full page for Freshman sports, and an endeavor will be made to obtain the photographs of the track, golf and tennis teams of this year's members (continued on page 4)

WRIGHT TELLS OF WORLD YOUTH IN ADDRESS

Communism Not Main Topic
Explains Student Speaker
In Monday Chapel Talk

"Regardless of popular belief Communism was not the theme of the Second World's Youth conference held at Vassar college," said Robert Wright in chapel last Friday noon. "All sorts of people were present—even Methodists."

Mr. Wright, as representative of the Allegheny Christian council, attended the conference last August 16 to 24. As one of United States' fifty delegates he had the privilege of joining with students from 53 countries of the world in a meeting dedicated to world peace.

The speaker told of the various problems encountered by the delegates in understanding each other's language and ideas. Interpreters were used in many of the smaller group meetings, but some of them were a problem since they tried to inject their own ideas into their interpretations.

on our backs." And now comes the best part... he believes that men's and women's clothes should be amalgamated; the former designated to the northern regions, and the latter from the waist up!

Mr. Fisher isn't thinking of patenting that idea, but he is considering putting his "simple, no struggle, no skin-catching, no thumb in the way" collar fastener on the market. It sounds like a good idea, though your interviewer couldn't quite understand the details.

For once, we have come face to face with a man who had a ready answer to the question, "Why are you teaching economics?" Here's the reason; it combines two features; timeliness, dancing, and other indoor activities (which, by the way he enjoys only half-heartedly) for rainy days.

As for a few of his minor likes and dislikes, he can't stand bulling. "There is a definite place for bulling and it's not in the classroom," he stated. He is definitely against beach pajamas, short of phenomenal. To put it in a word, he thinks male attire is "terrific". To quote him, "Both coats and vests should be eliminated. I find them constricting. I object also to formal attire. Men's clothes are uncomfortable, and uncolorful. We men wear the sign of the machine age right

LIBRARY TO GET "CAPSULE" KEY VOLUME

LIBRARIAN ROWLEY
ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR UNIQUE PROJECT

If the people of A. D. 6939 do find the detailed "cross section of 1938 civilization" Allegheny college will share in the success of one of the most ambitious archeological projects ever undertaken.

Librarian Edith Rowley announced this week that the Reis library has been selected as one of the key repositories throughout the world to house the limited edition book describing the "Time Capsule". Intended to tell posterity 5000 years hence of 1938 civilization, the capsule's location is fully given in the book on file in the library.

Varied Contents.

"Five thousand years ago" quote the authors in an introduction, "during a period of invention, development, and science rivaling that of our day, recorded history began. It would be pleasant to believe that we might leave records of our own day for five thousand years hence."

Placed in the capsule is an 1100 foot microfilm "essay" comprising more than ten million words and a thousand pictures. It includes various aids to translation, such as the Lord's Prayer in 300 languages.

Our descendants centuries from now will be able to see pictorial descriptions of 1938 style homes, offices and factories, pictures of our arts and entertainments, and our books, magazines, and newspapers.

"Moderns" of 6939 A. D. may puzzle over our common safety pin, but a composite newsreel will explain everything from a safety pin to a kaleidoscopic pattern of war, disaster, sports, politics, and even women's fashions.

Finding Methods Given.

Methods for locating the historical treasures are described in the Reis Library book. These include information about the positions of the stars and planets in 6939 and a record of eclipses due that year.

To forestall any opening of the capsule before the intended year, the shell bears the inscription, "If anyone should come upon this capsule before the year A. D. 6939, let him not wantonly disturb it, for to do so would be to deprive the people of that era of the legacy here left them."

"Cherish it, therefore, in a safe place."

Vacationing On Continent

Revealing varied opinions, Dean Laila Skinner, Dr. Elizabeth Spann, Dr. Louis C. Green, Mr. John W. Hulburt, Miss Mildred Ludwig, and Dr. Armen Kalfayan, returned this fall from European vacations.

Dean Skinner and Miss Ludwig sailed from Montreal on July 1, spending the remainder of the summer in England and the Continent.

Accompanied by Charles R. Barkley, '39, Mr. Hulburt travelled through England, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, France, and Germany.

Enthusiastic about progression in Germany, where she spent part of the summer, Dr. Spann commented: "The Germans are happy, universally employed, strongly united behind Hitler, and sufficiently supplied with the necessities of life. They are looking forward to peace, not war, for they do not think war will be necessary to accomplish their aims."

Internal opposition to Hitler was not evident to Dr. Spann. The people, she (continued on page 4)

1. Secure time report blanks from the faculty member for whom you are doing work. If your NYA employer is not a faculty member, secure blanks from Miss French's office in Ruter Hall.

2. Deposit reports in the box outside the NYA office no later than October 17.

3. There are still several NYA students who have not filed Form 21 (Student Application—College and Graduate Aid) with Dr. Ross or Miss French. There must be a Form 21 for each student who has applied for NYA aid. If you are uncertain as to whether you have filed this form, check with the NYA office AT ONCE.

TEST FINDINGS INTERPRETED IN HARPER'S PIECE

COLLEGE SYSTEM IS MASS PRODUCTION,
SAVANT AFFIRMS

The present educational system is a factory that turns out students by mass production, according to the Carnegie foundation survey as reviewed by Gove Hambidge in his article, "Toward a New Design for Education" in the October issue of the Harper's magazine.

This report is of special interest to Allegheny students, since the tests which were given here last March were a part of the survey conducted by the Carnegie foundation.

The objective was to find out what the student receives from present day secondary and higher education. Forty-five Pennsylvania colleges and thirteen state teacher's colleges took part.

Tests given over a period of years to a total of 55,000 students showed striking differences between colleges, courses and individuals. For instance, it was found that the classification of students as freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors had little meaning.

As was expected, however, the median scores of all college seniors were highest, and all high school seniors lowest on the same identical tests.

When the students are divided according to the courses they are taking the results are quite different. The sophomores range from scores of 24 points below that of high school seniors, to 26 points above that of college sophomores as a whole.

Group scores rated engineering students as first. They were followed by B.A. students, B.S. students, education students in regular colleges, business administration students, and students taking four and two year courses in teachers' colleges.

Topping all the colleges is a very small unnamed one having only thirty-two sophomores. Their median is well above that of the college seniors as a whole.

The biggest of the thirty-four colleges rates twenty-third in all courses except education.

In testing a typical graduating class of 185 students, it was found that the range in an educational achievement test was from 300-1200 points. Yet they were all to receive the same degree.

These facts lead to some questions, according to Mr. Hambidge. Does excellence in a subject lie in a strong (continued on page 2)

NEW VESPERS SERIES STARTED BY A. C. GROUP

Jane Hartman Inaugurates
Weekly Sunday Program By
Talk On Nova Scotia Life

Jane Hartman, '41, speaking on "Co-operatives in Nova Scotia" began last Sunday the vespers series to be conducted by the Allegheny Christian council on Sunday afternoons in the Oratory of Ford Memorial chapel.

Miss Hartman spent a great deal of time studying co-operatives and co-operative ideals in Nova Scotia this summer.

Comparing the life of that country to American conditions, Miss Hartman commented, "How different is the simple, wholesome life of the Nova Scotians compared to the complicated social pattern of this country's city dweller."

"If the wretched people of America's slums hope to reach an existence at all comparable to Utopian Nova Scotia, it will be only through the utilization of co-operatives," she stated.

Edwin Spofford, '41, conducted the devotional services which preceded Miss Hartman's talk.

Other Activities Planned.

Two more vespers services have been planned by the council. The first of these, October 16, will be led by Mary Brock, '41. James Gettamy, '41, speaker for the service, will speak on Albert Schweitzer, world famous organist, and noted African doctor.

Notice to All Outing Club Members

Dues for first semester 1938-39 season are payable at once, and until October 31, at which time all members who have not paid will be suspended from the active roll and will cease to enjoy the privileges of the club. An increased program of construction and activity for this season necessitates an immediate settlement of the financial budget. The fee of one dollar should be paid to R. F. Miner, Treasurer, or to Miss Pepper, Women's Advisor.

At Sunday Meeting

BULLETIN

In a small election in which only 45 ballots were cast, Robert Appleyard triumphed over Charles Miller by a count of 25 to 20, filling the vacant vice-presidency of the class of 1940. Mr. Appleyard will assume his seat on A.U.C. Sunday evening.

Class elections, the budget, and plans for Homecoming were among the new and old items discussed by the Allegheny Undergraduate council at its regular meeting on Sunday night.

The council set the junior and freshman class elections for this week, on Tuesday and Thursday respectively.

Requests for additional appropriations to be included in the budget have been made to A.U.C. from several organizations. The athletic department has been granted $15 to pay part of the necessary funds for cheerleaders' outfits.

Another budget item which has been under discussion for several meetings is an appropriation for the Outing club. Harold Calbert, '39, will be present at the next A.U.C. meeting to represent the Outing club in another discussion on the subject.

Homecoming Discussed.

Homecoming plans were discussed on the basis of a committee report. The customary bonfire is planned along with the pep rally on the night before the Homecoming game. A but- (continued on page 3)

ADDITION MADE TO MUSIC COURSE; HANS MUENZER

Noted Violinist, Former
Concert Master Of Chicago
Symphony, To Appear

Announcement this week by the committee for the College-Community Concert-Lecture course reveals the addition of Hans Muenzer, noted violinist and former concert master of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, to the 1938-39 season.

Muenzer and his accomplished lady pianist will appear in Meadville on February 9. At present Mr. Muenzer serves on the faculty at the University of Iowa as professor in the music department.

On Monday, November 7, the local public will have the opportunity of hearing William Lyon Phelps, professor emeritus of Yale university and noted critic and author. Dr. Phelps comes to Meadville as a commentator on the progress of the human comedy.

"STAY ON TERRA FIRMA," WRIGHT ADVISES FROSH IN DARING EXPOSE

By ROBERT WRIGHT

"A sound mind in a sound body." That was the motto of the ancient Greeks, and a wise group of greybeards they were. Depressingly wise. That is one reason why Allegheny Freshmen and Sophomores take what is bleakly called "Gym". But this is to be no attack on physical education. Quite the contrary.

Every college Freshman should early learn the habit of Taking Exercise. It relaxes the mind, improves the morale, and gives one an appetite. Every so often, when the mind threatens to give way under the stress of German or History, it is wise to turn to exercise. And when I think of exercise, I think of horses.

Horses are good to pull loads, to run races, to lose money on, and to ride for what is jestingly referred to as pleasure. There is no greater sport in the world than riding a horse. To encourage the Freshmen who may be looking about for some way to keep in condition, the following discussion may be of use.

The first thing to do when horseback riding is to get on the horse. If you have seen any of these cowboy pictures lately where the hero vaults into the saddle and steams away in great style, you had better get that idea out of your head. Things like that do not really happen. It is done with mirrors. The way to get on a

With the aim in mind of completely reorganizing men's student government, the old Men's Undergraduate council was dissolved at Thursday's meeting. A preliminary constitutional convention was held last evening in Cochran lounge, at which a start was made toward drawing up a new organization.

Wayne Spray, '39, president of the old group, stated that a motion was passed asking each fraternity to send two delegates to last night's meeting. At this meeting the representatives began work on a new constitution which upon completion will be submitted to the fraternities and the A.U.C. for ratification.

Under the old arrangement, motions passed by the council could be nullified by the vote of any single fraternity. The effect, according to statements of M.U.C. officials was that "the group was handcuffed by the very fraternities whose interests it was supposed to protect."

Assisted A.U.C.

The council functioned as an interfraternity governing body. It assisted the Allegheny Undergraduate Council in drawing up rushing rules, enforcing freshman customs, and in planning and executing freshman week activities. It was composed of one junior and one senior member from each fraternity, and an independent representative.

If present plans materialize, Spray indicated, the new body will have powers on a par with the women's government bodies now in existence.

When interviewed, Mr. Spray commented:

"Everyone on the campus has felt the need for an interfraternity governing body, with enough power to really govern the fraternities. The M.U.C. has been dissolved by the unanimous vote of its members. This dissolution was not motivated by any outside pressure, but by the urgent need for a new constitution."

Honoring those students who obtained an average of 85% or above, the Dean's list for second semester of last year was released today for publication.

Significant feature of the list is the number of students whose names have appeared on previous Dean's lists. More than 50% of those listed were on the previous semester's list.

NEW M. U. C. DESIRABLE

It would finally seem that something is about to be done about Allegheny's vestigial organ of student government, more precisely, the Men's Undergraduate Council.

For several years past, members of the council have found themselves in the unenviable position of being able to recommend improvements until they were blue in their collective face, without the slightest hope that anything really important would run the gauntlet of fraternity approval. As a result, several projects which might have proved of interest to the men of the campus have fallen completely flat. Among these may be noted particularly an interfraternity dance and a more efficient rushing system.

The dissolution of this body to make room for the formation of a more truly governing group is a long step in the right direction. It only remains that the constitutional committee draw up a document which will put the Men's Undergraduate Council on a par with the other student government organizations on the campus, working in the interests of the men alone, and with delegation of sufficient power to enable the body to make its recommendations effective.

It has been the contention of some that there is no need for such a group on the hill, since A.U.C. power extends to all members of the student body. It seems to us, on the contrary, that an effective men's government is both a necessary and a desirable institution. Undergraduate Council cannot concern itself with men alone, any more than it can rule only to the advantage of the female undergraduates. Matters such as the aforementioned interfraternity dance are not the concern of all-college legislators. If such all-Greek events are desired, there must be a purely men's council, and one capable of more precise action than the interminable "recommendations" of the now-deceased Men's Undergraduate Council.

THE REVOLUTION OF '42

Appearance on the hill of hand-bills suggesting that such-and-such a man is the only possible candidate for president of dear old '42, immediately countered by group hand-shaking and loud talking from the opposition, served notice on the old-line fraternity politicians that a new era has dawned in Allegheny politics.

No longer is the time-honored technique of "you help make Joe president and we'll see what can be done about getting Homer in as treasurer" enough. Future class elections will no doubt be characterized by torch-light parades, barbecues, free cigars, and baby-kissing on a grand scale.

Naturally, these developments have rocked the upper-class ward-bosses back on their vote-conscious heels. Entrance of the frosh into the game with such independent enthusiasm and vigor comes as a blow to those who are used to having their orders followed, and who are used to organizing their new satellites under the banners of brotherhood.

And a good thing it is, too. For why should the freshmen have a ticket thrust upon them for the glory of old Sigma Tau Theta, rather than in their own interest?

They live with each other, and presumably know who their own leaders are.

So we say "go to it, freshmen". Have your own election. There will be plenty of time later for alliances.

GRAND CENTRAL STATION?

Some confusion and much comment has lately arisen as to whether the library is a place for study or a recreation center. If it is the former, it lacks the quiet so necessary in such a place. If it is the latter, it lacks gaming tables.

As a "Campus" columnist recently put it, "it is as easy to study there as in Grand Central Station". This is a situation which is new, at least so far back as we can remember, and for which there is no particular reason or excuse. All students understand that quiet is requested in the library reading rooms, and a little thought will disclose the logic behind this request.

We suggest that the students take a little more thought in the matter, or that the librarians take a little more action.

STREAMLINED VESPERS

The Allegheny Christian Council's first Vesper Service of the year was, aside from the pitifully small audience, a distinct success.

The idea, which some were pleased to consider incongruous, of combining a religious service with an open forum on a current economic problem, seems to us an excellent one, and one which would bear frequent repetition.

For if we assume that the primary function of such groups as the A.C.C. is to aim toward a fuller and happier existence, why should cooperatives not be discussed, since there are those who feel that they contribute toward such a life?

The Christian Council, which we have watched with interest since its inception, deserves a great deal more support than it has received in the past. Aiming, as it apparently does, toward a practical application of Christian ideals, it appears to us the body on the hill with the highest aims. It is not a complement to the undergraduate mind that it is the body whose doings arouse the least interest.

CLASS ELECTIONS FINALLY HELD

Postponed because of chapel seating, class elections occupy a significant place in this week's campus activities.

Members of the Freshman class will hold their election tomorrow noon in the chapel.

Conducted by the A.U.C., a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will be chosen. Nominations will be made from the floor and ballots will be tabulated by A.U.C. tellers.

Junior Election.

Choosing a successor to Ruth Wetherbee, the class of '40 held a special election yesterday in the chapel.

Due to a new A.U.C. ruling passed at the end of last year, only men were eligible for this post. The ruling referred to states that "either the president or vice-president of the junior and the senior classes must be a man."

READING HOUR INAUGURATED

To develop the recreational reading center of the college, a faculty-student group has collaborated with Miss Edith Rowley in planning a series of Sunday reading programs in the Craig room.

Beginning about November 1, special reading afternoons will fall on alternate Sundays. The schedule is being set up by Assistant Professor of English, Philip M. Benjamin, in order that general Sunday activities will not interfere.

Other members of Mr. Benjamin's program committee include English instructor, Frederick F. Seely and Miss Edith Rowley; representing the student body are Eleanor Fishel, '40, and Forrest Foster, '39.

Combining with this group to select new books is Dr. Julian L. Ross, Miss Mary P. Henderson, Professor Albert E. Ogilvie, and students Ruth Pratt, '39, and Robert Wright, '40. Mrs. Julian L. Ross will represent the class of 1928 who has donated $65 to the book fund. The alumni class of 1908 also have given $115.

New Books Bought.

With this money the new books have already been purchased. In addition to those from gift money, the library will place in the Craig room as soon as catalogued all new books that are of interest to the students. For three days they will be on preview and then returned to the downstairs shelves.

The Craig room, according to Miss Rowley, contains a wide variety of books, both fiction and non-fiction, and limited editions given by Miss Sara Vought. Miss Henderson's knowledge of the care and preservation of rare volumes is being utilized this year. She spent a week in September at the Library of Congress and in Baltimore learning more of this work.

Popularity of the Craig room has been made apparent in the fact that 800 visitors have come there since May.

ONE-ACTS GIVEN BY PLAYSHOP

Two one-act comedies opened the Playshop's season last night. The plays were The Florist Shop, under the assistant direction of Betty Boltz, '39, and He Ain't Done Right By Nell, with Helen Hahn, '39, as assistant director.

The cast of The Florist Shop included Martha Keefe, '39, Helen Litten, '40, Jack Megahan, '40, Charles Liggett, '40, and William Beckfield, '41. Margaret Turner, '40, Betty Boltz, '39, June Sieberg, '39, Jane Hartman, '41, John Barkley, '41, Charles Miller, '40, and John Jones, '39, played in He Ain't Done Right By Nell. Bruce Barackman, '40, was stage manager, and Charles Thompson, '39, was in charge of lighting.

A second group of plays originally scheduled for Friday will be presented next week. Richard Snead, '40, will be the director of Goodnight, Please! The cast will include Constance Black, '42, Julia White, '42, Madeline Karlit-sky, '40, William McCotter, '40, Rolf Arentzen, '42, Leroy Schneek, '41, and George Cardozo, '42. Charles Rothrock, '41, will be stage manager.

Where But in America, the second play of the group, is being directed by Margaret Turner, '40, with Betty Kroegher, '39, as stage manager. The cast includes Winetta Robertson, '41, Anna May Sunnergren, '42, and James Aiken, '42.

VARSITY DEBATE OPENS THURSDAY

Varsity debating opens Thursday, October 20, at 8:00 p. m., when Robert Wright, '40, and Herbert Rosen, '39, will meet Oberlin debaters in the Speech studio.

Topic for discussion will be: "Resolved, that the United States shall cease to use public funds, including credit, for the purpose of stimulating business". Allegheny will take the affirmative side of the case.

Formulation of plans for Freshman debating are now being made. Supervised by Mr. Charles E. Irwin, speech instructor, the freshman debate team will soon begin work on the same topic as those chosen for varsity debaters.

Letters have been sent to those who have indicated an interest in debat-

DRAMA NOTES

Mr. Bramer L. Carlson, who graduated in Dramatic Art at Allegheny several years ago, and later received a Master of Fine Arts degree in Drama from the University of Iowa has been appointed as director of the Community Theatre of Gary, Indiana. His first production, Night of January Sixteenth, will open Saturday night, October 9.

The Drama Department has been very fortunate in receiving from Mrs. Hamilton Steward of Titusville, a number of rare old costumes for its wardrobe.

FLYER TO SPEAK AT DINNER HERE

Known for her contributions to Christian Science Monitor, Miss Marjorie Shuler, round the world aviator, will address the Business and Professional Women's club, Friday evening at Stone church.

Observing National Business Women's week the local club has scheduled a banquet for 6:15, preceding Miss Shuler's address.

Miss Shuler, having just returned from an extended airplane tour of countries involved in international imbrolios, will report on existing conditions in Europe and the Orient.

Since the talk will be of interest to the public, tickets for the dinner are now available. Alleghenians may obtain tickets from Miss Cotton or Miss Heil.

GERMAN CLUB INITIATES

Initiation of new members to Der Deutsche Verein, honorary German club, will take place at the first meeting of that organization on October 18 at 7:30 in Huling's Gold Room.

Marjorie Slagel, '40, will present at this meeting a six volume anthology of the works of Goethe as a prize for an essay on Richard Wagner. All old members are requested to attend.

Tryouts of aspirants will probably be held Thursday, October 27. The team will be composed of those chosen from these aspirants.

Cinema Sensors

By JEAN MEGAHAN

For people with a taste for comedy, this is a red-letter week—of course, you'll have to allow for a little mystery around the edges, but we can foresee a lot of stitched sides before the week is over.

Wednesday brings June Lang to the Park in Meet the Girls.

At the Academy it is Campus Confessions. If you like the usual college bosh, here's your dish. Although a stereotyped sequence, we liked Hank Luisetti's basketball exhibition (remember Stanford's ace?) as the "collegiate hero who wins the Big Game with One Minute to Play." Oh, yes, Betty Grable, Eleanor Whitney, and Johnny Downs are also in the picture.

The Amazing Dr. Chatterhouse arrives at the Park Thursday. Edward G. Robinson is the Jekyl Hyde doctor whose interest in criminology led him into a number of robberies which are "amazing." Somewhere along the way he meets Humphrey Bogart, who is head of a gang of what-have-yous.

Robinson takes over his job as chief, thereby causing his hatred. It develops that the Dr. is writing a book on criminology and now he has as much data as he needs. His plans to back out are thwarted, however, when Bogart turns up with intentions to kill him. Thereupon Robinson realizes that he has not yet committed the ultimate crime, so he drugs and kills his arch-enemy. In this, however, he is found out and brought to what proves to be a most dramatic but unconvincing trial—ho, hum!

The Academy brings Arkansas Traveler to the screen Saturday. Starred are Bob Burns, Irvin S. Cobb, Jean Parker, and John Beals.

In Boy Meets Girl at the Park, those cronies O'Brien and Cagney are back again. It's one of those little things which come up every once in a while, which are supposed to be screamingly funny, but somehow get waylaid. Marie Wilson gets a better part in this picture than she has had to date—we sympathize with her efforts to overcome obstacles and make it a good film.

The Marx Brothers are here! Room Service at the Park starts Sunday. The Marxes have been playing too long as themselves to expect anyone to accept them as characters in someone else's story. It is a farce dealing with the exigencies of show business on a shoestring.

The plot deals with a producer (Groucho) who schemes to get his board and room from the weak-spined hotel manager to whom he already owes a small fortune. The arrival of the hotel supervisor (Donald McBride) and his able assistants (Harpo and Chico) help to complicate matters. The final twist to the tangle is the arrival of the "bewildered young author who plays Groucho hopes to produce. Groucho, in spite of hunger pangs, holds out in his double room "castle", and Harpo plays the good angel by contributing the live turkey which won his heart at a raffle. The turkey takes one look at the "castle" and flies out of the window.

Good shot: "Harpo's happiness when the turkey, apparently gone for good, returns to roost nervously on a window ledge."

KAPPA PHI KAPPA BEGINS MEETINGS

Allegheny's Zeta Chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa meets for the first time this year this evening. Members back for the opening of the season's program include Eugene Cease, '39, president, Dave Gatrall, '39, vice-president, John Topper, '40, secretary, and members Al Reep, '39, Neil MacKeigan, '40, Charles Waite, '39, Gene Ochs, '39, and Myron Connick, '39. Faculty advisor is Professor Henke.

Kappa Phi Kappa was established in 1923, and is an organization composed of students who are doing extensive work in the department of education. Nine hours are required for admission.

DR. TONGUE TO GIVE RECITALS

Dr. William E. Tongue, instructor in classics, is scheduled to appear in a pair of piano recitals Sunday and Monday evenings. The recitals will begin at 8 o'clock, and will be held in the Henderson Garden house.

Sponsored by the Fine Arts association, a recently organized Meadville community group, Dr. Tongue's recitals are the first programs of the current season.

The programs include selections by Bach, Brahms, Schubert, Chopin, Debussy, and Grieg.

Not open to the public, the audience will include those extended invitations by the group.

personal interest, which the student discovers in the activities he seeks voluntarily? Can that eagerness to learn be transferred to college work itself, and made still stronger by being given a central purpose and direction?

Mr. Hambridge writes, "As I understand the Pennsylvania report, it would answer all of those questions with an emphatic 'yes.'"

Generally Speaking . . .

The Frosh made news in a big way last week—

What do YOU think of the fashion show sponsored by the Freshman women at 7:45 o'clock last Monday night in the lib with a solitary mannequin? Revenge may be sweet—but why heap it upon one person?

Contemporary affairs is quite a course—both on keeping up on what goes on in the world and what goes on when your faculty members are at play. Frau Spann says that German beer is much better in New York—but makes no comment on the beverages offered in Meadville. The worm turned when Mr. Kalfayan was asked a question and several minutes later looked up and said that he didn't hear it.

Talking about politicians—the prize goes to "Judge" Cardozo and his handbills for his campaign for president of the class of '42.

Mary James has thrown caution to the winds and is suffering herself with Hershey's kisses. Progress is slow. Her "friend-from-home" sent twenty-five pounds of them to tide her over till vacation—poor substitute we think.

Did Jean Boyd think we were all men without a country when she said that she wasn't an American citizen because she wasn't twenty-one yet?

The Chi Rho serenade certainly hit the spot the other night—that's what we want more of—lots of songs—and pretty ones at that. And just who is Mortimer?

Our campus was at half mast Monday morning lamenting the departure of Benny the Beak from our midst.

Here today, gone tomorrow is Vivian Johnson's new theme—after heading for home bag and baggage Friday afternoon, she was found heading back with the same on Sunday—not to mention the look of disgust she placed upon her fair surroundings.

After searching the Hall from top to bottom for shoes for the dance the other night and coming out with a pair of glittering golden slippers, Wam Bryant promptly knocked one heel off as she did a spinner down the front steps of Hulings.

Heard at the soccer game the other day—"Look at those dumb boys, can't they see that the ball is going to hit them on the head?"

And what's this about our Libby being so "Foxy" and keeping her Phi Gam pin a secret for two weeks? Congratulations and all that stuff, kids!

Did you hear the recent discovery made at the Theta party the other night—"Little Nell" Harter—ask the Town Club for further details.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Allegheny's Intramural program has been outstanding in its achievements along the lines of physical development. But is it physical development where a touch football player runs a rusty nail through his foot and becomes a potential tetanus victim?

The pile of lumber at the west end of Arter field has been a constant worry to all touch football men. It would not take long to remove the wood to some less dangerous place and thereby insure the safety of Allegheny's undergraduate athletes.

Dick Snead, '40.

WESTERN ROADS CHAPEL TOPIC

"Go West and ride the streamliners" advised Dr. W. Scott Hall, speaker at last Monday's chapel program. Choosing as his subject, "The Railroads Rediscover the Passenger", Dr. Hall related his experiences riding on the Burlington Zephyr and other modern trains this past summer.

Dr. Hall told of the work the western railroads are doing to stimulate passenger trade.

"There are many potential railway passengers available if the railroads will increase comfort and speed and decrease rates", the speaker said.

The Burlington Zephyr which travels between Chicago and Denver, was described from first hand observation by Dr. Hall. He said the streamliner was aesthetically and mechanically an impressive sight. Reclining chairs, indirect lights, wide windows, and inexpensive meals add to the comfort of the passenger.

Future Programs.

Next Friday the Inter-Fraternity Extemporaneous Speaking contest will hold the chapel front. One member from each fraternity will speak for three minutes on some designated field of advertising.

Representing their various fraternities will be John Jones, '39, Phi Gamma Delta; Charles Liggett, '40, Phi Kappa Psi; William Hummel, '39, Delta Tau Delta; Richard Miller, '41, Phi Delta Theta; Ed Macaulay, '42, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and James Gettemy, '41, Alpha Chi Rho.

Judges for the contest will be Dr. Cavelti, Dr. Long, and Mr. Cares.

'Gators Meet Hiram Saturday

'GATORS BOW TO HAVERFORD IN 28-0 TILT

Swanson Out For Season As Derr And Beeler Star In Romp For Easterners

Allegheny's six game winning streak was brought to an abrupt end Saturday afternoon at the hands of Haverford by the score of 28-0.

The 'Gators lacked the spirit of last year's team which carried them to the top of the district football heap. Seriously handicapped by the absence of Bill Scarpitti, veteran tackle, the Blue and Gold suffered a second blow, early in the first quarter, when 'Battering Ram' Swanson was forced to retire because of an injured arm.

The first touchdown came early in the second half. The ball was on Allegheny's 41-yard line and Derr carried it for two short gains. On the next play, Derr carried the ball but the whistle blew just as he started. The 'Gator gridders stopped. The rival back, however, raced for the goal line and Haverford took the play for the touchdown.

The one and only earned score of the game came after a long march down the field. With Derr doing most of the toting, but ably assisted by his running mate Beeler, the ball was put into scoring position. After several tries Magitt finally crashed over with the second center.

The next score came as a result of a bad break. After covering a high long punt, Lemme set the ball down on Haverford's 36-yard line. Thinking the whistle had blown he walked away leaving Beeler free to scoop up the ball and race for the third score. Haverford again scored when Kent recovered a fumble in the end zone.

Beeler successfully converted each of his placements for extra points.

Haverford had the edge over Allegheny in first downs, 17-7, and in yardage gained from scrimmage, 282-120.

TECHS WILL SEEK REVENGE TRIUMPH OVER 'GATORS

Seeking to make it two straight over Carnegie Tech, Allegheny's booters journey to Pittsburgh Friday.

Defeated 1-0 last year, which was regarded as an upset in soccer circles, the Engineers will be seeking hot revenge against practically the same team that defeated them last year.

The recovery of Don Jones, captain and full back has further spurred Allegheny's hopes in finishing the rest of the season undefeated. Jones, suffering from the effects of an ankle broken last summer, played the entirety of last week's game with Slippery Rock and his educated toe will stop many a Tech offensive Friday.

After a week on fundamentals of offensive passing, the Allegheny front line of Caputo, Graft, Baldwin, George, and Ridenour will be better prepared to penetrate the Tartans' defense.

BIOLOGISTS HOLD BOUSSON PICNIC

Phi Beta Phi, honorary biology fraternity, recently opened its activities for the year with a pancake supper at Bousson farm.

Paul Johnston, '39, president of the organization, was in charge of the get-together, which, it is planned, will be an annual event.

Regular meetings will be held at Alden Hall on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays. Papers on biological problems will be presented, followed by group discussions.

CHEMISTRY CLUB BEGINS MEETINGS

Chemii, the local honorary chemistry fraternity, opened its second year with a meeting last night in Carnegie hall.

Mr. C. S. Hoyt, chemistry teacher at nearby Grove City college and president of the chemistry section at Erie College, spoke on "Petroleum."

This club was started last year for the benefit of chemistry majors. Dr. John E. Cavelti is faculty advisor. Harold Calbert, '39, Marion Ramsey, '40, and Walter Clemmons, '40, are the officers.

Programs planned for this year include, in addition to student speakers, visiting speakers and trips to local points of interest.

The Freshman tennis tournament is well under way with the result that the semi-finals should be played within the next week. The upper class schedule is considerably behind that of the Freshmen. Many of those listed in the first play-off have not been completed which will cause the finals to be held up if they are not played up to date—come on upper classmen—you can't let those Freshies get anything on you!

The archery tournament scheduled to start Monday will open under the fast flying arrows of Kappa vs. Theta. Each team which enters the tournament should have half the team participating. Six is to be the regulation number, but if any group wishes to enter any more it may do so. The scoring is to be so arranged that all teams will shoot the same number of arrows and all the scores will be added together for the final result.

A schedule has been posted on the bulletin board and anyone wishing to enter the mixed bowling tournament is to sign her name and the name of her partner. Come on everybody—let's get on the ball. Come on you gentlemen—choose your partner and roll on down.

At a recent meeting of the Boots and Saddle Club, it was decided that try-outs should be held at 3:30 Friday. Because of a Play Day at Grove City which has been arranged for the same afternoon, a second trial may have to be held at a later date, but all those wishing to take the test will get a chance. The club now consists of five members, namely: Shirley Baldwin, Jane Godard, Elizabeth Gotschall, Betty Rehtmeyer, and Francis Batchelor. The club with its new recruits will boast approximately ten or eleven members. Since the club is so small this year, no definite organizing has been done. Such steps will be taken after the new members have been accepted into the club.

Last week-end the Heelers left immediately after the game for a jaunt to the great wide open spaces. They arrived in fairly presentable condition at the cabin and proceeded to allay the pangs of hunger aroused by their exertion. Following the evening meal some cheery soul suggested a hike, and not to be outdone the rest agreed. Following the five mile hike a square dance was held under the stars to the tunes of Shu-Fly Don't Bother Me and Oh Susannah. The next morning the girls made the cabin presentable for the Tuesday evening's festivities and the boys cut a flag pole. Is there any doubt in anyone's mind as to whether the present heelers are an active enough group to make the Outing Club in the future? If so—speak now or forever hold your peace!!!

Touch Football

Favored by fair weather last week the touch football tournament progressed to the finals in both fights. Sigs and the Phi Deltas were matched in the winner's bracket while the Phi Gams and Phi Psi's were to meet for the chance to continue in the tournament.

The Sigs won the right to meet the Terracemen by virtue of a 12-6 win over the Chi Rhos. Featuring line plays the Sigs showed much improvement over their first game. On Thursday the Phi Gams unleashed a razzle dazzle attack which gained them a 12-0 verdict over Chi Rho. The closest game of the week was the Phi-Psi skirmish which was decided by the ancient sleeper play. After trying several of these passes the Phi Psis finally completed one to Burroughs for the only score of the game.

In hair-raising Frank Merriwell style, Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated Phi Delta Theta Monday afternoon, 12-6. After battling up to the last seconds in a 6-6 tie, the Sigs won on a flat pass followed by a lateral as the final whistle blew.

The first scoring came early as the Sigs completed a short pass to Koerner to score on the first series of downs. Shortly afterward Haberman intercepted a pass and behind fine blocking advanced to the goal line when he tossed to Welday for the score. From then on the ball see-sawed up and down the field while the Sigs used shovel passes with deadly effectiveness.

This game causes the Phi Deltas to meet the winner of the Phi Gam-Phi Psi game. The eventual winner of the tournament will be decided as the Sigs meet the survivor of these games.

Golf

In spite of the rapidly nearing deadline the golf tournament again went comparatively unnoticed. Alpha Chi Rho entered two men to become the only newcomers to the score sheet. The Phi Psis scores remained the same with only two men having entered second nine scores.

Of the cards turned in to date the Phi Psis boast the leaders in Burrough's 40 and Myer's 43. All others posted are much higher and indicate that a team score of 450 will be hard to beat. However, at the time of writing the possibilities of even this score are very slim.

Ping-Pong Tournament

A tournament under the auspices of the intramural council has been arranged, the completion of which depends upon the houses. The event will not count in the intramural competition but should result in finding the school champion. The plan as it now stands calls for the finalists of the individual house tournaments to meet in a college tournament held in the gym. This event should decide the comparative merit of the top men such as Baldwin, Hirschman, Topper, Thompson, and others.

SLIPPERY ROCK DEFEATS 'GATORS BY SLIM SCORE

Displaying tight defensive play, Slippery Rock State Teachers defeated the Allegheny soccer team, 2-1, on Montgomery Field last Friday.

Completely bottling Allegheny's offense, Slippery Rock's defense only weakened once when Allegheny passed the ball down to within 15 yards of the goal where Caputo, left wing, placed a kick past four defense men for the 'Gators' only score. Slippery Rock tied the score late in the first half when a free kick by Winnik was good.

Slippery Rock penetrated the Allegheny defense in the third quarter to score the winning goal. The visitors passed the ball the length of the field and a difficult kick by Bunney through the upper corner of the goal, just out of reach of Gratz, won the game.

The lineup:

SLIPPERY ROCK ALLEGHENY
G. Shannon Gratz
R.F. Fink Jones
L.F. Hunziker Cares
R.H. McElroy Appleyard
C.H. Winnik Hart
L.H. Schmitt Gatrall

J.L. Bunney George
L.W. Abram Caputo
Substitutions: Allegheny—White, Johnston, Way, Mallick. Slippery Rock—Goss, Harris, Weiner.
Referee—George Lumsen.

CLASSICAL CLUB MAKES PLANS

Members of Allegheny's Classical Club convened recently in their redecorated club rooms. Dr. William E. Tongue, Instructor and Club advisor introduced several new candidates for membership. Brief remarks were made by those introduced.

Chief item of business was the discussion of the presentation of a Greek play. Due to the success of Plautus' Menaechmi, presented last Spring, some consideration was given to presenting it again. A committee was also appointed to read other plays and present their findings to the club at the next meeting.

Possibility of presenting a chapel program was also discussed. No decision as to the type of program to be presented was made. Plans for a Halloween party, to be held the last of this month, were formulated. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Aiming for their second win of the season, Allegheny gridders meet Hiram Saturday at Warren, Ohio. In losing to Grove City, 15-13, the Ohio team showed much more power than the score indicated. A bad break in the first quarter was responsible for the difference between victory and defeat. Grove City's blocking of a punt gave the home team a safety, which proved the margin of victory.

In the second half, Hiram's offense started to click, with Bloom, Hiram's star halfback, doing the ball toting. It was Bloom who ran 60 yards for a touchdown, kicked the extra point and then with two minutes to play, crossed the line for the second Hiram score.

Hiram boasts a strong line and a backfield supplied with runningmates for Bloom who caused Allegheny no end of trouble last year. They do not lack spirit as shown by their comeback last week and unless the 'Gators play an improved brand of ball, they will be in for a busy afternoon.

Looking backward, however, we notice that last year Allegheny won three straight Homecoming games. Since this Saturday is Hiram's big day, the superstitions may be able to read the future a little brighter. Most fans will remember last year's Homecoming game and how Allegheny came from behind three times to win by scoring 21 points in the second half. It was Lavelly's educated toe that turned the trick in truly heroic style that topped off a real old fashioned Homecoming.

After Saturday's disastrous game Coach Lawrence virtually tore his line-up to bits in an effort to plug the highly noticeable holes left by Swanson, who will probably be out the remainder of the season due to a dislocated elbow, and Scarpitti. Major move was that of changing Bud Saylor, second string center, into a backfield man. Big, fast, and experienced, this boy may do well under fire, but it is possible that Coach Lawrence may bank on Roy Uhlinger, member of the "pony" backfield. Also in the plans for the game is stressed an improved blocking and tackling. This feature of last week's affair was outstanding in its ineffectiveness. Long hours and strenuous drill are being counted upon to remedy this and thus change the outlook for this coming Saturday.

McVEY DEFEATS GRATZ FOR TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Displaying remarkable forehead shots, Bob McVey defeated Art Gratz, 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, and 6-1, last Monday to capture the Annual Faculty Tournament.

McVey, captain of the varsity tennis squad, finally obtained the coveted title which he has been seeking for 3 years. Defeating Burrows, Blank, Boyer, in straight sets, McVey lost the second set but came back again with a terrific smashing forehead to win two straight sets and win the match. Time after time, Gratz, playing his usual steady game, broke thru McVey's defense but McVey's power was too much for him.

The Tournament participants included several varsity players, Topper, Boyer, and Rosen, and some promising freshman players, Caravacci, McKnight, Blank, and Burrows. Other entered were Loveday, R. D. McVey, Johnston, Blakely, Koerner, and Way.

fet luncheon will be held in Hulings for the alumni, and in the evening an All-College dance will be held in Cochran Hall.

Plans are being made for some kind of entertainment to take place between the halves of the game.

What with the full moon sending down his best beams upon the Allegheny student body, the only rivals to the brightness of the moon were the beaming smiles of the sorority girls as they returned to Hulings quiescence after their night of gaiety and frivolity, the week-end was made to order for dances and other social events.

Kappa Alpha Theta.

The Theta Kite cast its light over the dancers at the S.A.E. house Saturday evening and became fused with the mellow strains of the Town Club Orchestra. Adele Horner was social chairman in charge of the affair. Theta's guests were Dean Skinner, Mr. John Hulburt, Judith Kerr, Mary Jane Henry, Elvira Pfeffer, all of '38, Dorothy Henderson, '37, Hazel Dixon, '37, Ruth Wetherbee, ex-'40, and Mr. Robert Pratt.

Theta Upsilon.

Approximately twenty-five up and coming young Theta U's and their guests glided over floors at the Phi Delta house Saturday night, October 8 from nine to twelve o'clock. Benny Jones and his Orchestra supplied the rippling rhythm, thanks to Betty Lou McCurdy, Social Chairman. Everyone broke down and let their best "good time" nature shine through including Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Irwin, chaperones.

Alpha Xi Delta.

Under the Alpha Xi Delta's banner in all its regal glory the gay lassies of that sorority and their lads swayed to Bruce Fye and his Alleghenians Saturday night at the Phi house. Renalda Dunning as social chairman took care that everything ran smoothly as did the chaps, Mr. Seely, Dr. Rowlingson and their wives. The dance came to an end with the orchestra playing a special arrangement of "In the Old Garden of Alpha Xi Delta."

Alpha Xi Delta announces Affiliation Services held Monday, October 9, for Jane Wisenall of Alpha Mu Chapter, and Helen Gumm, Kappa, and the initiation of Ruth Shale on Friday, October 6.

Phi Delta Theta.

The Phi Deltas turned host to the Phi Psi's at a smoker held on Wednesday evening, October 5. The boys spent the evening playing cards, ping-pong, singing, and partaking of the inevitable refreshments.

Chester Welday, Melvin Babylon, David Manesiotis and Mr. John Hulburt were guests at Sunday dinner.

Phi Gamma Delta.

Fijiland was once again visited by Richard Jones, ex-'41, now a student at Slippery Rock State Teacher's College. Dr. and Mrs. Flint were also guests of the Phi Gamers over the week-end.

Delta Tau Delta.

Delta Tau Delta entertained Gordon Evert, twin brother of George Evert '41, over the week-end.

bachelor's degree. He pursued his graduate studies at Harvard.

Faculty Absences.

Members of the faculty absent this fall are Dr. S. S. Swartley and Dr. G. E. Buckingham.

Dr. Swartley, Professor of English, is on sabbatical leave. Residing in Tucson, Arizona, Dr. Swartley is both vacationing and studying. He plans to remain in Tucson the rest of his leave.

Doing post-doctorate work in the field of education, Dr. Buckingham is located in the Teacher's College, Columbia. He will return at the beginning of second semester.

Pursue Studies.

Seven months on European soil gave Dr. and Mrs. Kalfayan and family ample opportunity for leisurely visits to various countries.

Journeys to southern Italy, Holland, Belgium, and England and frequent trips to numerous French cities were made by the Kalfayans.

Most of their time, however, was spent in Paris where Dr. Kalfayan was a student at the Sorbonne.

When questioned as to the French attitude toward German aggression, Dr. Kalfayan replied,

"The French did not like to think of German aggression in Austria or Czechoslovakia, but found the prospect with a certain fatalistic attitude."

Poets to Appear.

A presentation by two brilliant leaders in the field of poetry—Audrey Wurdemann and Joseph Auslander—is featured for the evening of January 11. The former is the Pulitzer prize winner of 1934; the latter has been the recipient of more prizes than any other poet.

Julien Bryan, roving reporter-photographer for the March of Time will on February 14 present his illustrated lecture on revolutionary social changes throughout the world.

The last scheduled program on March 2 will be given by Miss Engel Lund, a native of Iceland. Miss Lund interprets folksongs in more than a dozen languages.

A large crowd attended the concert presented last Thursday by Bohumir Kryl and his Symphony orchestra. Featured on the program were the following soloists: Dorothy Dickerson, coloratura soprano; Barbara Le Brun, harpist; Florian Zebach, violinist; and Burtis Preston, baritone.

wheeling and grumbling away in great shape. Particularly going up hill. You soon get used to this, and should learn to disregard it.

Our Feathered Friends.

Another thing which is most annoying is the tendency of horse flies to mistake their habitat, so to speak. Every so often one of them gets on you instead of the horse, and gives a tremendous bite. This has been known to participate fatal accidents. A good plan is to carry a fly swat. The only difficulty with this is that swatting a fly may scare the horse and put all three of you in the ditch.

The greatest pleasure in riding, however, is the way it makes you content with life on terra firma. You never appreciate walking calmly in one direction at a time, or sitting down without rocking in seven directions, until you get off a horse. But it does give you exercise. And how!

"It was not these resolutions that were the most important thing accomplished but the fact that there was a conference where world youth could fraternize and advance the use of the conference method of settling disputes and problems. Understanding brings logic and peace," concluded Mr. Wright.
