KELLERMAN RECITAL TO BE GIVEN IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Concert Under Direction of the Alliance Francaise by Prominent Baritone.

This evening in Ford Memorial Chapel, Marcus Kellerman, one of the foremost concert singers of the day, will appear in a recital under the direction of Le Petit Salon. In addition to Mr. Kellerman, August Palma, a violinist of prominence in this city, will play several numbers. Miss Charlotte Marhoffer, ex-'12, and Prof. Malcolm Deewy of the German Department, will be the accompanists. It is not probable that another set of musicians as these will appear at any time during the year in this city.

During the past summer Mr. Kellerman was engaged at Chautauqua, New York, as one of the soloists in connection with the choir and persons who heard him there say that he fully deserves the high reputation which he holds. Of him, the New York Tribune says: "Mr. Kellerman's voice is one of great beauty and has an especial merit of vital resonance. His art is most admirable."

Mr. Palma, the violinist, is as yet not well known in Meadville, having moved here but recently. He has spent considerable time in study in Leipsig and Berlin under some of the famous teachers of his native country, the most noted being Joachim. His ability as a musician is rare; one of the pieces which he plays is of his own composition.

A large list of patrons and patronesses has been secured by the club for the recital, including many of the most prominent music lovers in Meadville. Following the recital, a reception will be given in the Phi Gamma Delta house in honor of Mr. Kellerman by the town members of the Alliance Francaise.

The list of patrons and patronesses follows in alphabetical order:

Prof. and Mrs. Oscar P. Akers, Misses Josette and Margaret Beebe, Prof. G. A. and Mrs. G. L. Benjamin, Miss A. Rosalie Bork, Prof. and Mrs. C. R. Bowen, Prof. R. S. Breed, Mr. and Mrs. Manley O. BOSTON ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

The Allegheny Alumni Association of Boston held the first meeting of the year, Monday evening, November 13, in Perkins Hall, Harvard University, in the rooms of George E. Akerson, ex-'12, and I. B. Gorham, ex-'12. The early part of the evening was spent in exchanging college news and eagerly reading the last issue of The Campus. After an enthusiastic college sing and refreshments, Harvard was given an opportunity of hearing a real "Alleghereu." Those present were J. R. Crawford, '06, R. B. Callahan, '08, P. B. Shaffner, '09, J. R. Keister, '09, H. R. Harper, '10, S. L. Maxwell, '10, W. L. Morgan, '10, J. W. Barkley, '11, I. R. Stidger, '11, P M. Hillman, '11, George E. Akerson, ex-'12, and I. B. Gorham, ex-'12.

GROVE CITY DEFEATS ALLEGHENY 14 TO 3

Hawk's Team Defeated Last Saturday by Strong Team.

Allegheny met defeat at the hands of Grove City last Saturday on the latter's field by a score of 14-3. The team was in poor shape for the game and the fact that under these conditions they did not gain the final decision was not through any fault of theirs. Odds were against them from the first and although several regulars were injured to the extent that they had to be taken from the game, not one of the players gave up their fighting spirit until the final whistle blew.

The result of the game will be carried before the annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Intercollegiate League in the spring, since Grove City violated in several ways the rules laid down by that body. Coach Stewart carried in his pocket the batting averages of both Boone and Marks while playing with the Huntington Baseball Team, a fact which alone bars any player. Veach, a sub-Freshman, was also played under protest although his name was purposely omitted from any mention in the Pittsburg papers.

The game was full of snappy playing throughout on the part of both teams and the game was by no means "sewed up" at any time. Allegheny led off the scoring in the first quarter with a field goal from the 40 yard line by Miller and it was not until near the end of the quarter that Grove City chased the ball over the goal line for the first touchdown. Again in the third quarter, the ball was carried to Grove City's 4 yard line but a decision of the referee gave the ball to the opponents on a fumble although recovered by Allegheny. Grove City used the forward pass for long gains at several stages of the game and made consistent charges through the line.

The Beginning.

Grove City kicked off first to Allegheny. Hawk received the kick and advanced it to the center of the field before he was downed. On the first play Lavely broke away for a thirty yard run but was called back on account of a penalty for off-side. The ball was soon brought to within striking distance and Miller booted it over the goal for the first three points. A series of forward passes and end runs by Grove City advanced the ball then to the vicinity of Allegheny's goal and Acher was sent across for the first touchdown. About the close of the quarter, Archer made a place, kick the score of the period ending 9-3.

Second Quarter.

The second quarter was played almost entirely in Grove City's territory. Allegheny successfully hit the line for long gains; and long punts were made by the booters of both sides. Allegheny lost a good opportunity to score and the half ended without any change.

Second Half.

Soon after the beginning of the second half, the ball was brought to Grove City's 10 yard line and Bill Dotterrer was given the signal to take it over. The distance was made satisfactorily but a fumble occurred after which Abbott recovered the ball. The referee, however, gave the ball to Grove City since he had not seen it hit any Grove City player.

Last Period.

In the last quarter after Miller had been put out of the game by a kick on the head, Grove City played the better game but was hindered from scoring until the very end of the period. For Allegheny, Hawk and C. Dotterrer starred, the former by his ability to dodge the opponents when running with the ball and the latter by tackling and breaking through interference. Longfellow and Thomas also showed well in this respect. Marks and Veach did the best playing for Grove City.

INTIMATION OF A NEW COACH.

The following clipping from the Alliance Daily Review of Wednesday, November 8, intimating that George O'Brien, until recently the coach of Salem, O., High School, has been offered the position of coach at Allegheny is seen with much surprise; since Coach Stewart has not resigned, and especially since it is not known who offered the position to O'Brien. The success which Coach Stewart has had with the local teams has made him very popular with the student body and popular sentiment is decidedly in favor of having him remain at Allegheny. The clipping follows:

"Ccach O'Brien has been released by the Salem High School, owing to lack of funds. The following is from the Salem News:

"'On account of a shortage of finances in the treasury of the high school athletic association, the football team is forced to allow Coach George O'Brien to go. The boys are going to try to get business men and others interested, so they can raise enough money to keep the coach the remainder of the season.

"'Coach O'Brien returned to his home in Alliance Monday evening. He will be back to witness next Saturday's game and if a sufficient sum can be raised in the meantime to pay him for his services he will have charge of the team until the end of the season, otherwise it is likely that he will accept the offer to coach the Allegheny College squad.'"

O'Brien will be remembered as the star on the Mt. Union team three years ago when Allegheny was defeated on Montgomery Field by the score of 8-6. After the game had apparently been won by Allegheny, O'Brien kicked two field goals, thus winning the game for the Alliance team.

PROF. DUTTON HAS SERIOUS ATTACK OF HEART TROUBLE

Has Sudden Attack of Heart Failure and Is In a Critical Condition.

On last Thursday afternoon at about five o'clock, Prof. William T. Dutton, head of the department of Mathematics and Civil Engineering, was severely stricken with heart trouble while walking with a company of students in front of Cochran Hall. He was at once taken inside the Hall, where he was made comfortable until a physician arrived. He was then removed to his home on Locust street, where he has been confined ever since. Reports from the residence yesterday were to the effect that he seems to be improving slowly, although he is still in a dangerous condition.

The following is taken from the Meadville Tribune-Republican:

Prof. Dutton had just left the chemical laboratory on North Main street in company with several students, when he complained of not feeling well. When the party reached Cochran Hall his face was white, and he told the students that he could not proceed farther. He was assisted into Cochran Hall, made as comfortable as could be and a physician hurriedly summoned, who pronounced the trouble as coming from the heart. After receiving medical aid at the Hall, he recovered sufficiently to be removed to his residence on Locust street, where, in spite of all that could be done, he continued in severe pain Thursday evening and was hardly able to talk, saying but a few words.

Prof. Dutton is about 70 years of age and has been active in the civic life of Meadville, being a member of the Common Council for nearly two years, and just recently elected as a member of the School Board. He is at the head of the department of Mathematics and Civil Engineering at Allegheny College, and during President W. H. Crawford's absence he acted as president, two years ago. He is also the consulting engineer for the present Board of County Commissioners, and one of the most popular instructors in Allegheny College.

He is popular in the city as well as among the college students, and it is hoped by his host of friends that he will rally from the attack and be around as usual very soon.

Singers Chosen

Personnel of Glee and Mandolin Clubs Decided Upon by Director

After a long series of try-outs, covering a period of over a month, the personnel of the Glee Club has finally been chosen. Professor Harry Manville, of the Pennsylvania College of Music, and Leader R. B. Litten experienced some difficulty in choosing the club, because of the large amount of material. The Freshman class was found to contain an unusually large number of talented singers.

The personnel of the clubs will be as follows:

Soloist—J. A. M. Stewart.

Accompanist—W. H. Fegely.

First Tenor—Litten, Maxwell, Mosier, Sherman, McWhorter and Hammon.

Second Tenor—Weidle, Wells, Parmenter, Deutsch, Downing and Morrow.

First Bass—Angus, T. Thoburn, Herpel, T. Smith, Davidson and Koehler.

Second Bass—Gordon, Callahan, Graham, Eckles, Mathay and Palmer.

Mandolin Club—Nichols, Maxwell, C. C. Miller, Sherman, C. S. Smith, Gordon, R. Thomas, Graham, McClelland, Amon, Nodine and Witherup.

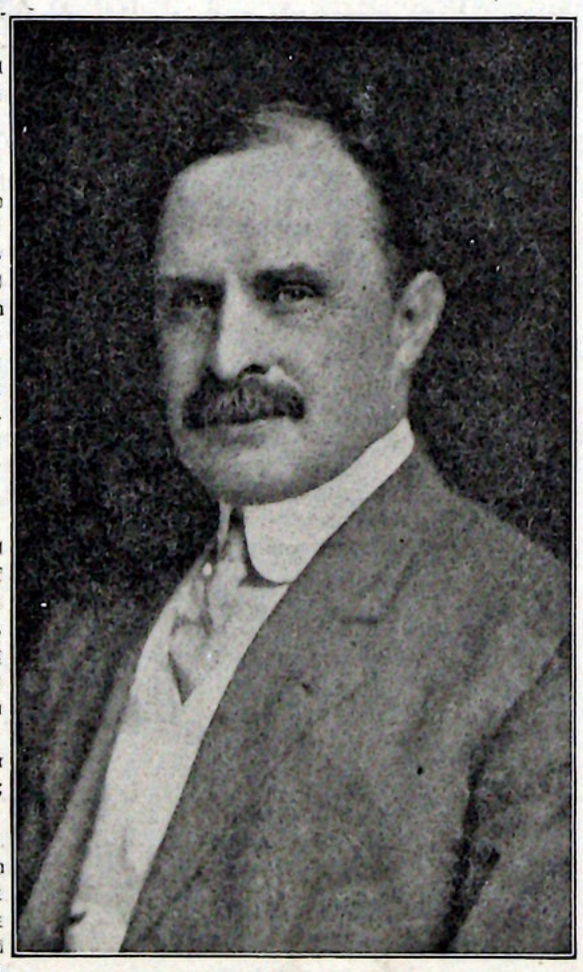

Manager's Talk

The managers of the four college publications have considered for some time a movement to turn more college trade toward the town merchants who patronize the college papers. While no plan has been suggested it seems that students would realize themselves the need of this and deal at such places. The manager is preparing a list of advertisers for convenience of buyers and will publish it within the next few weeks. In the meantime, look over these columns and buy from the "best" town merchants.

Dr. Chas. M. Stuart Preaches Second Sermon

On last Sunday afternoon Dr. Chas. M. Stuart of Chicago, one of the best known ministers in the Methodist church, delivered the second of the series of monthly college sermons that are being given this year in the Chapel. The reputation gained by Dr. Stuart in his series of lectures here last year on Journalism was responsible for the large audience which greeted him, while the delegates to the Student Volunteer Convention, in session at that time, added a large number.

In beginning Dr. Stuart said that Dr. Lockwood had told him of his speech before the students a few days before announcing the sermon and saying that the speaker neither looked like a preacher talked like a preacher, nor acted like a preacher; from which statement Dr Stuart inferred that Dr Lockwood had reasoned on the theory that all people are divided into three classes: men, women and preachers. Then proceeding without a text, Dr. Stuart announced his subject as "What is Religion." After an introduction, he brought out the point that religion was not a set or code of creeds or dogmas, as some people think. Religion, however, is nothing more or less than personal contact with Jesus. It is necessary not only to walk where he might be but to walk with him. By numerous illustrations from the Bible and from life, Dr. Stuart emphasized the fact that three things which will be included in the experience of every human being are doubt, sorrow and temptation.

DR. CHARLES M. STUART.

Dr. Stuart's attractive manner of speaking was well displayed in the sermon. With his characteristic style he carried the audience to the various important points of his discourse. His charming personality and forceful expression are two factors that have made him a great favorite not only at Allegheny but with students in general, and factors which will insure his success as president of Garrett Biblical Institute.

The Spirit of "Get-Togethers."

The "get-together" which was held by the men of the student body in the lounging room of Cochran Hall about two weeks ago was of such success that it has created the wish that such gatherings be made a permanent institution at Allegheny. And yet it seems that this permanence should in a sense be limited. The vitality and success of meetings of this sort is in their utter spontaneity, disorganization and extemporanecusness, as well as in their whole-hearted sincerity and genuine good will. The fact that these meetings are arranged without much forethought or plan is calculated to improve them as a means of creating better college spirit. Let the "get-togethers" be held with sufficient frequency to keep the student body bound together as a united whole; let them always be arranged without much forewarning and planning; let them continually be the means of cultivating and promoting the highest and best kind of Allegheny spirit.

SUCCESSFUL STUDENT CONVENTION.

The second annual conference of the Western Pennsylvania Association of Student Volunteers for Foreign Missions was held under the direction of the local Band on November 10, 11 and 12, with the final address on Sunday evening by Rev. F. P. Turner, general secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. There was a large attendance of delegates at all the meetings and much enthusiasm was aroused for foreign mission work.

The addresses and talks of the conference were numerous and only mention of the more important topics can be given. At the first session on Friday evening addresses were given by Dr. W. I. King of Deleware, O., a missionary to India; and by Mrs. Alice McClure of New Wilmington, Pa. Dr. King told much about the present conditions in India and of the habits and customs of the people. He said that the work of Christianity is moving steadily forward in this field but that more missionaries of various occupations are needed in the work.

Mrs. McClure spoke on "Christ's Claims," saying that great issues are before the Christians of today, and that each one should make the most of life wherever it is spent. Christ has his best gifts for his followers and always gives more than is given Him. In India, hundreds of natives could be converted if there were missionaries to convert them.

Mrs. McClure spoke also on Saturday morning on "Winning Girls in India." Rev. T. H. Candor, a missionary of several years in Columbia, S. A., described this new field of foreign mission work and related a number of personal experiences.

Fortunately, the regular date of the second of the series of sermons being given monthly at the chapel, coincided with the date of the conference and delegates to the convention were given an opportunity of listening to a most interesting sermon given by Dr. Charles M. Stuart of Chicago on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. F. P. Turner on Sunday evening made a very effective address, appealing to the students for volunteers in the work. At this meeting several Student Volunteers told why they had decided to become missionaries.

The Adventurer

As the Adventurer was sitting in the crowded street car with his eyes fixed steadily on a hideously colored advertisement, he suddenly discovered that he was not thinking of the advertisement at all, but—subject of all subjects at such a time and place—of sermons. He had recently heard two sermons, each unusual and yet each widely different from the other. Both had been interesting, both had been scolarly. But the one had left him in a state of amusement, rather than anything else; while the other had left him in a religious frame of mind—if the term 'religious' is sufficiently understood to be used in such a sense. He had been interested in the former sermon much as he would have been interested in a curiosity, and not for the message it had brought, not for the teaching it had carried or for the lesson it had expounded. The one preacher dwelt at great length upon two books, two modern works of a living writer, giving reviews of them without the excuse or apology used by some preachers—for which sincerity and frankness he must be given credit. It is true that this particular writer was in the habit of writing on religious subjects, that is, subjects dealing with beliefs in religion and having characters and settings of a clergical tone; and these particular books were in this customary vein. After the preacher had thoroughly told the stories, he spent a few minutes—a very short time in comparison to the rest of his discourse—in pointing out the moral of it all, which moral as nearly as the Adventurer can remember, was not of very great importance.

The second preacher rambled somewhat and told a number of stories and produced several laughs. But his discourse, as a whole, was logical and well connected, his stories were good illustrations, and the laughs he produced were the results of good moral jokes. At all times he had perfect control of his audience and succeeded in bringing to them vital truths of human experience which taught the commonplace and everyday importance of being good. And it was in this frame of mind that the Adventurer found himself at the end of the second sermon. Since then he has thought somewhat of sermons and more of preachers; for the thing which makes a sermon, or any talk, or any thing, is the man behind it. But sermons, he believes, should be first of all moral, or righteous in tone; that is, they should make the listeners go away with a new determination to live better lives, to be better men and women.

Shakespeare

Discussed in Original Manner at Last Meeting of Quill Club.

The regular monthly meeting of the Quill Club on Monday evening under the leadership of Miss Ruth Dorworth and W. F. Maxwell, was given over to a discussion of Shakespeare and his wroks. Papers on his life and his works in their several varieties, were taken up by the speakers. Beginning with the prologue and taking up act I, an interlude, act II and the epilogue, the whole program tended towards the Shakespearean idea—and offered a diversity of material for one of the best programs that has featured the club for some time.

Before the beginning of the literary program, the four new members, Miss Jane Lockwood, J. R. MacGowan, Miss Jeanette Robinson and B. B. Breckenridge, were formally received into the club. This ceremony was accompanied by a speech from Dr. Lockwood which cleverly and wittily outlined the duties and obligations, serious and otherwise, which devolve upon members of the "literary artistocracy" of Allegheny.

The first paper, the prologue, by Miss Ethel Bayard, dwelt upon the early life and works of the great poet and described his home and first attempt at literary effort. Miss Spalding, being called upon for act I, was introduced as "Enter Fun and Frolic." After a short talk on the place of comedy in Shakespeare, she gave several readings, one of the best of which was the proposal of Henry the Fifth to Katherine.

The main paper of the evening by W. F. Maxwell, was one of the best that have been read before the club for a number of meetings. Naming the setting as the lower world, he read a poem representing a conversation between Shakespeare and Bacon decrying the distastes of the present day for their old productions. It was cleverly written and a number of the words and phrases were quotations from the two early authors.

Tragedy, and particularly that used by Shakespeare, was defined by A. C. Nodine in his paper, he taking up the real meaning and mission of that phase of literature. Miss Ruth Dorworth then, in the epilogue, summarized the whole thought of the works of Shakespeare. After the reading of the papers, the meeting was thrown open for discussion while a lunch was being served.

The Freshmen and Sophomores will again engage in combat on next Monday morning, when the teams representing the two classes will meet in their annual football contest. The Sophomores have had some difficulty in forming a good team, since many of their last year stars are now ineligible. Captain Nicholls, however, has been hard at work during the past week and expects his eleven to show unusual strength. As is sometimes the case, the large amount of material has hampered rather than aided the Freshmen. Several former high school and academy players, however, will undoubtedly find places on the team of the Centennial class. Captain Ricker is confident of the outcome, believing that the Sophomores will be unable to stop his speedy back-field. It has been rumored that a large attendance of non-combatants will be present to encourage their friends. Of course the class of 1914 will have some advantage in the rooting both from their experience and from the fact that they are allowed to wear their colors while their opponents are not. The Freshmen, however, expect easily to overcome these conditions by their many rooters.

The lineup will be as follows:

Sophomores		Freshmen

It was decided to hold the meetings regularly on Friday evening, instead of on Thursday afternoon as was the former practice.

MEETING OF THE ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

The Alliance Francaise held its regular Monthly meeting in the Library last Monday afternoon, at which many members, townspeople as well as students, were present. A brief summary of current events in France was given by Miss Grace Prenatt, '12, while Miss Marguerite Swanson, '15, recited very expressively "L'Exile," by Chateaubriand, and several gave quotations or amusing anecdotes in French. The paper of the afternoon was read by Miss Josette Beeble, '08; it treated of student life in Switzerland in a very interesting manner. Announcement was made of coming meetings at which several distinguished speakers will address the organization.

MISS JOSETTE BEEBE, '08, LEADS MISSION STUDY.

One of the most interesting Mission Study Classes of the series was held last Thursday evening in the Oratory under the leadership of Miss Josette Beebe. On account of Miss Beebe's close connection with China, she was able to present many things of interest to the class. She told how the Chinese youth after marriage still remained in his father's home in order to keep up ancestral worship. The father has the complete control of his family even over his sons after marriage. The women have no voice in matters except in cases where the husband has more than one wife. Then the first wife has control over the other wives. Clans play an important part in families. The Chinese formerly devoted their time for educational purposes to the study of classics such as Confucianism. Up until five years ago, examinations were held every three years on the classics. These examinations lasted for nine days. The person being examined was given a list of questions which took him three days to answer. Then he was given one day to rest, after which he must answer another list and so on until he had spent nine days on the examinations. He must pass these before he could hold any office. Sometimes the person became so discouraged over the examinations that he would commit suicide.

MRS. PORTER PLAYS.

GLOVES That SET THE PACE
FOR THE COLLEGE FELLOW AND COLLEGE GIRL
AT ELDRED'S

True economy in glove-buying begins and ends with getting GOOD gloves. The style and fit of FOWNES GLOVES need not be emphasized. But that quality of material and workmanship which makes the Fownes glove preeminent in appearance, makes it the most durable and economical as well.

The world is our leather market; one hundred and thirty years of experience is our guide; the result is quality —and again quality.

LETTERS

NEWS FROM J. FRANK SAYRE.

J. Frank Sayre, '11, who is now the professor of physics in the Massena, N. Y. High School, has written an interesting letter in which he tells of some of his experiences and impressions among the Thousand Islands. Several extracts are quoted:

"If you are looking for a good pleasure trip, I recommend the Thousand Islands. On my trip up, I spent a day at Niagara Falls—to deepen the impressions of my first trip there, and to brighten up my initials carved on a young birch down close to the spray. Then I went by boat the length of Lake Ontario. That evening I had the unusual pleasure of seeing the sun reddening the western waves, while the pale moon silvered the ripples away in the south-east, and a low-lying storm in the north tried to dim them both by its momentary ashes.

"The beauty of the Isles—1693 in all, I was informed—I'll not attempt to tell you; come and see them for yourself. Then when you emerge from their leafy embrace, go down the rapids, if you wish a speedy transformation from the calm inland archipelago to a roaring cascade which Massena enterprises are trying to harness. We are just two miles from the Long Sault here. That is the most beautiful of all the rapids and Pittsburg capital invested here hopes to dam it.

"My pair of snow shoes is in one corner, so you see what kind of weather we expect here. We have a champion football team here, though Massena is the smallest town in the league. Our championship game yesterday at Canton was a warmly contested one. That red lights and fireworks are no scarcity even on the upper St. Lawrence was amply shown when we reached home.

"I am watching our team and other activities through The Campus.

Yours sincerely,
J. FRANK SAYRE."

Holeproof Hose

What Our Six Months' Guarantee Really Means

Holeproof Hosiery is guaranteed to be as free from holes at the end of six months as it is the day you buy it. We give you this guarantee in writing so if any holes appear in six months you receive new hosiery free of charge.

Common hosiery has no such guarantee. It costs you just as much as "Holeproof," but at the end of six months it is worthless. You spend hours darning it when for no extra expense you can have "Holeproof" and do no mending. Why not have the best?

FAMOUS Holeproof Hosiery FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Insist on seeing the original Holeproof trade-mark. Many have imitated the guarantee but none have equaled the quality.

The makers pay 63 cents a pound for Egyptian and Sea Island cotton, but common hosiery is made from cotton at 12 cents a pound.

"Holeproof" uses 3-ply yarn in the body and 6-ply in the heels, toes and knees. Ordinary hosiery uses 2-ply throughout, yet costs you just as much as "Holeproof."

Stop in at our store and examine the hose. See how stylish and comfortable it is —soft, smooth and neat fitting. Learn the facts today.

DR. COBERN LEADS UNION MEETING.

Following a wish of President Crawford that the union meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. be held on Wednesday after the presentation of the monthly college sermon, the regular joint meeting of the two associations was held on Wednesday evening under the leadership of Dr. Cobern. He took for a lesson the incident of Christ with the fishermen where they were told to cast their nets in the sea, giving also the various associations in the connecting verses of Christ with his disciples; from these he drew many practical illustrations for present day life. In developing the topic he said:

"Many people are greatly mistaken when they think that religion is not a business, for it is one of the greatest businesses of the day. A man is being religious when he is making use of the talents which God has given him. His aims and activities show whether he is religious and to what degree. He seldom comes to the person who gets off by himself instead of going about his business. Jesus expects everyone to do his duty and He depends on them to help Him in His great work of evangelizing the world."

Dr. Cobern then told of Simon Peter and his effort to make himself the favored disciple and said in part: "There are some Simon Peters alive today. They are those who talk about people, sometimes the truth and again the untruth. It is a bad thing to talk about people. Some people think they are called of God to criticize their neighbors but if He had intended them for that they would have been especially designated for that purpose. God's words are seeds which will bring beautiful fruitage in the future, while bad words will surely hurt us.

One of the faculty members at Miami University is to write for the "Miami Student" occasionally, under the title of "Professor Sunnysides."

PLAY BEING CONSIDERED.

At a meeting of Duzer Du, held on last Thursday afternoon, the question of the choice of a play for this year was again discussed. It has not yet been definitely decided whether the club will present a modern or a Shakespearean play. Among the dramas which are being considered are, "Much Ado About Nothing" and "The Comedy of Erors," by Shakespeare; "David Garrick," by Robertson; "The Devil's Disciple," by Bernard Shaw; "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," by Beaumont and Fletcher; and "Mother," by Percy Mackaye.

CELEBRATED LONDON PREACHER HERE SOON

An unusual treat for the Meadville public will be the addresses which are to be made either in the Unitarian Parish House or the Unitarian church on Monday and Tuesday evenings, November 27 and 28, by the Rev. Reginald J. Campbell, of London. He is being brought to Meadville by the Unitarian church and will speak at least twice, on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Rev. Mr. Campbell is one of the most celebrated ministers of England, having recently become especially prominent through his strong alliance with the Liberalists, which position has made him unpopular with the orthodox clergy. He is at present the editor of The Christian Commonwealth and is the minister at the City Chapel, London.

Dr. F. C. Lockwood heard Rev. Mr. Campbell preach in London during his recent trip abroad and was very much impressed with him.

GREEK EDUCATION.

The regular meeting of the Classical Club, which was held in the Library on last Tuesday evening, was of unusual interest. All members present responded to the roll with a Greek or Latin quotation. After the election of G. J. Algier as chairman, a fine series of papers on the subject of "Greek Education" were heard. H. B. Storer told of the infancy and childhood of the ancient Greeks ith an amusing and instructive description of the toys and games which amused the children of that time. Then followed a discussion of the early training and the studies which were taught in the schools. This topics was handled in an interesting style by C. V. Sparling. The last paper, "Physical Training," was read and explained by J. D. Van Horn. He compared the ancient Greek games with those of the modern Olympic contests.

The following new members were elected: Miss Rowley, (associate member), Miss Barbara Deane, '12, Miss Margaret Megirt, '12, and Miss Celia Shires, '12, and Miss Ruth Dorworth. At the next meeting of the club "Roman Education" will be discussed.

Hereafter at Michigan no summer practice is to be allowed by the football men as a body.

Team at W. V. U.

Hard Game With West Virginia at Morgantown Today.

The Allegheny eleven will play one of the hardest games of the schedule this afternoon when they meet the strong University of West Virginia team at Morgantown, W. Va. The results of the last few games which the West Virginians have played, plainly show that they have an unusually fast team. In a recent game with W. & J., the Morgantown eleven succeeded in defeating their heavy opponents by a 6-5 score. In speaking of this game, Coach Leuder, of West Virginia University said, "Our line played the best that any West Virginia line has ever played on this field."

The heavy snow of the past week has somewhat hampered the practice of the Allegheny team and may be the indirect cause of a poor showing. In addition to this loss of practice the team has been still further weakened by another injury to Erb's ankle. It also seems impossible for Townsend to play, as he has strained several muscles in his side. His position, hoewver, has been well filled by both Longfellow and Pierson, who played in the Grove City game of last Saturday. The long trip to Morgantown will also be a great disadvantage to Allegheny, both in that it will weaken the team and also make it impossible to carry many extra men, because of the heavy expense.

Judging from the line-ups which the two teams used in their last games, the following men will probably be on the rival teams:

Allegheny		W. Virginia.

Y. W. C. A. BAZAAR.

The Y. W. C. A. girls are busy with plans for the annual bazaar to be held in Hulings Hall December 16. The different committees have been appointed and are planning to make the affair as attractive and profitable as possible. A great variety of articles will be on sale, including candy, baked goods, fancy work and leather novelties. The bazaar will afford a good opportunity for the college students to purchase their Christmas gifts.

Thoughts and Afterthoughts

In some cases it requires more manhood to keep still than to fight.

"In even the darkest hour there are only sixty minutes."

—o—

In speaking of the recent inauguration of Dr. George E. Vincent as president of the University of Minnesota, the New York Christian Advocate quotes a correspondent saying: "Many famous men were there, but among them all President Vincent is easily the leader in wit, scholarship and eloquence." It is said that in a critical moment of Dr. Vincent's life, his father, the venerable Bishop Vincent, said to him: "My son, always remember whose son you are." Then when Dr. Vincent, who by the way, is president of the Chautauqua Institution, accepted the presidency of Minnesota, he is said to have written his father: "Remember whose father you are."

"Dear Clara," wrote the young man, "pardon me, but I'm getting so forgetful. I proposed to you last night, but really forgot whether you said 'yes' or 'no'."

"Dear Will," she replied by note, "so glad to hear from you. I know I said 'no' to someone last night, but I had really forgotten who it was."—Ex.
