My dear Miss Tarbell:-

Not that you are "growing old", for if anybody was ever "80 years young", you are that person, but just because I received the enclosed this morning, and like the second verse so much, and think you will too, I pass it along.

I do not know whether you ever met, or even read, Dr. Henry Nehemiah Dodge. His book of poems "Christus Victor" impressed me so some years ago that I read the page dealing with insects, birds, animals, over the air.

He heard of it, and we began a correspondence that lasted up to the time of his passing, as his daughter said "radiantly, peacefully, lovingly, his spirit took its flight to his Father's Home." I count my visit to Dr. Dodge one of the privileges of a life-time.

Speaking of "growing old," in digging through the family archives of my father's family, I ran across "Ann Orr, who died when only 97." Disgraced the family she did.

I must get to work. Looking after 20,000,000 dogs is quite a job.

Faithfully yours,

Daisy Orr Miller
