Dear Mr. Mathews:

Thank you for the Lincoln story which I found after I returned from our delightful lunch in your new and delightful home. I am glad to have what Mr. Nolson sends.

I rather think that it is a variation, new to me, of an episode in the war where Lincoln did expose himself on a rather flimsy fortification -- but I am not at all sure. There is no reason why there should not have been two such episodes. It would have been like the man. I am thanking Mr. Nolson.

Hoping to have a chance to see you and Mrs. Mathews before I leave, which will be about the 4th of April, believe me

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. William R. Mathews
