DEBATING SEASON CLOSED WITH WIN OVER STATE

VICTORY ONLY ONE OF FIVE CONTESTS DURING YEAR—THREE JUDGE SYSTEM USED

Allegheny completed her 1926 debating by accomplishing the unexpected, when Penn State was defeated by the affirmative team, by a two-one decision, last Thursday evening, March 18, in Ford Chapel. The question debated was: "Resolved, That the Federal Government should control and operate the coal mines of the United States."

The arguments of each side were very good and were presented with especially fine oratory. Allegheny won its case with the following points:

1. Dangerous evils existing under present private operation demand correction.
2. Government control and operation provide needed remedy for these particular evils.
3. Government operation is both practical and effective and is the only plan which will accomplish the desired results.

Penn State upheld the negative with the following points:

1. Government control and operation is economically and politically impossible.
3. Government operation is undesirable and would lead to stagnation in the industry.

DRAMATISTS PLAY CAST PRACTICES REGULARLY

TICKETS TO GO ON SALE AFTER EASTER—SCHEDULE OF REHEARSALS PUBLISHED

Miss Alice H. Spalding is working consistently with the cast of "The Goose Hangs High," the Dramatic Club play, which is to be presented in the local High School Auditorium on Thursday evening, April 29. Plans are also being made to give a matinee to the high school students on the afternoon of April 28.

At the close of last week the entire first two acts had been thoroughly covered by the cast. Work was then immediately begun on the third act in order that the first scenes might be fairly well known before the spring recess brings a temporary cessation in practice.

At a meeting of the producers staff, which was held last week at Miss Spalding's apartments, the specific duties of each department were outlined. Arrangements were also made whereby each manager would have all assigned work finished before the final rehearsal.

Plans are now being made to place the tickets of the play on sale immediately after the close of the Easter recess. The price of seats will be 75 cents and $1.

The attention of the cast is called to the following schedule of rehearsals:

Wednesday, March 24, 1:30 and 7:30.
Thursday, March 25, 1:30.
Tuesday, April 6, 1:30.
Wednesday, April 7, 1:30 and 7:30.
Thursday, April 8, 1:30.
Friday, April 9, 1:30.

SENIORS DECIDE ON MAY 1 AS DATE FOR ANNUAL HOP

The committee in charge of the Senior Hop, the date of which is Saturday, May 1, has been unable to select a suitable place for the dance. An orchestra of unquestionable merit will be secured for the occasion.

Due to the scarcity of desirable dance halls in Meadville, considerable difficulty is being experienced by those in charge in deciding upon a place to hold the Hop. If nothing better can be found, the local Armory will again be called into use.

The Hop will be informal, a change from the policy of last year's committee. A larger sale of tickets is anticipated for the informal dance, hence those in charge will be able to arrange for better music. ¼

The committee in charge of the 1926 Senior Hop is composed of Karl Riemer, chairman; Charles C. Wolz, R. K. Evans, James V. Hanlon, Mary L. Murphy, Marian Whieldon and Mary Alice Jackson.

A CORRECTION

Through an error in the date of the visit of the class in Art Appreciation to Pittsburgh was incorrectly given in The Campus of last week. The class will spend Monday afternoon, Tuesday, and Wednesday forenoon, March 29, 30 and 31, in the art collections of the Carnegie Institute.

DR. BEEBE TO ARRIVE IN MEADVILLE APRIL 5

Students of Allegheny College will be given their first opportunity to meet the new president of Allegheny College, Dr. James Beebe, when they return from the spring recess, on April 6. The new president is scheduled to arrive in Meadville on Monday, April 5, and will be present at Chapel, Tuesday. Since the College has been so long without a definitely-elected president, the students and the people of Meadville are looking forward to the arrival of the new head.

No definite arrangements have been made for his coming to Allegheny, as the new president, at this date. He will not be formally inaugurated until Saturday, June 12, when he will take the oath of office.

SPRING RECESS BEGINS AT NOON FRIDAY, MAR. 26

Friday, March 26, marks the opening of the annual ten-day Spring Recess at Allegheny College. Classes will be brought to a close at 12 noon of that day, and will be resumed Tuesday morning, April 6, at 8 a. m. The regular morning Chapel services will be omitted Friday, in order to enable the four morning classes of customary length to be completed by noon.

All books are to be returned to the College Library before the beginning of the vacation, although the opportunity to hold books out over the ten-day period will be granted to students in good standing after they have made suitable arrangements with the College Librarian. Those to whom books are issued for use over the ten-day recess will be expected to return such books promptly at the beginning of classes.

The customary ruling concerning absences from classes on either the two days immediately preceding or following the vacation will be enforced by the administration of the college. Such cuts, when unaccompanied by valid excuses from the offending students, will be considered as double cuts and they will be recorded as such.

The liberal recess granted by the College at this time suffices to bridge the huge gap between the Christmas holidays and the close of the school year in June.

Tank Team Finishes Season by Defeating Thiel Natators, 46-16

The Blue and Gold Swimming Team concluded a successful season by trimming the Thiel natators by a score of 46-16, in a match held at Greenville Friday evening, March 19. The Allegheny team walked away with the honors in every department, capturing first place in all but one event, and a goodly number of seconds and thirds as well. The summary:

50-yard Free Style—Taft (A), first; Wineman (T), second; Ingram (A), third.

50-yard Back Stroke—Hill (A), first; Zundel (T), second; Sankey (A), third.

50-yard Breast Stroke—Curtis (A), first; Hill (A), second; Wineman (T), third.

Fancy Dive—Kunkel (T), first; Sankey (A), second; Ingram (A), third.

200-yard Relay—Won by Allegheny (Hill, Ingram, Taft, Curtis); Thiel (Zundel, Hughes, Wineman, Kunkle).

Plunge—Merrill (A), first; Hill (A), second; Wineman (T), third.

100-yard Free Style—Curtis (A), first; Kunkel (T), second; Ingram (A), third.

Season's summary:

Allegheny	45	Thiel	14
Allegheny	35	Oil City	33
Allegheny	35	Pitt	50
Allegheny	46	Thiel	16
Total	142	Opp.	113

Captain Hill with 54¼ points to his credit led his teammates in scoring, and Captain-elect Curtis was second with 41¼. Letters were earned by Hill, Curtis, Taft, Sankey, Ingram and Merrill. As Captain Hill alone will be lost by graduation, the prospects are bright for another winning team next year.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB PLANS PRACTICES UPON RETURN

Following the spring recess, regular rehearsals will be held by the Men's Glee Club on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week at 4:30 p. m. in preparation for the extensive program which is scheduled for the near future.

Announcement has been made that the trip which the club is to make in the vicinity of Pittsburgh has been arranged for the month of April. The "Home Concert," which is to be given by the club will be given in May.

It is urged that the members of the club be present at these rehearsals, in order to adequately prepare for the concerts.

Method of Choosing Alumni Association Officers Is Changed

Announcement has been made by the officers of the General Alumni Asciation of Allegheny College that a committee has been appointed to make nominations for officers and directors of the association for the year 1926-1927.

The announcement at this time of the nominating committee is a departure from the former method of appointing a committee at the beginning of the annual dinner and meeting, and then having the report made near the close of the session. This change of procedure is made in order that the whole body of alumni may have a voice in the selection of their officers, and that all who so desire may have plenty of opportunity to make suggestions and propose names for the various positions.

Suggestions and proposals of names may be made to any member of the nominating committee before June 1. All alumni, either as individuals or as members of the various local associations, are invited and urged to make known their preferences for their officers. Every communication will be given careful consideration by the committee before making up the slate to be voted on at the annual meeting.

The following have been chosen as the nominating committee: Roy L. Phillips, '10; 366 Johns street, Meadville, Pa., chairman; Frank R. Frost, '05, Wilkins avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Gertrude Thomas, '20, 745 Park avenue, Meadville, Pa.; E. P. Kennedy, '11, 1776 Elberton street, East Cleveland, O., and Paul E. Thomas, '14, 661 Chestnut street, Meadville, Pa.

Officers to be filled are: President, four directors and, if the full-time alumni secretary has not been appointed before the annual meeting, a secretary-treasurer.

Frosh Clinch Honors By Beating All-Stars In Second Encounter

Al Moon's Freshman five demonstrated beyond the shadow of all doubt the fact that they are the rightful champions of the Inter-Class League when they defeated for a second time within a week, a team picked from the upper class floor artists. The game was played in the college gym Thursday evening, March 18, and the final score was 27-23, but the superiority of the Frosh five was greater than the score would indicate. The first-year men led throughout and out-played their opponents in every manner and form, although the interest in the game never slackened at any stage. Improvised cheers from the rival rooting sections added to the enjoyment provided by the game.

Stewart's foul point started the scoring after the ball had been worked up and down the floor for several minutes, with neither team being able to connect with the loop. Hammett's pretty two-pointer put the Freshmen out in front and they stayed there till the closing whistle. Kaelin added two points from the side of the court, and Hanlon's neat pass to Dolde resulted in two for the All-Stars. Waleskie scored from near the center and the first period ended with a Frosh advantage, 6-3.

In the second stanza Leffingwell netted a fielder, and brought the picked team up to within a point of the Frosh at 5-6. Moon made an overhand basket and his team started to pull away again. After Stewart had made one point, Waleskie sank two double-deckers in rapid-fire order and

CHAPEL COMMISSION TO SUBMIT CHANGES SOON

During the past week the Faculty-Student Commission for the betterment of chapel services held two meetings, at which plans for a reformation program were discussed. Last Friday, March 19, at 3:30, the commission met in the faculty room of Bentley Hall. At this meeting, which was a two-hour session, Doctor Elliott was elected chairman and R. K. Evans, secretary.

The commission met again last Monday, March 22, at 3:30 and plans for the new chapel regime were well in hand. The commission hopes to have something definite to present to the faculty and the students for their consideration at the close of the next meeting, which will be held this afternoon.

The members of the commission are Doctors Elliott, Beiler and Darling; R. K. Evans, E. C. Dehne, C. B. Hartman, Florence Sheehan and Alice Graham.

Two French Comedies Given by Petit Salon In Chapel Last Night

Le Petit Salon presented its annual dramatic performance last night in Ford Memorial Chapel. The plays presented were "Rosalie," and "L'Anglaise tel qu'on parle," both of which were one-act comedies.

"Rosalie," bu Maure, is a short comedy, based on the instruction of a servant girl. Rosale, played by Cecil Tracey, is a servant girl in the employment of Monsieur Rol and Madame Rol, characters portrayed by Robert Faner and Mabert King. Rosalie has been hired in order that the Rols may make a favorable impression upon some noted guest, who is soon to visit them. She is being instructed in the graceful art of serving tea and shows she is not adept in that art. Her reactions to her instructions form the comedy basis for the play.

"L'Anglaise tel qu'on parle" may best be described as "Vaudeville" in one act. The story is based upon the elopement of Betty Hogson, an English girl, and Julien Cicandel, much against the will of the girl's father, who pursues them into France. He comes to the hotel where the young couple are residing. He cannot talk French and demands from the hotel clerk an interpreter. An amusing situation is evolved from misinterpretations made by the interpreter. Policemen, an arrest, and the final happy

ALLEGHENY BAND MAKES TWO OUT OF TOWN TRIPS

LINESVILLE, LUDLOW AND WARREN VISITED BY MUSICIANS DURING PAST WEEK

Upon its arrival in Meadville early this evening, the Allegheny College Band will have completed its second road trip in recent years. During the past week the members appeared in three concerts, appearing in the Regent Theatre at Linesville last Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Senior Class of the Linesville High School; playing in the High School at Ludlow for the benefit of that school last Monday evening; and appearing at the First M. E. Church of Warren last night for the benefit of one of the societies of that church.

The trip was made by street car, leaving Meadville at 6 o'clock. The members returned to Meadville immediately following their program.

Leaving Meadville at noon last Monday in a chartered bus and in two private automobiles, the band arrived in Warren, its headquarters during the trip, later that same day. After eating dinner in Warren the organization departed for Ludlow, where it gave its first concert of the trip. Following the concert the members returned to Warren, where they were taken to private homes to spend the night. All

Former Professor at Allegheny to Succeed Dr. Beebe at Boston

The trustees of Boston University have unanimously elected Professor Albert C. Knudson as Dean of the School of Theology to succeed Dr. James A. Beebe, who goes to Allegheny College as its new president. Doctor Knudson was professor of English Bible here from 1902-06. He will assume his new duties at Easter time. He is the third prominent graduate of the School of Theology of Boston University to be elected to an important post within the past few months. Doctor Beebe and President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University are also graduates of the school.

Doctor Knudson attended the University of Minnesota, graduating with an A. B. in 1893. In September of that year he entered the School of Theology of Boston University and was graduated with a Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree in 1896. He also studied for one year in the Graduate School of Boston University and at the universities of Jena and Berlin. In 1900 he received his Ph. D. degree from Boston and has the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Allegheny College.

Professor Knudson's teaching career has been spent at Iliff School of Theology as professor of Church History; at Baker University as professor of Philosophy and English Bible; at Allegheny College in a similar capacity from 1902 to 1906 ,and since 1906 at the School of Theology at Boston University. Until 1921 he was professor of Hebrew and Old Testament exegesis and since then he has taught systematic theology.

KEN WILLIAMS ELECTED TRACK CAPTAIN TUESDAY

Kenneth P. Williams, varsity sprinter for the past two seasons, was elected captain of the 1926 Blue and Gold track team at a meeting of letter men held yesterday morning.

Ken has been a consistent winner in the 100, 220, and 440 during both his Freshman and Sophomore years, this being his Junior year. His performance in the Alfred meet last spring, where he took firsts in the two sprints and the quarter against the powerful New York State team, is worthy of special mention.

The following letter men voted: Rea, Jones, Sample, Tornatore, Cibula, Danner, Williams, Mac Intosh, Parnell and Judd.

BARITONE-TENOR SINGS AT CHAPEL EXERCISES

Infecting his audience with his good humor and getting round after round of applause, Rev. R. S. Raborn, the baritone-tenor, who is singing at one of the downtown churches, sang last Saturday morning, March 20, in Ford Memorial Chapel. Mr. Raborn spoke with a Southern drawl, which immediately delighted his listeners.

The first number Mr. Raborn sang was "On the Road to Mandalay." No one watching and hearing him give his interpretation of this familiar tune could escape noticing the ease with which he sang. His next selection, "Friend o' Mine," by Sanderson, was received with hearty applause. Mr. Raborn took a minute here to say that no student should waste the opportunity to make friends in college.

The third number on the program was of an entirely different nature. "You Can Take Me Away From Dixie, But You Can't Take Dixie Away From Me," was rendered in a Southern brogue, which added color to the song.

The small audience which was present applauded so vociferiously that Mr. Raborn gave as encores the two negro spirituals: "We'll Understand It Better By and By," and "Roll, Jordan, Roll."

In conclusion the evangelist recited a poem by Edgar Guest. Mr. Raborn was accompanied by "Ted" Poister."

Harpist and Baritone, Dilling and Baer, to Close Concert Season

As the concluding number of this season's Allegheny Concert Course, Miss Mildred Dilling, America's greatest harpist, and Frederic Baer, prominent baritone, will give a joint recital in Ford Memorial Chapel this evening at 8:15 o'clock. This evening's performance will mark Miss Dilling's second appearance in Meadville, having given a concert here four years ago. Her assisting artist, Mr. Baer, comes to Meadville highly recommended and will no doubt add many local persons to his growing host of admirers.

Music critics have spoken of Miss Dilling as "One of those players upon a delightful but difficult instrument who bring to listeners a convincing message." Other critics say: "To the intimacy and charm of both place and program there was added musical interest in something more than the merely quaint and charming." The New York American states, "She plucked the strings gently to the rhythms and tunes of old French dances and folksongs, and to music by ancient and modern composers." A daily newspaper of New York city says, "The brisk staccato utterances of Rameau and Bach were finely caught

PRESIDENTS' PORTRAITS HANG IN BOARD ROOM

The Board Room in Bentley Hall now has on its walls a complete set of the portraits of the presidents of the college from Alden to Hixson, ten in number. The trustees commissioned Doctor Elliott to procure portraits of Presidents William Crawford and Hixson and have them suitably framed. This has been done and the three pictures are attracting not a little attention.

All are in the general style of the portrait of Timothy Alden, presented to the college at the time of the removal of his body from the cemetery at Sharpsburg and its internment in Greendale Cemetery in 1908. The pictures of President Crawford and of President Hixson are highly praised by those who knew the two men.

On each of the ten pictures is a neat brass plate engraved with the name in full, the dates of birth and death, and the dates of the term of service as president.

STITT WILSON COMPLETES VISIT THURSDAY MORNING

AUDIENCES PLEASED WITH INESTING AND SPIRITED TALKS BY PASTOR-ORATOR

Speaking to the students of Allegheny College and the people of Meadville on five public occasions while on his visit to this city, Hon. J. Stitt Wilson proved himself to be the man of the deep convictions and sound reasoning powers that he was quoted to be after his first lecture last Tuesday morning, March 16, in Ford Memorial Chapel. On Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning, March 16 and 17, in Ford Memorial Chapel, he spoke to the students on "Science," while on Wednesday evening his subject was "History," with a concluding talk Thursday morning on the "Technique of the Spiritual Life." The seriousness of his lectures, coupled with his plain, reasoning on exceptionally deep subjects, together with his eloquent presentation and blackboard illustrations, marked Mr. Wilson as one of the greatest speakers that has ever visited Allegheny. He was capable of deeply impressing his audiences and absorbing them in the vital facts of life.

The second of the series of addresses was on "Science," Tuesday evening, March 16. Doctor Wilson started his lecture by quoting from the Scriptures ,the passage, "Can a fountain at the same time send forth

JUNIORS WIN TRACK MEET BY MARGIN OF 29 POINTS

RECORDS IN TWO-MILE AND POLE VAULT FALL IN SATURDAY'S CONTEST

Capturing seven out of eight firsts and numerous seconds and thirds, the Juniors overwhelmingly won the annual Indoor Inter-Class Track Meet, held in the gym last Saturday, March 20. The third-year men compiled a total of 43½ points, while their nearest competitors, the Freshmen, garnered only 14½. The Sophomores were third with 11 and the Seniors brought up the rear with 3 points. Two more records fell by the wayside in the finals, making four during the entire meet. Tornatore established a new mark of 11 feet 1½ inches in the pole vault, and Jones set a new one in the two-mile with the time of 10:12, just 20 seconds better than his own former mark. Rea copped two firsts, winning both the 440 and 880, while Sample won the 85-yard dash and the high jump.

Results:

85-yard dash—Sample (Junior), first; Williams (Junior), second; Green (Freshman), third, and Seginac, Junior), tied for third. Time—10:5.

Mile run—Bentley (Soph), first; Bogardus (Senior), second; Leeper (Junior), third. Time—4:47.3.

440—Rea (Junior), first; Williams (Junior), second; Richards (Fresh-

PLANS BEING MADE FOR INTER-FRAT BASEBALL

Inter-Fraternity Baseball will again be a feature of the spring sports program at Allegheny College, according to announcement made by Director of Athletics Hammett and the two student representatives of the Athletic Board of Control, C. A. Dahl and W. E. Dolde. Tentative plans for a schedule not interfering with either varsity track practice or spring football practice, have been drawn up already by Mr. Hammett. These include the dividing of the nine teams into two sections, with a play-off being necessary to decide the final champion. This will make it possible to complete the schedule in about four weeks. Further announcement concerning the schedule will be made immediately after vacation

WOMEN STUDENTS HOLD SPECIAL CHAPEL FRIDAY

A Girls' Chapel was held Friday, March 19. Mary Lou Murphy was in charge of the meeting. Catherine Moritz played a violin solo, accompanied by Ruth Moritz.

Mrs. Beiler spoke about a World Fellowship Department, a branch of which is started in Allegheny, under the leadership of Grace Minch. Mrs. Beiler also told a short history of a sister college, Isabelle Thoburn College, in India, explaining how it was possible for a room in that college to be named for Allegheny. Mary Lou Murphy presented a plan which practically assures an Allegheny Room in Isabelle Thoburn College.

RECOGNITION FOR OUR EX-STUDENTS

We were the recipient of a suggestion the other day that has brought an idea to front that has been growing for some time in our mind. That is the overwhelming lack of recognition that is given, both by the students and administration, to those who have attended Allegheny College but who were not graduated. The "ex's," as they are commonly designated, are not even Alleghenians as far as the outside world is concerned; their names are omitted from the Alumni Register and other lists of students and alumni that are made public; they do not receive The Campus or other publications which are sent regularly to all graduates; in fact, they are practically ostracized by their one-time Alma Mater.

Some of the greatest men who can be associated with Allegheny are "exs;" witness William McKinley, at one time President of the United States. Many others could be named who have brought honor upon themselves and their college, but who have not received their degrees, at least from this institution. There is a diversity of causes which have been responsible for the prefixing of an "ex" before the class of former Allegheny students. Some have changed schools to better prepare themselves for their life's work; some have been forced to quit Allegheny for financial and other similar reasons. In many cases the cessation of relations with Allegheny has been unavoidable. True, there are those who have been refused degrees from this College for deficiencies in scholarship or misconduct while in attendance, but that group is indeed a minority among those against whom discrimination is shown.

In view of the fact that it would be extremely difficult to accurately ascertain just who had a legitimate reason for leaving Allegheny, we must admit that discrimination can not be made effectively. It is quite plain that if one group of former ungraduted students is to be recognized, all must be given the same recognition.

Any student who has been enrolled at Allegheny College for at least one school year should have his name recorded in the alumni and mailing lists of the College. It is entirely fitting that an "ex" should precede his class numerals in the Alumni Register. The Campus and other publications of the College should be sent to ex-students and graduates alike; the former are interested in the progress of their college and should be advised of it. The additional expense thusly incurred would be slight in comparison to the benefits received by the College in return.

We are proud of the large "Allegheny family" and more than proud to be classed as members of that family. A similar feeling is common all over the campus and throughout the Alumni body. As members of that family we feel that some of the less fortunate who have gone on before and others who are to follow should be made a part of that family to compensate for their being victims of inevitable circumstances.

RECOGNITION FROM OUR GRADUATES

From time to time the students are reminded that the various college publications, clubs, and organizations suffer greatly from lack of student interest, but it is also true that this publication suffers from an apparent lack of alumni interest. Personals and editorials create a slight spurt of enthusiasm, but within a week alumni correspondence falls into decline.

It is true that there are a few among the alumni body who keep the college posted on alumni activities and events, but that few cannot offset the obligation which we believe is owed by the great non-supporting element. The alumni should feel that The Campus is partly their publication as well as the official organ of the general student body. However, as the support given to this paper by the alumni is small, we cannot, under the existing circumstances, admit that our graduates should have a just claim to it.

Inasmuch as the alumni are informed of student activities through The Campus, it seems only justifiable that the students should learn of alumni happenings through the same medium. If, however, the alumni wish to have a fair representation in these columns, we request that more news items be submitted.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT

Last week The Campus published an editorial dealing with the crowded conditions in the parlors of Hulings Hall on party nights. This editorial suggested that the loggia be used for the meeting of the young lady. In this way, the group of men collected around the doors of the entrance hall would be done away with.

It appears that there is another side to the question. This side comes from the girls, so that it ought to carry some weight and some knowledge from experience.

The loggia cannot be successfully used as a meeting place for dates. It was put to that use last spring, but proved to be very unsatisfactory. The loggia is the only connection between the back and front parts of the Hall, hence, if it were filled evenings with a great part of the male population of the college, the girls would not feel free to go from one end of the Hall to the other. At best, the walk through the long room would be very embarrassing.

It appears that the whole trouble lies in the way in which the Hall is constructed, and that the present method is the best that can be used. It is hoped and hinted that the parlors may be so remodeled this summer that present conditions may be relieved.

There is a suggestion to the men in this connection. If they would remember their etiquette and sit down in one of the parlors, rather than crowd the doors, fearing that someone else will steal their respective girls, the best could be made of a bad situation.

LIBRARY RECEIVES COLLECTION OF OLD COMMENCEMENT PROGRAMS

The College Library received recently a collection of "Commencement Exercises of Allegheny College" and also several programs of literary societies for the years 1856 to 1861 and 1870 from Frank A. Arter, '64. The collection was made by Adam Clark Nutt, '61, and was given by his son, J. R. Nutt, to Mr. Arter to be presented to the Library. These programs are in excellent condition and are of great interest and value.

Adam Clark Nutt, the collector of the programs, entered Allegheny in 1856. He was actively engaged in literary work while in college, and was graduated with highest honors of his class in 1861.

KAMPUS KOMMENTS

One of those laughable ironic things connected with an educational institution is the lighting system in the lower floor of Ruter. The electric lights are so placed between the places occupied by the students and the instructors that one must look squarely into the light. To have such a medieval arrangement in one of our best colleges tickles our perverted sense of humor.

The debate team won from Penn State under the three-judge system. It is the first victory of the year and the first time this season that method of judging has been used. Is it just a coincidence or is the single-judge system at fault? That question would make a good subject for debate, we suppose.

As Doctor Beebe comes to Allegheny, a former Alleghenian, Doctor Knudson, succeeds to his former position in Boston. That may be just another coincidence, but then again it may be indicative of the esteem with which Allegheny influence is considered by others.

The date of the Senior Hop has been changed. Last week it was the French plays and the Dramatic Club that changed the date of their productions. We realize that the college calendar is so covered that it is well to set dates early, but there is a limit. It seems that everyone sets the date before anything else is done. We would suggest that, if more care were exercised in this respect, a great deal of confusion would be eliminated.

The chapel organ has been out of commission for about a month now. It is unfortunate that a competent repairman has not been secured, for the organ always helped materially to put over some of those bad chapel exercises to which we have been accustomed.

The letter of the Dean to parents of students, requesting the restriction of the use of automobiles "during the time of the regular session" has been a subject for discussion during the past week. Our personal reaction is that there are those students who have will-power enough to be unharmed by a car of which they might have the use, and there are those who will let the use of the car get the best of them. It is unfortunate that some students, supposedly of college caliber, must belong to the latter class. It is the old, old story of the many being forced to suffer for the wrongs of the few.

There is that other thought, however. If a person is not able to take care of himself by the time he is in college, is there any hope for him?

TWO FRENCH COMEDIES

ending follow in quick succession. The cast of the play is as follows:

Eugene, the Interpreter..... Bruce L. Middaugh
Hogson, pere de Betty.....George Fallon
Julien Cicandel.....Alexander Hill
Un Inspecteur.....Edmund Smith
Un Garcon.....William Reichert
Un Agent de Police.....G. Alfred Palmer
Betty .....Frances Bond
La Caissiere .....Florence Sheehan

"Rosalie" was under the direction of Miss Gardner, while "L'Anglaise" was in charge of Professor Mezzotero. Both plays showed the results of much considerate thought and painstaking care. The directors and cast as a whole are to be commended upon their work. Muck of the credit for the success of the play must be given to the Play Production class, whose members were in charge of the make-up work.

Between the plays in the intermission, music was furnished by vocal selections by Marion Whieldon, accompanied by Alice Graham, and violin solos by David Behrhorst, with John Yeany at the piano.

PHILO-FRANKLIN HOLDS MEETING ON FRIDAY

Philo-Franklin Forum held its regular weekly meeting in the Forum room of Bentley Hall last Friday afternoon, March 19. The business for the afternoon was the initiation of Donald Rowlingson, '29.

The program for the afternoon was different from that which has been in use for the greater part of this year. One speaker, Edwin Schruers, gave a discussion on the "Relationship between the Latin-American Countries and the United States." A general discussion was then held concerning this question, and the general attitude of the Forum seemed to favor closer relationship between these two sections of the Western Hemisphere, although the Latin countries feel a restraint in having the United States interfere in their business.

There will be no meeting next week, due to the spring recess, but the Forum will meet again on Friday afternoon, April 9, in the Forum room. The program will be announced after the resumption of classes.

DEBATING SEASON CLOSES

were G. A. Palmer, Jr.; R. J. Corbett and Robert Kirkpatrick, with Edwin Schruers, alternate. The visiting team was composed of F. L. Pate, J. J. Brennen and S. K. Stevens, with N. R. Adams, alternate. The judges of the contest were F. S. Heinaman and James B. Palmer, both of Edinboro Normal School, and Clyde L. Merrilees of Erie East High School. Dr. Oscar P. Akers was the presiding officer.

The victory closed an unsuccessful season and was remarkable in itself because the proposition debated was a new one and the team had only two and one-half weeks in which to prepare its argument. Penn State with a successful season behind it was looked upon as a very formidable foe. The defeats of the season were at the hands of Western Reserve in a dual meet, and of Wooster and Oberlin in a triangular meet.

STITT WILSON COMPLETES

sweet and bitter water?" Science, so far, has interpreted itself to be read as this quotation, and Mr. Wilson declared that a colossal error has come into the world as a result of this interpretation in the scientific era.

A map of the world or a pyramid of existence was the illustration used. At the base was a world of physics and chemistry, inorganic substance or matter. On the level higher was the organic world, life in its first form, then one step higher is the animal world, then man, and the last level, Deity. Early students of science folded every step back into the physical and chemical base, which, Mr. Wilson states, is a fallacious interpretation of the universe, and eliminates the conception of God.

A second lecture on science was given Wednesday morning in Ford Chapel. Science, with special reference to its ethical bearings and its positive contributions, was the material explained by the speaker. In every living creature there is at least one very marked manifestation of the existence of life, which is a struggle for self. If a creature fails in its struggle for iife, it is the creature's fault. This, together with the concept that such is the law of God was branded as being an absolute falsehood by Doctor Wilson. A living creature cannot live for itself alone; there are two elements in life; a struggle for self, and a struggle for others.

On Wednesday evening, "History" was the topic of Doctor Wilson's address. He began his lecture with a review of how man develops the power to create the concepts of value that determine his behavior. The struggle for self and others can be applied to man, which proves that nature puts to death all those animals which struggle for self alone. The real nature of history, which is the pushing back of selfishness, greed, and inhumanity by noble men is also their building up of the Kingdom of God. Christ came into this world to exalt human values. History is divided into two sections, as Doctor Wilson explained, that of sensualism, vice, unrighteousness, and materialism, and that of the real worth of life. It is man's duty to discover which side of life he is on, and develop himself accordingly to the right values. It is the worldliness, greed and disregard for human values that are responsible for youth's trials today. He then went on to show how educative processes of life continue after death as well as before, and that one should put himself under spiritual tutelage to develop himself to the fourth dimension of religion.

Following this address, Doctor Wilson spoke in Cochran Hall, where he further discussed the psychological processes of a candidate for higher dimension. His talk was followed by a social hour, where the students were given an opportunity to meet the distinguished visitor.

The "Technique of the Spiritual World" was the theme for Doctor Wilson's address Thursday morning at chapel. He showed the difference between technique and talk. Technique is something that has to be done. In religion as well as in everything, technique must be practiced. The first element of the technique of spiritual life is the making of a pivotal promise of looking to Divine destiny. Secret prayer, a great exercise of human consciousness, was the second. The speaker declared that there is no record of an illumined soul in the world who did not pray. Love of humanity was emphasized as a third element. All great souls have dedicated themselves to humanity and are seeking their own ends and ambitions, which is a real menace to the world.

After the conclusion of this lecture, Mr. Wilson told of his satisfaction of having been at Allegheny College, and the students expressed their appreciation to him for the great subjects that he has opened for their study and thought. He journeyed to Yale University after his visit here. From there he will go to the University of Vermont, and then back to the schools on the Pacific coast.

Dr. C. A. Christie Gives Collection of Books to Library

Several new books have been added to the College Library during the past week. Included in the new collection is a gift of thirty volumes by Dr. C. A. Christie of the Meadville Theological School. Doctor Christie has contributed many books to the library in former years.

His latest gift of thirty volumes consists of several Greek and Latin works and also many English books. Included among the Greek works are the first six books of Homer's "Iliad," "Select Orations of Lysias," and "Plato's Apology." The Latin volumes are the orations of Cicero and Virgil, and also Lexicon Technologiae Latinorum.

Among the books purchased some of the most interesting are: "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," by George A. Dorsey; "Sharing in Creation," by W. C. Bell; "Hellenic Civilization," by Maurice Croiset, and "The Idea of God," by A. S. Pringle-Pattison.

"Why We Behave Like Human Beings" is one of the most interesting and exciting books about ourselves in a decade. This brilliant and thoroughly readable consideration of human beings from the biological, physiological, and psychological standpoints is particularly interesting for the light it sheds on the modernist and fundamentalist theories.

"Sharing in Creation" is a workmanlike attempt to be of assistance in the practical business of improving our basic philosophy of life. It takes the stand that Christianity needs to make itself at home in the modern world, and the same people that tell us so should be willing to own up that the modern world needs even more desperately to make itself at home in Christianity.

The author of "Hellenic Civilization," Maurice Croiset, is prepared, as few scholars are, to present the essentials of his subject in the space of one volume. He makes a complete survey of the achievements of Hellenic civilization, its art, literature, religion, and social and political institutions from the time of Homer to the advent of Christian and Byzantine influences.

Miss Edith Rowley will spend the Easter vacation at her home in East Randolph, N. Y.

ALLEGHENY BAND MAKES

day Tuesday the band had free access to the Y. M. C. A. and were furnished tickets to the movies of the town. Tuesday evening the band presented its program in the Methodist Church, after which several of the band members were guests at a few informal parties held in their honor at private omes. Shortly after lunch today the band will leave for Meadville.

The same program was presented in the three towns. Interspersing the band numbers were several solos and duets. Messrs. Wessel and Hartzell sang several duets of popular pieces, and Messrs. Johnson and Reid played a few banjo duets. Solos were played by James Meadowcroft on the trumpet, Robert Willison on the trombone, Ross Carey, Monday evening, on the piano, and Theodore Poister, Jr., Tuesday evening, on the piano.

Following is the program as given:

Part One

Empyrean Overture ..... Hayes

THIS AND THAT IN ALLEGHENY ATHLETICS

Pity the Poor Records

What did we tell you last week? Doesn't he break one every time he runs. No, not a leg either, but a record. Witness his performance in the two-mile run of the inter-class championships last Saturday. Jones was out to cut down his indoor record of 10:32, and cut it he did. Down to 10:12, that's all. Max Tornatore set a new mark in the pole vault, too, when he got up in the air as far as 11 feet 1½ inches.

Just Try and Beat Them

The last effort to hang the stigma of defeat upon the championship class league team has been made, and the Frosh still reign vectorious (so far as basketball is concerned). When the All-Stars lost out last Thursday night by four points, the first-year men proved beyond a doubt that their team is a fine one and entirely worthy of the honors it has won. Incidentally, there ought to be some excellent varsity timber in that outfit.

Spring's Here

Baseball and spring go together always. Therefore, since plans for the inter-fraternity baseball league are already underway, we venture the deduction that spring is here, or, at least, just around the corner. What the plans are is not definitely known, excepting the fact that the nine teams will be divided into two divisions, with a play-off to decide the winner. You may look forward to some dandy games, too.

Be Ready for the Kick-off, Fellows

In order to get a good start in the spring football practice, which begins immediately after vacation, Coach Melvin R. Merritt has stated that he expects the members of the squad to be in good condition when they return. No time can be lost in learning the new system and the coaches expect to get down to hard work from the beginning.

Al and Blackie Toss the Hammer

Al Moon, varsity football and basketball man, tried his hand at the hammer throw last week and is picking the art up in an encouraging manner.

Wendell Blackburn has already done good work in that event and looks like a certain point winner. Several other fellows have signified their intention of trying out, too, and it's just possible that a certain track team will wish that nothing had been said about the hammer when Allegheny is met in May.

How's This for Athletic Activity?

Director of Athletics C. E. Hammett handed us some information the other day which is decidedly interesting and enlightening. Did you know that 276 of the 343 men registered in the college are known to have competed in some sport or to have engaged regularly in some kind of athletic exercise during the present school year. Among these, 23 upper-classmen were on varsity squads and 48 in intramural sports. Of the 204 sophomores and freshmen, 40 were in varsity competition and more than half of the remainder were taking part in intramural athletics, in addition to their regular gym work. On the average, four out of every five men in the college engaged in some form of athletic activity during the year.

And Here Are Some More Figures

Did you know that the gymnasium is busy six days of the week during practically all of the winter season? From 9 o'clock in the morning until lunch time and from 1:30 until 5:30, regular gym classes and miscellaneous activities keep the floor and track in continuous use. And in the evenings we find the alumni on hand twice a week, the faculty once, basketball averaging one night a week, and the other two given over to teams practicing for inter-class basketball or inter-fraternity volley ball.

Charlie Leads the Cheers

We have uncovered another cheerleader of considerable note in the last few days. Nobody suspected that he had it in him, but Charlie Slavin certainly surprised us with his exhibition at the Frosh-All-Star game Thursday. He led the improvised and vociferous cheering of the yearlings and did a good job of it. Furthermore, it is rumored that the new yell leader is the anonymous author of some of those improvised shouts.

What About Montgomery Field?

Talking about the gymnasium being busy reminds us that it's not the only place of activity. For instance, take Montgomery Field after the spring vacation. There'll be spring football practice, there'll be spring football tice, and there'll be baseball games. And when the golf enthusiasts get out their paraphernalia and practice up a bit, the field will be fairly swarming with athletic activity.

FROSH CLINCH HONORS

gave the Freshmen a double score, 12-6, at the half.

Opening the second half, Moon dropped one in from the foul line and Kaelin made a two-pointer in spite of close guarding, and the score was 15-6. Dahl netted a field goal from beneath the rim, but Moon came back with two foul points and then worked the ball up center for a field goal and a 19-8 score. Dolde registered on a follow-through shot and then sank a beauty from past the center of the floor. A short scrimmage followed and the third quarter was past history. The score, 19-12.

In the final stanza the play threatened to get a little rough, but clean, hard playing prevailed. Leffingwell made a fielder, and Kaelin's clever pass to Waleskie netted two points for the opposition. Moon and Cossman shared in making hard field goals, but Moon wasn't satisfied and made another in quick order. The score was 26-16. With three minutes to go, Moon sent in some subs and the All-Stars began shooting from all angles in an attempt to close the gap in the score. Leffingwell and Hanlon managed to make connections with the loop, and Dolde and Hanlon made foul tries as the final whistle blew, the score standing at 27-23.

Moon and Waleskie were high scorers for the Frosh, the former accounting for eleven points and the latter for nine. Kaelin's floor work was also commendable. For the All-Stars there were no autstanding players.

Inasmuch as the Freshmen won both games, a third contest is not necessary, and to the first-year men go the laurels.

ERIE MAN LEAVES $50,000 SCHOLARSHIP FUND TO COLLEGE

Allegheny College authorities have been notified that the college is to receive $50,000, according to the terms of the will of the late John J. Zuck of Erie, Pa., to establish a fund to be known as the "John J. Zuck Scholarship Fund."

Mr. Zuck was a well-known business man of Erie. He has shown his appreciation of the college in his bequest that the fund be established. No definite information has as yet been received regarding the terms of the fund.

Other bequests made in the will were: A park site to the city of Erie, and the establishment of a $40,000 scholarship fund at the Edinboro State Normal School.

and revealed with a crisp and sparkling touch."

Miss Dilling reveals new possibilities in the range of expressiveness of this difficult and elusive instrument.

That Frederic Baer, baritone, should become one of the leading American vocal artists of his time in this country, was seemingly ordained by fate. At first Mr. Baer was set on becoming a violinist, but as time passed he discovered that he had a voice. He began cultivating this voice, and after graduating from high school entered into the accounting business, where extraordinary ability gained promotion in a short time for him. Soon the time came when Mr. Baer felt he had sufficiently prepared his voice to assure his success in the musical world.

Mr. Baer is arriving at the goal he set for himself because he possesses the voice, personality and capacity for hard work.. To the interpretation of songs he brings a lively imagination, and the power to project mood and atmosphere. "His technique is superb; his diction faultless, and his powers of interpretation unlimited." In one season Mr. Baer fulfilled seven engagements with the New York Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Baer is also an athlete as well as a renowned singer. He has won more than one hundred trophies in track events, including everything from 100 yards to 440 yards.

Fred Strickler, '04, died at Derry, Pa., on February 23. He was located at Corry, Pa., with a group of engineers, who double-tracked the Erie railroad from Corry to Lakewood.

YEARS of sound, conservative management have placed this Western Pennsylvania institution in an enviable position. For one thing, the proportion of reserves to insurance in force is slightly more than double the average of other companies.
