DR. ABRAHAM W. HARRIS

DELIVERS SUNDAY SERMON IN CHAPEL. SAYS DOUBTS SHOULD BE FAIRLY MET

Sunday morning a large audience greeted the Reverend Abram W. Harris, of New York, who delivered the message in chapel. Dr. Harris is the head of the Methodist Board of Education, and has been engaged in that activity for a number of years.

His address was more of a confidential talk with his congregation than a formal sermon. His text was taken from two verses of the 24th Psalm, and from one of the Allegheny College mottoes: "Add to your faith virtue, and to your virtue knowledge."

Developing his theme, Dr. Harris said that in former days the great problem of students was to reconcile the Bible, and science, while today, it is in making the distinction between religion and ethics. The point to be made was not the question that perplexes the student, but that the question has changed in the last two decades.

Doubts come early, said Dr. Harris, and they must be met fairly and sincerely. It is contrary to the great scheme of things to ignore doubts. But strangely, the greatest doubts seem to hinge on questions such as the Trinity, the origin of the Creator, and other equally perplexing questions. Such questions do not effect daily life, and the manner in which they are answered is of minor importance. Any explanation which is not rational must be abandoned. Yet, neither religion nor reason must be abandoned.

Dr. Harris compared these questions to the working hypothesis of science. In science, an hypothesis may be evolved which will explain and help to determine certain laws and relationships; but the law itself, the underlying principle of the scientific fact, may remain unknown long after man has undergone and employed the principle involved. Such is the case with some religious questions.

The morning prayer was offered by Dr. Hancher, of New York, who is the general campaign agent of the M. E. Church.

"The Holy City" was the choral selection, and Beethoven's "Minuet", an organ solo, the offertory.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

The present political situation was discussed at Twentieth Century Club meeting Monday evening. Miss Marjorie Lillie, '22, and Miss Marjorie Abbott, '22, told of the former political careers of Governor Cox and Senator Harding. Miss Margaret Howe, '21, talked on the political platform of the Democrats, while Miss Louise Hullin, '22, gave the Republican platform. The main issue of the campaign centers about the League of Nations, it was stated.

If the vote taken at the meeting can be any indication, Harding will be the next President.

FRESHMAN BIBLE

MAKES APPEARANCE, WITH MANY INNOVATIONS, AND COMPLETE WHO'S WHO OF ALLEGHENY

The Student's Manual, published by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., which is put into the hands of every Freshman upon his entrance in college is being distributed. It is the purpose of this book to provide information for the entire student body, particularly the Freshmen, concerning the different phases of college life.

Through it, the college organizations extend their greeting to the Freshman. It is an up-to-date catalog of the different activities of the college. All Freshmen who are interested in activities outside of their studies will find an explanation of them in this handbook.

President Hixon's greeting is of particular interest. In it he makes a summation of the purposes for which one goes to college.

Certain phases of college history have been included in the manual, along with athletic records, including the football and basketball statistics for the past year. There is a short history of all clubs, fraternities and publications, along with a list of their membership. It furnishes a brief "Who's-Who" of the college.

This year's manual has several innovations, and is an improvement over previous editions.

ADVICE TO WOULD-BE ROMEO'S

Be it known to all those concerned that quiet hours are observed daily in Hulings Hall between the hours of 8 and 12:30 A. M.; 1:45 and 4:00 P. M. and after 7:30 P. M. and on Sundays from 8 to 12 A. M. and from 3 to 5 P. M. Any one desirous of having words with one of the inhabitants over Bell's system should call when quiet hours are not in vogue. Otherwise the fair one will not be called unless she has reached the blissful state of seniorship. All seriousness aside, will anyone contemplating calling up anyone in the Hall please arrange to do so at other times than during quiet hours. If the system of quiet hours is too complicated for memory, some of the young men might make out schedules and keep them in a convenient place.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. held a short devotional service Sunday evening, with Miss Helen Gold, '21, in charge. A song "My Task" by Miss Mary Whitefield, '24, and a violin selection by Miss Lucille Drake, '22, were the musical numbers of the meeting.

At the Wednesday evening Y. W. C. A. service Miss Francis Pitt, '22, explained the work of the Social Service Committee of the Y. W. The local association hopes that a large number of the young women will become actively interested in social service work this year.

THE PARABLE OF THE UNFORTUNATE FROSH

(Scene: Allegheny College, Oct. 13, 1920)

A certain Frosh went down from Bentley to Chapel and fell among Sophs, who stripped him of his silken locks, and left him dazed and bewildered and went in search of his brother Frosh.

And by chance there came a Senior that way; and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

And likewise a Junior, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and passed by to watch the fun.

But a certain Co-ed, as she journeyed, came where the Frosh was; and when she saw him, she had compassion on him and said "It's a dirty shame."

Verily I say unto you from that time on the Frosh were strong for the Co-eds and defiant of the Sophs.

Prof. C. E. Atkinson has succeeded the Rev. C. M. Rogers, D.D., as principal of Epworth Seminary, Epworth, Ga. Professor Atkinson is a graduate of Hartsville College, the University of Indiana, and did graduate work at DePauw University. He has been a teacher for years and is a man of recognized skill in raising money for educational institutions, having assisted West Virginia Wesleyan University in paying off its indebtedness.

THESES TO THE FOREGROUND

Faculty Issues Statement of Conditions and Regulations Governing Choice of Subject, Bibliography, and Time for Submitting.

Seniors of the college are once more casting about for suitable subjects and material on which to base their theses. But to prevent anyone from revising the Encyclopedia Britannica, or any other such frivolity, the faculty have made certain rules, which are:

Every candidate for graduation shall prepare during his senior year an original thesis under the following regulations:

1. The subject, approved by the adviser, shall be filed at the Registrar's office not later than the first Wednesday in November—next Wednesday. Accompanying the subject must be a carefully written statement of the manner in which the subject is to be treated and a preliminary bibliography.

2. The Registrar shall assign each student to the member of the faculty whose department naturally covers the subject under investigation and this member of the faculty shall have entire supervision of the further preparation of the thesis.

3. The completed thesis shall contain not less than three thousand words, or such equivalent as shall be approved by the Committee on Theses, and shall show ability to collect material and put it into approved form.

4. The completed thesis shall be filed at the Registrar's office not later than March 1st.

5. The thesis shall be passed upon by the Committee on Theses, consisting of two members, acting in the case of all theses, and the member of the faculty who has had supervision of the preparation of the thesis. The last-named shall be judge of the matter; the whole committee shall judge the form and general character.

6. The standing Committee on Theses of two members shall formulate and announce in advance regulations regarding the form in which theses are to be presented.

PRESBYTERIAN RECEPTION

WELL ATTENDED BY COLLEGE STUDENTS

Last Thursday evening the students of the college were the guests of the Young Peoples' Society of the Presbyterian Church at a reception held in the church parlors.

A very ingenious method of acquainting the students was used. Upon entering the room each guest was given a paper pennant to pin in a conspicuous place on his or her person.

The pennants bore the name of a particular educational institution, and each person proceeded to seek the other students of the college represented on the pennant.

The different college groups soon assembled and each chose a cheer leader. After several cheers had been given each group proceeded in turn into an adjoining room where an elaborate guessing contest awaited them. Other group games of various kinds were indulged in, and an athletic meet concluded the competitive portion of the program. Refreshments consisted of pineapple sherbet and wafers.

AIRPLANE CAMPAIGNING LAUNCHED BY STUDENTS

U. of Kansas, Oct. 16—Students coming from their 10:30 classes this morning were entertained by the first glimpse of airplane campaigning that University students have ever seen in a student election.

The airplane was of the Standard type, owned by R. C. Jackson of Lawrence and piloted by "Doc" Hyde of Kansas City. Ray Theis, c'23, was perched in the fuselage dropping propaganda from the wings. The pilot caused big lumps to come in the throats of the watchers when he did tailspins, loops, side-slips, Immelman turns, the falling leaf, and steep nose dives, at a low altitude.

SMOKING COMMON FAD WITH MISSOURI'S FAIR SEX

"I don't know what is becoming of the young women," sadly said a Columbia (Mo.) druggist recently. "Five years ago it would have been the height of immodesty and immorality for a woman to have been guilty of buying cigarettes, especially for her own use. Now I sell lots of them to the young women—and they are mostly of the entirely respectable classes," too. University girls and young women raised here in town."

The druggist said that the milder brands of cigarettes were preferred: Tareytons, Melachinos, and Milos. According to the druggist a great many of the young women's smokes are bought by men—Columbia Evening Missourian.

PLEDGING OF GIRLS

SATURDAY AFTERNOON BY WOMEN'S FRATERNITIES

The pledging of new members to the women's fraternities took place Saturday evening in Hulings Hall, when thirty-five girls were invited into the Greek letter societies.

After the formal bidding, each fraternity provided entertainments and refreshments, and presented the neophytes to alumni members who were in town for the occasion. There were about fifty women alumni in school over the week-end.

The fraternities make the following announcements:

Kappa Alpha Theta

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Gamma Rho Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma announces the pledging of the Misses Marie Baker, Jean Bowser, Florence Crandall, Eleanor Diffin, Elinor Graham, Martha Harper, Jean Howe, Ruth Ling, Sara McQuiston and Alice Simms all of the class of '24, and of Miss Marjorie Duff, '23.

Alpha Chi Omega

Delta Chapter announces the pledging of the Misses Sara Allgood, Tionesta, Pa., Isabel Buchanan, Jamestown, N. Y., Mary Rankin, McKeesport, Pa., Ruth Carroll, Fredrickstown, Pa., Flora Trenouth, Sheffield, Pa., Elizabeth Laffer, Meadville, Pa., and Helen Boyd, Cambridge Springs, Pa., all of the class of '24, on Saturday evening October 23.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Kappa Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta announces the pledging of the Misses Elsie Reynolds, Meadville, Helen Hamilton, Akron, O., Kathryn Robinson, Bolivar, Pa., Helen Robinson, New Florence, Pa., Gertrude Curry, Meadville, Virginia Berry, Blairsville, Pa., Gladys Rhoades, Blairsville, Pa., and Leanne Berlin, Coudersport, Pa., all of the class of '24.

How About Hair Cutting?

"John Tracey, president of the Men's Student Council, today severely criticised the unauthorized pad-dings of first-year students, carried on by small bands of upperclassmen in a surreptitious manner in the late hours of the night. Any students convicted of participation in the midnight marauding parties, Tracey said, would be brought before the Council and there administered punishment." —The University Daily Kansan.

FORUM AWAKE

TO QUESTIONS OF THE HOUR. TARIFF DEBATED BY SENIORS. U. S. AND IRISH SITUATION SUBJECT TOMORROW

The question, Resolved that a high tariff would be a benefit to the farmers of this country was interestingly discussed at the weekly meeting of the Philo-Franklin on last Friday. The regular debate was in the hands of Tennes, '21, in support of the affirmative, and Bacon, '21, whose negative arguments were given the vote of the organization. Prior to the discussion, the monthly election of officers was held, resulting in the choice of Skinner, '21, as speaker, Dwyer, '21, as speaker pro-tem, Ross, '23, as secretary, and Tefft, '24, as sergeant-at-arms. G. Braun, '24, was elected to the newly created office of publicity secretary.

In the affirmative body of proof, Tennes brought out the point that a high tariff would result in a restriction on foreign competition in matters of farm produce, which in turn would bring about a higher selling price for the American products. He cited the conditions of extensive emigration from and loss of capital in England as an example of the governmental policy of low tariff.

The negative speaker contended that a low tariff would lower the price of machinery, which would make it more valuable for the average American farmer. With the greater influx of labor-saving machinery, hired help would become more plentiful. No restrictions on foreign trade would make a greater circulation of the American dollar, a condition which always results in prosperity.

Following the discussion, Dr. Swartley announced the subjects for later debate. On October 29, Carney, '21 and Dwyer, '21, will support the affirmative against McCluer, '21, and Tefft, '24, on the question, "Resolved, that the United States should declare its attitude toward the state of affairs in Ireland." On the following Friday, the question, "Resolved, that the Federal government should control the licensing of automobiles," will be debated by Bollinger, '23, and Bozic, '23, on the affirmative, and Skinner, '21, and Thoburn, '23, on the negative.

ANCIENT POMPEII

INTIMATE PORTRAYAL OF CUSTOMS AND INSTITUTIONS OF OLD CITY DISCUSSED BY PROF. C. F. ROSS

A lecture on Pompeii, very well illustrated by a large number of slides, was ably delivered by Prof. C. F. Ross at the first meeting of the Classical Club held on Tuesday, October 12, in Bentley Hall.

Mr. D. B. Brown was elected chairman of the meeting and the necessary business was transacted. Miss Nancy Graham, '21, was elected to membership.

Many views of Pompeii were shown and discussed by Professor Ross in a way that only one who has been there and studied the city of ruins could do. The discussion took in all points of interest such as the harbor, approach, Vesuvius, the luxurious homes, their paintings, architecture, altars, and tables as well as many of the public buildings such as the temples, the forum, and the theater. Samples of ashes from Vesuvius which buried Pompeii were shown. It was impossible to attend the meeting and not get a clear impression of a large number of phases of the life of ancient Pompeii.

The next meeting of the Classical Club will be held on November 2, election day, when Professor Fraser will discuss the election methods of the Greeks and Romans.

EDITORIAL

General contributions to the Campus from the student body at large this year have been conspicuous by their absence. To date all the articles which have been published have been written either by the staff or by a very few individuals who have signified their desire to compete for positions on the staff.

There are two very undesirable aspects to this situation. In the first place it is only those who desire positions on the staff of the publication who seem to take enough interest in it to make any contributions. Such a condition is one which can only react in an unfavorable way. The Campus is officially designated as the publication of the students of Allegheny College. It is the desire of the editor to make it so in fact as well as in name. Not only is it up to the individual student to contribute such news items and other articles as may come to his attention but it is essential to the best interests of our college paper that suggestions of all kinds be freely made.

The second aspect of the present situation which causes us considerable uneasiness is the fact that there are so very few students who seem to desire a place on the Campus staff for next year. It is the duty of the editor of a college publication not only to see that the paper fitly represents the school but also to build up a staff of competent assistants who will be able to carry on the work. A glance at the personnel of the present staff as published above will reveal the fact that 6 out of the 10 members are Seniors. This means that there will be a nucleus of only four people upon which to build a staff for next year. If the publication of this paper is to be continued beyond the present year without a break it is necessary that more students try for positions on the staff. This statement applies to Seniors as well as Freshmen and to Juniors in a very pertinent way as will appear in next week's paper.

The Campus Staff meets every Friday at 1:15 o'clock in the Campus office in Bentley Hall.

Poetical Slips

Home, Sweet Home

There's an ivy-covered cottage where the old folks wait for me,
'Neath the hills of Carolina by the sea;
In that quaint old-fashioned farmhouse I first saw the light of day—
Recollection paints the scenes so far away.
'Neath the clinging ivy vine there's a big Bull Durham sign,
On the chicken house it says, "Take Beecham's Pills;"
On the old red barn you read that
Castoria you need
And the pigsty advertises Crosby Mills.
Oh, the back fence is held up by Paris Garters
And the cow-shed sings the praise of Rubifoam.
Aunt Jemima's smiling face bids you welcome to the place—
That's the picture of my Carolina
home.
There's a wooden cow that gives Un-sweetened Cream
And a can of Heinz's Beans, also Burrough's Rustless Screens
And a life-size picture of the Gold Dust team.
Oh, the corner sings the wear of Slidetite brand Hardware
And the windmill represents a Gramophone.
On the back porch is a sign
Reading, "Mellen's Food for mine"—
That's a picture of my Carolina
home.

Watch Yourself Go By

Just stand aside and watch yourself go by;
Think of yourself as "he" instead of
"I".
Pick flaws; find fault; forget the
man is you,
And strive to make your estimate ring true.
The faults of others then will dwarf
and shrink,

for "I"
Have stood aside and watched your-

DUTTON SOCIETY MEETS

Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, the Dutton Society of Applied Science met in Ruter Hall to elect officers for the year, and to outline the work which that club will undertake this year.

Ten men were initiated, names to be announced at a later date.

An executive committee, consisting of Kinney, Grimes, Swanson, Pringle, and H. Miller was elected, and will assume the general direction of the societies' activities.

Officers elected are: Secretary,
Glade Fuller; Treasurer, John Bird, and Librarian, Ross Steetle. The duties of President are disposed of by the executive committee.

After election and initiation, the meeting was given over to social purposes.

Skinned

Well! Well! exclaimed Mrs. Talker looking up from the morning paper.
Boots and shoes should be getting much cheaper now. Here's a paragraph that states that they are being made from all sorts of skins even rat skins; and then, trying to be funny she added: I wonder what they will do with banana and orange skins?

Oh, my dear, replied her husband,
they make slippers!

ing; but I've had my breakfast."

How sweet is love
But yet, how bitter:
To love a girl
And then not gitter.
She pass, I smile
She smile at my smile
How could she know
Her petticoat was hanging Down a mile.

A young Swede in South Dakota who had been sent out to collect bills for the general store, returned with this report:
"Yon Brown, he pay when he sell his wheat; Ole Oleson, he say he pay

"In January," repeated the proprietor, surprised. "Why, he never set a

January?"
"Vell, Ay tank it bane January. He say it bane dam cold day when you

COLD ANALYSIS OF ALLEGHENY TEAM

By Football Experts. It Seems as Though They Have the Dope.

Grove City is pointing.
Allegheny is pointing.
This means that there will be a great battle on Montgomery Field next Saturday afternoon, October 30th. The best game of the season is expected by two teams that will be capable of putting up a real football battle. Another very large crowd is expected to be present to see these two foes lock horns in their annual battle which has never proven to be anything less than a great battle.

Coach Thorne knows what Allegheny has, while Coach Applegran knows what to expect from Grove City. Scouts from Grove City saw the Blue and Gold in action in the battle with Dickinson a week ago and scouts from Allegheny saw the Maroon smother St. Bonaventure College last Saturday. Thus it would seem that each team will be ready to face all that the other team can produce. All this will be decided out of order at the conclusion of Saturday's fracas.

At the start of the season Grove City had a big edge on Allegheny. Injuries and scholastic difficulties had somewhat retarded the Allegheny mentor. The failure of Terry Thomas to land on the eligible list was a severe blow. Dale, one of the ends of the 1918 team has been injured. Secor, Wills, Gordon, Plumb, Kramer and Parker have been on the hospital list but will be ready for Saturday's game. Dan Murphy, a tackle, has failed to develop as rapidly as expected. "Hoppy" Miller, Allegheny's most clever back, is out for the rest of the season with a broken bone in his ankle. Coach Applegran will have a hard time to find a punter on a par with Miller. Murphy and Plumb are possibilities but both are erratic.

Wonders have been accomplished at Allegheny this season in moulding together an eleven from material that, to say the least, was anything but promising. The coach has shifted and shifted in an effort to secure a winning combination. In spite of the fact that no games have been won to date, everyone will admit that the team has more than fulfilled expectations. Never in Allegheny's football history has the school faced the class of teams that they must meet this season.

At present Allegheny has a strong backfield. With "Jimmy" Russell at quarter, Graham and Plumb at halves and Ray Cunningham at full, the Blue and Gold has a fine quartette in the rear of the line. Morley, Secor, Dykes, Wills and Houser are capable substitutes who can be relied upon when ever they are given their chance. The Blue and Gold's line is somewhat on the order of the Maroon's forward wall, only much lighter. Both lines have been disappointments to the coaches and supporters of their respective schools. Grove City's tackles are dependable. They should be better than Allegheny's tackles. At guards the Blue and Gold have the edge. In Loomis, Allegheny has a real star, while Wright and Jones, the latter a regular from last year, may come through. If they do, they certainly will take a lion's share of the honor, providing Allegheny wins. Grove City has a pretty good pair of guards and a good center. Putts should go well against the Blue and Gold. He has as opponent, Dundon, who is a good snapper back.

On the flanks Allegheny has the edge. Grove City has no such end as Baldwin. Dale would have been a grand running-mate for Baldy but in Schultz or Nelson, the veteran Blue and Gold end has a very capable partner. Bohlender and Smith, the Grove City flankers, are a bit green but have ability. There is but slight fear of their falling down on defense. The real test of these two will come on offense. And right here is the kernel of the nut. If Baldwin and Schultz can handle the Maroon tackles, then Graham, Plumb and Cunningham can hit off tackle, knowing that they will receive aid. On the other hand it will be decidedly discouraging for the backfield men to strike into the line minus proper aid from these two ends, who must handle the Grove City tackles.

The Allegheny backfield certainly figures that Baldwin's side of the line will be good for an opening. That they will try short end runs also seems assured. Just how far the forward pass will go remains to be seen. The Grove City backfield is very heavy. Jones, whom we all know well and Stephanian, known for his excellent basketball play, are not green at the game. On the contrary they are just as experienced and more so than the Blue and Gold backfield.

The Allegheny defense will be a pretty stiff affair, providing of course, that each man plays the style he has been taught. The Maroon defense will also be tight. It is in the attack that the visitors may have the edge, and it is in the attack that football games are decided. In the Thiel and Dickinson games the Blue and Gold backs did not receive the necessary help from the line. If Allegheny's line comes through, and plays the game that they did against Colgate, the Blue and Gold will have the edge on Grove City in the attack. Allegheny has no kicker in the class with Putts nor have they a punter in the class of Jones.

In the matter of substitutes, the Maroon have a decided edge. The Blue and Gold are weak in this department. Cunningham, Graham and Plumb have no substitutes who are near the calibre of men necessary to stack against Grove City. There are no three men on Allegheny's squad who, even remotely, compare with Baldwin, Kramer or Loomis. The backfield has several good men who can step in and fill necessary vacancies.

The game will be bitterly contested, for every Allegheny-Grove City game always has been. Substitutes will be necessary. This one point may decide the game.

The contest looms as one of the greatest of the year. Allegheny is pessimistic—that is, Applegran is pessimistic. (Applegran is a student of Zuppke, the great Illinois mentor, and who ever heard of Zuppke being anything but a pessimist). Grove City is determined, enthusiastic. No coach nor coaches can stop the spirit of the Grove City team from reaching great heights. Allegheny is a wise team. Enthusiasm is a wonderful asset but prudence is also, and the Blue and Gold men are indeed prudent. Cold cunning and football wisdom are the assets in favor of Allegheny. Enthusiasm and determination will help Grove City as it has always in the past. When great enthusiasm, intermingled with determination, meets football wisdom, sprinkled with harsh prudence which will win? Saturday's game will tell the tale.

INTERCLASS SOCCER

With Field Day now a thing of the past, the two under classes may justly turn their attention, athletically speaking, again to soccer football. Coach William Jackson, of the soccer squad, has been out on the field every practice afternoon in hopes of finding enough men interested in the game who will come out to practice. A few good practice games have been played and the material for a good college team has been evidenced.

On Thanksgiving morning the second clash between the Frosh and Sophs will take place on Montgomery Field. The first game between these two teams was played on Field Day and the second year men won by scoring one goal in the closing minutes of play due to the experience of the Frosh. This game on Turkey Day should be filled with some good soccer as members of each class have been picking up the game in rapid order.

It is expected that from now on both classes will turn out in larger numbers for the practice sessions with the coach. It has been suggested that each class make arrangements to have a certain time each week for the practice of that class and that enough men from that class turn out for two or three full teams and that the team which is to fight it out with the other class be selected from among the best of the material which turns out. It might be well for the captains of the teams to get together and to make arrangements which will be satisfactory to all concerned and at the same time give each class the advantage of team work under the instruction of Coach Jackson.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNING

Cross country running will again be ushered back into the list of sports at Allegheny on Saturday afternoon, November 13. The annual cross country race which has not been held here for a few years will be run off as a preliminary to the Westminster football game. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the contestants who finish in first, second and third place respectively. These medals which are of a very attractive design have arrived and Prof. Hammett announces that they will be put on exhibition in the near future.

The exact course of the run has not as yet been decided upon, though Coach Fahr and Leader Bernard have one or two tentative courses to choose from. If the road be in such poor condition that the race can not be run without chance of injury to the participants the race will be run off on Montgomery Field.

The largest percentage of the men out for cross country are from the two underclasses. The upper classes will be well represented by quality rather than by the quantity of the men out. Among the most promising men out for the event from the upper classes are Bacon '21, Bernard '21 and Ruse '21 and Brevort and Russell both of the class of '22. Others who are out are: McIntire, Dale, Conrath, Bird, Wright, Youngs, Limber, Weaver and Bozic.

We Beat Them to It

The Student Council is now considering the formation of an "A" club at Amherst. All who have won a varsity letter in any major sport would form the membership of such a club, whose purpose is to foster the athletic interests of the college.—The Amherst Student.

BUG'S CLUB INITIATES

Wierd noises began to issue from Alden Hall Tuesday night a little after seven o'clock, when nine new members of the Biology Club were initiated.

The committee in charge of initiations showed rare originality in their choice of stunts for the initiates.

Blindfolded, members were led from one part of the building to another, and each room visited proved to be a chamber of horrors.

To misquote Colridge, "slimy things did slime and creep"—but Colridge couldn't begin to tell the story.

After initiation, a collation was provided in that original way peculiar to the Biologists.

After refreshments, the initiates performed "stunts" to the satisfaction of all members.

To distribute the fun a little, only half of the new members were initiated. Next Tuesday is the date set for initiating the second contingent.

In a few weeks Tingley Biology Club ("Bug's Club" isn't it's real name) will undertake the more serious work of the year, which has for its purpose the collecting of specimens for the college museum, and the study of the environs of Meadville both as to biological and geological interest.

Members initiated Tuesday are: P. G. Cullum, Guy Lawhead, Clifford Skinner, Anne Lowry, Sarah Coulter, Helen Kirk, Thomas Francis, John Henderson, and LaVerne Parker.

From a Girl's Diary

Monday—Virgil tried to hug me.
Tuesday—Tried again.
Wednesday—Ditto.
Thursday—Said if I didn't let him next time we went riding he would turn the car over and kill us all.
Friday—I saved seven lives today.
—Exchange.

Investigating

A small boy came hurriedly down the street, and halted breathlessly in front of a stranger going in the same direction.

"Have you lost a dollar?" he asked with his hand in his pocket.
"Yes, yes, I believe I have!" said the stranger feeling in his pockets.
"Have you found one?"
"Oh, no," said the small boy. "I just want to see how many have been lost today. Yours makes fifty-four!"

Lucky Hayes

"You say you haven't anything to be thankful for?" said the clergyman to one of his parishioners. "Why look at your neighbor, Hayes; he has lost his wife by influenza."
"Well," said the parishioner, "that don't do me any good; I ain't Hayes."

There was once a verdant young frosh, who took a maid to a dance in Oshkosh.
When he said, "Wont you gimme 'A look at the shimmy?"
She replied, "I can't sir, it's in the wash."
—Gargoyle.
