The proper weight of fact and fun,

John F. Eberhart

To

John F. Eberhart,

Son of the Old

and

Friend of the New

Allegheny,

This Kaldron is respectfully dedicated

Of all the many friends I have had in early life, none have been as valuable to me and contributed as much to my advancement and pleasure in all that is good in life as dear old Allegheny College. I venerate her memory, and have the greatest hope for her future.

No class of persons appeal to me more feelingly than the young man and woman who are about to step out of the recitation room into the great world of life and action. May God bless you all and inspire you in your labor in creating a better humanity.

Yours very truly,

In the interest of old Allegheny College,

John D. Eberhart

To

President William H. Crawford

and

all the loyal friends of Allegheny

Who have lately assisted him so grandly in his efforts for the Newer Allegheny.

Foreword

To us was given this MISSION: to preserve for our fellow student a memorial of one Allegheny year with all its activities, and to present to his friends a true picture of life at Allegheny as it really is.

Our ENDEAVOR has been to portray this life, with all its foibles and follies, as well as its serious aspects, accurately and faithfully. For the most part we have placed fact for fact, but in some instances we have substituted for the highly sensitive photographic plate, the more personal stroke of the camel's hair brush, dipped in a solution of mingled humor and kindness.

The RESULT we now present to you and let you judge whether or not we have fulfilled our trust.

SENIOR CLASS AT PRESENT.

SENIOR CLASS AS FRESHMEN.

Then and Now

The Glorious Past,
The Triumphant Present,
The Auspicious Future
of 1 9 1 2.

Never before had the Allegheny world been so stirred, never again will it be forced to gaze in open-mouthed wonder as it did then in the fall of 1908 when the famous class of 1912 appeared on the college campus. Prexie in his excitement and in his eagerness to welcome such an unusual crowd of infant prodigies, was about to give them all the Phi Beta Kappa grip, when Dr. Elliott, always calm and collected, nudged him and whispered, "Be careful, Bill, we cannot give it to all of them—although we would like to"—this with a sly glance at Dr. Snavely who was wiggling his ears into the shape of a ? ready to hear something startling. Strange to say, that class was, is, and will be an enigma too puzzling even for "inquisitive Guy."

Nineteen Hundred and Eleven's lavendar and white were peculiarly changed into the green of jealously as they saw the place they had vacated filled by a crowd of superior beings. They were forced to acknowledge the supremacy of the brown and the gold and with a peculiar twinge of envy watched 1912 soar far above them into the realms of oratory, of debate, and of intellectual greatness. If at any time this remarkable class displayed a revolutionary spirit by trying to introduce something new into the curriculum of the college, the Faculty merely shook their heads and smiled benignly down on the culprits, crediting that misdemeanor to an overflow of intellect rather than to an ungovernable disposition.

Too rapidly, it seems, passed the years of Sophomore "Know it all" and Junior ease until 1912 reached the "Now" of Senior dignity. "Now and 1912." ."Now and the best class leaving," moans Professor Dutton, as in his dreams he reaches for a Senior's ear and fails to grasp it. "Now and the sublime and pathetic departure of the brightest, happiest, most joyous collection of individuals that ever existed," sighs Dr. Lockwood as he thinks of those Senior orations. "Now and no more gauntlets to run," wails the Freshie. Now, and to 1912 it is a present filled with the memories of past victories, the expeditions of future greatness, and to President Crawford it is a now that he shall commemorate every year, when he points to that wonderful mass of brown and gold and shall say, "My Banner Class."

GEORGE JOHN ALGIER,
Glen Hazel Pa.

Another Junior that feared the results of "Unlucky Thirteen" and moved up to more auspicious surroundings. Ordinarily presents a very youthful appearance but his achievements in the class room would lead one to think that he had dangled his feet in the Flood. Showed his firm belief in a liberal education by taking a course in fussing his last year.

Theta Delta Psi.

MARGARET ELLEN MEGIRT.
Union City, Pa.

Had a lonesome mien all her Senior year, despite dailies from Boston. Even finds Mephistopheles dull and says Greek IV isn't like it used to be, although we've done the best we could. One of the class literati, especially in humor. Toasted the good old days at the Washington Birthday Banquet. The girl with a charming smile and twinkling eyes. Very clever. She says she never loses her temper, and everyone agrees.

HORACE THOMAS LAVELY.
"Dag."
Meadville, Pa.

A minister's son, but you wouldn't know it. Miss Spalding's star "Speechifier" in chapel. Expects to take train for Boston. Faithful in basketball—helped make varsity team a success for three years. He kept the (black sheep) Athletic Association on the move; says, "go single but open your mouth," also an advocate of the "get together" idea. Real hero of the gridiron, but he bribed the railroad company to give him stopovers at Youngstown, Ohio, when on football trips.

Delta Tau Delta.

CHARLES LAWRENCE LORE.
"Chuck."
Vandergrift, Pa.

Brisk little fellow. He and Doc. Bill lead Classical Club. Showed his managerial ability by making a few hundred on basketball. Whale in Greek. Took Nodine's place in the pawn-shop, but doesn't look like a Jew. He helped to hold down the mound (in baseball). Another silent fusser, a standpatter, now and then. Has already attained an A. M. dignity.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

AUGUSTA GIBBONS.
"Gustie."
Sharon, Pa.

Possessor of a mysterious second name. Wears an Alpha Tau Omega pin, but we don't know. Once exposed to Doc Bill's Greek epidemic for a year but not a classical student. Famous as a member of the notorious Chain Gang. Not a blithe tongue but bubbling with fun. Claims relationship to the Cardinal but we think that she is Scotch.

Kappa Alpha Theta.

FRANK HOWARD CALLAHAN.
"Cal."
Johnstown, Pa.

A constant reader of the book, "A Record of My Noble Deeds." Has tried religiously for four years to get a college case. Piloted the Lit entirely upon his own responsibility. An Irishman but ashamed of his race. Has a coy little way of calling all the girls by their first names.

"O, what a power you would be in the ministry." Seems fated to be interested in some one by the name of Bess.

Phi Delta Theta.

MARGARET ELLEN WEST,
"Marg."
Jamestown, Pa.

Started to school when she lived at Corry and is therefore not rsponsible for her many love affairs. Comes to the call of "A Perfect Day." Always been a confidential friend of the Dean. Took advanced English, because "it is so journalistic." Said to have her future plans fully completed.

Has a teaching position so we are sure of her for next year.

Kappa Kappa Gamma.

WILLARD FINLEY MAXWELL.
"Bill."
Oil City, Pa.

Made the faces for the first tenor in the Glee Club for the past four years. Has been designated as a cross between Caruso and George Cohan with a touch of Julia Marlowe. Always takes a woman's part. (See the Duzer Du casts.) A Senior tea god. Knows a little about everything.

Would have made a good box manager for William Shakespeare.

Phi Delta Theta.

LYNN MERL DAVIS,
North Girard, Pa.

Acquired his intellectual training at Edinboro, and decided to come to Allegheny for the attainment of social graces. Loyalty to his former alma mater shown by the backward lacing of his oxfords.—O, such beautiful bows! Sings "A Perfect Day" with much feeling—according to Miss Spalding. Charter member of the famous Theta Delta Psi quartette. One of Rooter Hunt's scientific proteges.

Theta Delta Psi.

ARTHUR RUETTGERS.
"Art."
Brooklyn, N. Y.

Comes from Brooklyn and has a real Noo Yook accent. Served as the model for Lemmie B's public speaking class in Freshman year. Gives Dutch readings for the Glee Club. A Math prodigy—is said never to have made less than 50. A little lad but the right sort.

Delta Tau Delta.

ELMA WHITE,
Meadville, Pa.

A wielder of the bow who has captured a beau outside of college. Has opened her home for the past four years to the Phi Gam-Alpha Gam cases. One of the sympathetic minds that managed to keep McClure from being lonesome. Also will be remembered by a lot of people for "helps" along the way. Runs West College Hulings Hall. Will take up musical harmonies—especially domestic.

Alpha Gamma Delta.

DONALD CHESTER THOMPSON.
"Cicero."
Meadville, Pa.

Shirked the price of an Encyclopedia Brittannica by committing it to memory. Utilized as a "Ready Reference in Supreme Court Cases" by Dr. Benjamin. Has a very ready tongue, having a speaking knowledge of French, German, Spanish, Russian, Swedish, Hebrew, Sanscript, etc. Is planning to do graduate work in Ancient Chinese Literature.

CARL NEWTON MORE.
"Chug."
Batavia, Ill.

A would-be Barney Oldfield. Uncle Prexy William serves as his father confessor. A r osy cheeked cherub. Deserves a scholarship for consistent class-room work. A punster who is noted for his punk puns. Followed Peterson's lead in college fashions. See calendar for November 28.

Gave up the pleasure of running his new machine during Easter vacation to help Uncle Prexy raise the endowment fund.

Phi Kappa Psi.

CAROLINE LAUFFER,
Harrison City, Pa.

Takes after Tim Hughes, i. e., does not boast of a second name. Said to be an adept at crossing log bridges. A young lady of very definite ideas and does not hesitate to express them —ask Dr. Benjamin if you doubt this. Had Sum interest in the Phi Gams her Freshman year.

Picks her friends from those who are always ready to express their opinions.

Kappa Kappa Gamma.

FRANK OWEN AMON,
Greenville, Pa.

A man with an enormous capacity for study but a thorough gentleman withal. Saved his Senior year for social manoeuvers. Slings hash at Cochran Hall and attends Classical Club. Got a new dress suit this year and joined the Mandolin Club. A consistent advocate of Senior tea. Intends to spend another year under the sheltering wing of old Allegheny.

GLENN HUSTON DAVISON.
"Becky."
Diamond, Pa.

One of Prof. Manville's song birds. Frequents the Academy of Music—especially the pit. A diamond in the rough but has taken the Allegheny polish beautifully. Actively sympathetic where a certain "college widow" is concerned—ask Miss Dorworth. The only member of the Lit board whom the editor was forced to take notice of—and that merely because he held the purse strings. "I only lisp thometimes when I thay thoft thoap and things like that."
Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

NELLIE MAY BOLLMAN.
"Nell."
Irwin, Pa.

Occasionally presents a scowling appearance which is not, however, a sign that she is angry. It's just a habit of hers. Perhaps she has caught it from Margaret. One of the illustrious Irwin contingent. Capital entertainer at Senior tea and knows everybody's foibles well enough to carry along the conversation and keep it interesting. Like some of the other Senior girls, she expects to teach, but we do not expect her to be at that long.

HENRY S. H. LEITZEL.
"Flying Dutchman."
Braddock, Pa.

Has been listening for the sound of wedding bells for three years. The mainstay of the Student Volunteers. Managed the 1911 Kaldron and cleared $47.02 in "shootin' iron" ads. Has sent in his application for a charge with a parsonage attached. The college photographer. "Tall and slender, kind and tender." Uses Brother Lockwood for a model and therefore takes life seriously.
Delta Tau Delta.

RUTH ELIZABETH DORWORTH,
Oil City, Pa.

Captured her first man when she came to Allegheny as a Freshman and has never let Rus get away. Keeps the song, "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave" from becoming obsolete. Expects to instruct the younger generation in the art of conversation. One of the Oil City contingent.
Alpha Chi Omega.

ETHEL SALMON,
Westport, Conn.

"Aint never hurt nobody, no time." Swims steadily up-stream, but never jumps out of the water and makes a splash. A quaint student who apparently hates to have anyone know how smart she is. Always attends class meetings. Loves everybody alike. So far as is known has no affinity unless he lives in Connecticut. One of the domestic type which counterbalanced the ravings of the Hulings' suffragettes.

ROSS BURNS LITTEN,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hails from the Smoky City but always looks clean. Does everything with a precision, even to leading a college sing. "You may stand on this song, please." Of a poetic train of mind but never found a kindred spirit until his Senior year. Lives up by Hulings Hall because it is so noisy at the Phi Delt house. Associate member of the Lit board.
Phi Delta Theta.

MARY JANE PATTERSON.
"Mary Pat."
Homestead, Pa.

A very compact aggregation of femininity but charged to the nth power with enthusiasm. One of the leading spirits in the suffragette movement for a greater loyalty to 1912. Was once quite consistent in affairs of the heart but passed Lore in search of Joy during her Senior year. Noted for her enthusiastic rooting at athletic events.

Alpha Chi Omega.

FLORENCE GRACE McELWAIN.
Sheakleyville, Pa.

Asked to wear an M. M. A. pin, but lost it lately. Holds the record for slow walking. Always the last one in. Spent a pleasant Christmas vacation in Franklin. Ask Ab. about it. Her nose is inclined to turn up from sniffing so often. Has had Senior dignity for four years. One of the "good lookers" at the Hall.

Kappa Alpha Theta.

ARTHUR CARLTON NODINE.
"Art."
Titusville, Pa.

Better known as Allegheny College Nodine. Was honest until he undertook to run the Book Store. Has a seven year friendship. (See Miss Shelmadine.) Says there is no place like Brantford, Canada, to sell aluminum and get into high society. Left at the beginning of the second semester to become financial advisor for a freshwater college out west.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

OSCAR HENRY BODENHORN.
"Bodey."
New Bethlehem, Pa.

Everyone likes Bodey. He was one of the huskies who was hard to nick in football and has maintained the reputation of a steady fellow, always there, throughout his course. Bodey's ever cheerful smile will help a lot in the world and when anyone wants a lift, his shoulder will be at the wheel. Uses pails of water to keep his hair "straight." A man of brass tacks.

Delta Tau Delta.

FLORENCE JUNEBELL SHIRES.
"June."
Mansfield, Ohio.

Better known as "the other Miss Shires." Has won the name of "sister" on account of her interest in the family. Helps Dud buy Christmas presents. A faithful Y. W. C. A. worker. Extremely quiet until she starts to talk and then— Although of decided English descent has a very good command of German, for instance, Baum.

Alpha Chi Omega.

LIDA ALMA GEISS,
Wilmerding, Pa.

Chief warbler of the Girls' Glee Club. A protege of Miss Bork and swears by her loyally. Expects to leave for California in June never to return, so the fellow in Cleveland must be going too, but we don't know why Hendricks went to Pitt. Intends to make music her profession, but will specialize in concerts for two. Contributed an Allegheny song and lyric lullabies.

Alpha Gamma Delta.

BERDEEN BRAYMER,
Meadville, Pa.

An enthusiast in religious circles. Interested in a certain "car-a-Van." Chief Dean of the Hall Annex. A protege of Miss Beebe. Studies. Has been known to have broken hearts often. A consistent reader of "Advice to Ministers' Wives." Writes love stories for the Lit. Will probably teach elementary math. as she has always practised making little things count.

Alpha Gamma Delta.

THOMAS HUGHES.
"Tim."
Wheeling, W. Va.

Has a name well suited to a nom de plume. Thinks he has a receding chin. Faithful to the black-haired girl in Wheeling. Fond of telling when "me, my friend Clayton Hamilton, and the other celebrities were at Chautauqua this summer." Constantly obliged to guard his dignity by warning, "Don't get so dang familiar."

Phi Delta Theta.

ANNE HELENE PECK.
"Polly."
Bellevue, Pa.

A Titan blonde. Her favorite literature is George Fitch's "Dan Cupid, My Old College Chum." An accomplished French Madamoiselle. Always a willing pianist at Class rehearsals and events. Has been attended by Danny ever since he appeared in our midst. Possesses an athletic temperament.

Kappa Alpha Theta.

WESLEY ERNEST ABBOTT.
"Wes."
Sugar Grove, Pa.

Was a policeman at Chautauqua last summer. Owes his physical development to the Chautauqua Club Basketball team. An ardent admirer of certain specimens of medieval architecture. A regular attendant at the Hall in spite of that. Charter member of the Bugs Club. Has his picture in many places in the college Hall of Fame, the Trophy Room.

Phi Kappa Psi.

WILHELMINA MARIA ANDERSON.
"Billy."

Of stately mein and regal bearing. Noted for having braved the hardships of Physics I and survived. Elected secretary of the Scientific Club but never bothered with the compiling of minutes. Fairly well acquainted with the wiles of Cupid. Insists on viewing life from a strictly scientific standpoint.

Alpha Chi Omega.

ALFRED ROSE McCLURE.
"Mac."
Sandy Lake, Pa.

The last Rose from 1911. Hails from Sandy Lake but knows more about Corry. Is still a jolly good fellow even if he has lost his fraternity pin. Expects to go back to his home town and grind buckwheat. Can beat Dad Ling once in a while at tennis.

Sentenced to a year's hard work on the Athletic Board in his Senior year.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

ELIZABETH PAULINE LING.

"Bess."

Meadville, Pa.

Daughter of Dad, but don't hold that against her. Hobnobs with Frank C. A footlight favorite in French V play, 1911. As president of Le Petit Salon, she found it hard to vote against the "Saloon Backers." Keeps Callahan busy to take the place of a jam. Quite a linguist in the Modern Language Courses. She has the Western idea of hospitality.

Kappa Kappa Gamma.

HOWARD HARRISON HAMMAN.

"Ham-an-eggs."

Greensburg, Pa.

Has never been able to secure a hat that will harmonize with his golden locks so he goes without. "Take it from me, I could run this college better than Prex." Famous for twice-told jokes left over from the musical circuit of the Kensington Quartet. When a Junior served as a target for a perfect score in the egg match held by the Senior-Sophs. An adept at rushing.

Theta Delta Psi.

CECELIA ELIZABETH McCLURE

Titusville, Pa.

Tootsie hails from Titusville and is no relation of Mac's. On Billy Maxwell's campus list. The one magnet that attracts Harrison Hunt from his books. A member of the M. N. S. and looks it. The best natured girl in the class and star cook for the Alpha Chis.

A quiet student who gets there without bluffing.

Alpha Chi Omega.

LYMAN BEECHER ANGUS.

"Tags."

Conemaugh, Pa.

One of Manville's grand opera finds. Must have descended from one of the ten lost tribes, judging from facial appearances. Expected to go to Drew Seminary and become a parson but has been almost persuaded to enter Lyceum work. For him the feminine hath no charms—so Hulings avers, but you just ought to see him at home. Vies with Hamman in setting the criterion of dress for Theta Delta Psi.

Theta Delta Psi.

WILLIAM ELIAS SHEFFER.

"Bill."

Lamartine, Pa.

Bill always played a leading part in debate trios. The prize scholar in Public Speaking IV. Cheerfully gives both brains and brawn to the college world. Earned some block A's and has coaxed the Faculty to give him some more. Follows consistently the motto, "Do we each day our daily work and Phi Beta Kappa will take care of itself."

Delta Tau Delta.

GRACE MARY PRENATT,

Meadville, Pa.

Lives in town and has a phenomenal number of A's. Always ready to lend her home for class sings. Has never rendered herself conspicuous by working up a college case, but we understand that "there's a reason." Has red hair but always happy and good natured in spite of that.

JOHN PRICE McCLELLAN.
Johnny Mac."
Irwin, Pa.

Has stuck to Allegheny for five years through thin and thinner. Shines in Doc Benjamin's classes. Is anxiously waiting for the Socialistic regime, "When all the money will be divided and every fellow will get his share." Took life seriously his Senior year. Never known to visit Hulings Hall except at Thanksgiving parties.

Delta Tau Delta.

FLORENCE BEATRICE DONLIN,
Meadville, Pa.

Another member of the local constituency. One of the most loyal members of 1912. Always attends Senior teas and class parties. A German student of rare ability and also seen frequently in Frank L's classes—but seldom heard. Sparkles in down town social circles. Trips the light fantastic with great grace, so they say.

MILDRED MAY REED.
"Bunny."
Crafton, Pa.

Her brain is like a diamond, clear cut but unset. Stars in English and everything else. Has not changed outwardly since she first went to High School. Never staggered by any assignment. Lives in the Library on philosophy readings. Realizing that anything below 49 would be a fatal shock to Mildred, the Profs all give her perfect marks. Liable to fly off to Heaven any minute and when there will make the angels sit up and take notice. Is said to have memorized the new Encyclopedia Brittannica.

CELIA FORNEY SHIRES,
Mansfield, Ohio.

The main reason why Professor Ballinger is on the college Faculty. Is a strong believer in the proverb that "A man without hair is a bare possibility." Deferred her college course two years out of sisterly affection. Hails from Ohio and helps to maintain the standard of excellence of the Buckeye contingency.

Alpha Chi Omega.

HARRISON RANDALL HUNT.
"Harry."
Meadville, Pa.

Made himself famous early in his college course by turning down Quill Club. So accustomed to grinding that he uses a food chopper at meals. Has helped the varsity debating team win for four years straight. Made a notable athletic speech in chapel and has been known ever since as a loyal—"rooter." Originator of the "go-double-if-you-dare" club.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

LOUISE TORRENCE JORDAN,
Meadville, Pa.

The essence of concentrated extract of Doc Elliott's Greek. Although a three-year senior, 1912 has no more loyal daughter. Physician advised rest so she moved to Hulings for her Senior year. Charter member of the Mumps Club. The exponent of Greek hospitality at Senior teas.

One of those rare scholars who always gladdens a prof's heart.

ADELAIDE REMLER,
Meadville, Pa.

Twin star with Miss Prenatt. Considers a mark less than 49 a blot on her escutcheon. Browses about in the language course, hence is an accomplished linguist. Sparkles in Le Petit Salon, scintillates in the German Club. Well liked by all who know her. Ever ready with a pleasant smile at Senior teas.

SUMNER ELY NICHOLS.
"Sum."
Girard, Pa.

Sum, the real Son of Rest. Fell asleep in '08, according to the calendar, and has never waked up yet. Probably has heart trouble—we don't know. Has broken more hearts than Lawrence Riddle. Managed the 1911 football team and helped run the Athletic Association $600 in debt. Doesn't confine his fussing to college circles.

Phi Gamma Delta.

FRED KARL HERPLE.
"Herp."
Reynoldsville, Pa.

Has hair almost as yellow as Hamman's, and combs it the same way. Goes to chapel only to view college femininity of which his scientific schedule deprives him in the class room. Says that he can play tennis. President of the Scientific Club but has never been given a chance to preside. Admired afar by college girls but fusses down town. Says college is the place to grow—in height.

Theta Delta Psi.

CHESTER ALLAN BAUM.
"Ches."
Franklin, Pa.

Tradition says he never expressed an opinion. Always preserves a gentle excuse-me attitude, and does not care for bluffing, but withal makes good marks. Attained a beautiful pompadour after earnest tonsorial efforts. Chester has been detected in sundry, more or less successful, attempts at fussing, but never when he thought anyone was looking.

Delta Tau Delta.

MARIE ABRILLA FISHER,
Sharon, Pa.

Rose of Sharon. The maiden with the dimples. Another one of the "supposed engaged young ladies who has ensnared some defenseless man by her winsome smile." But she says the gossips do not know where of they speak and declines any knowledge even of Buffalo. Spent her first year on the "campus" list and then decided to live with relatives in town. Spent last summer at Cornell.

Alpha Gamma Delta.

MARGEUERITE BLACK SHELMADINE.
"Maggie."
Pleasantville, Pa.

Lives in a suburb of Titusville. Shares Nodine's views in reference to Platonic friendships. The head of the Hulings Hall Home Guard. Saw greater New York at the expense of the Student Government.

Served as an understudy to Miss Spalding, when on a reading tour. Often sought out for her opinion in weighty matters. Joined the Bugs Club this last term.

Kappa Alpha Theta.

CHARLES STANLEY SMITH.
"Stan."
Meadville, Pa.

The steadiest fusser in college. Landed a preaching job while on a Glee Club trip to Utica. Put himself through college at the expense of the book-buying public. Notwithstanding his fears to the contrary has managed to escape capture, although his Senior year was leap year. One of the big cheeses in the Modern Problems Club.

Going to be a Presbyterian parson. Booked for Auburn.

KATHERINE E. WHEELING.
"Katrinka."
Oil City, Pa.

A special friend of the Snavelys.' Kept Hillman true to Miss Norton her Junior year. Has been taking considerable English this year. A quiet unassuming little blonde who has made a niche for herself in college circles and has filled it.

An untiring watcher at the altar of class spirit of 1912.

ROBERT JAMES PIERSOL.
"Bobbie."
Bentleyville, Pa.

Stolen from the class of 1913. One of the followers of the shoe brush style of coiffeur. A tennis shark—played with Miss Castle when Abbott was in the country. A chronic, not an acute, fusser. Is said to be an orator. One of those quiet fellows that knows more than he can possibly tell.

JANE BERTHA LOCKWOOD,
Clarendon, Pa.

Came back from Mt. Union her Junior year wearing a Sigma Nu pin. Is preparing herself for the role of a minister's wife. Never known to wear a frown and tries to be cute. Carved her way into Klee-O-Kleet with the sword of "Stratford." Always prays, "Give us this day our daily bread" and apparently has her prayers answered.

Alpha Xi Delta.

JOHN A. MUELLER STEWART.
"Jam."
Beaver, Pa.

Has a number of disconcerting admires him. Famous for his sympathetic interpretation of "The Allegheny Girl." Something of a pessimist his first two years in college but usually seen semi-Ling while an upper classman. Was lured back to Pitt for graduate work.

Deserted the Glee Club at Irwin and never came back. Has a delicate distaste for masculine activities but can run his own auto. Preferred a cozy corner at Burch's rather than a characteristics but then everybody seat at an athletic event.

Phi Gamma Delta.

BARBARA L. DEANE.
"Barb."
Bridgeport, Conn.

A New England acquisition. Most cosmopolitan "fusseress" in her sorority. Enthusiastic president of the Girls' Athletic Association. Knows how to play basketball. Took sabbatic leave to visit the land of William Shakespeare in '09 and '10. Wrote her Senior thesis during summer vacation. Makes mighty good candy; Billy Maxwell won a bet and he knows. One of the Hulings disciplinarians.

Alpha Gamma Delta.

WILLIAM F. DALZELL.
"Billy."
Moundsville, W. Va.

Another one of the boys from the South. Made a reputation as a student his Freshman year. Never shone as a college fusser but has made sundry journeys to Lake Erie College and Warren, Pa. Famed as a tennis shark and as a wily diplomat. Displayed distinct Hebrew traits in the presentation of "School for Scandal." Expects to enter High Finance.

Phi Delta Theta.

MARY STUART SOWASH,
Irwin, Pa.

Comes from Irwin and therefore knew Prof. Dewey in prehistoric days. A genuine blue stocking Presbyterian who enrolls the Freshman girls for Sunday School on Registration Day. The big chief of the Y. W. C. A., but approves of the good times at Hunnewell. Insists that she never did grind.

Might play a leading role in Gibson's "Study Hour." Note book system rivals any of the professors.

Kappa Kappa Gamma.

ROBERT WELLER THOMAS.
"Bim."
Conneaut, Ohio.

The only stude in the Bug's Club. Vocalizes on "Beulah Land." "Yon Cassius has a lean and hungry look." Helps to keep the campus grass from becoming visible. Once froze his ears between Hulings and the home on Prospect street. Does not eat all his meals at the Sig House. In everything of any account in college and yet keeps the Faculty encouraged that all students are not dead yet.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

WELDON ROY GRANT.
"Black."
Meadville, Pa.

Formerly of class of 1911, but got married. Accustomed to grab spheres from the athmosphere at Athletic Park. Oldest member of the Grant trio. Engineer of two kinds, domestic and civil. We heard him say something once. A product of association with "Dut." Distinguished from "Red" because his hair is black. A quiet plugger whose motto is "Stick to it."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

NED OSTHAUS,
Glendale, Ohio.

He spent his Freshman year in Harvard, but the snobbishness didn't take. Made a record in pole-vaulting. A good tale-teller and so made good as a book agent last summer. Kept Biology Lab. in an uproar one year, where he vied with Gany Meade in witticism. A good fellow and we wish him success. Instructed in salt works in the west.

CHARLES ELLSWORTH VOGEL.
"Chuck."
Jeanette, Pa.

Has the gab of a State Congressman, the self-possession of a street car conductor, and orates like Daniel Webster did not. Known as "Vogel of the German Silver Tongue." He used his influence to bring about reforms in child labor, local option, and universal peace. Sojourned in the second semester in the classic halls of Harvard and hobnobbed with Bliss Perry.

Looking Back Into the Future

A smile of pleasant reminiscence crept over the face of old Grandad Calvin as he straightened perceptibly in his great chair, turned and spoke to the tall young lad who stood by his side. "So you've been up to the New Allegheny on the hill for a year and you say that all they tell you about up there is the class of '13 did this and the class of '13 did that and now you want me to tell you some more about that great aggregation which you say seem to have revolutionized the old school?

"Well, you see, my boy, it was this way. It was early in the summer of one thousand nine hundred and nine that a company of a hundred or so of the fairest lassies and the bravest lads that ever called themselves Alleghenians, conceived in their minds, after having read of the unsurpassed location and the reasonable means of livelihood offered to them by Allegheny, the idea of consummating an Allegheny Utopia. So with that in their minds and with a little less in their suit cases they finally congregated one day early in September in that memorable year. And then it started.

"You see there was one bunch of fellows up there who had evidently not been received so cordially the year before and they got sort of jealous of us. Indeed they even stated so on some things they called 'witty posters' which they tried to disseminate over the entire campus and town, but of course they did not succeed. I suppose they have told you up there how we dobbed that paste all over their faces and chased them all home that night: how on the next morning we rolled them all over that hill in front of the Chapel, pulled their flag down out of a tree and then sat upon them. My, but that was the great sport. And so the first year ended with us an established leading factor in everything the old school did.

"But we did not stop with that little bit. The next year we came back as strong as ever and chose this year 'Big Bill' Dotterrer for our leader and once more we waged mighty conflicts. That was a busy year for us, but we took care of everything that came our way in admirable fashion.

"And then we came back as upperclassmen. No longer was it necessary, my boy, for us to have to look up to those who were beneath us in worth merely because they had happened that way a year before us. Into our hands now fell the reins of government and what resulted you well know, the greatest year in the history of the old school. That year we had as our guide Ben Ball and once again we swept things before us. That was the year we decided we did not need a coach any longer and gave the teams over to three of our own men, who, as the trophy room will show you, swept everything before them. And that was the year too that we had Prexy get that half million dollars for us, the year when we started those many traditions which you tell me you swear by now. Oh, but that was a glorious year for old thirteen. That year our girls started the girls' Glee Club, and another of them took the Literary Monthly out of the hands of the men while the rest of them set the pace in all that was worth while in Hulings. Yes we had a—What's that, you have to leave now? Well, well, I had just got started on a few of the real things that that class of mine did, but if you must leave I guess I'll have to wait till another time to finish it.

Than the Frosh at Alleghe

(With apologies to R. K.)

In the course of College progress, classes always alternate:
After one with strength unbounded, there comes one of lower rate.
Last year it was the Freshmen carried honors all away;
Now the Soph'mores are more brilliant than the frosh at Alleghe.

When the Freshmen got to Meadville and descended from the train,
They were met with copious council, well administered and plain.
They refused it, so we promptly raked their hair free from its hay,
For the Soph'more is more deadly than the frosh at Alleghe.

Though on two successive autumn nights our agile paste brush flew,
Yet the second night of posting was the better of the two:
Scientific, careful, posting painted town and college gay,
For the Freshmen were outwitted by the Sophs at Alleghe.

On a bright day last October when the Sophs with Freshies vied,
'Twas a hard and straining battle ere the Sophomores were tied.
Although they far outnumbered us, we fought long that bloody day,
For the Soph'more is more nervy than the frosh at Alleghe.

"Here's a case," says Doctor Cobern, Bible teacher, LL. D.,
"Soph'mores the better students; Freshmen each deserve an E.,
Why my last year's class in Bible never failed to get an A.
For the Soph'more is far smarter than the frosh at Alleghe."

In the judging of a college, girls may play a leading part,
And the girls of nineteen fourteen have been fav'rites from the start.
In their games and in their studies they have always led the way,
For the Soph'more is more clever than the frosh at Alleghe.

While we welcome individuals worthy a Centennial class,
Yet our kindly proffered council was discarded by the mass.
So the guilty and the innocent must cast their pride away,
And accept the Soph as far above the frosh at Alleghe.

Our Future

BY PROFESSOR C. F. ROSS.

In the midst of singing "We've Got a Half a Million" the college community hardly stopped to ask itself in just what respect the doubling of the endowment would benefit the college. Perhaps some contributors gave without knowing exactly what they were giving for. Some have wondered and have already inquired what new buildings might come as a result of the campaign and what the increase in attendance would be. It is perhaps unsafe to fortell how the money is to be used when the Trustees have not as yet taken any action or hardly even considered the matter, but it is pretty generally agreed by those most vitally interested in the management of Allegheny College, that its new endowment does not mark the beginning of a career of expansion in either buildings or student body. There is practical unanimity in the belief that the excuse for Allegheny's existence, the career it has clearly marked out ahead of it is to be a good, small college.

The college has in the last decade of years passed through its period of youthful rapid growth until it has become tall and sturdy. The next period is clearly to be one of broadening shoulders, of increasing girth of chest, of solidifying powers. It is to be inner growth, not outer. This kind of expansion is not so spectacular as what precedes it, but equally essential. This means that the new resources of the college will make possible large increase in the working books in the library, marked increase in laboratory equipment and facilities, new lectureships, the addition of a considerable number of new men to the Faculty. This last means that the instructional force will become large enough to decrease the size of class divisions and advance in the direction of individual work with students. It is profondly to be hoped that the resources of the college will eventually make it possible to adapt its methods more perfectly to the general modern idea of preceptorial or individual instruction. The new money means that by this enrichment and increase in facilities of each department the college can do not bigger, but better work, and that in this way the direct benefit of the endowment shall come to every student directly.

HARRY G. WIARD

"Our Artist"

Words constitute a poor medium to properly express the artistic value of Mr. Wiard's contribution to the Kaldron of 1912. The results of his efforts speak so forcibly in their own favor that any such attempt on our part must prove futile. Likewise, though we tender the artist our most sincere thanks for his loyal service, these expressions can convey but a small part of our appreciation of his excellent work.

HUMOR

Summer Idylls

Hot Weather Extracts from Allegheny Diaries

Daily Jottings by Art Nodine

June 20.—Gee, but I hate to leave college before commencement is over. I certainly do look keen in those new white flannels I bought last night, but then I can make a splurge with them in Canada. So farewell, dear campus and ravine, I'm off for the Land of Opportunity and Smolleons.

June 22.—Am safely settled here in Brantford now and ready to separate the Canucs from their filthy lucre. I got a swell place to board. The landlady is going to let me pay for my grub in aluminum wear, at the rate of list prices too, and it only costs me 45 per cent. of that. I guess that's some financing.

June 28.—Got a big bunch of fat orders today. I've quit going to the common looking places. The mansions appeal more to my aesthetic taste and then the millionaires have more kale to dispense.

July 6. Gee but this was a strenuous day, but then I cleaned up about $25 in cold cash so I feel pretty well satisfied. It dont hurt my conscience a bit more to take the profits. I guess my work in the book store has been a pretty good education after all.

July 10.—Didn't sell so much today but I encountered a peach of a dame. She's got some place in Brantford society and you can count on little Arthur cultivating her friendship.

July 12.—Am working mighty hard these days. There are some social stunts coming that will take all my time so I've got to lay by a sinking fund.

July 15.—My friend from Chicago arrived yesterday. Gee, but my social relations are becoming complicated. I guess I'll have to cut out some of the local belles.

July 22.—This week has certainly been a fast one, picnics, parties and teas. It's a good thing that I put in some extra hours when I first got here.

Aug. 2.—Attended a swell function last night. Wore my white flannels and they certainly put me in right. I hobnobed with a member of Parliament a while and gave him my views on Reciprocity. Of course, I argued for it, but then I really hope it doesn't go through, for then I would have to sell aluminum at a lower rate.

Aug. 5.—This is the kind of a life for me. Frenzied finance is just my line. I'll bet I get old Pierpoint's goat once I get started for good.

Aug. 10.—Been might busy the last few days making a delivery. Every body took their tin and I've got some heavy roll. But I've got to spend a bunch right away to get into the good graces of my Chicago friend again. She's sore because I've paid attention to the Canadian dames.

Aug. 18.—Gee but its lonesome up here now. It's been two days since my friend returned to Chicago. But then I'll get back to school pretty soon and then there will be other diversions.

Sept. 12.—Just finished packing my white flannels and the rest of my retinue. Back to school tomorrow. Maybe I wont have a bunch of accounts to give the fellows about my gyrations up here with the nobility.

Wes Abbott—His Diary

July 1.—Dan Meek and I got jobs at Chautauqua. Hoo ray!

July 2.—Gee whiz, I'm a policeman here and have to wear a badge. Dan doesn't have to wear one.

July 3.—Some class to this job! Broke up ten cases after chimes last night.

July 15.—Ran into Doc Lockwood chatting with one of our renowned alumni today and stopped to visit with them for a few minutes. Guess I made some hit, especially with our alumnus, and that always helps. Gee, it's nice to be a Phi Psi when all the illustrious brothers are floating around here.

July 20.—Good Lord! That alumnus is a heck of a frat brother. Lockwood told me today that he remarked after I left them the other day, "It's too bad that that nice boy is black." He ought to know that the Phi Psis can take only white people.

July 22.—I wonder if I do look like a nigger or do I just need a shave?

July 24.—Shaved. Met a peach of a dame today. Got a date the first thing.

July 5.—Dug up a new piece of graft last night. Tim paid me two bits for helping him crawl over the fence after chimes. He said he missed his earlier car in Jamestown. Say, it must be awful to be married!

Aug. 14.—Been so busy lately that I haven't had time to write my diary. Had some feed at the Allegheny Dinner today. Some difference in the grub you get for 50c and what you get for slinging hash along with the rest of the K. M.'s.

Aug. 31.—Turned in my badge today. Am going home tomorrow. Gee, whiz! I've been so busy that I've almost forgotten to write Florence. Guess I better write to her.

Tim Hughes at Chautauqua

July 1.—Arrived from the South this morning. These assembly grounds aren't so much, but Jamestown is only 20 miles from here.

July 5.—Missed my car from Jamestown and didn't get in till after chimes. Paid Abb twenty-five cents to help me over the fence. He says he'll do it for that any time I need it.

July 15.—I've been slinging hash for the past two weeks. Have to eat in the kitchen with the menials. Even the Phi Delt cooking is better than this.

July 16.—Was invited to Jamestown for dinner today. She's keeping house. I promised to die for her but I didn't know I'd be tested so soon. Still she isn't such a bad cook. Guess I could learn to like it.

July 20.—I met Clayton Hamilton today. He's going to show me how to write stories. I have quite a little influence toward having them published in The Lit next year.

July 25.—There's more work in this job than I thought there would be. Haven't been to Jamestown for two days.

July 30.—Clayt ask me to go swimming with him today. He's getting pretty dang familiar.

Aug. 7.—Marg came to see me today. She made some hit with Clayt. She liked Clayt too so he must have the real journalistic spirit.

Aug. 2.—These extra services have kept me so busy I had to let Len take Marg around.

Aug. 10.—Frank Lockwood arrived today. Here is where I make a hit with him for English IV. for next year.

Aug. 25.—Had to write father for some money today. It has taken more than my 9 per to go to Jamestown and pay Abb. But then ——.

Aug. 29.—Down to see Marg for the last time until college opens. It was a Perfect Day and she certainly did look like a queen. Poor little girl this separation will be hard on her.

Aug 31.—Got home today. The old home isn't like it used to be. A letter waiting for me. Isn't she a peach to think of me that way.

Chuck Dotterrer Gets a Job

June 15.—Signed up to sell Century Book of Facts this summer in Indiana, Pa.

June 24.—Lit in Indiana. Canvassed for an hour and a half this P. M. Haven't got any orders yet but I'm getting a good line of talk worked up.

June 28.—Canvassed all day yesterday. Nothing doing. Loafed today. Met Warner and three of the fellows from W. & J. They're stuck on flavoring extracts. We've all hit the wrong line of goods I guess.

June 29.—Woke up with 17 cents in my possession. Sold my sample book to a kind-hearted priest. Catholics ain't so bad, after all. Warner and I are going to Johnstown to sell gas-irons. They're the greatest canvassing proposition ever started.

July 1.—W. and I hit Johnstown this afternoon. Left the other fellows in Indiana sitting on the curbstone betting what street they were on.

July 3.—No use working till after the 4th.

July 5.—Handed a lady a hot-iron and burned her hand.

July 6.—Got an ORDER for an iron.

July 7.—Gas pressure is poor in Johnstown. Can't get the irons to work right. Warner got an order.

July 8.—Both our orders cancelled.

July 9.—Borrowed a dollar from Callahan and went up to South Fork to see Edna.

July 10.—Didn't sleep well last night. This work is too nervous for me.

July 11.—Went swimming with Hughes and Callahan.

July 12.—Read in Y. M. C. A. library and sat in the park. Too hot to work.

July 13.—Got a job cracking stone for a cement paving company, $1.50 per day.

July 14.—Fired—Boss said I couldn't stand the work.

July 15.—Went swimming again.

July 16.—Went to church and got enough out of the collection to pay my car fare to South Fork.

July 17.—Got a job hiring boats at Luna Park.

July 19.—Had a fight with the proprietor and left.

July 22.—Heck!

July 24.—Ditto!

July 26.—Got some money from Bill. Going home tomorrow.

July 28.—Came home last noight. Got a job peeling bark.

July 29.—Working in the woods is good for me. Slept like a log last night.

Marie Fisher Spends a Delightful Vacation

June 21.—Commencement Night! Now I've got to fly home and get my summer's outfit ready for Cornell! Ugh! This beastly studying. But then there'll be some good times, I bet.

I'll take my tennis racquet—and Oh, I'll get a lovely new tennis blouse with a red collar. Then I'll have to have a couple new party dresses and Oh!—how can I get it all done in one short week.

June 25.—Well, here I am, worn to a frazzle with having dress makers in the house from morning till night. Pokey old Sharon's a tomb. Glad I am going to Cornell even if I have to study and then the change will rest my weary nerves and it will be different at least.

July 18.—Dear old Cornell! I feel like an alumnus here, almost. How I did work last week. Studied to keep from being lonesome. But now there's no time for naps. I'm going canoeing Wednesday after that dreadful Shakespeare class with Mr. M—. He's a dear—perfect—and looks adorable in those white flannels. But he's such a tease. The idea of his speaking of my dimples the second time after I met him.

July 19.—Tennis this afternoon with Mr. A. I'll wear my white middy with the red collar. He told me red was my color.

July 20.—Did give up pleasure for study today. Turned down Mr. K. to study Hamlet. He wears such funny clothes.

July 21.—Well I did take the walk to Forest Home with Mr. K—. after all. Couldn't find my Hamlet text. (Guess I left it at McGraw Hall when Mr. M— was showing me the museum a week ago. But Mr. K— took his text along and we studied together. It was awfully romantic. He didn't wear that funny suit.

July 24.—Just in from a drive to Willow Brook with Mr. L. He took his kodak along and got some real cute pictures of me. Hope they're good. They will make a good page for my vacation album.

July 29.—Mr. K— took me for the Goldwin Smith Walk and we stood on the little bridge over Cascadilla Gorge and wrote poetry. More fun than Hamlet even. He is poetical. He had some plendid poems in last year's Widow.

August 5.—Ithaca is a dusty place. Could scarcely see the names on my text books when cleaning the room today.

August 7.—Exams just one week away. Oh, dear, was Hamlet dippy or not? Mr. Van —— says he wasn't but he's such a sympathetic fellow, anyway. Poor Van, he sighs and begins to look pathetic when I begin to talk about exams and home.

August 8.—Oh, Joy! An invitation to a week-end house party at Mr. T's cottage at Brookston. I'm going with Mr. D—. He's sort of pokey, but Mr. K— is going to be there, too.

August 12.—Tomorrow I meet my fate. What was Hamlet's true state? But I musn't get all wrought up over this. I've studied conscientiously so I surely must pass. Anyway, Mr. Van —— is coming over this p. m. to take me out for a drive to Forest Home and he's going to recite Hamlet and coach me for the exam, so Im sure to get through.

September 18.—Ready for Allegheny again. My but it was hard work convincing that old bear of an English Prof. that I really did know something about Hamlet. But I did grind for that second exam. But it's all over now and I am a Senior really and truly. Wonder if I'll look good in a Senior gown.

September 21.—Registered today. Dr. Snavely wanted to give me Junior seating but I convinced him of my Senior dignity with my Cornell certificate.

Paragraph 4.
Sub-heads.

Student in Economics—"What is the lesson today?"

Seatmate—"Difference of land and capital. That's where he left off last time."

Student—"Yes, that's where he began, too."

Miss Lockwood introduces Dr. Snavely to the new deaconess at the Stone Church. Afterwards the deaconess remarked—"Is that the young man Miss Lockwood is engaged to?"

The Fable of the Expense Account

Once upon a time there was a certain student at Allegheny who took it upon himself to bear a Lion's share of the running expenses of college activities. Now this time is by no means specific nor the student unique. Once means always and certain means many. As a result of the Lion's generosity the stubs in Pater Lion's check book increased to an alarming degree. The aggregate far overran the "Liberal" $270 stipulated by the Catalogue. Lion, Jr., was requested to forward an itemized explanation. Whereupon, after the waste of much paper and ingenuity, he dispatched the following items:

Tuition	$ 75.00
Board and Room and Books	269.23
Athletics	20.00
Y. M. C. A.	25.42
Missions	26.00
Church Contributions	19.58
Sundries	125.77

"What a delusion," gurgled the Pater. "I thought I was only sending a son to college when in fact I'm benefitting all humanity by running a charity institution. Andie Carnegie couldn't beat this." Whereupon he immediately repaired to the nearest sanctuary and purchased a halo which in his own estimation became him in a most saintly manner.

The Fox and the Owl

Once a fox went to school to a learned owl who taught philosophy. The fox did not like to study, but he was craftly and religiously inventive.

"I do enjoy your classes SO much, Doctor Owl," said the fox.

"I'm glad to have you in my class." said the owl. This was at the beginning of the term.

The owl was not entirely blind. Near the end of the semester he mentioned in a meeting of all the learned animals that the fox was sure to flunk in philosophy. The time drew near for examinations. The fox went to the Library and read the Encyclopedia Britannica on Prognatism and Neurone theories. The next Sunday the fox invited the owl to his fraternity house for dinner. The fox sat beside the owl at the table.

"I have enjoyed your lectures very much, Doctor Owl," said the fox. "What do you think of the pragmatic Physiopsychological hypothesis of neurone connections? I have been greatly interested in that phase of psychology." The fox remembered his encyclopedia well and kept the conversation going for a long time. When the exam came the fox pulled an A plus.

Moral—The price of a meal is cheaper than mid-night oil as long as the Standard Oil is in business, and it is just as sure to get you the A.

The Tortoise and the Hare

A professor owned a club, which was, of course, the most exclusive club in school.

"What a fine club I have made for my students," said the professor, and all the members of the club hastily agreed in a very decided manner.

A mut came to school and registered in the professor's classes. Soon he heard of the professor's club. He was not altogether a lack-wit so when he decided that he wanted to be invited into the club he began to revolve the inside of his bean.

He sat in the front row of the good professor's class and religiously copied all the honeyed words that fell from the dear man's lips. When he was called on to recite he did so in those same words, arranging them in groups of three as the Professor had done. The Professor was pleased, very pleased, for as Willie Shakespeare said, "emulation is the most practical kind of flattery."

Next the Mut found a book in the Library which this same Professor had written all himself. The Mut paraphased certain passages and quoted others. He submitted it to the Lit Monthly and it was used there for filler.

The next week the Professor brought the Mut to his club.

"I think Mr. Mut will make an A Number 1 addition to our club," said the Professor. "He is such a thorough-going, splendidly delightful, spontaneously brilliant student," and the other twenty odd muts nodded in unanimous assent, for they recognized in Mr. Mut one of their kind.

Moral—Don't think you're not a mut if you don't belong to a professor's club because none of them are large enough to include all muts.

The Fate of a Goodfellow

A Tip to the Unwise

A Goodfellow and a Tightwad agreed unconsciously, to run a race. The goal was to be the affections of a charming young lady. They started at the same time. The Goodfellow hired a cab, borrowed a dress suit, let his laundry bill go and bought a big box of candy, and took the young lady to a party. He bowed and spoke pleasantly to all the well-dressed people whom they met. All this made quite an impression on his companion. When he said good night, he very properly held his silk hat in his hand and let the snow fall on his head. Then he disappeared awhile from the feminine world, but every time he returned he did it with such a flourish that he kept well in the mind of the fair dame.

The Tightwad was more methodical. He took the young lady home from the Scientific Club Banquet. He asked her if he might call Sunday night. She said, "Yes." He called. Then he called again. Finally he got so that he called every Sunday night. The fair dame said, "Oh, I can count on him, alright." The Tightwad smiled in his sleeve. "I've got a good stand-in," he thought.

About commencement time the Tightwad saw a headline in the paper stating that the Goodfellow was to be married. So great was his joy that he read no further. "Good," he cried, "Now I will have no rival."

He went joyously to the Hall and called for the fair dame.

"Miss Co-ed is not in," said the maid. "She is out with Mr. Goodfellow."

Moral—Take the way of the Tightwad. You will survive commencement without any serious entanglements, and at the same time you will pull all the votes you need for athletic elections.

SPLINTERS.

There was a man named Giles,
Forsooth he had not many wiles;
Indeed his reasoning was so plain,
The logic of it often gave one pain.

Prof. Giles in Geol. 1—"What is the principal thing about rivers?"

All the class flunk on the question.

Prof. Giles—"Why, water."

Prof. Giles, at Conneaut Lake—"This is a sand bank. You can always tell them by the sand."

Prof. Giles—"What causes floods?"
Nodine—"Cloudbursts."
Lore—"Heavy rainfall."
Giles—"No! It's too much water."

FAMILIAR SAYINGS.

Joy Richard—"My goodness!"
Pop Fegley—"Ye gods, what a mess!"
Hugh Wells—"Dad gast it!"
Billie Maxwell—"Gad zooks!"
Miss West—"Good-bicycle."
Dad Ling—"See it 'tis, see it 'tis."
Doc Lee—"Let us postulate, class."
Al Eckles—"You don't say so!"
Ike Parks—"All right, old Top."
Doc Lockwood—"Racy of the soil."
Ramsay—"By Hen."
Ross Litten—"That was a master stroke."

ONE OF LIFE'S PARADOXES.

Why do the maids of Hulings persist in calling it the Mail Permit when in reality it is the Male Permit?

The College Almanac

For the Year Ninety-Seven Anno Allegheniensis

September

18—Bentley enfolds her nurselings to her bosom. Tribune-Republican announces, Mr. Thomas Hughes, of Jamestown, N. Y. has arrived in town to resume his college work.

19—Freshies muddled over matriculation mysteries, "Frats" graciously assisting the innocents.

20—Faculty doffs vacation frivolity; dons D.D. Dignity.

21—Nightly valor and maiden shrieks while Freshies and Sophs lovingly embrace.

22—Prex goes forth from the fold armed with the staff to keep the wolf away from the door.

23—Upper classmen amused by the track meet of the younger athletic daughters of Hulings.

24—Chug More and the rest of the boys attend morning devotions at Stone Church.

26—Snavely divides the sheep from the goats.

27—Allegheny has practice game with Cornell. A fine trip.

28—Roger's aeroplane and "Vin Fiz" delay dinner.

29—Bimmie Thomas chosen Papa for 1912 a second time. First assembly. Andy Morford and wife take sabbatic leave trip to California. Gordon begins asking, "What's the matter with the team?"

30—The Campus appears. Prex expounds on the musical qualities of the latest college hymn, "Alma Mater Beatissima."

October

1—Student critics implored to reserve judgment on first sermon. Students attend Stone Church en masse. Sunday dinner at 2:30 p. m.

2—Parlors of Cochran Hall opened to college public. Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. reception. Dr. Breed tells of his repitition of Freshman experiences. Old cases radiant—new ones appear. Reception advice:

"Vessels large may venture more,
But little boats should keep near shore."

3—Glee Club aspirants warble in Pa. College of Music. Litten heard above the tumult.

4—First college prayer meetings.

5—Hunt and Swartley's pugnacious youngsters get together—decide to reform Congress.

6—Oratorical Rally—announces itself open for donations.

7—Athletic Election—Vote! "Tooters" toot for the first time. Captain Van Horn and the boys make tracks. Allegheny at Hiram—goose eggs! Duzer Du offers prize for plays. Ganny Meade replies.

Dr. Cobern, assigning subjects for ethics theses, (pointing to a student): "Ethics of the cigarette. All right. Have you one?"

Clara Hutchinson—A three hour call is too long. I could have gotten out all my classes in that time.

TEN PROVERBS COLLECTED BY THE CENTURY CLASS
UNDER THE DIRECTION OF DR. COBERN FOR USE OF FRESH MEN.

1. The fear of woman is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise experience and instruction.

2. I counsel thee, introduce not female contemporaries one to another; verily keep thy loves apart, for their wrath kindleth and bitter words arise when thy doings are plain.

3. Make no manner of personal remark to a woman, unless, peradventure, thou wishest to hear it misquoted in thine ears for seventy and seven days withal in Hulings.

4. Forget in no wise to speak of her new rainment: but remember also her attire of yore when thou mettest her as a Freshman.

5. Wouldst thou become acquainted with a damsel of the Hall? See that thou havest a secret with her straightway.

6. I say unto thee: it is easier to find a pet fly in a butcher shop than a woman who can sharpen a pencil.

7. Beware of the woman who exhausteth thine ammuntion: secrets, and yet learn naught of her. Thou shalt give her rich she shall make thee to be weary. Thou shalt tell her all thy gifts, and receive nothing. Thou shalt write her poems and be in no wise rewarded.

8. Curling locks are rather to be chosen than great riches, and a good smile is better than diamond rings.

9. I have watched her at her work in the gym cozy corner, when she said: "Lo, for an hour have I made him to talk of himself; till he thinketh he isthe best ever; now will I fall upon him and devour him: he shall do my bidding, for I have gotten him going."

10. If thou hast called on her three Sundays, take heed and avoid the fourth: make thy call Saturday, lest she thinketh she knoweth all thy ways. Bore her not with regularity; let her expect thee alway. Let her not say unto her sorority sister. "Lo, I have him on the string."

11. Woo her not until thou hast seen her mother, for a score of years worketh wonders.

What They Thought

What do you think of The Adventurer? A Hug(h)e(s) joke.

What do you think of cosmopolitan fussing? All right, if you have to do that kind.

What do you think of Lee's College? A good start towards the Newer Allegheny.

What is the best name for Senior Teas? School for Scandal.

What do you think of Revelation? Forget it.

Who is the most cosmopolitan fusser in college? Sum Nichols.

Who is the most talkative? Bill Maxwell.

What is the best name for Hulings Hall parlors? Department of Waits and Stays.

What is the best name for the new Athletic Field? A concrete example of procrastination.

What do you think of Riddle's eyes? Wriggley.

What do you think of platonic friendships? Illustrated by concrete examples. Nothing stirring.

Do you read The Adventurer? (Yes or no.) Ye gods and little fishes, what do you think I am?

What is the best name for the Book Store? The Biggest Graft.

What tis the best name for the Chapel? Nice Building.

Dr. Lockwood in English IV (after a suggestion by Ross Litten—"Yes, Mr. Litten, that is the way it would look to an ordinary reader."

HULINGS HALL ABSENCE BLANK.

Name—Gertrude L. Hammond.
Date—December 6, 1911.
Destination—The Holy City.

Miss Spalding, making a speech at Quill Club—It is extremely amusing to hear a bashful man propose—well, that is, at least I suppose it would be.

What They Always Say

Pat O'Callahan—O, shoot.
Bim Thomas—What the deuce!
Tim Hughes—Don't get so danged familiar.
Dag Lavely—Why, I don't think.
Wes Abbott—She's a peach.
Goldie Gordon—Let's give an Allegheru.
Mgr. Campus—Doggone Riddle!
Dutch Nevins—Stinks to high heaven.
Dr. Benjamin—Don't misunderstand me.
The Dean—Heavens, girls!
Pilgrim—You can't kid me.
Flossie Griswold—It jars on my aesthetic sense.
Lawrence Riddle—Make your mouth more open.
Clyde Sparling—Hee, Hee, Hee, Hee!
The Chapel Organist—Wie geht's.
Margaret Beebe—My, but he's a nice man.
Pop Fegley—Sh! baby's (when he's home).

Little Edward and "Chug" Moore—There's a man what lives in Hulings Hall.

"Chug"—A man that lives in Hulings Hall!

Little Edward—Yep! His name is Timmy Hughes. Margaret knows him.

WE WONDER!

Bishop Thoburn (on being told that Billy Maxwell and Mary Sowash were waiting in the parlor to see him)—"What do they want with me? Do they want to get married?"

McClellan, in History—"Titian had a practical side to him. He didn't just paint for his health. He knew how to rope in the bones."

Dud (Prof.) Ballinger, before entering the dining room of Hulings on Sunday, May 5, to Hughes—"Say, Tim, I feel like I do when I go into a track meet."

ACTUALLY OVERHEARD AT HULINGS.

Miss Nelson, at telephone, Sunday afternoon (Zimmerman at other end)—"Yes."

"Why certainly, I'd be delighted."

"Yes, I like to go there."

"All right.—Well, who is this?" Oh! All right, Good bye."

Dr. Mulfinger, in Germany. (From a special correspondent.) Dr. Mulfinger, entering a jewelry store with his watch in his hand—"Can you fix dis vatch? I don't know just what de madder is, because when it strikes fiev and the hands point to twelf I know ist iss half past one."

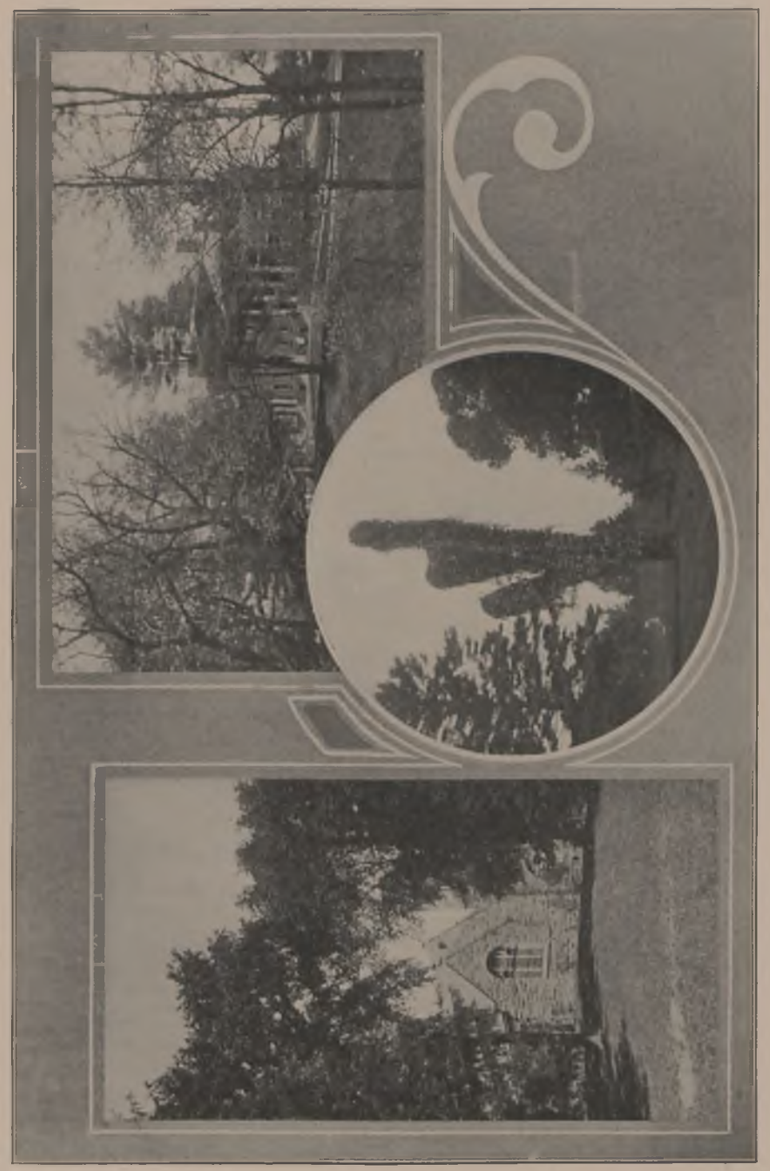

WILL WE KNOW HIM?

Word comes from Germany that Dr. Mulfinger has purchased a wig. We certainly hope that it has a reliable device for permanent attachment.

Litten—"Speakin' of Longfellow. There is a mighty fine line in Evangeline. "I will follow you, my husband."

When the Freshies beat the Juniors, did Ben Ball?

If there would be a fire in Room 8, Bentley, would Doctor Co-bern?

KALDRON

SPALDING SPEECHES. DRAMATIZED.

ACT 1. SCENE 1.—Dining Room at Hulings Hall.—Girls busy eating. Clatter of 88 spoons busily cutting 88 pieces of pineapple in 88 saucers. Rising of Miss Spalding preceded by ringing of bell. (Note.—This gives quite a Shakespearean effect—somewhat similar to Coburn Players.) At the arising of Miss Spalding, there is a deep silence broken only by the glitter of the gems in the long neck chain which Miss S. agonizingly twists thro' her fingers. The dean raises her eye brows quite high—which is to be taken as indicative of an injured, hurt air. Immediately look of despondency is seen upon all the bright flower-like faces up-turned to her gaze—and every girl fears that she, perhaps, has injured the feelings of her dear dean—but they bravely refrain from tears—for the sake of the table linen.

"Now, girls"—more twisting of the chain (see above) and a deeper agonized look mantles the face of the dean—"Something has happened which has hurt me deeply." Faces of Seniors noticeably grow pale with the tho't of a guilty conscience. (Orchestra plays tremulo music.) Dean rubs her head with her hand. "I feel that I cannot say more of this—yet you must know that this is really a personal insult to me—to bring friends of mine to Senior Tea, and be confronted with huge placards—placards I say— disgracing the Hulings Hall parlors, and informing Me in this rude barbarian method, that the tea would be in Cochran Hall." During this speech the orchestra becomes f and ff and at the end bursts into a grand climax. The dean's voice becomes more and more tragic. Miss Shepherd slides out the door. Her sympathy has overcome her—she can stand no more.

The dean then changes her position from one foot to the other. (Signal for the orchestra to play more sprightly music.) Dean's voice becomes more energetic—her chain clinks audibly.

"And, now, there is another little matter which is my duty to remind you of—." The faces of the girls which have been relieved for a few minutes by the sprightly tone of the dean's voice, now sadden again. "I have heard that certain girls—

(places hand on the back of her chair)—are in the habit of sneaking food from the dining-room. A Sophomore starts, reddens, and a piece of cake falls from her napkin to the floor. Freshman girl giggles but is squelched by a glance from the Senior at her table.

"To think, that one of the young ladies of the Hall should be so sadly lacking as to commit this awful theft. It reflects personally upon me." All the girls sniff audibly. (Sympathetic wailing from the orchestra.) "Now, girls, I feel that I won't have to appeal to you more in this matter. I feel that you will stand by me loyally in this. That is all tonight, girls, I believe." The dean leaves the stage followed by Miss Rowley and the young ladies filing out two by two.

Scene II.—Stage darkened, blue lights, woosy music by the orchestra. Tables the same as at the end of Scene I. Miss Spalding enters with startled tread, glances nervously to right and left. Advances to front stage, where a plate of pickles is on the table—.

"Oh for a dill-pickle! Just one dill-pickle." Grabs a pickle joyfully, waving it aloft. "But how to successfully evade those mobs of girls hanging affectionately around the halls." Gazes into space for a moment. "Ah, but I will conceal it in my hand; they shall never know." With pickle carefully concealed gropes her way from the stage.

Curtain falls.

Bright student seeing the Misses McKinney at Duzer Du play—"Say, Dad, why are the Misses McKinney like electric lights?"

Dad—"I don't know. Why?"

Bright Student—"Because they attract the Millers."

Student (talking about the hour of "in" on Sunday nights): "Are you allowed three minutes of grace? Last three minutes. That's pretty fine."

Miss Griswold: "Well, it makes a lot of difference."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

IN ONE building and under the same management means reliability and is a guarantee that our students receive the right kind of training. The enrollment has increased from year to year and the growth of the school has been steady and substantial.

Practical courses in bookkeeping, shorthand, type-writing, penmanship and the attendant branches are offered—the kind of training that prepares for good positions.

Each and every student is placed on his own responsibility and is allowed to complete his course as rapidly as his ability will allow. Individual instruction is the key to the progress of each student and no embarrassment is caused from class recitations. New enrollments are made on each Monday of the school year. This plan allows students to start at any time.

The Board of Trustees, comprising some of the best business men of Meadville, is as follows: Dr. T. L. Flood, S. L. Boyd, E. W. McArthur, Hon. A. L. Bates, C. S. Burwell, W. I. Bates, P. J. Shaughnessy and L. E. Stacy.

SPALDING SPEECHES. DRAMATIZED.

Scene—Allegheny College Chapel.

Time—Thursday, March 14, 1912.

Dramatis Personae—Strange man from Pittsburgh or somewhere else. Harrison Fisher Hunt, main gazabo; Stanley Swartley, coach of lung gymnastics.

Stagehands—Walter Deppe, Jim McGowan.

Unknown Lady.

Doc ———, general utility man and super.

Scene I.—The Chapel, 9:45 p. m. Harrison Hunt, with both arms raised to high heaven, at close of his rebuttal.

Hunt—Ladies and gentlemen, honorable judges, we have the negative just where we want them, on the horns of our dilemma—My Gawd—Who's that? [Points to the back of the Chapel and with a bound leaps into the auditorium and rushes to the door, followed by McGowan, Deppe and Swartley. Just as they reach the back of the Chapel, a man and woman rush out of the front door. The debaters stand and gaze at each other in consternation.]

Swartley—Deppe, go after them—follow them—see who it is! [Deppe starts out but Swartley grasps his arm.] No, Hunt you go. Yo'ur more bigger. He might turn on you. [Hunt departs on a high-gear walk, followed by the others.]

Scene 2.—Campus, in front of Bentley and Hulings

Very calm couple stroll across campus towards Hulings. As they reach Bentley, four figures emerge from direction of the Chapel. Hunt is leading. Then come Swartley, McGowan and Deppe, each muttering to himself. Various characters pass into Hulings vestibule in order mentioned.

Scene 3.—Vestibule of Hulings Hall. Hunt and his compatriots, breathless from running, stand close together, talking nervously.

Hunt (speaking deliberately)—Now, lets see. He must be the captain of the Pittsburgh team. We will have to—

Deppe (interrupting and speaking rapidly)—You bet he is the Pittsburgh captain, the dod-gasted-heckel-and-burn-red-pepper-eyed-lallopallooser. We'll tie him up so everlastingly tight with a clothesline that—

MOORE'S NON-LEAKABLE FOUNTAIN PEN

We cannot show the Moore's to advantage on paper as its Merit lies not in its outward appearance but in its unique construction.

When we say "It won't leak" we state an absolute truth. Convincing proof of this is afforded in the fact that all Moore Pens are filled before they leave our factory and are shipped that way to all parts of the globe. We have yet to hear of the man who has ever found evidence of leaking in this pen.

Moore's is a very practical fountain pen and suited in every way to business men's use. It writes the instant you want it to without shaking, its ink flow is always free and even.

Remember:—Moore's is the original non-leakable.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

McGowan (interrupting)—The bell! Ring the bell—We want in to the Hall!

Swartley—Why, yes, the bell. Whee! (pushes the button. Door opens and maid appears. All stand attention and bow courteously.)

Swartley—Please tell the man who just came in that he is wanted.

Maid—Card?

Hunt—Never mind the card. The man from Pittsburgh. Quick!

All (chorus)—Aye, Pittsburgh. (Door closes. After a moment it opens again and a strange gentleman is pushed out.)

Hunt (suddenly leveling an accusing forefinger at third button of S. G.'s waistcoat—Are you from Pittsburgh?

S. G.—Now, boyth, don't be too hardth with me. I didn't mean anything by lithening. I wath born around here. I chathed a fellow eight mileth for the thame thunt when I wath at Niagara. It's all right. I know Doctoh Lee.

Hunt (insisting)—Are you from Pittsburgh, tell us.

All (chorus)—Aye, aye—from Pittsburgh? Tell us, tell us!

S. G.—Oh, boyth! (Falls in a swoon on the doorstep.)

DeDppe—He's dying! He's dying, and we don't know yet whether he's from Pittsburgh. I'll get a doctor. (Starts out on a run.)

Swartley (placing thumb on aforementioned vest button)—He still lives, gentlemen. (Pulls flask from pocket and places it to S. G.'s lips. S. G. revives. Door opens again and Miss Bolter appears.)

Miss B.—Mr. Shenahan, you may see Miss Spalding now. (S. G. retireats into the Hall.)

Scene 4.—Dr. Lee stands in front of Bentley talking to Swartley, McGowan and Hunt. He speaks in reassuring tones at which his listeners seem much pleased.

Dr. L.—I am sure of it, gentlemen. His name is Shenahan and he is absolutely harmless. (Shakes hands all round and exits. The others form in column and march, three abreast, towards the Chapel, singing light-heartedly the while.
