Dear Sir:

I understand that you now have in your possession the editor's own special copy of Pitman's "Trial of the Conspirators," with considerable accompanying material. Among this material I understand there are two drawings made by Gen. Lew Wallace. If this is the case, I should like to inquire whether I may have photostats made of these drawings? They would be for inclusion in material I am assembling in connection with certain research. If they were ever reproduced, full credit and acknowledgment would be given.

Also, I should like to inquire whether, in your judgment, any new light has been thrown on the affair through annotations made by Pitman or in any other way.

Thanking you in advance for any assistance you may be able to give me, I am

Yours very truly,

G. S. Bryan
