Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 E. 19th St.,
New York.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I feel as if I probably ought to be selling another article for you somewhere, or are you busy with the articles that are already sold? You talked to me about writing an article about a man in Connecticut who had a great admiration for Lincoln and a number of letters from Lincoln that have never been published in book form. I think this article could probably be sold for a good price. You were going to send me a memorandum about it.

This letter needs no answer unless you want me to go to selling such an article, but of course if you have any idea for an article, I should be keen to sell it, and I think the Lincoln article ought to command a good price.

Yours sincerely,

Paul R. Reynolds
