

Tri-State High School Tournament Commences Here Friday Creighton University Defeated by Blue and Gold 31-30

Quintets Will Battle For Championship Cup Four Champion City Teams Are To Be Guests of College

A big Tri-State Inter-City Inter-scholastic Basketball Championship tournament will be held on March 11 and 12, between the best school teams from five big cities in this part of the country. A silver cup, inscribed with the name of the school winning the championship and the event at which it was won will be the prize of the victor.

The cities that will be represented in the tourney are Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Erie and Buffalo, and all will send their classiest teams to represent them. Central High School, which is at present in a tie with Lincoln High School for the Cleveland city championship, will be the Cleveland entry. Buffalo will send Lafayette High School, champion of Buffalo and probable winners of the Yale Cup there. Central High School will play for Erie. Saturday afternoon in Treves Gymnasium at the University of Pittsburgh, Fifth Avenue High School of Pittsburgh defeated Schenley High School 26-21 in the game that decided the floor championship of the city. It is not yet decided which of these teams will represent the Smoky City in the local tourney. The two teams are practically on a par, however, and either may be counted on to give a good account of itself. It was understood that the winner of the Pittsburgh championship would represent the Smoky City, but it may be necessary for the Pittsburgh title holder to remain at home to play in the finals of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney.

Allegheny has invited the loser in the Pittsburgh tie to participate in the tourney, but it would add to the interest if the real Pittsburgh champion would attend the tourney. It is believed that the six sections of the W. P. I. A. L. may postpone the playing of the games for the championship until the Allegheny tournament is over, and it is thought that the local games, which are not of a sectional or even a State nature, but real Tri-State championships, may induce the Pittsburgh winner to enter.

The cream of the basketball talent of the prep schools of three States will be here for the series and Allegheny has made great plans to entertain the visitors. The teams will be entertained by the different fraternities and the visiting coaches will be cared for by the College which will assign them rooms in Cochran Hall, the building of the Allegheny Club. Allegheny students are planning to show the visitors a royal time, and enthusiasm here over the project is high, for Allegheny is essentially a "basketball school."

The Athletic Association is going to spare no pains to make the event one long to be remembered both by the students of the school and the visiting players. The floor of the new Allegheny gymnasium is one of the finest in Western Pennsylvania and the best officials obtainable will handle the games.

With the close of the varsity basketball season drawing near, and the appetite of local fans not nearly appeased, the coming tourney can easily be made the biggest thing in Western Pennsylvania scholastic basketball.

This will make the third new feature which has been introduced under the new athletic program. The first, was the bringing of Dickinson, an Eastern school, here for the football season. The second, was the signing with Case for a meet for inter-collegiate boxing. This event, the third and probably the biggest, brings Allegheny into the limelight of athletic activity.

DR. ELLIS DELIVERS AN EXCELLENT SERMON

JAMESTOWN MINISTER IS THE
SPEAKER AT SUNDAY MORN-ING SERVICES.

"It is easier to do right than wrong" was the subject of the sermon given on Sunday morning by Dr. Herbert A. Ellis, of Jamestown, New York. Mrs. Arthur V. Leberman sang the offertory solo, "These Are They," from "The Holy City," by Gaul.

"The words of Christ were as supernatural as his works," said Dr. Ellis when he had quoted the text, "For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." Jesus had been contrasting the law and the gospel. The old laws which the Jews had been insisting upon were a partial cause of the degeneration of the Jewish religion.

Easy is always a strictly comparative term; but Christ's yoke is easy in comparison with the yoke man must bear if he refuses it, it is easier to do right than wrong.

If man is to bear Christ's yoke he must repent, have faith and love. Shakespeare said: "Conscience makes a man a coward and will make a beggar of any man who keeps it." In the light of Jean Valjean's experience upon his confession of his identity to save the unfortunate man who had been arrested for his old crime, it does seem that conscience may make a man a beggar. But Jean realized it was much easier to follow his conscience, just as it is much easier to go with the current of the stream than against it; so when a man has fought against God, he will find it is much easier to turn about and work with Him.

Man daily exhibits his faith in God through his faith in nature. When man comes to the crisis of his life he will find it is much easier to have faith than not to. David Hume had written prolifically against the Church; but when his own mother died, he said he did not differ so much in his beliefs from Christians. In case of a great disaster many a man could confess that he "did what any sensible man would do,—prayed."

Love is not a mere affection; it is service, loyalty, and faithfulness. It is much easier to love than to hate. When Christ says: "take my yoke," he bears the other side of the yoke, the heavier side. Man's part merely becomes the bearing of the burden of obedience in comparison with the burden of disobedience.

ALLEGHENY BOXERS GOING TO
CLEVELAND MARCH 15
FOR TOURNAY.

As the collegiate basketball season draws to a close, Allegheny College athletes are turning their attention to other branches of sport which the enlarged athletic program of the school is fostering. Under the direction of Coach Krotzer, a classy boxing team is being organized from some 30 candidates. The men are working out daily and are taking hold of this new college sport with enthusiasm. Some very good men have been developed and it is thought that with one or two years of intensive training behind them, the younger candidates will be able to hold their own with representatives of those schools that have specialized in boxing since it was first taken up as a college sport.

The first boxing meet Allegheny College men will take part in has just been arranged with the Case School of Applied Science, at Cleveland. March 15 is the date of the meet and six men teams will compete. The probable Allegheny entries are Van Gorder, 115-pound class; Kirkpatrick, 125-pound class; Parent, 135-pound class; L. Leffingwell, 145-pound class; H. Leffingwell, 160-pound class, and Dale, 175-pound class.

MONTAGUE SINGERS ARE HERE TONIGHT

Light Opera Will be Featured in Program of Y. M. C. A.
Entertainment.

With an unusual repertoire of light opera selections the fourth number of the Y. M. C. A. Entertainment series will be given this evening by the Montague Singers at the Ford Memorial Chapel.

The company comes to Allegheny well recommended as it has experienced many successes this season as well as in past years. Each individual of the caste has won enviable fame with audiences over the country and their ensemble work is superb in expression, tone, charm and beauty.

John Eichenberger, tenor and manager, was, before his connection with the Redpath Bureau, with the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party for ten years. He was also church tenor in St. Louis for a number of years.

Altha Montague, contralto and reader, was contralto soloist at the Hyde Park Baptist Church of Chicago and the First Congregational Church of Evanston.

Edna Reynolds, a soprano, was for four years one of the most popular concert artists in Ontario, Canada, where she appeared in choral societies and bands.

Mr. Thomas, bass and accompanist, has had a varied career in the musical world, including seasons with Joseph Sheehan's Metropolitan English Opera Company and the Savage Opera Company.

The first part will include quartets, trios, duets and solos by Mr. Thomas, readings by Miss Montague and character songs by Mr. Eichenberger.

The second part will probably be an operetta, "A Quaker Romance," arranged from an old opera of the eighteenth century, very quaint and full of good humor.

Part three contains the lighter and more tuneful selections from some of the popular light operas.

JUNIORS TRIUMPH OVER SOPHOMORES

INTER-CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP DE-
CIED IN A FAST CONTEST.

In a hotly contested game, the Juniors won from the Sophomores Monday afternoon thereby winning the Inter-Class Championship.

The turning point of the game came in the second half when Bittner broke away for four field goals supported by MacGowan and Cunningham, with two each.

The game saw-sawed closely during the first half at the end of which the Sophs were in the lead with 15 to 14. The Juniors then opened the second session with a series of baskets and ran almost unmolested over the floor during the period, with the game ending 32-23.

Murphy and Shirer did the stellar work for the Sophs but were unable to register fast enough for their opponents.

The line-up:
Sophomores—23 Juniors—32
Shirer F Bittner
Murphy F Secor
Mansfield C Frazier
Clarke G Cunningham
Flint G Dooing
Field goals: Shirer, 3; Murphy, 4; Mansfield, 1; Clarke, 2; Bittner, 6; Dooing, 1; Cunningham, 2; Frazier, 3; MacGowan, 2.

Fouls: Bittner, 4 out of 5; Shirer, 3 out of 6.
Referee: Applegram.

MASONIC CLUB.

Definite plans for a formal dinner party to take place during the latter part of April were made at a meeting of the Masonic Club held last Thursday.

Westerners Defeated in Uninteresting Game

Kofford and Dunbar Star Against the Champions of the West

Allegheny defeated Creighton University of Omaha, Nebraska, by the score of 31-30 last Saturday in a listless game and before the smallest crowd which has witnessed a game on the local floor for years. The game was a direct contrast to the last two games witnessed in that the crowd sat complacently without even a murmur. It was only in the last half when the visitors tied the score and then passed the local men that the signs of life appeared. Kofford and Dunbar were practically the whole Allegheny team. Kofford's foul shooting was excellent and in addition to that he played a whirlwind floor game. Dunbar acquired three baskets early in the game but lost his eye after encountering a severe jolt from an elbow while fighting under the basket. Two others which he made were ruled out on rather doubtful decisions. The only other score for the locals was a basket which Wise tossed in at the crucial moment.

The game started with both teams playing loosely and their passing erratic. The men seemed to be rather dead, but by a few brilliant pieces of team play managed to run up a score of 19 points of which Kofford made nine on consecutive fouls.

In the second half the visitors came back strong and by means of their unusually long shots managed to catch up while Allegheny scored one point. The team seemed to wake up then and with a rush, played the visitors to a standstill, although the score was tied almost continually until Wise made his shot from the floor. As a whole, it was considered the slowest game seen here this season, a reaction after the wonderful game played with Grove City.

Allegheny—31 Creighton—30
Kofford F Lovely

Fouls: Kofford, 13 out of 15; Lovely, 14 out of 17.

Field goal followed by Smith with two more. It was a bitterly contested struggle and, although Allegheny was always in the lead, the margin was never great. At the start Allegheny scored on a foul and with baskets by Dunbar and Kofford increased the lead but Grove City caught up and hung on. This was typical of the game throughout. The team was in tip top fighting trim which was shown by the fact that there was no let up at any time. The visitors in discussing the game said that it was the hardest team they had met this year. The whole team were stars. Kofford, with his dodging and guarding, Dunbar, with his shooting and passing, Parker, with his fight and playing the game of his career, Graham's superb

CONCERT FURNISHES ENJOYABLE TREAT

Allegheny Band Makes Formal Debut Thursday Evening in Chapel

The Allegheny Band of twenty-six pieces, under the direction of H. M. Maitland, made its debut before the public Thursday evening. Playing in the Chapel, before a large and appreciative audience, the organization was called back repeatedly for encores, which were given generously.

The intense training to which the men have been subjected the past months was reflected in the able rendition of numbers varying from "Caresse," an arrangement of popular song-hits by Monaco, to the difficult and expressive overture of Verdi, "Nebucodonosor." One of the more pleasing numbers of the first half of the program was a corne solo, Hartman's "Longing for Home," beautifully played by W. B. Gealy, accompanied by the band in obligato. A lively Spanish air, "Under Thy Window," was given as an encore to this selection.

Mr. Maitland's ability with the baton was well shown in his accurate direction of "Patrouille Francaise." This piece, especially, brought out the tone quality of the instruments and the perfect unity of sound.

The second portion of the program was opened with a selection from another of Verdi's operas, "Aida," Lake's "Songs from the Old Folks," including "Old Black Joe," "Sweet and Low," "Marching Thru Georgia," and others of like nature, were especially enjoyed. Likewise the encores to both these numbers and the "National Spirit March," being light and jazzy in character, did not lack for applause.

Taken individually, or ensemble, the numbers were very well rendered and the concert was a commendable one, both from the point of view of variety of repertoire and wealth of beauty and expression. Much credit should be given the director, for his interpretation of the selections. The men whose practice made the recital a success were: J. C. McCreery, W. B. Gealy, K. A. Smith, M. B. Iams, I. B. Estep, and S. W. McKinley on cornets; R. H. Kelly, and H. R. Lillie on clarinets; W. W. Phillips on the flute; R. P. Steetle and J. W. Himebaugh on saxophones; P. H. Shultz, C. A. Bollinger, E. B. Eaton, O. M. Cornell, and C. S. VanGorder on French horns; H. B. Knapp, H. E. Sterling, M. E. Russell, and L. C. Dundon on trombones; W. H. Maitland on the baritone; C. W. Havice, and C. R. Gage on bases, and J. F. Bernard, T. E. Brookhouser, and R. E. Ellsworth on the drums. J. W. Shirer is the manager of the organization.

Allegheny Debates W & J Here Tomorrow Night

Carney, Fleming, and Ross Will Up- hold Affirmative Side

Resolved, That European Immigration should be restricted by further legislation" is the question to be debated at Ford Memorial Chapel. Allegheny's affirmative team, supported by Messrs. Carney, Fleming and Ross, will meet Wash & Jeff here while the negative team, Bozic, Russell and Melcher, will travel to Wooster to meet Wooster's affirmative team, which has never been defeated on its home floor. The teams have been working hard for the past three weeks getting in shape. Trials have been held almost every afternoon the past week to prepare the men for different arguments which might be presented by the opposition.

The affirmative team which will present the argument at home assures a real lively debate. Messrs. Carney and Fleming are silver tongued orators and probably Mr. Carney will state the opening remarks on the question. Mr. Fleming, likewise Mr. Ross, are not amateurs by any means, having represented their class well in winning the Freshman-Sophomore Debate last year. Ross is a shrewd, clear cut thinker on his feet.

A large attendance is expected inasmuch as this is the first open debate of the year, and Washington & Jefferson is sending their best material to Allegheny.

and a two-day visit to the collections of architecture, sculpture and painting to be found in the Carnegie Institute galleries. Four two-hour periods are spent under Dr. Elliott's guidance studying the art objects. His informal lectures before the objects themselves are intended primarily to recapitulate and illustrate the class-work of the year, but they are as well an interesting and illuminating introduction to the understanding of art objects. It is probable that the trip this year will cover Monday and Tuesday, March 21 and 22. A limited number of persons, not members of the class in Art Appreciation will be permitted to join the party and take part in the two-days study. Persons desiring to do this should consult Dr. Elliott some day this week.

ART CLASS LEAVES SOON FOR PITTSBURGH

INSTRUCTION WILL BE GIVEN BY DR. ELLIOTT

The class in Art Appreciation has usually had as one of its activities during the year a trip to Pittsburgh

The chief advantage of practical training is that it is a big time saver. It is easier to show a man how to do a given operation than explain it to him by means of the printed page.

The make up of The Campus this week has been slighted considerably in order that the returns from the Grove City game might be published. It is hoped that the value of the news offsets the variation from the standard appearance of the paper.

From the reports of the Grove City game, it is clearly evident that our men did not receive the treatment that we expected our close rivals would accord them. Last week the visitors witnessed a wonderful game on our floor, savored with the real, true, sportsmanship spirit concerning which they remarked that Allegheny would receive the same treatment on the return engagement. This unwholesome criticism may apply only to the townspeople and it is hoped that if this is the case, Grove City students will endeavor to thwart any repetition of such conduct as that displayed on their floor last night. Allegheny is far from perfection in regard to its cheering and spirit but it cannot refrain from demanding the respect of Grove City adherents nor can it overlook the fact that the GOLDEN RULE should be reciprocal.

The Campus Staff meets every Friday at 1:15 o'clock in the Campus office in Bentley Hall.

GROVE CITY DEFEATS BLUE AND GOLD LAST NIGHT IN EXTRA PERIOD OF PLAY, 24-21.

Crowd Drops Wreath and Bouquets on Victors After Exciting Contest.

In the fastest and most thrilling game ever witnessed on the Grove City floor, Allegheny lost to the Crimson champions during the last few minutes of play last night before a multitude of students and townspeople. Shorts dropped a lucky shot from the center of the floor, followed by two field goals in quick succession under the basket by Rudick, proved the undoing of the Blue and Gold quintet after completely outplaying and leading throughout the entire game.

Allegheny maintained the lead during the first half which ended with the score 11-8 in their favor. The contest was even far better than that staged here last Wednesday evening when the Rivals succeeded in the last moments of play.

In the second half Dunbar was encountered by Stephanian under their basket, a fistcuff resulted with a blow striking Dunbar in the face, knocking him out. The crowd created havoc at this point, becoming riotous and hooted and jeered Dunbar wildly. Miller was substituted for Dunbar and Wise for Miller and the game continued. Foster and Shorts then registered lucky shots from the center. The score was tied 18-18 by Smith's field goal just before the whistle blew.

The extra period followed with excitement gaining momentum at every play on the floor. This session was

PHILO-FRANKLIN ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest, an annual college affair, is to be held in the near future. Although the date is contingent on the time set for Ohio Wesleyan Contest, the affair will be held sometime in April. This contest is to be open to only those of the Philo-Franklin Forum. The speeches of each contestant is to be written out and handed to Dr. Swartley before the contest. These, will be read and the six best competitors will be allowed to speak. There are two prizes offered for this event, the first being fifteen dollars and the second ten dollars.

ST. CECILIA CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MISS KERR.

The St. Cecilia Club held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Miss Dorothea Kerr last Monday evening. After the regular business meeting, the following persons participated in the programme which consisted of Indian music: Misses Dorothea Kerr, Alta Postance, Genevieve and Josephine Hovis, and Lucille Drake.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEETS.

"Greek Games" was the topic at the meeting of the Classical Club last Tuesday night. Besides having a very interesting address on the subject by W. D. Melcher, there were some excellent slides shown by Dr. Elliot. The slides depicted various phases of the sports of the Greeks, and added much to the interest and enjoyment of the evening. P. S. Dwyer had charge of the meeting.

FRESHMEN-SOPHOMORE DEBATE

The Freshmen-Sophomore debate, which is an annual affair of the college year, will be held sometime in April. The question for the inter-class contest is to be the same as the inter-collegiate discussion, Resolved: That the Federal Government should own and operate the Coal Mines. The Freshmen, under the direction of Prof. Swartley, will have their tryouts before the Easter vacation. The Sophomore team, as to previous custom, will be chosen by class election. This debate, which involves much inter-class spirit, should be hotly contested.

"LEST WE FORGET."

Dear Editor:

The sun dial of former days is now lying cast aside in the ravine. For twelve years it served to enhance the beauty of the campus. At present, it is half-buried among the leaves and rubbish in the muddy ravine. It is inconceivable that any person familiar with its history could have removed it from its place of prestige. It is no less unthinkable that it has been allowed to remain there in the mud so long. Nevertheless, it is regrettable that such is the case. This relic of more primitive days was presented in 1909 by the class of 1899. It was originally placed on the site which is now occupied by Carnegie Hall of Chemistry. When excavations for this building were begun, it was removed to the spot on which it remained until recently. The dial is a very attractive one, and has been the pride of many students. The dial itself is made of bronze. It bears the year of the class and the following: "Tenth Anniversary." "Be about your business." It is mounted on a very artistic base of marble which is about a foot and a half in diameter. A picture of it was put in the college bulletin, a copy of which is mailed to all prospective students. Should a prospective Alleghenian see it where it now lies, his opinion of old Allegheny might be lowered considerably. Is it fair, then, to Allegheny's future, to ourselves, or to the class of '99, that the dial remain in its present state of neglect?

Yours for comment,
A STUDENT OF '24.

TRACK MEET SCHEDULED WITH CARNEGIE TECH

MONTGOMERY OVAL WILL SOON BE IN CONDITION FOR PRACTICE.

The first track meet of the season has been scheduled with Carnegie Tech at the Schenley Oval in Pittsburgh. Track practice has been going on for the past few weeks under a great handicap. The obstructions, in the form of chairs in the balcony, make workouts on the track quite difficult. Some of the men have already been out on the cinder track even though it is very soft and not in the best of condition.

These existing conditions will soon be eliminated as the Keystone Construction Company has begun work on the outdoor track. The lower end of the oval which was damaged during the work on the gymnasium, is being repaired and new cinders are being put on wherever necessary. Outdoor training will begin in earnest as soon as the track is ready, which from all appearances will be within the next week, if weather conditions permit. Practice will continue through the Easter vacation for all those who wish to remain here.

Many inquiries have already been received concerning the Annual Inter-Scholastic Track Meet. The announcements for this yearly event will be made more explicit the latter part of this month. The present date set for this meeting of the high schools of this section is May 14.

An additional attraction is going to be put on this year on June 4, which will take the form of a handicap inter-class track meet and an inter-fraternity relay. Medals for all the three places are to be given. The class which wins the highest number of points in the inter-class meet will have its name inscribed on a handsome loving cup which was donated by Director Hamerschlag, of Carnegie Tech. Dr. Hamerschlag was here a year ago last fall as a speaker when the corner stone of the new gym was laid, but would not accept the fee offered him for his services. In fact, he donated the check for the purposes of promoting intra-mural athletics and the beautiful loving cup is the result of this donation.

SCIENTIFIC DISCUSSION CLASS.

Dr. Darling again leads a very interesting discussion on the subject of "Prayer." The Lord's Prayer was taken up as an ideal prayer, was divided into its component parts, and each thoroughly discussed. Reverence to God, the prayer for general blessing on all humanity, and lastly our own individual needs, were three of the most important divisions. Our duty to our fellow men and the importance of sacrifice brought new phases of the subject to one of the largest classes yet held.

The Discussion class meets every Sunday morning at ten o'clock in the Oratory of the Chapel and, under the guidance of Dr. Darling, discusses various religious questions of interest to the students of the college from a scientific standpoint. It is a discussion class in the true sense, everyone has a right to express their views upon the subject under discussion. Every student of the college, who is not otherwise engaged at that time, is cordially requested to be present.

COLLEGIATE COMMENT.

Another boost in Allegheny's athletic program will be shown in the Inter-State scholastic basketball tournament being held here Friday and Saturday which is undoubtedly the biggest event of the kind this year in the Middle Atlantic States. Many other colleges have been holding scholastic tournaments, but none of them are of the importance of the local games. Ohio Wesleyan, for example, ran the Ohio State championship, with about forty schools entered. Any school in the State of Ohio was eligible. West Virginia Wesleyan is conducting the West Virginia championship in the same manner on March 17, 18, and 19, with an entry list of sixty-four. Bethany College is holding a small tri-state tournament but the entries are drawn from the immediate vicinity of Bethany. The Allegheny system is to invite the schools having the best record from the various sections of the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. This method insures high class basketball at all times and the long series of preliminary games, so tiring to players and spectators alike, is eliminated.

THOBURN CLUB.

"Pre-millennialism; its view of God, of the Bible, and of the World," was the subject of Dr. Beiler's address at Thoburn Club last Wednesday afternoon. Whether this creed is Biblical, Christian, or democratic was considered in the discussion. This belief accepts the account of the Creation as recorded in the first chapter of Genesis. Basing the reasoning that the Lord worked six days and rested on the seventh, the doctrine maintains that there will be a time when God shall rule on earth. Since a thousand years is but a day in His sight, God shall rule a thousand years, corresponding to the seventh day of the Creation. Pre-millennialism holds that the world is constantly growing worse. In conclusion, Dr. Beiler said that anything may be proved by the Bible by misconstruing contexts and rearrangement of passages.

When Dr. Lee tells his Chem. I class that "after all is said and done," he is perplexed at the ripple of laughter which invariably follows.

Another Debate Is Assured Allegheny

Ohio Wesleyan and Mt. Union Are the Opponents in Second Contest

Plans are nearly completed for a single debate with Ohio Wesleyan University, and a dual debate with Mount Union College, to be held sometime in May. These arrangements, when completed, will greatly further the field of debating in Allegheny College. The question for discussion in these debates will be: Resolved, That the Federal Government should own and operate the coal mines. Although the question is somewhat technical and involves many economic problems, it is one which is important and will make an interesting, closely contested debate.

The plans are being arranged so that the dual meet with Mount Union will be held on the evening following the Ohio Wesleyan contest. By this arrangement, the team that debates at Delaware will proceed to Alliance and form the visiting team for the dual debate. On the same evening that Allegheny's representatives are at Alliance, the Mount Union schol will have a team here. These arrangements will greatly simplify affairs and Allegheny's visiting team will debate twice, on the single trip.

The try-outs for these debates are open to any man in the College. The primary try-outs or semi-finals will be held next Saturday, March 12th. The men, who compose the varsity team for the coming triangular debate, will not be required to try-out on Saturday, but those of the present varsity, who desire, will be required to try-out in the finals. By this method, all the men who have talents along this line, will have another chance for inter-collegiate debate.

ALLEGHENY TWENTY YEARS AGO

During the past week a terrible tragedy has taken place in the City of Meadville. One of the most horrible affairs that can be imagined. Scarcely can two students meet without referring to it in some manner, or inquiring what will be the outcome. Everyone seems to be wrought up over the calamity; the faculty are taking the leading part.

The scene is laid in and about the Academy of Music on the night of a performance at that place which displeased a large number of patrons. At this particular time a crowd of students, who had come together on the spur of the moment and without any prearranged plan, took their places in the middle of the sparsely settled house. In view of the nature of the performance, the feelings of these persons were manifested in many ways, to which exception was taken by the management. During the last act the crowd was so affected by a death scene that they left the house and, upon arriving outside the door, yells and shouts were indulged in. They went up the street giving college yells and singing songs. This is the simple story of what has caused so much talk and has been given the color of a conspiracy to damage property, it may be to the theater, the lives of the actors and what more is hard to say.

The question now is guilty or not guilty? What will the outcome be? Who is right and who is wrong? Did the show warrant such actions? Oh, my! Have good plays ever been treated thus?

Sophomores and Seniors enjoy the hospitality of Coon's Corners. It is understood about 30 Juniors, Freshmen, and Preps, were deluded into going to Saegertown in search of some runaway Sophs and Seniors whom they desired to waylay and leave to the tender mercies of the weather. Unnecessary to say they found no one.

"We still slide down the bannisters as we used to," writes a Hulings co-ed to her friend who has graduated.

MOCK DEBATES AROUSE INTEREST IN PHILO-FRANKLIN.

Drill on parliamentary procedure was the feature of Forum last Friday afternoon. Dr. Swartley was unable to be present. Mr. W. Thoburn led the drill which became very amusing. Any suggestion which would serve as a drill was considered. Among these mock-serious suggestions were: "Resolved, that the tuition be increased in order to provide a fund for aiding athletes," "Resolved, that Forum be adjourned until next October," and "Resolved, that young women be permitted to join the Forum." A motion was made and seconded to the effect that the women of the college should be admitted to membership. It was the opinion of the Forum that some one versed in the aptitudes and inclinations of the fairer sex should make a plea in their behalf. Mr. Teft was called upon to present their case and swayed the assembly to the affirmative side of the question. The final vote on the motion will probably be taken at the next regular meeting. The drill was very interesting and instructive throughout. This instruction on parliamentary action will be found invaluable not only to those interested in debate, but to any college student on the Hill. The Forum extends an invitation to each man in the school to attend. The authority used in these drills is Robert's "Parliamentary procedure."

GROVE CITY VICTORIOUS

defense, and the unusual manner in which Wise was always where he was wanted, marked the game. The guarding of both teams was so deadly that neither was able to hold the ball for any length of time. As a result, the Crimson horse shoe put in its appearance at the most opportune time and left the crowd dazed for several minutes after the whistle blew ending the contest.

The first scores were fouls on both sides and then the Blue and Gold men broke away for two baskets. Stephanian retaliated by dribbling through for a shot. This was at the time that Grove City tied the score at 8. The real cheering started and never was more sustained backing given any team. The roar was continuous with never a break while the play was on. Dunbar then added another from the middle of the floor to which Shorts countered but Parker came through with one from a fight under the basket. The half ended with Allegheny in the lead at 13-12.

The second half was a continuation of the first period, Allegheny fighting to maintain the lead and Grove City endeavoring to assume it. Stephanian scored again closely followed by Graham. Smith and Dunbar each scored while in fouls the count was about even. With but one minute to play the break came. Stephanian dribbled free up the side of the floor and Grove City went ahead. Smith immediately rushed into the breach and with unusual luck succeeded in adding two more just before time ended.

The visitors were accompanied by a large crowd of rooters who were nearly as overcome by the sudden ending as local followers but they never really gave up hope. Stephanian and Smith were the only ones who really had a chance to shoot, while Foster, their chief point getter, was completely smothered.

This week the Allegheny College varsity will make its final record in intercollegiate circles for the season. Last night they played the return game at Grove City. Thursday night they meet Buffalo who are anxious to wipe out the record of the defeat here. Friday night Niagara University will be met in the final game of the season among collegians. This trip as a whole is an acid test of whether the rejuvenated team will be able to play the same game away against the strongest teams of the schedule that they played after the comeback on the local floor. The team is sure to make a favorable showing since they are determined to give all they have to maintain the record made of late.
