THE CAMPUS

OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

VOL. XIX. No. 23 MEADVILLE, PA , MARCH 17, 1903 NEW SERIES

DR. CRAWFORD'S HOME COMING.

With His Family Returns to Allegheny Thursday—Large Crowd of Students Escort the Travelers to College Campus.

On Monday, March 9, after nearly eight months away from home, four happy travelers arrived in New York—Dr. William H. Crawford, president of Allegheny College, and wife and family. Hardly had they disembarked before they were being royally entertained at a banquet spread by the loyal Allegheny alumni of America's metropolis. Here the alumni heartily received their guests, even singing for the doctor's benefit "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean," taking the precaution, however, to substitute the word "money" for "bonnie."

On Wednesday evening the spirit hovering over the college community in Meadville suggested that something unusual was to happen; there was no hard digging that evening, for the decree had gone forth that college exercises would be omitted after 9:45 on the following day. And when the powers of Allegheny issue such a decree involving the omission of any recitations you may feel assured that something extraordinary is doing. When train 5 came into the city at 10 a. m. Thursday there was assembled a great reception party about the Erie depot. It was a college crowd, bound together by that wonderful tie of college spirit and loyalty which was revealed by beaming faces, sparkling eyes, ready wit and the inevitable songs and yells. College spirit was rampant and exuded from the most delicate prep to the emiturus Professor of Philosophy. As the train slowed down, a waving handkerchief in the hands of Mrs. Crawford located the travelers. Soon the party, Dr. Crawford, Mrs. Crawford, Raymond and Lucy, were in the warm reception of a multitude of friends.

The party was conducted to a carriage decorated in college colors and driven to College Hill, escorted by a howling mob of happy students. The college bell rang out its joyous welcome and the assembled multitude before Bentley Hall sang a stanza of "Home, Sweet Home." Dr. Crawford, in answer to "speech! speech!" manifested in a few words his thanks for the hearty welcome accorded their arrival and expressed his feelings in "being mighty glad to get back."

In the evening a reception was given in the library, where the party met the new students for the first time and renewed the acquaintance of the old. Besides the students in attendance, a few friends from the city were present to extend greetings, among them Judge Henderson, Hon. A. L. Bates, Mr. Haskins, Dr. E. S. Edmonds and Rev .L. H. Bugbee. The library was not finished when Doctor Crawford went abroad, and the magnificent structure in all the beauty of its completion was highly appreciated by the returned travelers.

Dr. Crawford met the student body for the first time in the chapel this year on Friday morning, and again took up the reins of management which have been so well handled by the vice-president, Dr. Montgomery, during his absence. Dr. Crawford thanked the faculty for their kindness in bearing the extra burdens caused by his absence and the students for their excellent deportment and hoped tnat they "were not saving up for him."

The Crawford family left Meadville July 21, 1902, and sailed August 2 from New York on the Minnehaha for London.

Six weeks during the beautiful summer time were passed in England. London was visited during the illumination exercises following the coronation. Thence the journey was made up through the island on the west coast, visiting Oxford, the Shakespearean territory, Warwick and its interesting surroundings. South Scotland was visited and a week spent in and around Edinburgh. Thence they proceded down the east coast of England, stopping at Melrose, Abbottsford, the burial place of Sir Walter Scott; several important historical cathedral towns were visited, among them Durham, York, Lincoln and Ely. From here they sailed across to Holland, where a week was pleasantly passed visiting Rotterdam, The Hague, Leyden and Amsterdam. Then, by train, the trip was resumed to Cologne and up the Rhine to Mainz and the surrounding magnificent country whence the beautiful scenery of the Seven Mountains was admired. The route then included Frankfort and traversed the land of Luther, Goethe and Schiller to Berlin. A month was passed in Berlin during the season when the gorgeous autumnal beauty was at its height, which, together with the unparalleled magnificence of the city itself, made this one of the most delightful parts of the trip. The Doctor says that Berlin is the most beautiful city he ever saw with the exception of our own Washington. From Berlin a most delightful short trip was taken to the old home of William Van Humboldt. Thence they went through Germany, stopping at Dresden and Nuremberg; ten days were spent in Switzerland whence the route came to Italy where a most pleasant sojourn of five weeks was passed in Milan, Venice, Bologna and Florence. A month was passed in Rome during the Christmas time. From Rome, Naples, Pompeii and other famous places were visited. The return trip lead from Rome north to Pisa, Genoa and Monte Carlo. Of the latter world-wide resort the Doctor said, in his interview with the Campus man: "It is the most beautiful and the most dangerous place I ever saw." After a week in Paris the travelers returned to London, remaining there six weeks, including a week spent at Oxford. Here a 'varsity football game was witnessed and various university attractions came in for inspection.

The weather of the whole trip was most propitious and favorable, says Dr. Crawford. "During our stay in England we experienced the most beautiful weather, arriving just after a long siege of wet, unpleasant summer. It was so in Holland and Germany, where our journey was marked by about the only period of fine weather of the whole summer.

"We found the comforts of traveling all that could be desired, and the whole trip was as comfortable as could be wished for. The average common hotels of Europe are better than those of the corresponding class here, but the first class ones are much inferior to American first class hotels. Boarding houses of Europe are on the whole inferior to American ones. The people everywhere were kind and friendly to Americans and very glad to hear about American life, industries and education."

The Doctor kept his eyes open for educational interests and had an opportunity at Turick, Switzerland, to see the university at work. In the Polytechnic school there he found three American professors.

The universities at Bologna, Rome and Oxford were found at work. At the other educational centers, it being summer, more of the universities were in session. The universities of Scotland are all holding their heads high on account of Mr. Carnegie's gifts.

Dr. Crawford devoted much time to a study of educational matters abroad and says that we are doing better work in America than in Europe. He visited a meeting of the Oxford Literary Union and heard a debate of unusual ability. The Doctor has promised to talk at length about Oxford, to the student body, and we can assure all that it will be well worth hearing.

In the short chapel hour he very entertainingly spoke of certain incidents of the journey, but we shall not desist until he has told us more about it. In the interview with the Campus reporter, he spoke very entertainingly and with much enthusiasm of the trip. He expressed his deepest thanks for the hearty reception so spontaneously given him by the students.

We certainly rejoice at the President's safe arrival and are glad that he has had this rest from his college duties. The trip going over was accompanied by ideal summer weather and made a very pleasant voyage, while the returning voyage encountered a tremendous gale.

The Doctor assured his friends on the very day of his arrival that he was feeling in excellent spirits and wanted to go to work at once. We are informed that he began his work while in New York where he found some friends who made it possible for Mr. Vincent to come here and give four lectures without cost to the students.

Track Athletics To-Night.

INTERESTING CONTESTS LOOKED FOR IN THE EVENTS—MUCH ENTHUSIASM MANIFESTED.

To-night, in the gymnasium, will be held the first indoor contest in track athletics that Allegheny has ever had. There is much interest being manifested in the affair and an enthusiastic attendance may be assured.

The events are: Standing broad jump, running broad jump, running high jump, running high jump with spring-board, 12-pound shot put. Following these events a basket-ball game will be played between a team selected from the Seniors and Juniors, and one from the Freshmen and Sophomores. A fast game may be assured.

An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, proceeds going for the benefit of track athletics.

It is to be hoped that the student body will give this meet the support that it deserves. There is scarcely any student in college who is not interested in track athletics, and any man who admires good, clean contests cannot afford to miss this one. Director Lewis has been working hard with the squad for some time, and is very enthusiastic over prospects. A number of prominent track athletes have been training vigorously for to-night and are eagerly awaiting the signal.

Aside from the fact that the contest will be a meritorious one, there is another reason why we should turn out full force. To a certain extent the future of track athletics at Allegheny for this spring, at least, depends upon the proceeds of to-night's contest. We must send a relay team to Philadelphia, and we ought to be represented in an intercollegiate meet. Whether we shall or not depends largely upon the results of to-night.

To-night's meet is an innovation, but no experiment. There are entries enough to make the contest a success whether there are 5 or 500 people present. But for the good of the cause, let's hope there will be 500. Let's turn out full force and show Director Lewis that we appreciate his hard efforts to make Allegheny's track athletics a genuine success.

The segregation of the sexes in Chicago is causing much comment. Some of the students are opposed to the idea, while others maintain that it allows greater freedom in the class room.

The Fahr Gift.

MAGNIFICENT SET OF BOOKS RECEIVED AND PUT IN THE LIBRARY.

The 222 volumes of German literature donated by Charles Fahr, of this city, to our German department, were received on Saturday and will be catalogued and placed in the library at once. This collection includes the masterpieces of German literature that were written during a period extending from the Mediaeval ages down to the middle of the nineteenth century.

The library is made up of the following: 40 volumes by Goethe, including a life of Goethe; Schiller, 17; Lessing, 15; Herde, 10; Wieland, six; Richte, five; Kleist, four; Klopfstock, three; Korner, four; Treck, four; 25 volumes by the contemporaries of Schiller and Goethe, six volumes of the storm and stress period, 53 volumes of the mediaeval literature and the conversation lexicon consisting of 20 volumes. The lexicon compares favorably with the Encyclopedia Britannica in old matter and surpasses it in all new inventions, discoveries and matters of scientific interest. This encyclopedia is just being printed and all information is up to 1903. Only two volumes have come, the rest are expected as soon as printed. This part of Mr. Fahr's gift is of value to every department in college. For instance, the two volumes A and B, which are here, have valuable articles on Archaeology, Architecture and Biology. These volumes, as well as the rest of the set, are illustrated with handsome plates many of them colored. The highest art in modern printing is seen here.

The Library committee has decided to arrange an alcove for these books in the reference room. A placard, bearing these words, will be placed on the inside of the cover of each book: "Presented by Mr. Charles Fahr as an incentive to interest in the literature of his fatherland." Mr. Fahr has said, and his action certainly proves it, that it is his desire to stimulate the study of German literature in Allegheny College.

With the exception of some very old books, this is the finest collection ever received by Allegheny College. The careful selection of masterpieces, the scholarly notes, the clear print and fine illustrations constitute part of its value.

It is hard to conceive the immensity of this collection of books, as no similar one has been made of any other literature. A collection of English literature patterned after it would include all the mediaeval works of importance and the combined works of all the great men of England from Chaucer down to our own time.

Mr. Fahr is the recipient of many kind words from the students for his thoughtful gift. The books will mean the possibility of better, more comprehensive reading by our German students, and the results cannot help but be gratifying to the college and to Mr. Fahr.

Leon H. Vincent

WILL BE HERE IN APRIL TO GIVE COURSE OF LECTURES.

With the coming of Dr. Crawford there is bound to be a succession of good things. Almost the first announcement that our president read from his official position was that Dr. Leon H. Vincent, the famous lecturer on the world's literature, will be present at Allegheny to deliver a course of lectures, about the middle of April. These lectures will cost the students nothing, all expenses having been arranged for by some of Allegheny's good friends in New York.

The news was hailed with delight by the students, and the coming of Dr. Vincent will be looked forward to with pleasure.

The enthusiastic reception given Dr. Crawford and his family upon their arrival from their European tour reveals something of the respect and veneration in which our president and his family are held. A noticeable feature of the celebration was the spontaneity of it. There was no fixed order of exercises, but each man seemed imbued with the idea that there was but one thing for him to do—to welcome Dr. Crawford. The students are all glad to know that the doctor enjoyed himself on the trip. He returns, pleased with Allegheny's increased prosperity, and brimful of enthusiasm for her. His administration is sure to see yet greater things for "Alleghe" in one realm or another. It is Dr. Crawford with his energy and ability whom we must thank for our magnificent gymnasium, our new library and new chapel, and our increased endowment. Others there are, of course, connected with the movement, but he is the man whose spirit of hustle and business ability brought them to a successful completion. It is he, too, who has aided much in establishing Allegheny's personnel, in causing the educational world to see that Allegheny stands for something more than a name. Dr. Crawford's administration has always been characterized by a keen interest in the affairs of the students, and we believe that to-day he is nearer their hearts than ever before. We are all glad, very glad, to welcome him back among us.

Last issue of the Campus this term.

Much credit is due Dr. Montgomery for the able manner in which he filled the office of president during the absence of Dr. Crawford. The responsibilities placed upon him were enormous, but the doctor has borne all his burdens with that spirit of equanimity and geniality which seems so much to be an inseparable part of Dr. "Monty." Everything has been running very smoothly, and the prosperous condition in which he has handed over Allegheny to the president speaks well for Dr. Montgomery's executive ability.

Don't forget to go to the gym. tonight.

Crosby continues to receive flattering notices from the Pittsburg papers for his fine work at forward on the Allegheny Preparatory school basketball team.

For the benefit of the first-year students a number of the '02 Kaldron will be placed on the tables in the library for their inspection. The object in doing this is to forewarn all students of what they may expect. There is but one way to protect yourself and that is by getting back at the other fellow.

Princeton Freshmen are not allowed on the streets after 9 o'clock at night and are forbidden to carry canes, smoke pipes or wear college colors.

Schedule of Examinations.

MARCH 22-26, 1903.

There are unavoidably a few conflicts. These should be reported to the Registrar, or to the Principal, not later than Thursday noon. Students having more than three examinations in one day should report the fact at once to the Registrar or to the Principal.

When a student has been absent from a class for any cause, of one-sixth the total number of recitations or more, an additional examination must be taken in the subject. Members of athletic teams and the glee club are allowed three absences above such fraction each term to fill club engagements.

Any student having supplementary examinations in more than three subjects should apply to the Registrar, or the Principal, before Thursday noon, that another time may be arranged for some of the supplementaries.

Literary Monthly Election.

OLD BOARD OF EDITORS GIVES WAY TO A NEW.

An incident unparalleled in the history and traditions of the college came to the notice of a Campus reporter Friday afternoon. In an upper room of the library, the dignified editorial board of the Literary Monthly, the magazine of Collegii Alleghaniensis in a hilarious mood gathered about a small table to transact the important act of electing its successors. And lo, in a corner of the room stood a tall receptacle from whose cavernous depths a suspicious red liquid was produced; and more than that, the candidate for chief of that illustrious board played admirably the part of cup bearer and sped back and forth from can to table again and again full many a time with brimming glasses while the electors drank recklessly and unstintingly. When the reveling had reached a high pitch and the editors were rejoicing in the release from official duties and drunk—with the success of the past year—the election of a new board was taken up. The report of the nominating board was heard, accepted and the new board elected in a trice. All was harmony and past scenes of partisan strife were not repeated, thanks to the booze or something else. Then with a health to the new board and several rounds of the cup for the sake of the dissolved old board, the bacchanalian festivities ended and the ex-eds picked their way down the winding stairway to the open air and mingled as common mortals again with the common herd. Under the new dispensation, the new board was nominated by joint action of a committee composed of the editors-in-chief of the Campus and Monthly and the head of the English Department. The new board is a talented one and a very representative one. The personnel is:

Editor-in-chief—R. G. Freeman.
Associate editor—Fred Stockton.
Alumni editor—F. E. Baker.
Assistant Alumni—Miss Elsie F. Ball.
Local editor—Miss Winifred L. Terry.

Under the new directors we are confident that our college magazine will take great strides towards attaining its ideal.

FOOTBALL PROFITS FOR COLUMBIA AND MICHIGAN.

T. Ludlow Chrystie, graduate treasurer of the Columbia University Football association, has just handed in his report for the season of 1902. A profit of $2,260.65 is shown. This surplus is far in advance of that of any previous year, and indicates that football in Columbia can be run on a paying basis, under proper management. The surplus earned this year was immediately applied to the reduction of the debt of $8,177.39 hanging over from the season of 1900. The total receipts for the season of 1902 were $19,811.25, of which $2,575.09 was the permanent guaranty fund plus the surplus of $75.09 from last year.

The University of Michigan football management, after paying the guarantees and percentages to visiting teams and paying its own expenses, practically cleaned up over $15,000 for the athletic association last year.

The Kaldron is slowly coming to a boil, and if some of the students "only knew," they would come to a boil much more rapidly.

Death of an Alumnus.

UNTIMELY END OF CHAS. MYERS AT SPENCER HOSPITAL.

Very many friends will regret to learn of the death at the Spencer hospital shortly after 4 o'clock Thursday, afternoon, March 12, of Charles F. Myers, of Park avenue. Typhoid fever was the cause of death. Mr. Myers was a graduate of the Meadville high school and a member of Allegheny's class of 1901. He was in the engineering department. After graduating, he engaged with a surveying corps on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway in Missouri, and with two others was taken sick at West Plains, Mo., from drinking water from an old well which was strongly impregnated with typhoid germs. One other of the three young men died last September, but Mr. Myers recovered sufficiently to come home in November, returning in about a month sufficiently improved to resume his work. He was afterwards promoted, and it is thought the increased responsibility, added to his weakened condition, was a factor in inducing a relapse. He returned home to Meadville last January and has been ill since that time. About a week ago he decided to go to the hospital, but the change did not bring improvement and the end came as stated above.

Mr. Myers was an unusually popular student while in Allegheny and had a very large circle of friends, all of whom will unite with the bereaved family in mourning his untimely death. The funeral was held Sunday.

MATERNAL CARE FOR HOMESICK FRESHIES.

Apropos to the modern movement to establish homes for homeless cats and dogs, etc., the efforts of the students of Westminster college to raise funds for a club house for homesick freshmen seems peculiarly appropriate. At present there is no place for Westminster freshmen to pass their evenings, except in their rooms, and some of them have returned home rather than pass the long evenings alone.

The seniors, who have gone through the experience, have undertaken to raise enough money to put up a club building, costing in the neighborhood of $20,000. The building will be of buff brick and stone and will be two stories high. The first floor will contain parlor, library, reading, reception, committee rooms and one for all kinds of games. The second floor will contain an auditorium that will accommodate 150 people. The building will be for the use of the male students, as the female students have a dormitory.

Kearney was in Conneaut and Ashtabula, O., on Friday and Saturday in the interests of the Glee club.

Quill Club Banquet.

ENJOYABLE EVENING SPENT IN UNITARIAN PARLORS.

Last Friday evening the Quill club of the college held an informal banquet for its members in the parlors of the Unitarian parish house. A dainty and appetizing dinner had been prepared by the "Junior Girls" of that church and was thoroughly enjoyed by every one of the seventeen members present.

When the tables were cleared away, Dr. Smith discussed "The Aims of the Quill Club." He spoke especially of the relation of the club to the college organizations. The competive system for places on our editorial boards received notice.

W. H. Franklin, editor of the Literary Monthly, reviewed his work upon that publication and presented the needs of the periodical.

Miss Rogers considered the club in its social relation and offered many suggestions for its improvement. The remainder of the evening was spent in singing and story telling. The informality of the affair made it one of the most enjoyable of the year.

HOW TO BECOME GRACEFUL.

What is more attractive about a person than gracefulness? Learn to acquire a correct carriage of the body, and, with nature's assistance, you cannot help but attain a graceful attitude. Bear in mind and practice this position: head erest, shoulders back, chest expanded; this, it may be said, is the whole secret,—the co-ordination of the mind with the body. To most people it would seem easy to follow the above instruction. Those not accustomed to correct carriage of the body, however, will find some difficulty at first, because the mind has been estranged from the physical qualities. Some people cannot find pleasure in physical training, but when physical development is carried on while sitting, standing, walking or while doing the tasks to which one may be assigned throughout the day, it becomes a genuine enjoyment, and this leads to the only real pleasure—good health and happiness.

Most persons confronted with such a suggestion remark, "I carry my body correctly." Perhaps they think they do, but do they? It is true that many think they carry themselves correctly, but the majority do not.

For example, the student who sits bent over his desk or table many hours during the day should assume a natural attitude while at work. Let him straighten out his shoulders, give his lungs a chance and the color will return to his pallid cheeks in a short time.

"People let pass that which lies close at their doors, the very thing that will give health through the bestowal of a little attention."

Physicians prescribe walking as a beneficial exercise to health. It is true, but to what extent is walking going to benefit the physical system, if one does not walk correctly? None whatever. You must have a correct carriage of the body so as to allow the various organs and muscles to perform the duties assigned to them.

The correct carriage of the body will bring into play every muscle and action necessary to its own development, therefore the result will be, not only a graceful appearance, but a beginning toward the development of a healthy mind and body.

CHARLES B. LEWIS,
Physical Director Allegheny College Gymnasium.

Among others who greeted Dr. Crawford and family upon their arrival in New York were the following Allegheny people: Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Dr. J. Alexander Vance, of the class of '83, now an Episcopal clergyman in Brooklyn, N. Y.; Rev. Mr. Frank Kerr, '88, a Presbyterian minister at Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ridge, '82, of New York; Mr. E. E. Proper, '89, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Amanda Edson, '94, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Nellie Murray, '98, of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn. Several, including Miss Tarbell, '80, and Miss Mary C. Colter, '98, were forced, on account of illness, to send their regrets. The reception was a thoroughly enjoyable one.

Daily newspapers are now published by Columbia, Harvard, Chicago, Brown, Yale, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana and Stanford.

An exchange says: "Verily, if you have but one grain of wit, plant it in a college paper and it will flourish like a mustard seed and yield a hundred, yea a thousand fold."

PRINTING
To be worth anything must be well done. A press and a few cases of type do not make a printing office. Best facilities and skill are most important. We combine the two and the result is quick service, reasonable prices, satisfaction. May we not ask you for a trial order? Let us talk to you, and quote you prices.

RULING
Many times you need a specia ruled blank or book. That is a point upon which all our competitors are silent. Why? Because they have no way of doing the work. We, however, are prepared for that class of work, and can show as good results as the city concerns, and also save you much correspondence and express charges as well.

BINDING
Here is where we score once more. We have a well-fitted bindery—the only one in the city--and can do your work in the best possible manner. We also do perforating, round cornering, wire stitching and punching. Our prices are low and yours for the asking. No trouble to furnish information. That's what we're here for.

The Preparatory students are working hard to make their weekly prayer meetings attractive and interesting. A committee has been appointed by Prof. Korns to secure leaders, provide special music, and secure proper announcement of the meetings. Selections are given from time to time by the Preparatory quartette, Messrs. L. C. Scott, Murray, Clark and King, which add much to the enjoyment of the devotional exercises; the active interest of Professors Korns, Hendershot and Horton is also greatly appreciated. Those of the Preps who do not attend these weekly gatherings,—and there are many—miss a valuable part of college life.
