

December 18, 1939

Dear Miss Carson:

Miss Bennett was right, of course, when she told you that I would enjoy knowing that you had enjoyed "All in the Day's Work." The book was a gamble, at least so I feel. But it is good to know that it finds a response from one who has had similar experiences as you seem to have had. Pittsburgh - Paris - how many angles there are to life in the same town and with practically the same interests.

Thank you for writing
me and best wishes for a happy holiday

Very sincerely yours

Miss Jessie M. Carson
353 West 57th Street
New York City