Why shouldn't the college sings become a weekly event in the life of Allegheny. We admit that student life is already crowded, but he who can crowd most into one short day is he who accomplishes most. The sing need not occupy more than the half hour from six thirty to seven, and where is the student who will say he can spend that half hour better than by joining in stirring songs of praise to "Old Allegheny?"

It makes the brain clearer, the heart lighter, and fills one with the enthusiasm which accomplishes much in a short time.

There seems to be doubt in the minds of some as to whether the competitive plan of electing the Campus board can be made a success. Whether or not it can rests wholly with students. The committee is organized and will announce from time to time subjects for competitive articles. An announcement will be found on another page of this issue.

We believe that the students are going to enter this contest with a spirit that will compel success. Two articles in this issue were written by students who want places on next year's board, and several articles published in previous issues were written for the same purpose.

That looks encouraging. Now let others get "busy" and show the stuff they're made of.

Divers rather dubitative snowstorms of recent date portend winter; and winter, at least that portion of it called February, suggests Washington's Birthday, which, to the Alleghenian, means banquet. Not at all to imply that our love for the immortal George is other than both patriotic and reverential; but that somehow we of Allegheny take great delight in localizing the great pater patriae to our own excellent circle, where we may sing and yell in heart-free revelry, under the protective feathers of his spiritual wing.

But having offered due apology, we may proceed to the matter in hand, which is primarily the energetic encouragement of early preparation on the part of the various college classes for this illustrious event, distinctly the class event of the collegiate year. We insist that it is high time to commence these preparations. And by way of suggestion, we recommend the holding of class sings as an excellent basis on which to build? Just now, when college spirit is rife, exuding, almost without provocation, in bonfires, college sings, and jamborees of various descriptions, class spirit also should find outlet for its fullness. Let the literary lamps of the different classes show their progress, writing metrical, if not poetic odes, of solemnity and otherwise. Needlers to assure them that their efforts will be appreciated and immortalized by their fellow-classesmen. Class sings, held if possible at stated intervals from now till the twenty-second of February, will assure the success of the occasion, producing class spirit unparalleled.

Class tradition is the outcome of class spirit. Without the latter the former could never exist. Why does tradition dub the Freshman green, the Sophomore guileful, the Junior blase, and the Senior reverend? Because for many decades the collective Freshman has been green, the collective Soph full of guile, etc., etc. And how can we characterize the collective Freshman, unless we can see a great body of him together, each component part wearing a green cap, and singing a green class song? Which same theory may be applied to the Senior. Class tradition is born of class spirit. Let us look about, then, with an eye to the brilliant success of the coming Washington's Birthday Banquet, the great democratic conservator of class spirit in our "New Allegheny."

ALUMNI NOTES.

Robert Freeman, '04, who is attending Princeton Theological Seminary, visited the college last week. He attended the meeting of the Quill Club on Thursday evening. On Friday evening he assisted at the college sing, in which he showed us some of that enthusiasm which is so characteristic of "Bobby."

Miss Jessie Williams, '03, is teaching in the High School at Cassadaga, N. Y.

Miss Mary Roberts, '04, is teaching in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Miss Martha Peterson, '03, is attending the University of Texas. She is taking post graduate work in education.

William J. Dillon, '03, has a position in Cleveland, Ohio.

Dana Casteel, '99, is teaching biology in a college in Missouri.

Milton Weatherby, '99, is instructor in English in Dickinson Seminary.

James Madden, ex-'05, is attending Syracuse University.

E. F. Phillips, '99, who secured his doctor's degree last year, is this year a graduate fellow in the department of biology at the University of Pennsylvania.

Robert Hass, '04, is an engineer at McKeesport on the P. & L. E. railroad. He and Samuel Lampe, '03, are playing on the famous Olympic basketball team at Pittsburg.

Harry B. Espy, '90, is practicing law in Fredonia, N. Y.

W. B. Ward, ex-'06, is at the University of Pennsylvania, attending the Wharton School of Finance.

J. H. Wolstoncraft, '01, is principal of the Latrobe High School.

Present Conditions of Foot Ball in Allegheny.

We all know that Allegheny is meeting with remarkably bad luck on the gridiron. But one has not far to look for the reasons.

In the first place, Allegheny is playing much heavier teams. No one doubts but that we are playing a plucky game and when one considers the weight, training and experience of the college teams we meet, our losses pale into insignificance and a feeling of pride is aroused for our team. Then too, larger colleges have larger bodies to select from.

If only more men had turned out for practice, Allegheny would have brought forward not only a faster team but a heavier one. Weight on the team is Allegheny's crying want. There are only a few veterans on the team; the rest of the men, although good material, being yet unskilled in college foot ball.

A feeling of contempt is engendered for the large framed "fussers" who, while placidly discussing last night's social event, take no interest in the game fight, "Old Allegheny" is almost daily making to raise herself to the level of such colleges as Syracuse and State, as one compares them with the men on the gridiron (small in size but big with the heart-burning determination to do or die for "Allegheny").

The remedy for this state of things is obvious. Let every man who is physically able to play, turn out and practice. Let the rest meet together every night for the systematic study of rooting as a fine art. Then will other colleges begin to sit up and take notice of the new star in the athletic firmament.—Allegheny. A. F. R.

REV. SILSLEY AT Y. M. C. A.

A Practical Appeal to Young Men to Support the Church.

The Rev. Frank M. Silsley, of the First Presbyterian church, addressed the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening on the subject of the Young Man's Relation to the State and to the Country. In brief his discussion was as follows: The church is not, primarily, a place of worship, but the organization of Christian workers for a systematic extension of its principles. As such a body every man, as a matter of pure patriotism should be allied with the church. The greatest need at present is for the young man to appreciate his personal responsibility as a part of this nation. It is not to be questioned that loose morality is a greater danger for this country than even anarchy itself. The young man of today is drawn from the church by the social club. This is a problem to be solved by the ministry of today. The social club leads to loose morality, and in so doing is a menacing evil to our great country.

The purposeful young man can find fields worthy of his labor almost anywhere. The shifting of personal responsibility by the employment of evangelists and revivalists is to be condemned. Only true success can be attained by having every man on the firing line. There is the foreign population that must be guided into American citizenship and there is the great west and many other fields that lay open to the worker.

Rev. Silsley closed with a forceful appeal to the young men of the church to assume the responsibility of carrying forward the work.

King Darius was having his hair cut. "I find," said the royal barber, "that your majesty is getting quite bald. Let me recommend our celebrated Persian hair tonic. It cleanses the scalp and gives new vigor to the roots of the hair."

But at this moment the Governor of Babylon entered and bowed before the throne.

"May the King's years be multiplied as the hairs of his head," said Daniel. "To the lions with him," roared Darius.—Ex.

THE NEW ATHLETIC FIELD.

AN INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE OLD FIELD

Together With An Exact Statement of What Has Been Done and What Still Remains to be Done Before the Completion of the New Field.

The need of a commodious, modern, and well-appointed athletic field has been deeply felt for some years past. In less than a decade the college has risen to a high place in the sphere of college sports. In foot ball, notwithstanding the discouragements of the present season—which are, perhaps, only to be expected in view of serious handicaps—our record is excellent. In basket ball our name is traditional, nor have we fallen below the mark in base ball and track team work. We have labored, however, under difficulties. And of these difficulties, one of the hardest to meet has been the lack of suitable field accommodation. The mediocre field on the college property back of the gymnasium has never met the requirements.

But all good things come gradually. "The mills of the gods grind slowly." And deeply are we indebted to those who first materially advanced the cause of athletics in days gone by.

History of the Old Field.

The original field was constructed somewhere in the late 80s. A mass meeting was held in the college chapel, at which Dr. Montgomery made a speech, characteristically enthusiastic and productive of results. The next afternoon the whole student-body was out, girls and all, to roughly grade the field and to fence it in. Each man either dug a post-hole or nailed up a required number of boards, and the work was finished with surprising speed.

About '94 or '95 the by this time much dilapidated fence was replaced by one paid for partly by student subscriptions and partly by an appropriation from the board of trustees. A grandstand was erected at the same time from the proceeds of a woman's number of The Campus. Being overcrowded with people, this grandstand fell during a ball game in the spring of '96, the accident being attended with an almost miraculous lack of injury.

Use of Down Town Park.

No further attempts were made to refit the old field. It was always too small for athletic sports, and when Athletic Park, between Water street and the Erie railroad shops, became available, it was rented by the Athletic Association for all regular games, and the college field was used only for a practice ground.

Early Attempts to Purchase.

As far back as seven years ago attempts were made to purchase the lots to the north of the college field, so as to sufficiently enlarge it. But when one owner was ready to sell another was not. Fancy prices were asked and nothing was accomplished.

Prominent Trustees Give Land.

The first decided move toward a modern field was made in June, 1902, by the purchase of the four lots north of the gymnasium. Mr. Durbin Horne, president of the board of trustees, gave the first $2,000 for this purpose.

In the fall of 1903 Col. S. B. Dick, of Meadville, proposed to give the college his vacant lots north of the athletic field, providing the college should buy from the parties owning them the other lots completing the block. This transaction was accomplished early last spring and the entire property bounded by North Main street on the west, George street on the north, Highland avenue on the east, and East College avenue on the south, is now held in trust by the college.

The announcement of this purchase was made in the college chapel toward the end of last winter term.

No Grading Till Next Spring.

At the last meeting of the board of trustees $500 was appropriated for the necessary rough grading. Because of unavoidable delay in certain legal transfers, this grading could not be done last summer as expected. It will be commenced early next spring. After the grading, the field will require a year to settle before the putting in of the tiling and broken stone for the track.

Proposed Plans.

The probabilities are that the new field will be about 15 feet longer and 70 feet wider than the present one. The oval track will enclose the foot ball gridiron in the fall, and the base ball diamond in the spring. Just how the grandstand will be arranged has noe been decided. It has been suggested that the entire north part of the field be devoted to grandstand and bleachers, the grade being higher to the north.

Cost.

It will probably require about $8,000 or $10,000 to complete the field. Where this money is to come from is not yet known. It seems altogether likely, however, that the alumni, enthusiastic as they seem to be over the idea, will not let the matter fall through. It has even been hinted that some one generous man will build the field at his sole expense, following the example of John E. Andrus, who gave the "Andrus Field" at Wesleyan or Marshall Field, of Chicago, who gave to Chicago University the famous "Marshall Field."

If present plans are carried out, Allegheny will have one of the most satisfactory athletic fields in this state. Its location, adjoining the college gymnasium, will be all that can be desired. Its appointments will be of the very highest order. In fact, with its completion the conditions for all branches of athletics at Allegheny will be indeed ideal.

J. R. C.

Resolutions of Respect.

The following resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Dr. James H. Montgomery were adopted at the last meeting of the Meadville Round Table:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God, in His all-wise providence, to which we humbly bow and submit ourselves, to call to Himself our late brother, Dr. James H. Montgomery; and,

Whereas, Each individual member of the Round Table feels the personal loss of a sincere and warm-hearted friend, the city of Meadville a most valuable and honorable citizen, and Allegheny college one of its greatest lights, one of its strongest props and one of the greatest living attractions, we, the members of the Round Table, joining with the members of the various bodies with which our late eminent brother was connected, resolve and proclaim:

That we, as a body, suffer in the death of Dr. Montgomery the loss of an old and illustrious member, of an untiring earnest worker, of a most faithful and talented secretary and treasurer; and that we shall ever retain the memory of his many kindly acts, of his willingness to serve each and every member, and of all the good he has done for our common welfare. And be it

Resolved, That, in honor and in grateful remembrance of his fidelity and of his many kindly acts, that at each meeting of the Round Table during the current year, after the reading of the minutes, the secretary shall sign himself as: "Successor to the late Dr. James H. Montgomery." And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be entered on our minutes, be published in each of our daily papers; and presented to the widow of our departed friend, Mrs. Emma Montgomery, to whom we offer our heartfelt sympathy in this her hour of affliction.

 hot end of it.

Sturtevant, Phi Kappa Psi, is at St.
 Louis for a week.

Don't forget the sing and yell Friday evening at 6:30 p. m.

Stone's mother and sister spent Saturday and Sunday at the college.

Cooley was very much pleased to see his letter home, in the Campus last week.

Guess why Pennsylvania gives Roosevelt 494,712 majority? He's Dutch.

Professor Lewis has been called to Philadelphia because of the serious illness of his mother.

Dr. Herberts, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, was a visitor at the college last week.

Sturtevant, Phi Gamma Delta, was called home to Buffalo, on account of the illness of his aunt.

Swanson preached at Sanford chapel Sunday. Mr. Wood supplied for Swanson and Hewitt for Wood.

Limington has been ill for a week but will be around in a day or so. His aunt has been in attendance.

On Friday evening at 6:45 p. m.,
 the Mission Study Class will meet under the leadership of Dr. Smith.

Did you German I. students ever see that fresh Freshman who sticks his feet through the back of the chair above the seat and lolls so wisely through the class? Take a collection and buy him a cot. He is weak from losing so much greenness on such short notice.

The sings Friday evenings are growing in popularity. Last Friday a large number were in attendance.
 among them the Hall girls. A new song, by R. G. Freeman, '04, "Hail Allegheny," was sung. Several other new songs and yells were introduced and were very favorably received.
 Let's keep up these sings. They are one of the best features.

During the last few days of November and the first two days of December we are promised a treat in the line of lectures. On December 1st and 2nd Dr. W. B. Kelley, editor of the Review, New York city, will lecture on modern literature. His first lecture will be on Robert Browning. The other part of the week will be occupied by Dr. Buckley, on Extemporaneous Address. He needs no introduction to Allegheny.

A. C. Saxman, '04, is visiting friends
 on the Hill.

On Monday evening President Crawford spoke at a mass meeting of the citizens of Randolph, N. Y. The purpose of the meeting was to formulate definite plans for the re-opening of Chamberlain Institute next year.

THE TEAM THAT IS COMING.

Case's Record This Year—Local Enthusiasts Will See a Great Game.

What promises to be the treat of the foot ball season will be the game with Case scheduled to be played at Athletic Park next Saturday afternoon. In this game the students of Allegheny and the people of Meadville will be given the rare opportunity of seeing a really first-class foot ball team, the first of its kind to appear in this city.
 Case won the championship of Ohio
 last year and has been defeated only twice this season. One defeat was at the hands of the University of Michigan, the champions of the west, and the other by Ohio State University, at a time when half of the Case varsity team was out of the game on account of injuries. Their defeat by Ohio State was offset by the result of the contest between Ohio State and Oberlin on Saturday. Oberlin, the winner, was defeated by Case by a score of 16 to 0 two weeks ago. The team is reported as being in first class condition and will put up a strong game against Allegheny.

Although the Allegheny men realize that they are up against a tough proposition, they are not at all discouraged and are preparing to make the Case men fight for every inch they get.

The work in practice during the week will be devoted chiefly to preparation for the game on Saturday and nothing will be left undone toward organizing the strongest team that ever represented Allegheny.

Announcement for Campus Competition.

The committee has received one article on Reasons For the Present Condition of Foot Ball at Allegheny,
 but would like to receive several more on the same subject. An excellent article on the "New Athletic Field" appears in this issue, and the committee would like to receive other articles on this topic.

 There is plenty of room for variety in the treatment of this subject. For instance a good article might be written on What the New Athletic Field
 Will Mean to Allegheny.

For next week, those who wish to compete for local editor are requested to hand in ten items suitable for the local page. These items should be carefully selected, written in good form, and handed in not later than Monday noon of next week.

Don't forget that the Case game is to be written up by those who wish to try for athletic editor.

of making ready-to-wear clothes—for it is an Art with a capital "A"— has developed more wonderfully in the past few years, than almost that of any of the other great industries of this country.

The stout man—the thin man—the tall man—the short man—all can be equally well fitted with ready-to-wear clothes of the best class.

The leading makers of Men's Fashionable Clothes in New York and Chicago—which means in the whole country—are "B. Kuppen-heimer & Co." and "The Fechheimer Fishel Co."

These makers create styles, which are always in accord with advanced fashion and good taste.

The "Kuppenheimer" or "Eff-Eff" label on a coat means that it is correct in style, as well as every other detail.

A splendid representation of the newest "Kuppenheimer" and "Eff-
