Kenyon and Tech Easy. O. S. U. Wins Second Game.

Two victories and one defeat was the record of the basketball team in their trip last week. On Thursday afternoon the Kenyon College team was defeated by a 35-17 score, and on the next evening the first disastrous game of the season was played at Columbus ending 29-13 for the Ohio State five. Carnegie Tech was the opponent for Saturday night and the defeat of the night before was partially wiped out by walloping them 32-13. The coach was well pleased over the result of the trip as a whole although the high score of the Ohio State team was somewhat of a disappointment.

The Kenyon Game.
This was perhaps the most one-sided game of the year, especially in the first half. From the very beginning it was evident that the Allegheny five was the superior team and it was only a question of how high the score would be. Although Kenyon played hard they were unable to tally a field goal the first half and consequently it ended 22-2 for Allegheny.

The Ohioans came back strong the second half and secured the same number of points as the gold and blue tossers. The lead of the first half was too much for them, however, and they never came within fifteen points of tying the score. The Kenyon report to the Cleveland papers gave the victory to Allegheny because "the Kenyon five was completely out-classed."

Hawk and Firestone were the stars of the game. Both had their shooting eye and caged a goodly share of the baskets.

The lineup and summary:
Allegheny 35. Kenyon 17.
Lindberg F. Aves, Young
Croasmun, Mates...F....Beatty, Skails
Hawk C. Gaines
Thomas G. Marty
Firestone, ... G. Weaver,
Ramsey
Field Goals—Hawk 7, Firestone 4, Lindberg 3, Mates; Marty 2, Young, Beatty, Weaver.

Fouls—Hawk 2, Firestone 3, Beatty 6, Weaver.
Referee—Paul.

At Ohio State.
Unusual interest was attached to this game on account of the close Allegheny victory here last year over Ohio State. A defeat was not unexpected this year on account of the large floor at Columbus although a much closer game was hoped for. The loss can be attributed to nothing more than stage fright together with a little hard luck in shooting. Both Hawk and Firestone, the star shots, were unable to cage the ball when an opportunity was presented. This fact alone seems to indicate that something like stage fright was in the game.

The first ten minutes of play indicated that Allegheny would be left deep in the hole. After this period Captain Firestone's tossers found themselves and held the team down somewhat. The members of the Allegheny squad are confident, however, that the Ohio State would be a victim were they to play here.

At Pittsburgh.
The team arrived in Pittsburgh about four o'clock and went directly to the hotel in order to get a little rest before the game. There was no particular feature except the fact that the Allegheny spectators outnumbered those of Tech. The alumni in and around Pittsburgh turned out en masse

Girls' Dramatic Organization to Stage "Les Romancers."

The play which will be presented by Klee-O-Kleet, the girl's dramatic society, was made public this week after it had been approved by the faculty. The play selected is one of Edmond Rostand's, "Les Romancers." This author has also written a number of other famous plays, among them "Chanteceur" and "L'Aiglon." All these works have been received with the approval of the public wherever they have been produced.

"Les Romancers" or The Roman-cers is a pleasing play having no particular time or setting. The plot is light and the whole tends toward the comedy. The girl's dramatic societies at Bryn Mawr and La Salle colleges have both given it; so it is nothing new for the society here to undertake.

The date of the play has not been definitely decided although it is probable that it will be given the nineteenth and twentieth of May. The first performance will be for the faculty, their wives, the Seniors and guests of the club. The second performance will be before the student body. It will be repeated during Commencement week on the campus if a date can be arranged.

The first tryout was held on Saturday afternoon in Philo-Franklin Hall in Bentley before Miss Colter and Miss Spalding. Over thirty-five young ladies were present and all expressed their desire to try for the parts. The play has five male characters and one female. The applicants will be heard in squads of four, beginning last Saturday. The results will be announced in a few days.

The organization of the club resembles that of Duzer Du in many ways. The membership is limited to fifteen and no one is eligible for membership unless a member of one of the upper classes. It is also a "semi-secret" society.

The officers of the club are:
President—Miss Ida Preston.
Vice President—Miss Lucy Loane.
Secretary—Miss Elizabeth Ling.
Treasurer—Miss Bessie Metcalf.

GREATEST EVENT OF COLLEGE YEAR

The Annual College Dinner Calls Forth Greatest Enthusiasm—Class Rivalry Expressed in Original Costumes, Decorations and Stunts—Toasts of High Order—

President Crawford Toastmaster

Washington's birthday was fittingly celebrated at Allegheny on Wednesday evening when the faculty, alumni and undergraduate body met in the Gymnasium for the eleventh annual college dinner. For the only time in the collegiate year all the students and faculty met in a social way and the occasion was looked forward to with the greatest anticipation. The two under classes sought to outdo each other in originality and the ambition of Freshman and Sophomore alike was to gain popular approval of songs, yells, stunts and decoration.

Both the general committees and the committees from the different classes were at work early Wednesday morning, giving the Gymnasium an inviting and cheerful aspect. The usual color scheme of blue and gold was carried out in part of the decorations. The railings of the balcony were draped with the Allegheny emblems while suspended from the railings on either side were evergreen streamers forming an attractive canopy-like network of color. Portraits of George Washington and Timothy Alden were to be seen on opposite sides of the hall, an American flag forming the background for the one while the blue and gold distinguished Allegheny's first president.

The decorations of the tables of the different classes were the real centers of beauty. The Senior table in the southeast corner of the room was one of the most striking. A large lavender and white umbrella was suspended from the girders to which were attached a number of incandescent lights. These, also covered with the class colors, helped to make the Senior corner a most brilliant scene. White carnations were to be found

Coach Stewart Already Planning Great Things for Next Fall.

Although the 1911 football season is almost a year off, the coach and manager are at work on the schedule for next year and have to a great extent completed it. The work of last year's team on the gridiron was received with such favor that little trouble is being encountered in securing games.

It is probable that ten games in all will be played next season. Already nine of these games have been practically decided upon although not approved as yet. The season will open September 27 with Cornell at Ithaca. Games will then be played with Geneva, Kenyon, Hiram, Mount Union, Carnegie Tech, Reserve, West Virginia and Westminster. The first game in Meadville will be about the first of October with Kenyon. At this game Montgomery Field will be used for the first time.

The list of schools that have written for games is one of the most encouraging features. On account of a full schedule, the authorities were compelled to refuse games with Syracuse, Colgate, Rochester and Grove City.

Coach Stewart is planning on a number of new men who will enter from high schools where they have been doing good football work. These, however, are not assured of positions on the team. Three men from Erie High School, one from Conneaut High and one from Warren High will be met with outstretched arms, while several others from other preparatory institutions will likely be strong possibilities for the team. A brother of Townsend, the plucky little "varsity end, who is said to have an equal amount of nerve coupled with more averdupois than his brother, is expected to enter college. Gibbs, ex-'12, who was a visitor at the Oberlin game recently, will return after being out a year. Several good men from Meadville High School including Ricker, Trace, Baker, Schreckengost and Doubet will enter college in the fall and will be candidates for the team. In short, the old men will have to fight with the new comers if they want to hold their positions.

Majority of Senior Men Rehabilitate Razors and Get Busy.

The sad news of the loss of the Senior mustaches, beards and Van Dykes was flashed across the continent on Thursday morning. It was a sad fate for the day before several had been "died" in order that the offensive growth might be noticeable at the annual dinner. Even the last issue of "Whiskers" predicts a crisis in the world with tendencies toward a world shaking shock. To quote from the editorial:

"We have labored long and consistently in untiring efforts for the promotion of our cause, and rest confident that if calamity come, we can hear it with the equanimity and humility of mind with which we have so modestly accepted the plaudits of the world. Fate must decree and what must come will come. Adversity may dim the external appearance, but the heart remains faithful to the end."

The last number of the little sheet was received with open hands and pocket books at the dinner on Wednesday night. In fact so many were sold that newsboys were compelled to run a cashier's counter in order to get change fast enough.

In contrast to the optimistic view of the local official organ the "Red and Black" of W. & J. prints an editorial from the Pittsburg Gazette-Times for the purpose as they say "to forestall such a calamity that has befallen the social favorites of Allegheny College and to warn the imitators of foreign counts of the fate that has overtaken some members of their clan."

We agree, however, with the latter part of the article that a "little learning is a dangerous thing if it seeks to deprive a man of so innocent a mask as a well brushed and carefully oiled mustache."

The Senior beards, however, with a few exceptions are a thing of the past and it is only to be lamented that another scheme cannot be originated that will give the college the necessary free advertising. An attempted interview with those few who still wear the adornment failed to elicit the date of their demise.

St. Lawrence Five Never had a Ghost of a Show With Allegheny.

The little victorious St. Lawrence team met its Waterloo on the local floor Tuesday evening, where the gold and blue boys defeated it by the score of 40-15. The visitors had been heralded as one of the crack teams of the East and some anxiety was felt as to just what the outcome of the encounter would be. But although the St. Lawrence men were somewhat of a disappointment, the game was not as one-sided as the score would seem to indicate. The game was not won because of poor playing on the part of the visitors but through the close and consistent work of Captain Firestone and his men. More than one spectator was led to remark that this was the best exhibition of expert basketball the Allegheny boys had put up this season.

Captain Firestone had made the remark before the game that he had never been in better condition in his life and his work on the floor certainly showed this to be a fact. By close guarding he held his opponent down to two baskets, while he himself succeeded in caging the ball six times. Hawk led in the list of points gained, having sixteen to his credit. He had little difficulty in tipping the ball off from his co-jumper, and made but one mis-shot on fouls. Lindberg played a consistent game throughout and tallied five baskets for Allegheny. Croasmun shone as usual on fast floor work and clean passing. Thomas again had his position as guard and held his man to one basket. Mates, Nichols and Ramsey were put into the game toward the end.

For the visitors the only men who might be said to have starred were the two brothers, Captain F. Lafferty and R. Lafferty, who are cousins of Hawk, the big Allegheny centerpin. Throughout the game "Louie" was often assured by the spectators that his cousins were not "in it" with him.

Allegheny Walks Away
The first point scored was made from a foul called on Allegheny, but nevertheless the game was the cleanest seen here this season, only five fouls being called on each team, all of which but one were turned to points. For the few minutes up to this time the visitors had been playing an excellent game for strangers on the floor and it looked as if the contest was to be close rival of the Oberlin game. But when the crowd, which filled every seat and every inch of standing room, cut loose and filled the air with cries of "go to it, Allegheny" and "we want a basket,"—cries which the gold and blue boys have heard and heeded for years—the call was responded to and Firestone soon dropped the ball through the hoop thus putting Allegheny one point in the lead. But the fighting blood aroused seemed unable to be checked and before the half ended Hawk and Lindberg had each added three more baskets, which with a foul shot by Hawk made a total of fifteen. The best St. Lawrence tossers had been able to do was to get one more lone point on a foul shot by F. Lafferty.

The result of this first half was a most decided compliment to the system.

A Certain Laundry

There is a certain laundry in Northwestern Pennsylvania, which started in business in a small way a few years ago. Practically its only periodic advertising medium is the one daily paper of the town—an abominable little sheet filled chiefly with political lies and typographical errors, boiler plate and theorum notes. And yet the laundry has increased its business, added to its equipment and force, become known through two or three counties as an up-to-date plant, largely through its ads. They are bright, pointed, attractive, and they are read, although they appear among a lot of merchants' meaningless commonplace space-fillers.

There is as much art in ad-writing as in novel-writing. It pays to advertise. It does not always pay to occupy space in the newspaper or other periodical. It's well worth thinking about. Which are you doing?

A NEW EDITOR

Owing to the fact that the report of the Council meeting was received too late for publication in the last Campus, attention was not called to the fact that Ernest J. Hall, '13, had been elected to the vacant associate editorship of The Campus. Mr. Hall is well fitted for this position having been editor of his high school paper. Since competition for the 1911-12 staff began late last spring he has been an active and regular competitor. Mr. Hall will have exclusive charge of the college calendar and all notices for it should be handed to him before Friday noon of each week.

HIRAM LOSES HARD.

A common saying in athletic circles is that the losing team always has an excuse. This excuse is in many cases true enough and well founded. The Campus, however, wishes to take exception to a statement in the "Hiram Advance" for February, in which appears the following article in connection with Allegheny's recent victory over Hiram.

"Coach Stewart worked one of the tricks which has made him infamous in Ohio. After about six fouls had been called on Ramsey, Captain Everhardt insisted that he be put out of the game. Four fouls disqualify a man by the rules. Then Stewart said that he had appointed no official scorer and Peckinpaugh did not have nerve enough to take the Hiram's scorer record and rule out the man. It was a typical Stewart trick."

The argument in question would not have been made had the editor of the "Advance" known anything whatever about the rules. Coach Stewart did not say that he had failed to appoint an official scorer but that Peckinpaugh had failed to designate whether the fouls were personal or general. It is true that four personal fouls will disqualify a player but simply four fouls will not. It is poor spirit for any team to attack the officials or any one not actually in the game unless some act was perpetrated that is against the rules of true sportsmanship. Coach Stewart's record for clean playing has been one that any college could well boast of.

The entire college body will await with interest Hiram's answer to a formal demand for retraction. A retraction will indicate that there has been a misunderstanding; a refusal will justly stigmatize Hiram College and the Hiram Advance in the strongest terms. For the sake of the old time friendly and sportsmanlike rivalry between the colleges we hope that a retraction will be made.

PATRIOTISM CONSIDERED PRACTICALLY.

In a recent serial novel the hero dramatically draws a parallel between the soldier who betrays his country and the grafter who proves false to his obligations to fulfill his duties honestly. The comparison is a just and powerful one and is full of meaning for students as well as for men in public life. At this time, when national patriotism and college loyalty are linked together so closely by the Washington's birthday celebration it should not be out of place to discuss a few of these briefly.

No one can deny that the practice of cribbing in an examination is simply a form of graft. Optimistic sentiments have been expressed from time to time by those supposedly in a position to know, but in spite of these it seems to very many that Allegheny College is in a fair way to become a training school for graft. The writer has reached this conclusion only after repeated observations have driven home the fact that dishonesty is exceedingly common during the last days of January and the first part of June. Can we not have enough more of the spirit of patriotism to brand any cheating as unpardonable? It would seem that, if all parties concerned would co-operate in the establishment of an honor system and the stimulation of a fine sense of devotion to the ideals of the college, the difficulty could soon be solved.

The recent unpleasantness between the two underclasses furnishes a striking example of thoughtless disloyalty, which, while less culpable than some forms, is at the same time damaging to the good name of the college. As Allegheny students, we have a sacred obligation to represent truly everything that is best in our Alma Mater. If class rivalry leads to the overstepping of the bounds of reason, the reputation of the college must suffer as an inevitable consequence. An impartial investigation has disclosed the fact that, in spite of the representations of the contending factions, the Sophomore men implicated were not black thieves and rascals and that the action of the Freshman president was not a deliberate act of premeditated malice and childish reprisal. In the one case class spirit can be used as a plea while in the other the desire of an outside party for the presentation of criminal charges was overruled at the expense of a serious misunderstanding of motives. In both cases matters were carried too far. Now that the matter appears to be settled every sensible member of the student body should make it his duty to see that such an occurrence will not be repeated. Both sides should let bygones be bygones and should in atonement for their faults work together for a better Allegheny. We want and we must have student harmony and unity as our highest aim and it rests with the classes of 1913 and 1914 whether or not by letting the dead past bury its dead they will make the future of their college generation as great as it should be.

A NOTABLE DIFFERENCE.

The College Band, by its re-appearance at the St. Lawrence game, showed its value as a necessary adjunct to athletic contests. The presence of the band made a notable difference which was apparent to all the spectators. It is hoped that the zeal of the college musicians will not flag and that the remaining basketball games and all the baseball games may be enlivened by the stirring marches which have been so popular in past contests. The contribution of the band to the athletic successes of the year entitles this organization to a firm place in the hearts of the student body.

A CORRECTION.

On account of an unintentional error the names of three of the sorority pledges were omitted in the last Campus. They are as follows:

Kappa Alpha Theta—Miss Florence McElwain, Shakerville, Pa.
Kappa Kappa Gamma—Miss Florence Scott, Meadville, and Miss Jeanette Robinson, Boston, Pa.

BARKLEY HONORED.

Announcement was made at the chapel service on Tuesday morning of the election of Mr. J. W. Barkley, '11, to the Huidekoper scholarship at Harvard University for next year. This scholarship was established two years ago by Edgar and Frances Huidekoper and entitles the holder to $200. An interesting fact in connection with this prize is that five sons of the donors are graduates of Harvard.

In announcing the successful applicant, Dr. Crawford said that three things had been taken into consideration: first, the scholastic record of the student while in college, second, his ability to represent the college and third, personality. All these things were carefully considered before a choice was made.

Mr. Barkley since his entrance to Allegheny has been vitally connected with the journalistic life of the college, having been editor of the Campus and Literary Monthly. He was elected president of the Athletic Association last spring and is at the present time president of the Senior class.

Dr. Cobern Lectures

"The Great Arabian Prophet" Discussed at Mission Study. Time of Meeting Changed.

The first meeting of the Mission Study Class was held in the chapel last Thursday evening, at which time the first chapter entitled "The Great Arabian Prophet" in the book to be studied, "The Moslem World," was discussed by the leader, Dr. C. M. Cobern of the chair of English Bible and Philosophy of Religion. An interesting feature of the evening was the organ solo which was well rendered by Miss Shaffner, the chapel organist.

After being introduced by J. D. Van Horn, head of the Y. M. C. A. mission study committee, Dr. Cobern took up the life of Mohamet, the great Arabian father of the Mohammedan religion. He showed the many differences between the life of the great Prophet of Mecca and the Prophet of Nazareth, telling of some of the essential differences between Mohammedanism and Christianity. He showed that this Moslem religion has a very strong hold on the Arabians; that the faith is not altogether without fault; and that it has many good points which are daily the means of winning converts to the Mohammedan faith.

The speaker told of some of the personal qualities of this great leader of Arabians. Mohamet came from an aristocratic family and was a natural leader of men. He had remarkable ability to control those under him. He had from twelve to fifteen wives, but for all this, was a man of very charming and winning characteristics. He was tall and exceedingly handsome. He is believed to have been sincere in his faith at least at the beginning of his work.

At the close of Dr. Cobern's talk and after the organ solo, it was decided to change the date of meeting to seven o'clock. The second chapter of the book will be the topic for discussion at the meeting next Thursday evening. All who have not yet ordered the book should do so at once through J. D. Van Horn or Miss Jean Mackenzie.

"YE BLUNDERBUSS."

"Ye Blunderbuss" of Alden Academy made its appearance on Tuesday evening in the form of a Washington's birthday number. The cover designed by the editor was in brown and white, the school colors, with a turkey appropriately suggestive of the banquet season. The inside of the little magazine is well filled with the usual departments, namely: literary, athletic and humorous.

Two stories are found in the literary department, "Women's Reward" and "Solomon O'Shea." Jokes from the various class rooms and dormitory provide the wit of the magazine. Under athletics, a picture of this year's football team is published in addition to a complete record of the scores and winners of the "A." A prospectus of the basketball season is also published.

On the whole, the entire paper shows a higher grade of excellence than it has ever attained to before. The efforts of Editor Ward have resulted in the artistic as well as the general journalistic merit which puts "Ye Blunderbuss" in a high rank among prep school periodicals.

PLAYERS REHEARSE.

Several changes of minor importance have been made in the cast which is to present Sheridan's comedy "The School for Scandal" under the direction of the Duane Club on March 30 and 31.

A meeting of the cast was held in the club room on last Thursday evening at which time the plan for the series of rehearsals was laid before the men by the president of the club.

The first rehearsal this week was held on Monday evening at seven o'clock, when the first two acts were heard.

LAFAYETTE BLOCK

News Items

The Pittsburg Alumni Association held its annual banquet Friday evening in the Rittenhouse. Dr. Crawford was a guest and responded to a toast. President Crawford preached in the Park Avenue Congregational church Sunday morning, February 19. The subject of his sermon was "The Prize of the High Calling of God in Christ Jesus." The college was well represented by a number of the faculty and students.

A suggestion made by Frank T. Stockton, '07, that the editorial staff of "The News-Letter," the official publication of Johns Hopkins University, be selected by competition has brought forth plenty of favorable comment on the subject. The plan proposed is similar to that at Allegheny.

On Tuesday afternoon the members of the Crawford County Bar Association honored the memory of the late William Reynolds, '37, the oldest member of the bar up to the time of his death. A set of resolutions was drawn up and presented, expressing its profound sorrow occasioned by the death of one of its oldest and most revered members. Addresses were made by J. P. Coulter, Thomas Roddy, Hon. E. W. McArthur, B. E. Pickett and Judge Prather.

The Senior Tea on Thursday afternoon took the form of a farewell reception to Dr. Crawford. An unusually large number of the class attended the function. Songs by the class served to enliven the gathering. One in particular, "Good-bye Prexie," made an especial hit. Miss Sadie Van Hoesen and Miss Mollie Bassett poured tea and chocolate, while the hostesses were Miss Verna Lauffer, Miss Myra Wilson and Miss Gertrude Hillman.

ENTERTAINED AT TEA ROOMS.

A special meeting of the Quill Club was held Friday, February 17, in the tea rooms on Diamond Park in honor of Dr. Charles M. Stuart, of Chicago. The regular meeting had been postponed on account of the contemplated visit of Dr. Stuart to this city and the desire of the club to entertain a man so distinguished in the field of journalism. After the dinner had been served, Mr. LaBounty as toastmaster, introduced the first speaker, Dr. Lockwood. In his introduction he mentioned the fact that the three speakers were all from the West and the meeting would, therefore, be of a Western nature since there were no women on the toast list.

Dr. Lockwood explained in a few words the purposes and aims of the club. He said it was primarily to foster the journalistic interests and take charge of the press reporters in connection with the college. President Crawford was called on to toast to the honor guest and his proposal of a toast to the "Bonnie Prince Charles" called forth loud applause.

Dr. Stuart discussed in his talk the methods of the real up-to-date journalist. He described his own experiences both as a professor and editor remarking that until he became editor of the Northwestern Advocate he was not at all witty. This fact was hard to understand on account of the characteristic humor that pervaded his series of lectures here.

TO BE WELL LOOKED AFTER.

Dr. Crawford left Friday morning for the West where he will spend some time in the interest of the college. At the close of the chapel service on Thursday, he announced his intention of visiting the alumni associations at Pittsburg and Chicago. At both these places the annual banquet have had the president as the honor guest. From Chicago his course is to Denver, Seattle and Los Angeles. At these last three places the alumni will be met with the view of establishing associations. Los Angeles alone has over forty alumni.

This trip to the Western coast is being taken by President Crawford at the request of the board of trustees made at the last meeting. The plan of the board is to line up the alumni of the college for the election of their trustees as soon as the change is made. This trip will necessitate the absence of Dr. Crawford for probably six weeks.

ALDEN EATS AND CELEBRATES.

The Third Annual Washington's Banquet of Alden Academy was held in the club dining room of Cochran Hall on Tuesday evening. The five-course dinner, which was served by Mr. Swanson, was very sumptuous and appetizing. During the course of the festivities the four classes gave their yells and songs, and all joined in a frequent "Prep-a-Rep." The third form men made quite a hit by appearing in overall suits with red bandana handkerchiefs.

DIE DEUTSCHE GESELLSCHAFT.

Dr. Mulfinger and Professor Trexler Feature. Series of Open Meetings Announced.

On Monday evening "Die Deutsche Gesellschaft" held its first meeting of the new term in the club rooms. A goodly number of the Germans were present and a very interesting program was given. Three new names were added to the list of honorary members and two others were elected to membership. The new honorary members are Mrs. Greve, Mrs. Kraus and Miss Rosalie Bork, while Mr. C. V. Sparling and Mr. Howard Hamman join the ranks of elective members.

After all business had been transacted, Professor H. A. Trexler read a very instructive paper upon "The Development of the Modern German State," written by Count Bernstoff, German ambassador at Washington. Dr. Mulfinger then read an exhaustive and scholarly treatise upon "The Recent Commercial and Industrial Progress in Germany and its Causes." Underlying causes and external manifestations alike were treated in a careful and critical manner.

These two subjects served as an introduction to two lectures which are to be delivered in the near future by Miss Rosalie Bork and Mrs. Greve upon "German Art." The club is also to be favored with an illustrated lecture upon "German Student Life" by Professor Trexler at one of the coming meetings. All of these meetings will be open to the public and further notice will be given later.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL.

On Saturday, February 18, the third of the series of indoor football matches took place in the Gymnasium. It is sad to note that the Freshies downed the wise heads 15-10. The first half ended with a touchdown and goal chalked up for both teams. Class spirit reigned supreme and the "gym" rang with the din of Sophomore and Junior rooters.

The Freshies proved even faster than before in the second period. Time after time a forward pass resulted in two more points until nine more had been added to their credit, while all the clever runs and rushes of the "older ones" could only raise their score to ten.

At last with the chalked figures showing Freshmen 15-Seniors 10, the last whistle blew, the Seniors looked disgusted, the Freshies jubilant and it was all over.

Seniors 10. Freshmen 15.
Harris F. Miller
Kulp F. Cullum
Kennedy C. Zelwis
Ballinger G. Firestone
Stidger G. Thoburn
Field Goals—Kennedy 2, Kulp 1; Miller 4, Cullum 2.
Fouls—Kulp 4, Cullum 3.

Junior-Freshman Game.
The Juniors and Freshmen were the opponents in the interclass game last Saturday which ended 16-14 for the upperclassmen. The characteristic football style of play was in evidence again although not so strong as in the previous game. The teams were well coached and some fast playing was seen on both sides. The Freshmen claim a victory even though the score board tells a different story. After a little more experience they may be able to pull up from their lower position.

Juniors 16. Freshmen 14.
Goodwin F. Evans
Abbott F. Miller
Cullum
Herpel C. Zelwis
Boreland G. Riggs
Lore Thoburn
Maxwell G. Firestone
Field Goals—Evans 4, Cullum, Firestone, Abbott 3, Goodwin 2, Herpel.
Fouls—Herpel 4, Evans 2.

The standing to date is:

Class	Won	Lost	Pct.
1913	1	0	1000
1911	1	1	500
1912	1	1	500
1914	1	2	333

The next game will be tonight at eight o'clock between the Sophomores and Seniors.

Visitors Stronger Second Half

The second half saw both teams playing to the finish without a relapse at any point, the Allegheny boys striving to run as high a score as possible, the St. Lawrence men trying to get at least one basket. Both succeeded and when Captain Lafferty at last succeeded in getting the ball into the proper position within the hoop, he was given a rousing cheer even though he had thus destroyed the hopes of a goalless victory. Firestone started the half off with a whirl and before the timers whistle again blew he had added ten points to the score, while Hawk followed close with nine. Lindberg had four and Croasmun two, making forty points at the close of the game. Captain Lafferty had secured another basket and three points on fouls, while his brother had also managed to get the ball through the net once which feat Griffin duplicated thus raising the St. Lawrence score to fifteen.

The line-up and summary follow:

The interest in the game may be judged from the fact that five extra minutes of play failed to relieve the tie score of 22-22 and the game was called. This high school five is one of the best in this portion of the state and has not lost a game this season.

The first half was all for Erie. Sutton and Frye had no trouble in evading their men and caged the ball almost at will. Before the Reserves started to play or even make themselves noticed on the floor the score board showed 11-0 for Erie. Before the half ended, however, six points were scored by the Alleghenians so that the half ended 15-6.

The "scrubs" came back strong the second half. A shift in the lineup strengthened the teams considerably and the Erie boys were unable to hold them from scoring. "Chuck" Dotterrer and Zelwis were the Reserve stars. At center, Zelwis succeeded in playing all around his man in the second half, while Dotterrer's long suit was in caging the ball. Sutton and Frye for Erie proved to be the best basketball players that have played with a high school team here for some time. Both their shooting and guarding was nothing short of phenomenal.

The lineup and summary follows:
Reserves 22. Erie High 22.
Kulp, McNulty ...F. ...Ginrich
Else ...F. ...Sutton
Dotterrer, ...C. ...McCreary
Zelwis
McNulty, ...G. ...Hazen
Dotterrer
Abbott ...G. ...Frye
Field Goals—Dotterrer 4, Else 3, Zelwis, Sutton 6, Ginrich 2, Mc-Creary, Frye.
Fouls—McNulty 6, Sutton 2.

FIRST TRIP ENDED.

and cheered the wearers of the gold and blue.
The game was rather close the first half chiefly because the Allegheny squad did not get down to work right in this period. Croasmun and Hawk secured the only baskets this half and DuBarry the only field goals registered for Tech the entire game. The half ended 11-7.

Hawk was the star of the second half. Pittsburg papers give him the honor of being one of the best shots that have appeared in that city this year. This fact was established on account of the five field baskets which were tallied by him during the second half in quick succession.

The lineup and summary:
Allegheny 32. Carnegie Tech 13.
Croasmun ...F. ...J. Williams
Lindberg ...F. ...R. Williams
Hawk ...C. ...Douthett, Keltz
Firestone ...G. ...DuBarry
Thomas ...G. ...Butler
Field Goals—Hawk 5, Croasmun 2,
Firestone 3, Lindberg; DuBarry 2.
Fouls—Firestone 10; Keltz 6, R.
Williams 3.

class. A quartette from the Sophomores describing the Allegheny Freshmen made a decided hit. A Victor Victrola, however, was drowned out by the commotion of waiting on the tables. Freshman caps came into the limelight when a song by the class proclaimed "Maybe we'll wear them and maybe we won't." While this was being sung the offensive headgear was raised to the ceiling and then drawn out of the public view. A pleasing feature was the way in which each class was allowed to give their songs and yells without interruption.
A cry of "We want the Freshmen and Sophomores to march around" caused the two classes to put themselves on display.

After the dinner was served the toastmaster, President Crawford, arose and read telegrams from the alumni associations at New York and Baltimore and from the alumni at Boston and Drew Theological Seminaries.
A number of greetings were received from various alumni. While the toast list was in progress a telegram was brought in announcing the organization of a Boston Alumni Association with twenty members and having H.
R. Harper, '10, as president, and G. A.
Akerson as secretary.

The first speaker on the toast list was Rev. Norris A. White, '95, of Greenville. In a toast on George Washington he expressed his appreciation of the fine example of this nation's first leader.

Thomas Hughes, '12, toasted the well rounded college and up-to-date man in "College Brains" in an eloquent and forceful address.

Clyde V. Sparling, '13, recounted the athletic history of the gold and blue representatives in his toast on "College Brawn." An optimistic forecast for the coming athletic seasons was a feature.

"The Tree of Knowledge" was the subject of Dr. C. M. Coburn's toast.
He toasted to the colleges of this country and particularly to the founders of "Old Allegheny."

The faculty secrets were revealed in detail by Miss Elizabeth Ling, '12.
Under the caption of "The Pruners," she told of the faults and follies of each member in a brilliant and attractive speech.

"The Fruit," by Gilbert W. Mead,
'11, was a toast to the alumni of the college whether "dead, canned or de-cayed." It sparkled with vivacious humor and clever wit.

Miss Ida M. Preston, '11, gave a resume of the work of a student at Allegheny as seen through the eyes of a noble Senior. The climax of the evening was struck by the earnest purposefulness voiced by her description of "From Start to Finish."

The Glee Club was on the program for two numbers but at both times were brought back by the applause from the gathering. True Allegheny spirit prevailed throughout in the manner of the regular college songs and Alleghenians.

The committees in charge were:
General—J. W. Barkley, '11, chairman; Miss Eess Emery, '12, secretary;
W. F. Dalzell, '12, treasurer.

Program—Mr. Barkley, '11, Professor C. F. Ross, '91, Miss Mary Hey-drick, '03, Miss Louise Jordan, '12.

Decoration—Miss Emery, '11, Dr.
Akers, J. D. Van Horn, '13, and I. B.
Shoup, '14.

Finance—Mr. Dalzell, '12, Dr. F. C.
Lockwood and Miss Dorothy Sansom,
'13.
